OF ALLEGHENY COLLEGE

Mobilization
Loyalty Parade
Friday Night

Vol. LXV, No. 14 MEADVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA FEBRUARY 19, 1942

¶aragraphs

¶ Heading the week's list of zany goings-on was the senior meeting, scheduled for Friday last, which didn't meet — the class president didn't show up!

¶ Alleghenians are now war veterans, a blackout and bomb demonstration behind them. All lights on the hill were extinguished last night for fifteen minutes as the community tested its blackout defenses against the threat of possible enemy air raids in the future. A smaller number of students journeyed downtown earlier in the day to witness an actual demonstration of bomb-quelling techniques at the Diamond. All hands were reported safe after the events.

¶ A large percentage of the college's young men thronged to the history and political science office all day Monday to register under the selective service act in the third R-Day of the emergency and the first during the declared war. Number of men registered was a defense secret, but no secret was the fact that a good many men were affected. Volunteers from the faculty worked hard to register the crowds, under the direction of the county's civilian defense leader, Paul H. Giddens.

¶ Registrar Hurst R. Anderson delivered the sermon Sunday at the first of a probable annual series of laymen's services at Stone church, calling for citizens to face squarely some critical needs of the community and nation. "There are many tasks for laymen to do socially and personally," the speaker said. Specific needs of Meadville were listed as a more adequate solution of the race problem, a more complete program for development of underprivileged children, a more thorough program for religious and ethical education and a plan for relieving distress caused by the prosecution of the war.

¶ One reason for the unique success of the Kolisch String quartet which delighted students here Monday and Tuesday might lie in their indivisibility. Arrangements to quarter half the group in Caflisch hall and the other half at the Phi Delta Theta house were shrugged aside by the members who didn't "want to be separated." The quartet spent the night somewhere.

¶ Column readers who look first for Tongue "items" will have to go hungry this week. The Bentley wizard did nothing more usual last week than meet his classes and chaperon the visiting quartet, in his capacity as president of the Civic Music association. Rumors have him declining to run for reelection to this office.

¶ With most of the printing done, the 1942 edition of the College Bulletin was in the last days of its production schedule this week. A new cover, new style and many other changes will make the book the best yet. General release is set for the first week of March.

¶ Students from the English 1 classes heard a discussion of the paintings mentioned in Somerset Maugham's Of Human Bondage — their current text—by Julius Miller of the art department Tuesday afternoon. Slides of some of the paintings—by Velasquez, El Greco, Watts, Burne-Jones, Manet, Ingres —were shown.

¶ Collegians fortunate enough to have heard the Kolisch quartet recital Monday night at the high school were treated to a rare exhibition of musicianship as the string instrumentalists swelled beyond their numbers in a varied program ranging from the turbulent G minor quartet of DeBussy to the Dvorak American Quartet. The quartet played under sponsorship of the local Civic Music association and Tuesday performed at chapel for the student body. A near-casualty following the visit was Pianist William R. Tongue. He was discovered fast asleep on the sofa in the classics office, the sofa which is directly under a cast of the Hegeso stele.

¶ "Lincoln is America's one great contribution to human character," according to Lewis A. Warren, noted Lincoln scholar, who spoke in the Lincoln Room of the library Tuesday afternoon. The speaker, brought here by the history and political science department, attempted to debunk some stories of Lincoln's youth and showed the influence of his early days on his later life. Warren was introduced by Paul H. Giddens of the political science department.

Shaw Drama In Playshop March 3-7

'Arms And Man' Returns For Third Time

The Allegheny Playshop will present its second major production of the year from March 3 to 7, when "Arms and the Man," one of George Bernard Shaw's best plays, will be reenacted on the campus for the third time in 28 years.

A brilliant satiric comedy, "Arms and the Man," will begin at 8:15 on each of the evenings. Student admissions may be secured upon presentation of activities cards at the playshop box-office in advance of the production dates. (Announcement of the opening of the box-office will be made in the "Campus" soon).

Though of moving, lively qualities, the coming production is essentially a drama; its theme, "romance —the great heresy to be rooted out from art and life."

Raina—Eleanor K. Hutchison, '45; Sergius—Melvin Gerseny, '45; Luka—Arlene Fegley, '44; Petkoff—Walter Morris, '42; Catherine—Esther Ebenhoe, '43; Nicola—James Aiken, '42; Blunehli—Harold Newsom, '44.

"Arms and the Man" was first produced at Allegheny in April, 1914, by the men's dramatic club, "Duzer Du,"—(so called because at the opening of each meeting of the society, it was announced that "dues are due"). The cast was composed entirely of men, since women were not permitted by the faculty to appear on the stage with men. The cast included E. W. Hickman, later drama director at Carnegie Tech; J. B. Hutchison, now vice-president of the Aetna Oil company of Kentucky, and the late L. J. Dundon, father of Lewis Dundon, Jr., a sophomore.

