THE CAMPUS OF ALLEGHENY COLLEGE

1914

VOLUME XXXII.—NUMBER 22. MEADVILLE, PA., MARCH 17, 1914.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE IN CHAPEL TONIGHT

Dr. A. S. Cooley, of Harvard, Will Tell About Experiences in Rome.

Students and friends of the college have an opportunity this evening of listening to a lecturer, the kind that is seldom brought to Meadville to speak. This man is Dr. A. S. Cooley, formerly of Harvard University and now a famous archaeologist, lecturer and traveller. It is through the efforts of the Classical Club that this famous speaker is being brought to Meadville and it is as a part of this club's contribution to the general entertainment of the student body that the lecture will be free.

Dr. Arthur Stoddard Cooley, who lectures here tonight, under the auspices of the Classical Club, spoke last night at Washington and Jefferson College and tomorrow addresses the Pittsburgh Archaeological Society. His subject is "Rome, New and Old." The lecture will be in the nature of a personally conducted visit to the Eternal City. The stereoptican views are said to be unusually fine. Dr. Cooley has secured many special slides which are colored in their natural tints. The fine stereoptican views of many of the renowned classical ruins of the world are well worth seeing alone without this noted scholar's explanation.

Dr. Cooley is a scholar, a trained archaeologist, an experienced traveller and conductor of parties and an entertaining speaker. Such a combination of accomplishments makes him a lecturer who will not be forgotten soon when heard.

After taking his doctor's degree at Harvard and serving as instructor there he spent several years in Italy and Greece, and for more than ten years has annually visited those lands. He is an expert photographer and all his pictures were taken by himself especially to illustrate his travel talks. As has been said before, the lecture is free and everybody is cordially invited.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR BINGVILLE CARNIVAL

Big Show Will Be Given in the College Gymnasium.

During the past week several rehearsals were held by the members of the cast of "The Bingville Carnival," which is to be given by the Modern Problems Club in the gymnasium, on the evening of March 23. Special features are being added daily by members of the club. The number of "local hits" which will be given at this performance will eclipse anything in this line ever attempted at Allegheny.

The "Bingville Carnival" is divided into five acts, including a store scene at Bingville, the woman's suffrage meeting, the domestic life of the village, a tango tea, and the grand finale. All the female parts will be taken by men. In this respect the coming production of the Modern Problems Club corresponds to the plays staged by Duzer Du.

The gymnasium will be the scene of this performance. Proper fixtures are being secured and the necessary costumes will also be in evidence on that evening. At no time has a college organization attempted anything which in any way resembles this play. A special copyright had to be secured from the Pittsburgh Dispatch to allow the presentation of these famous characters.

At the end of examinations at Washington University St. Louis, 350 students celebrated by burning the faculty in effigy. A figure representing the faculty was placed in a coffin on top of a bonfire. Speeches were made and students tossed their books into the fire. The stunt has been an annual event since 1905.

DEBATERS WIN

Allegheny Wins at Rochester—Triangular Debate Next Friday.

Although Allegheny's basketball team failed to "bring home the bacon" from Grove City last Friday evening Allegheny's debating team succeeded in their arguments against the University of Rochester the same evening and thus justified the ringing of Bentley's bell. The men who made the trip to the New York state city were very much pleased with their treatment there and the general handling of the debate.

This victory over Rochester is one we may well be proud of since the opponents are counted one of the best in their state. Colgate and Ohio Wesleyan have already been met by them this year, arguing the same question as was discussed at Rochester with Allegheny. Owing to these two previous meetings, by which Rochester had the opportunity of taking both sides of the question, they would seem to have had considerable advantage over Allegheny's team who had been compelled to work up both sides of the debate themselves in preparation for this one debate. But the advantage did not avail nor did their oratory upon which they appeared to put their main reliance. Plain reasoning and a clearer presentation of their arguments were the factors that resulted in Allegheny's victory.

Much of the credit for the victory should be given to Professor DeGrange. By his work in coaching the team and criticizing their arguments the debaters were well prepared for the contest.

