Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
c/o American Magazine,
341 Fifth avenue.

Dear Miss Tarbell:-

Up to now I have been so driven that I have not had time to attend to a suggestion from Doubleday, Page & Co. that they are ready to transfer your books. I have not heard anything about the matter from you and do not know whether you are satisfied with the arrangement or not. If you are the important detail is to see that the transfers of copyright are executed by the S. S. McClure Co., The McClure Company and Doubleday, Page & Co.,-- all three. If you will let me know your views I will draft the papers and send them along for execution.

Yours faithfully,

Selden Bacon,
S.

1. Copyrights of all these books transferred to me.
2. In case of Life of L. subscription edition transfered by McC. to come to me.
3. Valuation of plates in sliding scale, so that if M. G. & Co. fail or we cannot get on 2 can purchase at a reasonable figure.
4. Statement & payment from D. P. & Co. for accrued royalties up to time of transfer.