Produced for the second time at Allegheny in 1931, "Arms and the Man" included in the cast Braser Carlson, who later appeared with various leading amateur theaters, and Charles Shaw, now at radio station KSA, San Antonio, Texas.

Dean's Secretary Resigns To Marry

Mary Virginia Jones, '37, secretary to the dean of women, has resigned her position and returned to her home in Chicago to await her marriage to William S. Hyde, '36, in early May. Her position is being filled by Miss Betty Teal, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh in 1940.

First All-College Set for Brooks This Saturday

The first event of the second semester's student social program will take place Saturday night in the form of an all-college dance in Brooks hall.

The dance is one of a series of three such affairs to be held during the semester, together with the Junior Prom. The dance is sponsored by the undergraduate council.

An added feature will be furnished students who do not care to dance the whole evening. Bridge tables will be erected in the women's recreation room, the former dining room, where smoking will be permitted. There will be no smoking elsewhere on the first floor.

Music for dancing will be provided by the popular local orchestra, the Music Makers, from 9:00 to 12:00 p. m.

Twelve-thirty o'clock privileges will be granted women students by A.W.S. Dress will be informal.

Faculty guests will probably be Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Cares and Dean of Women Laila Skinner.

The dance committee is headed by Jane Patterson, '43, who is being assisted by a student group selected by Robert Welday, '42, social chairman of the undergraduate council.

Dance programs were being printed so as to be available for distribution at Brooks hall prior to the dance in order to allow students to arrange to exchange dances with friends.

"This dance," said Welday, "is the first of our new program. We can promise it will be more lively than previous all-colleges," he added.

'Bengal Lancer' Here Monday

"Lives of a Bengal Lancer," starring Gary Cooper, Franchot Tone, Sir Guy Standing, and C. Aubrey Smith will be presented this Monday evening at 8:30 in the playshop. This movie is the first in the new film series.

Tickets for the film programs are now on sale at the playshop box office. The price is one dollar for the series of five performances. Single tickets may be bought at the door for thirty cents.

The next film in the series, "Emperor Jones," written by Eugene O'Neill, will be presented on March 2nd.

The petition providing for Sunday open-houses for fraternities, sponsored by the Men's Undergraduate council, has been rejected by faculty action.

A committee of the faculty has been appointed to discuss the situation with members of the M.U.C., and an explanation will be made shortly.

Students March Friday Night

200 Collegians To Participate In Loyalty Parade Of City's Civil Mobilization Week Program

The college will take an important part in the remaining events of Meadville's Civilian Mobilization week as the observance moves into its final phases today, Friday and Saturday following a test blackout and bomb defense exhibition held earlier in the week.

The week, aimed at making local citizens familiar with the city's civilian defense set-up, will be aided by the efforts of students of the college.

Biggest event for students is the loyalty parade which will take place Friday evening at 7:00 p. m. in which some 200 collegians will march. Twenty section leaders will head groups of ten in the parade which will wind up at a "call to action" in the high school auditorium with Mortimer E. Graham of Erie as speaker.

Student sections which will march in the Friday night parade will meet their section leaders at two points under the various leaders, with the parade scheduled to begin at approximately 7 p. m.

The following sections will assemble under Post 12 at Walnut street, facing west near the local library: Stuart Schaffner, Bruce Campbell, Robert Nichols, Robert Brossman, Robert Welday, Andrew Kapusta, Robert Greenbaum, Felix Konstandt, Joseph Riegger, Ernest Newton.

The other ten sections will form Post 37 on Walnut street near the high school building, facing west. They are: Julius Raskin, Ernest Green, Robert Spears, Mont McKinney, Joseph Nasta, Charles Waldschmidt, George Blank, Burton Neiner, Robert Blotter, Robert Miller.

The parade will be one of the biggest things of the event-filled week, according to spokesmen for the committee in charge of arrangements.

"This parade will be a vital part of our preparations for civilian defense," one commented, "because it will make possible contacts between the air raid wardens of the community and the citizens they are to serve. Every citizen can help by reporting for this parade," he said.

The fact that the parade, as well as all of the week's events, represent combined efforts of all local groups was stressed by the committee. Floats representing the various divisions of civilian defense—air raid wardens, Red Cross, auxiliary firemen and emergency groups —will appear in the parade.

Robert Miller, '42, president of the undergraduate council, urged complete student cooperation in an effort to "demonstrate that we of the college are a part of the community and interested in its works."

Other features of the week are:

Today—Red Cross War Fund benefit concert by the Meadville Orchestral Society, 8:15, high school auditorium.

Friday—Loyalty parade, 7:00 p. m., followed by mass meeting and "call to action" at the high school auditorium, Mortimer E. Graham, speaker.