Over the question, "Resolved, that if the stability of government in Latin American republics is jeopardized by internal dissentions, the United States should intervene to establish a stable government," Ellis led off for Allegheny arguing that intervention meant force and that force could not tend to establish a stable government and particularly a stable republican form of government, basing his arguments upon the generally accepted doctrines of political scientists. Kahle was the next speaker. He showed that under the terms of the question the United States would be compelled at once to intervene in Mexico and that such intervention under the terms of the question would result in domination, citing the example of England in Egypt. Johnston closed by saying that intervention for definite and specific purposes had always been used and used properly, but that intervention for the particular purpose mentioned in the question was not a necessary addition to our policy. He also pointed out various diplomatic methods which might be used without involving us in any course of action which necessarily tended toward imperialism.

The Rochester debaters based their main reliance upon the necessity of intervening for the purpose of saving life and property and for the avoidance of international complications.

The judges of the debate were all prominent men of the city of Rochester. Ten minutes was allowed each man for the presentation of his constructive argument and five minutes for the final rebuttal speech. It might be mentioned that it was in rebuttal that Allegheny showed up especially strong. All their points were well taken and clearly urged while Rochester was unable to find any weakness in their opponents' defense.

Besides the three men already mentioned, A. V. McCoy made the trip as alternate. All of the team were entertained at the various fraternity houses and were well received on every hand during their stay in Rochester.

This victory should now call to mind the coming debate on next Friday evening when the University of Pittsburgh will be met in Ford Chapel and our other team will go to Wooster to meet the team from that university. With such a splendid

BISHOP M. C. HARRIS GIVES FINE SERMON

Great Emphasis Placed on Present Needs of Oriental Countries.

Bishop Merriman C. Harris, '73, of Tokyo, Japan, preached the regular college sermon for the month of March. This noted alumnus, who is probably one of the best known Americans in the Orient, brought a message of inspiration such as is seldom heard in Ford Chapel. Basing his remarks on those words found in the gospel of Saint Matthew, "Whosoever be My disciple, let him deny himself, take up My cross, and follow Me," the bishop preached a strong sermon in which many of his experiences as a missionary among the heathen were recorded in vivid words. The thought of his sermon was somewhat as follows:

"This challenge of our Lord to His disciples and near disciples is most uncompromising. In the presence of such a challenge the person who would not give over all to Christ, would run away as did the rich young ruler. I am going to be frank with you today and in the first part of my discourse I will be personal. Many years ago at this place a momentous thing happened in my life. It was the second call of Christ. It shook me to the very foundations, and lasted many days. The culmination came when, not far from here, I absolutely surrendered, and gave myself to be a messenger to the foreign lands.

"That was forty-two years ago, and at that time I was reborn, and with an adopted people, the people of the orient. I gave up America. I had been a soldier in the Civil war and like all my comrades loved my country, as was testified by my willingness to die for it. With many other young men who left this college and other colleges to go on to the battle-field, I looked forward to long years of peaceful service in a united country, but when I gave up home to go abroad, I realized then as never before the real extent of my patriotic love. But when I landed in Japan, although never having seen a native of that country previously, I came to love it as my own, and to this day have never allowed anyone to slander her or her people in my presence.

"When I went across the ocean, I took many things with me. I left nothing here. I took my family, my kindred, Allegheny college, everything that was near and dear to me, and by having them with me, they grew dearer and dearer still. That is one of the mysteries that comes from serving Christ. You never grow poorer, but always richer and greater.

"Christ came not into the world to be served but to serve. The idea of service permeates the whole gospel. I do not want anything for myself, I want to give all to Christ, and to do all for Him. Some men have built great and beautiful houses for themselves. They will only have them for a while after which they will be left forever, but the house which the Christian builds of himself and for the Master is eternal. Some men may be of a different color than ourselves, but if we all have Christ, there is no difference in race. We have something in common and the big idea is service to each other.