Saturday—All day, civilian enrollment at 20 city centers with citizens enlisting as volunteers to provide an inventory of persons available for emergency civilian defense services.

Sunday—Day of Prayer. Services at churches in the morning and community vesper services at Stone church at 4:00 p. m., under direction of President William P. Tolley, the Allegheny Singers participating.

At a meeting of the parade section leaders held Monday afternoon, Dean John R. Schultz called the parade an effort to demonstrate community unity, and urged the men to remind their fellow marchers that the event was not to be taken in a light vein.

Senior, Soph Tests Start Tomorrow

Graduate record examinations for all seniors and inventory tests for all sophomores will be given tomorrow and Saturday.

Seniors will take the examinations in Brooks hall from 8:00 till 12:00 tomorrow morning and from 8:00 till 12:00 Saturday morning. Late students will not be admitted after 8:05 either morning.

A supplementary session will be held tomorrow afternoon from 1:45 till 3:30 for all seniors planning to take a second "advanced subject" test.

Sophomores will report at Montgomery gym at 8:00 tomorrow morning and will take tests from then until noon. Tests will be continued from 1:45 till 3:30 in the afternoon and from 8:00 till 12:00 Saturday morning.

Civilian Mobilization

MEADVILLE'S Civilian Mobilization week is in full swing with a bomb-defense demonstration and movie and test blackout already having been held. Still to come are other equally important features of the observance in which students will be able to take important parts—tonight's Red Cross war fund benefit concert by the Meadville Symphony orchestra, Friday's loyalty parade and mass meeting, the enrollment day Saturday and the Sunday Day of Prayer.

The mobilization week, designed to acquaint local citizens with civilian defense, should serve another purpose with regard to Alleghenians — it should call to their attention the obvious fact that the United States is at war and further, that every citizen will have a large part to play if we are to win it. To be hoped for is a realization on the part of students that they are also citizens and that their efforts will soon have to be contributed to the war effort. Too often, students are prone to forget their part in society while at college, a situation which escapes detection during normal times, but one which makes for too-easy complacency during such an emergency.

In order to make the transition from college to today's "ordinary" life more easy, students should take it upon themselves to begin their educations for the emergency at an early date—now. It would be the easiest thing in the world to sit back and not participate in the city's program, and that wouldn't in itself be too important. What is more important, however, is that students realize that the "times are out of joint" and that seemingly trivial efforts such as these, when added up, build the spirit which leads to victory. Forming the "sacrifice habit" now is good insurance against the severe shocks of the days to come.

Students should take part in each of the remaining events of Civilian Mobilization week—for their own good.

Book Drive

DISAPPOINTING" is a mild term for the results, so far, of the Victory Book Drive on the campus. A slim two hundred books were sent off in the first shipment, made even more insignificant by the obvious high percentage of faculty-contributed volumes.

There can be no disputing the worth of the project which will put an added means of recreation at the disposal of the thousands of men in the various services, yet no more than two hundred books have been contributed.

Obviously, there are many books on campus shelves that could easily be given to aid the drive. One of the program's slogans, "Give a book you need," isn't such a bad idea, either.

Defense Section

WITH this issue the Campus begins publication of a new feature, the Defense Section, in which defense news of other campuses and national scope will be related. Also included is a column of addresses of Alleghenians now in the Service.

This latter column is being included that students may better keep in closer touch with friends and comrades who are now serving in any branch of the army or navy. Letters from the college will prove an important tonic to friends in the various camps where they cannot help but feel a certain homesickness or boredom, no matter how high their morale.

Students can do two things to make this program a success —they can write to friends who are now fighting for the country, and they can bring addresses of other Alleghenians to the office of the deans or to the box in the grill.

Phi Psis Capture Bridge Trophy

Phi Kappa Psi emerged victorious in the annual Bridge Tournament sponsored by the Men's Undergraduate council last Friday night. Members of the Phi Psi team included Edward McElrath, Julius Raskin, Arch Curry, and Tom Boyd. Beta Kappa finished second, and Alpha Chi Rho, Phi Delta Theta, and the Faculty team tied for third.

Individual honors went to Dick Nichols and Charles O'Brien of Phi Gamma Delta, and George Blank and Floyd Ferguson of Eigma Alpha Epsilon. These high men were awarded cigarette lighters.

Vaguely Speaking

VALENTINE'S DAY came and went, but with it, it brought peculiar gifts for good little girls and boys. The usual gifts, mainly cards, just asked, "Will You Be My Valentine?" Isn't that sweet! The most novel one was received by Ginny Kiser. It is, at the time of this writing, residing in a bathtub on 2nd back. A fine place to put a Valentine, you may say, dear reader! But where else could Ginny put her gift—an ALLIGATOR?

I have always been under the impression that if you couldn't get what you wanted at the treasurer's office, the book store would accommodate you. That isn't true. In fact, the Red and White didn't even help! All I wanted were some DEFENSE STAMPS. All the pressure from the radio to help the country by buying Defense Stamps made me want to do my part. That was as far as I got last week.

Tschaikowsky would certainly turn over in his grave if he could hear what is happening to his concertos, symphonies, etc. The absolute last straw occurred recently. This was when B. A. Rooney was heard singing, "Tonight We Love" in Chaucerian verse!

This past week saw Allegheny again gather together its eligible young men for registration. I don't know if the following incident had anything to do with registration. It is merely that Ben Fauver strolled into a class and happened to sit alongside of a window. Mr. Giddens (the prof.) remarked, "Don't get caught in the draft." You may figure it out.

The other evening at the Flint home: Dining proceeded as usual. The conversation, however, ranged from very high and loud to low murmurs. The main participater in this high-low conversation was Roddy Flint. Finally Mr. Flint could stand it no longer and he exclaimed, "That must be from the Eco. courses that you are taking up at school!"

If you should happen to see a peculiar, almost ghastly snapshot around campus, don't be afraid. If you get up enough courage you should examine it. To your amazement you'll find it is Yvette Kalfayan. It is one of her many achievements. This picture is one of a series of "gruesome forms" that Yvette will gladly demonstrate. That's what happened, she did demonstrate and was snapped in the act. The last the snapshot was seen was in the hands of the Phi Gams.

CALLING ALL READERS: Joyce Schafmeister has been in jail. The reason is very, very difficult to believe. Well, here goes—She was driving in a car which had OLD license plates.

Shakespeare was reenacted on Sunday night. The scene: Brooks balcony; actor, Romeo (Jess Present); the actress, Juliet (Willy Beck). There was only one difference. The plot was not love, it was a SLIPPER.

I would like to end this writing by asking a question. What is causing the lackadaisical attitude on campus?

Social Programs Finally Okayed By Councils

Final revision of fraternity and sorority social programs for this semester has been completed through action of the Men's Undergraduate and the Pan-Hellenic councils.

The Junior prom will be held as originally planned, though the date for the dance has not yet been decided.

1. Each fraternity may have a chapter party.
2. Fraternities should not have spring formals.
3. Fraternity men will not provide corsages for their dances.
4. Each fraternity will have as many radio parties as it desires.

Individual fraternities, however, are not confined to any of these restrictions.

There will be no inter-fraternity ball, as was previously suggested, since the Junior Prom will be held.

Representatives on the Pan-Hellenic council have passed a resolution to eliminate programs, favors and corsages for spring parties this year. Sorority budgets may be cut because of this saving and the girls' refusal to accept corsages will reduce individual responsibility for the men.

Winter Carnival Set Back Two Weeks

Allegheny's noted Winter Carnival, sponsored by the Outing club, has been postponed from this coming week-end to the week-end of March 7, due to changes in the social calendar.

Stepping Out with Peggy Laley

Alumni-active social and initiations have currently taken the spotlight on the social calendar.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA announces the affiliation of Patricia Ludeman, '43.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA'S juniors will serve their traditional class dinner for their sophomores and seniors in their rooms tomorrow evening.

For their party last Thursday night, the Alpha Gams used a Valentine theme, featuring an exchange of Valentines and refreshments.

PHI KAPPA PSI's local auxiliary will serve a tureen dinner at the house this evening. The Phi Psi's announce the pledging of Donald Wells, '45.

PHI GAMMA DELTA were hosts to the Meadville alumni at a luncheon yesterday.

Allyn White and James Nichols, '39, were week-end guests of the Phi Gams.

PHI DELTA THETA's initiation banquet last Monday honored initiated members Wallace Borger, '44; Richard Anderson, Harry Conroy, Douglas Dunbar, Stanford Foultz, William Feisley, Stanley Hendry, Albert Lammert, Robert Leech, Richard Percival, Carl Roemer, Ray Smith, and William Thornton, '45.

William McEwen, '41, and Luther Taylor, '38, were Sig guests for the week-end.

BETA KAPPA's officers for the next year are: president, Burton Neiner; vice president and secretary, Russell Minnick; and treasurer, Horace DeWald.

Letters - Cutting of Intercollegiate Athletics is Questioned

The present policy of dispensing with intercollegiate sports at Allegheny should not go unchallenged. We believe that the continuance of such sports during this emergency is not only possible but highly desirable.

When we say "possible," we fully realize the difficulties and immediate reasons for the "temporary" discontinuance of these athletic activities. Perhaps it is not possible for a "cold" administration and an athletic department that seems to be "luke warm" at best to find a way around the difficulties presented by the present situation. At Allegheny, intercollegiate sports might be likened to an antiquated jalopy (never had a wrench on 'er) chugging up a steady grade on one cylinder, which has come to a steep hill. The operator takes one look at the hill, a glance back to the laboring engine, cuts the switch and climbs out.