"As I think of Chinese, Japanese, and Korean students in the universities of those countries, my heart beats in pity. They have tried to cling to their native religions but found nothing satisfying. It is for them that I wish to put a burden upon the people of America. Upon the youth of Asia depends the redemption of the orient. The world was frightened a short time ago when the report was spread that the religion of Confucius was to be made the state religion, for after the confusion of religions which had been thrust upon them, they wanted to have something substantial to stand upon, and so turned to a heathen belief. But I fear nothing of this. Their religion is a religion of a past age, and is not satisfying

HOUSE OPENING

Mayor Baker, of Cleveland, and Many Prominent Alumni Present.

One of the biggest events in the fraternity world at Allegheny in some time was the formal opening the new Phi Gamma Delta house on North Main street, which took place on last Saturday afternoon. At the reception held in the house from 3:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon several hundred people, including members of the faculty, alumni, members of the Western Reserve University, Washington and Jefferson and Bucknell chapters, and friends were the guests of the local chapter. As the guests entered the spacious living room they were received by C. Sidney Burwell, '14, Mrs. Guy E. Snavely, Professor Walter H. Cook, of Western Reserve University, Mrs. Frank J. Thomas and Bishop Merriman C. Harris, '73.

The rooms on the lower floor were artistically decorted in the fraternity colors and flowers. Throughout the afternoon the guests were taken through the house by the chapter members. Refreshments were served in the dining room throughout the afternoon. At various intervals the members of the active chapters sang fraternity songs for the entertainment of the guests. Among the notable graduates of Allegheny who came back to visit their alma mater for this house opening were: Judge Enoch G. Hogate, '72, Dean of the Indiana Law School; Hon. John W. Kephart, '96, Superior Court Judge of Pennsylvania; Hon. E. L. Mattern, '90, and Bishop M. C. Harris, '73.

The banquet in the evening capped the climax of the house opening of the local chapter of Phi Gamma Delta. As the principal speaker of the affair, Mayor Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland, Johns Hopkins, '92, was secured and several of the national officers of the fraternity were also present to make addresses. Over eighty banqueters gathered around the festive board in the new house to enjoy the splendid banquet and the toasts that followed. Although all the other toasts were exceptionally good, the one of Mayor Baker was a fitting climax to such an important occasion in the history of the local chapter. Mayor Baker's intimacy with Hon. Frederick C. Howe, '89, Hon. C. W. Fuller, '86, and other alumni members of this chapter of the fraternity made the occasion one in which he took unusual interest. The mayor made an especially striking appeal to college men to do social service for their fellow men. It was given in such stirring words that it made a tremendous effect upon all the listeners. Before Toatsmaster Hon. Frank J. Thomas, '85, introduced the speakers of the evening, a number of congratulatory telegrams were read from alumni scattered throughout the country who were unable to attend the ceremonies. The toast list was as follows:

Toastmaster—Hon. Frank J. Thomas, '85.

Dr. Enoch G. Hogate, '72—Those Times.

Hon. John W. Kephart, '96—Good Times.

Dr. Andrew C. Ellis, '78—Old Times.

Hon. Harry B. Wassel, Bucknell, 1900—Officers' Times.

Mr. John W. Barkley, '11—Younger Times.

Hon. Newton D. Baker, Johns Hopkins, '92—Our Fraternity.

Following the regular toast list, the toastmaster called upon Hon. C. W. Fuller, '86, of Cleveland; Dr. G. E. Snavely, of Meadville; Bishop M. C. Harris, of Tokyo, Japan, and Hon. L. H. Lauderbaugh, '76, who all responded with short but appropriatte remarks.

The new home of Phi Gamma Delta at Allegheny is situated on North Main street below the Odd Fellows' Home. Since the corner stone was laid last June at Commencement time the building has been under the process of construction and was ready for occucpany on March 1.

HARD GAMES PLAYED DURING RECENT TRIP

Grove City Holds Allegheny to Tie Score—Tech Is Defeated.

Allegheny's five returned from their third trip into foreign territory with their claim to the championship of Western Pennsylvania still clean. The game on Friday night with Grove City resulted in a tie with a score of 17-17. On Saturday evening, however, the Plaid fell in a hard game before the Gold and Blue in a 44-33 contest.