Curtailment may be unavoidable but complete abandonment is needless. When we look over the reasons given for abandonment, it becomes rather apparent that it is not the immediate superficial difficulties listed (such as shortage of rubber for footballs) so much as the whole basic indifference of the administration, faculty and students alike.

Only indifference can account for an administrative policy that elevates intramurals at the expense of intercollegiate competition. Witness swimming's "lack of manpower." Intramurals, competing with organized sports, as unsupervised athletic activity are perhaps more harmful physically, than good; while competition leads to closer allegiance to Bita Pie than to Alma Mater. Consider the athletic department that encourages a resolution for the dropping of football and the rubber stamp that passes it. Notice the intense positive program of "encouraged hiking" (to Brooks perhaps or to the nearest beer garden) proposed as an alternative.

To boil it down, these parties do not recognize, or at least do not admit, the desirability of intercollegiate sports and even sports in general. The fact that athletics got the ax rather than Singers, playshop or debate (and we admit they have been seriously curtailed) shows clearly their estimation of relative values. Perhaps they can explain why West Point, hastening training of cadets, has not curtailed its sports program. Perhaps they don't believe the development of good sportsmanship, sense of fair play, spirit of competition and healthy bodies are essential to the college student. Perhaps they don't realize that competitive sports can develop other qualities than bodily fitness, qualities that no amount of calisthenics can develop. Such physical conditioning should supplement rather than replace athletics.

Intercollegiate sports should be given their proper prominent place in a college on a "war footing." Serious difficulties have arisen making such a program seem impossible, but in these days necessary "impossibilities" are being accomplished (three-week semester for example). Granted that some sports may be out of the question this spring, is there any indication that they, too, will not be totally abandoned due to "lack of track suits" or the high cost of towels?

We would like to see a statement from the administration or athletic committee announcing either an accelerated sports program as is fitting for war time, a curtailed program or the complete abandonment of sports, accompanied by logical reasons for such a program.

Perhaps it is beyond our poor power to ask for such a statement but we would hate to see the athletic program, however diseased, die from sheer neglect.

Who was it said, "The Battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton?"

John M. Caughey,
Class of '44.

Three cheers for David Beiler and John Van Strien for their recent letters in reply to that McGrewsome attack on Dr. Yarrow's statements.

As for the Gadfly, to which Mr. McGrew referred with such quaint humor, it is a student publication aimed to prick the indifferent into active thinking about vital problems. My dictionary says that a gadfly is "any fly that bites and annoys cattle."

Name-calling seems a childish annoyance.

Jane M. Hahne, '44.

An investigation of Meadville's Negro population by the Allegheny Christian council has revealed many startling things. For many years the local Negroes have enjoyed almost none of the privileges granted even to tramps. Negroes are not allowed to use local hotels, restaurants, and are allowed only the balcony in the theaters. Besides this they have no recreation facilities. Even the Y.M.C.A. is closed to them.

The A.C.C. is working hard to help them and has already made some progress. The A.C.C. would like the help of the student body. They are anxious to help on the campus as well as in the community. Any person with any suggestions will be welcome at the meetings held each Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the speech library.

Montgomery Musings

by
JIM JENKINS

Phi Gamma Delta, 28—Delta Tau Delta, 13.

Phi Gamma Delta, 25 — Beta Kappa, 13.

Phi Delta Theta, 58—Alpha Chi Rho, 21.

In the opening game of the season, Phi Gamma Delta defeated the Delts in as rough a game as one could hope to see. Smart basketball took a back seat to rugged individualism while physical and verbal exchanges were frequent. Lew Dundon, with 13 points, was the only bright spot in an otherwise poorly played contest.

Don Weller paced Phi Kappa Psi to their victory over Delta Tau Delta. The former frosh star tallied 8 points while his teammates set up a rugged defense.

Phi Delta Theta proved themselves the strongest contender for the championship as they swamped Alpha Chi Rho, 58-21. Bob Welday set the scoring pace with 13 points, followed closely by Ray Peterson and Bill Present with 12 apiece. Present, late of the frosh cagers, was the outstanding man on the floor. His passing, ball handling, and shooting seemed to steady his teammates and give them confidence.

Glen Marcy, P.K.P., one of the most highly rated contenders, advanced into the fourth round by virtue of his 2-1 conquest of seeded Ben Fauver, P.G.D. A good sized crowd witnessed the hard fought match. With the games standing at one apiece, Marcy won the final 21-19, in spite of Fauver's closing rally.

Frosh Drop Two Games Last Week

Grover-Revenge Victims Lose Alliance Tilt

The frosh basketeers, after getting off to an impressive start against the Grove City Reserves in their opening game at Grove City by a 22-point winning margin, last week dropped their next two games, the first to Alliance College by a 44-42 count and the next to the Grover Reserves, 37-32.

The Alliance defeat closely paralleled the loss the varsity had suffered the day before at the hands of Carnegie Tech. After getting off to a slow and shaky first quarter start, when the score stood at 8-9 in Alliance's favor, the locals flashed their first-game form to pull well ahead of the Cambridge team by halftime, 28-19. The third canto saw each team hold its own throughout the period and brought the totals to 41-33 with but one quarter left to play. The frosh had determined not to lose this one the way the varsity had the night before, but the rejuvenated Alliance five managed to score 11 counters to Allegheny's lone foul and brought the final game tally to 44-42.

Bob Todd was the Gators' high scorer with 16 points and was followed by Conroy with 10 markers. Pietrzak, of the visitors scored 14, while Rocoy and Godleski scored 12 and 10 points respectively.

The team sorely missed the services of Bill Present, high-scorer in the first game, in the Alliance and second Grove City tilts, both of which were decided by two-point margins.

The Grove City game was also decided in the fourth quarter when the Grovers outscored the Gators 10-4 to win the game 37-32. The halftime score was 15-12 in the visitor's favor.

Todd was again the Gator individual leader, with 12 points, followed by Conroy with 10. Paynter, of the Grovers, and Keefer, a sub, scored 14 and 13 points respectively.

Tomorrow the freshmen play the Slippery Rock Freshmen here, and play another preliminary on Tuesday evening when the Alfred Freshmen and Varsity squads invade Montgomery.

The Woman's Side

By Jean Risser

An innovation in the present Women's Athletic system has been the introduction of honorary first, second and third teams for each sport in the intramural program. At the end of each tournament, except those tournaments in which the competition is individual, the Women's Athletic Board will choose three teams from those girls who participated in the tournament. These teams will be purely honorary; no competition will take place among them. This plan is being started to give recognition to those girls who show special skill in a particular sport. It will also enable a girl to earn extra points toward an athletic award even though she is not a member of a winning team. The members of the first team will receive 50 additional points; second team, 25 additional points; third team members, 15 additional points. From time to time the rosters of these honorary teams will be published in The Campus.

Do you like to hike? Here is your chance to do all the walking you can do. Every Saturday afternoon at 1:30 a group of hikers will leave Brooks hall for a short hike into the country. There will be two leaders for each Saturday hike —a member of the athletic board and a freshman girl appointed every week. Come and join the group—do your bit for the National Physical Fitness Campaign. Girls wishing to go should sign up before Friday of each week on the list posted on the bulletin in the front lobby of Brooks hall.

The basketball tournament is well on its way to completion. Six games have been played so far with the following results:

Feb. 10—Kappas, 18; Cochran, 16.

Feb. 10—Alpha Gams, 15; Tarbell, 10.

Feb. 12—Kappas, 24; Alpha Gams, 14.

Feb. 12—Cochran, 18; Tarbell, 13.

Feb. 17—Alpha Gams, 23; Cochran, 18.

Feb. 17—Kappas, 23; Tarbell, 14.

During the coming week it is the plan of the Women's Athletic Board to send a representative to each freshman house to better acquaint the freshman girls with the purpose and function of the Women's Athletic association. This association is composed of all the girls attending Allegheny and it is felt by the board that the freshman girls should know more about an organization of which they are members.

Annual Cwen Hop Scheduled Friday

The annual Cwen Dance will be held next Friday evening at Brooks hall from 9 till 12. This dance will undoubtedly be the big freshman event of the year, since the usual Pan-Hellenic Dance, given in the spring, has been called off.

Although the dance will be formal, men are requested not to send corsages, in accordance with the new agreement. 12:30 permissions will be granted, but eleven o'clocks must be taken. Admission is $1.50, which includes programs and taxes.

All freshman women are invited, invitation or none.

'Racial Prejudices' Town Meeting Topic

"Racial prejudice" will be the general theme of tonight's Town Hall meeting in Arter hall, room 15 at eight o'clock. The national question, "Brotherhood of Man—Fact or Fiction?" will guide the discussion.

Gators To Meet Hiram, Alfred

Play Mediocre Terriers On Road Saturday Night; Return And Oppose New Yorkers Tuesday

Thiel Takes Close Game As Cagers Drop Another, 39-37

The Gators suffered their third two-point defeat in a row Tuesday evening when the Thiel Tomcats downed the locals, 39-37. In their two previous games the Gators had lost by this same margin to Grove City and Carnegie Tech, recent conquerors of the Pitt Panther.