Since the game which they played here several weeks ago the Grove City five have improved to a wonderful extent and with the return of Thorn, their star man, to the game they were able to present a strong defense. The game was very closely contested as may be seen when it is noticed that but eight field goals were scored by the two teams. The thirty-eight fouls that were called were the result of this close playing and the close refereeing and not of roughness as might be supposed. Less than half of these fouls entered into the scoring, however, as neither Cox for Allegheny nor Harper for Grove City was able to find the basket with accuracy.

Thomas returned to the game and played in his old form, holding Hazelwood to a single goal. Cox played a fine floor game but owing to the close guarding of Thorn, was unable to find the basket once. Dunbar also excelled in floor work but by reason of his opponent's greater height and weight failed to score. Nicholls was able to cage two goals and Graham one besides holding his man, Harper, who scored most of Grove City's points here, without a basket. "Osh" was the only one of the Gold and Blue five who managed to score a field goal in the first half. For Grove City, Black at center was probably the star. Thorn and Bigler also played a good game. Members of the Allegheny team pronounce the team now representing Grove City to be the best that has ever hailed from that institution.

In the first half Grove City seemed to have everything their way and had run up a score of 9-5 in their favor. In the second half Allegheny reversed the figures and themselves scored nine points to their opponents' five, making the score at the end of the second half a tie at 14-14. The tie necessitated another period of five minutes. Each team had earned three points and the score was still a tie when a pass was made to Thorn who threw the ball for the basket just as the whistle for the extra period was being blown. The ball after leaving Thorn's hands went through the basket. The referee ruled that as the ball was in the air when the whistle was blown, the basket should count. Coach Hammett and Captain Nicholls protested but the referee stood on his decision. The teams left the floor and the crowd began to leave, supposing that the game had been won by Grove City. The coachs and the referee then withdrew and the rule was looked up. It was found that Allegheny was right in her protest and

There will be an excellent opportunity to show your college spirit on next Friday night. The Debate. Merely by attendance at the intercollegiate debate you may be able to assist Allegheny in winning another victory. The question under debate is an interesting one and will also give you valuable information. The men, who will represent Allegheny have worked for several months in preparation for this event and have made sacrifices in order that they may bring victory to the college. Will you spend an hour in helping them win for Allegheny?

LANE LEADS.

The Y. M. C. A. meeting of last week proved one of the most practical that has been held in a long while. J. G. Lane, '15, was the leader and, as he always does, he gave a talk that went straight to the lives of the men, dealing with the present moral and spiritual conditions in college. His broad statement was to the effect that such matters have shown a decided change toward the worse during the last year. He cited several instances where the students seemed to be taking advantage of conditions. In closing he made an appeal to the men for a bettering of their moral code.

Following his talk a number of men expressed their opinions, all of which agreed with him in his statements that Allegheny men need to look more carefully to their standard of righteousness.

ORATORICAL CONTEST.

The Philo-Franklin Oratorical Contest is scheduled for March 27, a week from Thursday. Saturday last was the day for the presentation of orations. Five men, the same number as appeared in the Wakefield Contest, have signified their intention of competing by such presentation of orations. They are as follows:

H. K. Brooks, '15—The Leaders of the Nation.

C. W. Flick, '15—Where Have Our Revenues Gone?

H. J. Hartman, '15—Our Responsibility to China.

L. D. Kepner, '17—Hamilton, the Reformer.

L. H. Bailey, '17—The Dove and the Eagle.

LAST TRIP.

The basketball team will play the final two games of the season at the end of this week. On Thursday evening Geneva will be Allegheny's opponents at Beaver Falls while on the following night Washington and Jefferson will be met at Washington. With these two games the present basketball season will close. The showing the team made against Grove City and Carnegie Tech on foreign floors clearly showed that the Gold and Blue quintet is the speediest basketball five in Western Pennsylvania. The game with W. & J. will surely be the hardest of this trip since the Red and Black has been going at a fast clip, especially during the latter part of this season. The Geneva five will not probably put up such a close fight on their home floor, but at the same time they always make the game interesting and Allegheny will no doubt have to work hard to win.