The margin of defeat for the Allegheny squad in this game was largely due to their failure to convert more than nine out of twenty-two free throws while the Greenville men made good nine tosses out of twelve.

With the exception of a disastrous third quarter, the Gators throughout the contest looked like the better team. The halftime score stood at 15-12 in Allegheny's favor but by the end of the third period the Tomcats held a six-point edge at 24-18 and later stretched their lead to ten points at 36-26 with but four minutes left to play in the game.

At this point the Alleghenians staged a spirited rally and, largely due to the accuracy of Turk, pulled to within two points of tying the game. This point was reached with still a half-minute left to play but the Gators were unable to break through the Thiel zone defense in that short time to prolong the contest.

The evening's high scoring honors went to Thiel's Wesley Cole, who sank seven field goals and converted four out of five foul attempts to garner a total of eighteen points. Turk and Foster tied for runner-up scoring honors and led the Allegheny forces with fourteen points apiece. The inability of Nichols, Frye, and Chapmen, other Gator starters who accounted for the rest of the Allegheny points, to break into the scoring column more often undoubtedly hurt the Gator cause.

This return game with the Tomcats followed the pattern of the first Allegheny-Thiel contest in January, when the visitors eked out a 33-32 victory over the home forces in Montgomery gym. In this game, also, the Gators staged a late rally to threaten the early Thiel lead, but fell just short of victory in the final seconds of the game. Wesley Cole was instrumental in the Tomcat triumph, also, when he converted a foul for the winning margin after the Gators had knotted the count at 32-32.

The summary:

The Gators take the road again this week-end, when they journey into Ohio to meet the Hiram cagers at Hiram on Saturday. Next Tuesday the locals return to play host to New York's Alfred university in Montgomery gym.

The Hiram game will probably be the Gators' last relatively easy opportunity to add one more win to their season's record, for the Ohio school has the least impressive record of any of Allegheny's remaining opponents and is probably the weakest team the Gators will have met all season.

The Hiram record to date shows but two wins as against nine losses. Though this record closely approximates the Gator record, evidence seems to indicate that the Hiram aggregation is weaker at least on paper than the Allegheny squad. Their two victories have been a 39-38 win over Heidelberg and a 42-35 win over Ashland. Even more significant than these victories, however, for Allegheny fans are two of the recent defeats the Terriers have suffered on the court. Fenn, beaten by the Gators 40-31, eked a 50-49 win over Hiram in Cleveland and Thiel within the last two weeks scored an easy 51-32 victory over them. Hiram this year has but one or two of last year's veterans on the squad and should provide the Gators an excellent chance to chalk up a victory.

Last year the Gators, paced by Faloon and Dennison with eighteen points each, swamped the Terriers, 58-37.

Alfred should have a somewhat stronger team than Hiram, but little information is available on the New York school. One fact significant for the Gators is that Alfred recently dropped a close contest to the University of Buffalo, the Gators' last foe of the year.

Last year, Allegheny scored a close 42-40 win over a well-balanced and well-drilled Alfred team, led by Trigilio, Hortnik and Gamble, the center and two forwards. Faloon again aided the Gator cause in this game with 18 points. The New Yorkers should have a strong team this year for ample replacements for graduating varsitymen were available from last year's freshman squad, which was one of the outstanding first-year Alfred cage quintets. The game Tuesday should be a close, spirited contest between two evenly matched teams.

Grovers Win Return Tilt

Win In Last Minutes, 41-39

Lady Luck once again turned her back on Allegheny college's courtmen as the luckless Gators suffered their second two-point defeat of the week Saturday night when Grove City's Crimson Cagers came from behind to edge out the Gators, 41-39.

The rather sordid history of the recent Carnegie Tech debacle was repeated, but to a much lesser degree, as the Gators, who were leading for the major portion of a highly exciting contest, suddenly tightened up with a precarious 36-32 lead midway in the final quarter and allowed the Grovers to forge into a lead and ultimately triumph. In this return match between the Gators and their time-honored Mercer county rivals, the Allegheny courtsters showed marked improvement over last Tuesday's Tech game, which is a tribute to their courage, and patient tutelage of Bunk McGeever.

The tense, exciting final period saw the Gators, sparked by Turk, Foster and Frye, who never ceased fighting, forge a 36-32 lead with six minutes to go. At this juncture the locals began to press and repeatedly lost the ball through over-anxiety and tension.

With defeat staring them in the face, the Crimson's outstanding star, Fowler, aided by Hulton, heroically pulled them even at 38-all with two and a half minutes left to go. Hank Frye registered on a foul to throw the Gator rooters into a frenzy but Towle, who shared Grover scoring honors at ten points, proved the visiting hero as he scored three points to give his mates a hard-earned 41-39 victory.

After-War Plans Made By Iowa U.