The team is in good shape to meet their opponents and will surely give a good account of themselves as they have in the former games of this season. According to the "Red and Black," the college weekly of Washington and Jefferson, their team is expected to give the locals a close run at the down-state institution. This means that the contest will be hard fought and close throughout, for the Presbyterians are noted for their "come back" powers in all branches of athletics. The same men will probably be taken on this trip that accompanied the five to Grove City and Pittsburgh.

FINAL PLANS FOR BIG INDOOR MEET

Medals Now on Exhibition—List of Various Events.

A great deal of activity among the track men has taken place during the past week in preparation for the coming indoor meet. Many of the men have been practicing the events they expect to enter on March 27, while many others, who have not had so much cinder path experience, are striving to find out in which events they would make the best showing. From present indications the number of contestants who will enter in the competition for the individual cup and the twenty medals which will be given on that date is the largest that have ever participated in any kind of track meet at Allegheny.

The competition for the individual cup will be especially keen. At the present time there are a number of men in college who are experts in several branches of track work, and as the cup will go to the highest individual point winner, the prospects are that there will be only a few points difference between the winner and the various opponents. The medals and the cup have been on exhibition in the registrar's window for the past week and have been admired by all who have seen them. There are certainly an exceptionally fine lot of prizes, so that the individuals who win them have something worth while as a token.

Coach Hammett is especially desirous to have the men practice as often as they can in the gymnasium. The coach is present every afternoon to give advice to those contestants who may desire it and in addition, the implements for the potato race, high jump, spring board jump, are always ready for use. As was stated in the last issue of The Campus, the events include in the indoor meet on March 27, the high jump, 15-yard dash, broad jump, spring board jump, 25-yard high hurdle race, shot put and a potato race of seventy yards. At the outdoor meet on the Tuesday following March 27 the one-mile run, the two-mile run, the 880-yard dash and the 440-yard dash will take place. Medals also will be given to the winners in these events. The gold medals will be awarded to the men making a first place, while a number of fine silver medals will be awarded to those men who make the second highest number of points. It can be readily seen that there is plenty of opportunity given to those men who have track ability to show up at this meet.

Although an indoor meet is comparatively an innovation at Allegheny, yet the interest evidenced thus far has shown that its success is assured and that it probably will become a permanent institution. This meet will also take the form of a 'varsity try-out and an interclass affair. The number of points each class makes will be counted just the same as in the outdoor interclass meet which is held generally later in the spring. This also will be the first time that Coach Hammett has been able to judge the track merits of the various candidates. As there will only be one other meet on Montgomery Field this year, the one scheduled with Carnegie Tech on May 2, this coming indoor event together with the one on Montgomery Field following, will furnish plenty of exciting sport to those who like to watch close races. Of course there will be the intercollegiate track meet at Pittsburgh, at which Allegheny will again be represented.

KALDRON RALLY.

The assembly period on last Friday morning was entirely devoted to the interests of the editors of the Kaldron. Before the Chapel service, the usual Kaldron slips were handed to the student body, which asked for opinions on various matters of interest to Alleghenians. The slip was fully two feet long, so that the questions that could be asked in that space gave plenty of opportunity to the originality of the Kaldron Board and still more opportunity for answers from the student body. These answers were supposed to be written down during the assembly period and were given to the board of editors at the door when passing out.

Editor Nichols was the first representative of the Kaldron called forward by Senior president, W. F. Fegley. In a few well chosen words Mr. Nichols made a plea for the student originality to show itself in any form so as to make this year's Kaldron the best in the history of the Allegheny College year book. Miss Arlene McKinney, '15, one of the assistant editors, spoke in behalf of the individual contribution from the student body and urged that everyone contribute something so as to make the book really representative. H. K. Brooks, '15, manager, told the student body of the needs of his department. Only 180 Kaldron slips were bought at the beginning of the year and it was hoped that a number more would be purchased soon. With these remarks, the rally ended and the Kaldron slips were handed to the editors at the door as the classes passed out.

BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

Three more games in the annual bowling tournament now being held on the Cochran Hall alleys were rolled off last week. Monday night the postponed game between the Delts and Cochran Hall was decided by two games in favor of Cochran Hall. Tuesday night the Phi Delts defeated the Phi Gams and Friday night the Theta Delts took two out of three from the Delts. The match which was to have been held Thursday night has been indefinitely postponed.

It took but two games to return the team representing Cochran Hall as winners over the Delts. Ritchie and Bash were tied for high score for the evening each with 125. Ritchie, however, succeeded in beating his opponent in the other game and so had the highest average score with 112. At present it looks as if the Cochran Hall team would carry off the championship this year and with it the cup that Manager Fitzgerald is giving away to the winners for permanent possession. This team is made up of some of the best bowlers in school and if they fail to land the prize will give the winner a close race.

The closest game of the week was that played between the Phi Delts and the Phi Gams in which it required three games to determine the winner. Each team won a game and in the third one played it was practically a tie up to the last two frames when the Phi Delts by making several marks managed to win out. Bright for the Phi Delts had both high score and high average. His high score was 136 and his average was 113. Jeffery bowled high score for the Phi Gams with the average for the three games of 111.

Friday night another three game match was played between the Theta Delts and the Delts with a victory for the former. Hoffman bowled one game of 143—a score which has been equalled or bettered but twice during the tournament. C. Gilbert bowled the same score two weeks ago and Bright beat it by two pins three weeks ago. Hoffman also had high average score for the night with 112 for the three games.

Plans have been completed for a joint concert between the Allegheny College Glee Club and the musical organization of the University of Rochester. The concert will probably be held on the evening of March 27.

On Saturday evening the girls of Hulings Hall entertained informally the town girls. The party was in the form of a St. Patrick's party, the decorations and refreshments corresponding to the traditions of the day.

Clarence E. McKinney, '17, is pledged to Phi Kappa Psi.

Dr. E. A. Smith spoke at an Epworth League rally held in the First M. E. church, of Erie, on last Sunday.

Miss Margaret Seitz, '14, was the Sunday dinner guest of Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Ross.

Mr. Elmer R. Patterson, of New Castle, was pledged and initiated Thursday by the Theta Delta Psi fraternity.

The many friends of C. C. Hasely, '13, will regret to learn of the death of his father. Mr. Hasely, who was a resident of New Castle, died very suddenly Tuesday, March 10.

Instead of the usual Y. W. C. A. meeting on Wednesday evening, Miss Irene Shepard gave an illustrated lecture, describing South America and the Y. W. C. A. work there.

The Misses Arlene and Velma McKinney, '15, Miss Ethel Hudson, '16, and Dr. and Mrs. Darling were dinner guests at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house on Sunday.

Senior tea was held in the parlors of Hulings Hall on Thursday afternoon. The hostesses were the Misses Helen Thomas and Lois Rea, assisted by the Misses Stella Fisher and Ada Thompson.

Miss Eleanor Richardson, the Student Y. W. C. A. secretary for this district and Miss Irene Shepard, a Y. W. C. A. worker from South America, spent the first part of last week at the Hall.

On Wednesday afternoon the Y. W. C. A. entertained the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet and joint missionary committees at a tea in the Hulings Hall parlors in honor of Miss Eleanor Richardson.

An interesting article recently appeared in the Sunday issue of the Baltimore American describing the work of A. W. Thompson, '96. It will be remembered by the student body that this noted alumnus of Allegheny is the third vice-president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad system. As the manager of these extensive railroad lines, Mr. Thompson is one of the leading authorities on railroad work in this country. The article printed in the Baltimore newspaper devotes a whole page telling the merits of this man as a railroad official, especially emphasizing the fact that every employee of the B. & O. thinks well of and admires his leader. A cut of Mr. Thompson is also inserted in the article.

QUILL CLUB.