Funds Collected To Aid Returning Student-Soldiers

One of the first positive steps to answer the question of thousands of students, "Will we return to graduate?" has been taken by the university of Iowa.

The challenge of this question—answered too often negatively following the last war—is being met by the university with a far reaching plan for financial assistance to former students who will return to study after war-service.

The program calls for gifts of not over $200 to each returning student in need of assistance. The money is to come from a fund made up of voluntary contributions of ten cents a week from each student still on campus. About $10,000 is expected to be collected in this manner this semester. Administered by the committee on student aid and audited by the university treasurer's office, the fund will be invested in U. S. defense bonds. Originator of the plan is Francis Weaver, 22-year-old law student from Mason City, Iowa.

"It offers those who remain on the campus the opportunity to aid in a concrete manner the development of post-war rehabilitation program for the men who are fighting our war for us," said the Daily Iowan of the plan. "It will give us a chance to do something for them in return for what they are doing and will do for us until complete victory is achieved."

Requirements for the $200 gifts to returning students include at least six months' service in a U. S. armed force, attendance at the university of Iowa from October 15, 1940 to the time of induction or enlistment, and maintenance of graduating grades during this time.

Collection of the fund is being carried out on a group basis. Presidents of sororities and fraternities, leaders of dormitories and such groups are responsible for collecting their quotas.

Last week Dean J. R. Schultz announced that a job in a local industry is open for some Allegheny student. More announcements of this nature may be expected in the future as the surrounding industries feel a tighter pinch of the manpower shortage.

Similar opportunities for employment are presenting themselves to students in other schools. At Ursinus a "Work-Study Plan" is the next step the college plans to take in its effort to keep students in school and yet aid the defense program.

Under this plan, students may work in either the Jacobs Aircraft company plant, or in the Superior Tube company while they attend classes at the college. These students would carry from eight to ten hours a semester and would pay tuition on a proportional basis, and work forty-eight hours a week. The college is providing transportation to and from work, and lunches for the men to take the place of their regular evening meal.

If you can't get in the naval or coast guard reserves there is still a chance to become an officer in the army. The War Department announced last week that the army's officer candidate schools are now open to all qualified enlisted men from 18 to 45 years of age. The minimum period of service required for admission to the schools has been reduced to three months.

These changes have been made to provide a greater number of trained officers for the rapidly expanding army.

The principal requirement, stressed above all others for admission to candidate schools, is evidence of outstanding qualities of leadership. While an academic degree may be a favorable factor, equivalent training and experience in civil life is equally acceptable to the army.

All applicants must have received a rating of 110 or better in the army general classification test to be eligible for admission to candidate school.

A limited number of men who have completed at least three and a half years of high school were admitted to Dickinson college at the beginning of this semester. This plan will be adopted by more and more schools as the enrollment of men students drops.

A course in first aid will be started soon at Wooster. Classes will be held in the evening, two hours each week for ten weeks, and are open to both men and women students.

Several new courses have been added to the Mount Holyoke curriculum as a result of the present war, including the Economics of War, in the department of economics and sociology.

Many courses have been dropped at Yale because over one hundred members of the faculty are working in the national defense program.

In the Service

Names and addresses of former Allegheny students now in the armed forces will be included in this section each week that closer contact may be kept between them and friends in school. Copies of the campus will soon be sent to the USO clubhouses in camps where Alleghenians are stationed. It is hoped the students will help in the collection of this data and deposit it in a box to be put in the grill or give it to some member of the Campus staff.

Age Requirements In C.P.T. Course Down One Year

Lowering of the age requirement from 19 to 18 years and the opportunity for freshmen with 15 hours credit to participate in the Civilian Pilot Training course have been effected in order to fill the quota for the class, according to Dale E. Thomas, coordinator. Registration for the course must be completed this week.

A last-minute ruling by the board has ruled out the fifteen hour requirement, meaning that entering freshmen are now eligible to take the primary course.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority will pay for all the expenses of training, insurance, and physical examination. The only cost to the trainee is a $10 college fee in addition to providing transportation to and from the airport.

While pursuing the flight course, trainees will be deferred from selective service. However, they are expected to apply for further training in the secondary course when they have completed their elementary training, or apply for further training with the army or navy air corps; otherwise they are subject to selective service.

Allegheny's quota was doubled earlier this year and there are still a few vacancies open to qualified applicants. Those interested should see Mr. Thomas before the end of the week.

Defense Stamps On Sale Here Soon

Arrangements for the sale of defense stamps on the campus were being completed this week, though no information as to where they would be sold was available.

Announcement in last week's issue that such stamps were on sale was a mistake.

A social dancing class for men and women will be held each Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Brooks hall gymnasium. Miss Elfid Ide, of the physical education department, will conduct the class.

The University of Colorado was established in 1876.