At the monthly meeting of the Quill Club last Tuesday evening Mr. E. A. Hempstead gave an address on "Practical Journalism." Mr. Hempstead was for over thirty years proprietor of the Crawford Journal and throughout this county and this part of Pennsylvania enjoyed a wide reputation and influence as an editor. At one time he was offered the editorship of the Chicago Record-Herald. His talk of Tuesday evening took up the development of the newspaper profession and industry during his activity in the work. He mentioned some of the great editors of thirty years ago and compared the newspapers of today to those of Horace Greeley's time. Then, he said, the subscriber paid for the newspaper while at present the advertiser does, with the result that the newspaper of today does not have the opinion forming influence it then did but merely caters to its advertisers. He expressed a desire to see a newspaper established that is wholly devoid of advertising.

MISSION STUDY.

The second of the series of mission study lectures was given in the oratory last Thursday evening by Dr. Elliott. The talk was based on the second and third chapters of the text book. The speaker reviewed the classification of rural and urban communities, emphasizing the fact that such a classification must rest more upon the predominating interest of the community than upon the population or location.

One of the objections that was made to city life is the slavish routine of the work of the average citizen of the average city. It is this that dwarfs the individuality and crushes out freedom of choice in the activities of life. The rural individual is much more at liberty in selecting the lines along which he will direct his work.

There is a tendency among towns to estimate and measure their prosperity merely by their manufacturing industries. It is apparent that such a measure disregards many of the things that make the town a good place to live in. Men who are starting into business or into professional careers are often deceived by these false standards. In fact it is far easier for the average physician or the minister to start his work in the country. At the same time there is an opportunity to learn the real life of your neighbors in a way which the city man can never realize.

FOUNDERS' DAY.

The tenth annual banquet of the Theta Delta Psi fraternity was held Saturday evening at the chapter house. It was the largest gathering in the history of the fraternity. Some of the alumni present were R. W. Anderson, '08, W. C. Pinckney, '06, J. H. McKinney, '09, W. P. Ball, '10, I. D. Ford, '11, L. M. Davis, '12, H. B. Storer, '13, and W. G. Hayes, '13. Wendell P. Ball, '10, acted as toastmaster for the occasion and the following responded to the toasts:

The Start—Harold W. Kuhl, '17.

The Flight—Ray E. Hoffman, '16.

The Ascent—Clair F. Brockway, '15.

Up in the Air—Carl C. Miller, '14.

The Descent—Wesley G. Hayes, '13.

The Landing—Irwin D. Ford, '11.

SOPHOMORES WIN FROM FRESHMEN.

On Wednesday afternoon occurred the first of the series of the girls interclass basketball games. At the end of the first half the score stood 9 to 4 in favor of the Sophomores. At the end of the second period the score was tied, 15 to 15. In order to [illegible] of the score, three extra minutes was played during which time a basket made by Hoffman turned the score in favor of the Sophomores.

The lineup and summary was as follows:

DEBATERS WIN.

showing already made it seems probable that there should be and will be a greatly increased interest in the line of debate and oratory than has been manifested so far this year among the students as a whole.

It is said that nothing will so much create baseball enthusiasm in a town as a winning team. If the analogy can be allowed, Allegheny ought to see a large and enthusiastic audience at Ford Chapel next Friday evening to hear the local team measure up against the three man team from Pittsburgh. It is not known just what Pitt's ability is this year. Last winter, however, they met defeat at home by Allegheny's debaters. The men who will debate here for Allegheny on the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, that the United States as a matter of policy should exclude all foreign unskilled labor," are C. S. Burwell, '14, O. A. Parmenter, '14, and P. F. Barackman, '14, who speak in reverse order, and D. D. Zuver, '17, as alternate. The judges for the home debate are: Hon. D. F. Griffin, of Youngstown; Mr. Max Carrick, editor of the Erie Dispatch, and Prof. R. A. Baum, of the Oil City High School. The team that will represent Allegheny at Wooster is composed of J. Bright, '15, Walter Depp, '16, D. G. Dunbar, '15, and W. A. Brownell, '16, alternate.

for the men of today. The missionaries of Christianity have created an influence that has made a new China, a new Japan, and a new Korea, and with the light of Christ and Christianity shining upon them, they cannot go back.

"The Orient wants everything that will fit them to inhabit properly the beautiful land of Asia. They want those things that will make them good and do them good. They realize to some extent the fulness of Christianity and will welcome it.

"There is often used a great many military terms in connection with this great movement. But I am glad that we are getting away from war, the sword, and the battleship. The time is not far distant when this will all be done away with and we will have an international brotherhood in Christ."

the referee immediately reversed his decision and ruled that the basket should not count. As the teams were by this time nearly dressed and since the crowd had nearly all left, it was impossible to finish the game and it was decided to let it stand as a tie with the score 17-17.

The score for the game is printed below:

Allegheny—17		Grove City—17
Nicholls	L F	Harper
Cox	R F	Hazelwood
Dunbar	C	Black
Thomas	L G	Thorn
Graham	R G	Bigler

Summaries:

Baskets—Nicholls 2, Black 2, Graham 1, Hazelwood 1, Thorn 1, Bigler 1.

Fouls—Cox 11 out of 20, Harper 7 out of 18.

Time of Halves—20 minutes.

Referee—Davis, of Pittsburgh.

Carnegie Tech.

The game played Saturday night against Carnegie Tech was nearly as closely fought as the game at Grove City the night before. The Plaid had also improved very much over the form which they exhibited here and are now beyond question the best team that ever represented Carnegie Tech. Allegheny felt the absence of Park in spite of the good game which Bash played at center. The Gold and Blue were further handicapped by the fact that no "out of bounds" rules were used.

Allegheny's guarding system worked well especially in the second half when the Plaid were rarely able to carry the ball past the middle of the floor. Cox distinguished himself in every department. His shooting was exceptionally fine and he led in scoring with seven field goals and 14 out of 16 fouls. Nicholls played the best game that he has put up this year. He found the basket three times, twice for difficult shots. He and Cox worked together in fine shape; several times the two unassisted carried the ball the length of the floor for a basket. Finally toward the end of the game it got so that when either one approached the basket they were promptly smothered by about three wearers of the Plaid. Levi at center starred with six baskets for Tech.

Dunbar was the first to score with two baskets in rapid succession. This lead was increased several points before Carnegie Tech scored their first basket on a long shot from the center of the floor. With this the Techites seemed to have recovered their form and pushed the score up to 20 to 20 when the whistle blew for the end of the first half. Again in the second half Allegheny started the scoring but the home team soon caught up and from that time on until the last ten minutes of play the score seesawed back and forth. At that time Allegheny forged ahead and held the lead to the finish. Score, 44-33.

Lineup and summary:

Allegheny—44		Tech—33
Nicholls	L F	Hines
Cox	R F	Criswell
Bash	C	Levi
Dunbar	L G	Douthett
Graham	R G	Savage

Baskets—Cox 7, Levi 6, Nicholls 3, Bash 3, Dunbar 2, Hines 2, Criswell 2, Douthett 2.

Fouls—Cox 14 out of 16, Criswell 9 out of 16.

Time of Halves—20 minutes.

Referee—Mauthe of State.

FRESHMEN LOSE.

The Freshman basketball team journeyed to Edinboro last Saturday night and lost to the Normal School by the close score of 21-20. The Freshmen outplayed their opponents at every stage of the game although they were greatly handicapped by the fact that they were obliged to play under A. A. U. rules. At the end of the first half the score stood 18-10 in favor of the home team, but the neophytes made a great spurt in the second period, scoring 10 points to their opponents' three. Emery starred for the Freshmen by his long shots and good floor work. Askey also played a good game. Hood was the best man for the Normal School.

The line-up:

Freshmen—20		Edinboro—21
McKinney	R F	Chering
Putney	L F	Hood
Wise	C	Harbaugh
Askey	L G	Hayes
Emery	R G	Schriver

Substitutions—Reider for Emery, Emery for McKinney, Babcock for Chering.

Field Goals—Emery 4, Wise 2, Askey 2, Hood 6, Harbaugh 2.

Foul Goals—Putney 0 out of 3, Emery 4 out of 4, Hood 4 out of 10, Babcock 1 out of 2.

Referee—Morrison, of Cornell.

Time Keeper—Hughes.

Scorer—Hart.
