LOMAX—THIS AFTERNOON AND TO-NIGHT

VOLUME NO. XLI. NO. 18 MEADVILLE, PA., APRIL 11, 1923 PRICE FIVE CENTS

DUZER DU TO PRESENT MUCH ANTICIPATED PLAYS TUESDAY

Three One-Act Productions Are Offerings of the Club This Year

With April 17, the date for the annual Duzer Du presentation but six days away final arrangements have been made, and the tickets will be placed on sale this afternoon by Mr. J. E. Larson in the treasurer's office. As in the past the plays will be given in the Gymnasium.

Those in charge are well satisfied with the progress that the actors are making and express confidence that this year's production will establish a standard for amateur dramatics at Allegheny. The three carefully selected casts are rehearsing daily under the competent direction of Prof. H. E. E. Goodfellow. Prof. R. W. Thomas, in charge of properties, is arranging scenic effects and planning costumes that will add a distinctive touch of local color and provide a realistic setting for the locale of the plays.

The first number on the club's repertoire is "The Robbery," one of the best of Clare Kummer's many popular comedies. An extremely compromising and questionable situation is in the development of the plot explained in a most proper and correct way. So daringly witty is the action that the play was immediately marked as a success and will without doubt be equally well received when presented here next Tuesday evening. Mr. Frank Jolly and Mr. Boyd Miller are the man and woman in the "case," and their interpretation of the parts are exceptionally delightful. Mr. J. Wesley Morrissey is the overwhelmed and shocked papa, Mr. Charles T. Severn makes a wonderfully sympathetic and understanding mother, while Alexander Hill is the butler.

In the second play the atmosphere is decidedly changed. "Bound East for Cardiff" by Eugene O'Neill, a tragedy at sea, in which pathos, humor, friendships, and melodrama are all blended into one theme. It is distinctly different from anything ever before presented at Allegheny and will provide an interesting variation from the ordinary program. W. F. McGill and C. W. Wills take the leading roles in "Bound East for Cardiff." Messrs. W. H. Smith, H. H. Hobaugh, H. P. Taylor, J. J. Fries, D. E. Quinn, and C. L. Friend are sailors. M. V. Wright plays the part of captain and H. A. Bliss of second-mate.

"Pokey, or the Beautiful Legend of the Armorous Indian," one of Philip Moeller's "more or less historical plays," is a burlesque on the famous events surrounding the romance of Pocahontas and John Rolfe. From the time the curtain rises on the mad passionate love scene featuring "Buck" Weaver as Pokey and Ted Siedle as Rolfe until the curtain drops for the last time, the action is one continuous series of ludicrous situations. Not the least clever feature of the play are the parodies on sections from Longfellow's "Hiawatha." The cast is as follows: Pokey, W. F. Weaver; the old Mrs. Pocahontas, R. R. Dennison; Mrs. Pocahontas, Seth Hough; Chief Powhatan, F. W. Myford; John Smith, Lee Schaeffer; John Rolfe, T. A. Siedle; the three Indian braves, Hail-in-the-nose, H. H. Loomis; Storm-in-the-eye, F. A. Parnell; Wind-in-the-ear, E. J. Brew.

Tickets for a block of seats reserved for the town people have been placed on sale at the Red Cross Drug Store. In the past years the College dramatics have been well patronized by the town people, and due to the unusual interest which the coming presentation is creating, it is expected that there will be an even greater number this year.

The students and faculty will undoubtedly be present in large numbers, and every available space in the large gymnasium will probably be used to accommodate the large audience of the evening.

GLEE CLUB GOES TO PITTSBURGH TOMORROW

ARRANGEMENTS BEING MADE FOR OTHER OUT-OF-TOWN CONCERTS

Allegheny's Glee and Musical Clubs leave Thursday morning for Pittsburgh where a program will be presented at the Christ M. E. Church on the same evening. This engagement is being sponsored by the Men's Club of the church in which it is to be held and is being given in connection with a banquet, thus promising to be an enjoyable affair for the members of the clubs as well as the people of Christ Church.

In view of the fact that the local management has received the hearty co-operation from the Pittsburgh Alumni Association, of which Mr. Fred Homer is President, this concert will undoubtedly be a very successful one.

On Monday evening, April 16, the clubs will appear in the First Presbyterian Church of Warren, Penna., under the auspices of the Builders' Class. This church has the largest auditorium in Warren, and the sale of 1000 tickets is now well under way. The large number of Allegheny alumni in that city assure the support needed for the presentation of the club's usual fine concert. Arrangements are now being made to have the clubs appear in Franklin and Oil City later in the month.

The program is much the same as that of the home concert with the addition of a piano novelty number by Messrs. R. P. Eaton and L. M. Shaffer and a few changes in some of the lighter vocal selections.

The personnel of the clubs when on trips will include twenty-five, which is good concert strength. The showing made by the combined Glee and Musical Clubs this season has been very gratifying to the student body. Members of the club are unanimous in voicing the praise of Professor Lee Hess Barnes who has so capably directed the work during the season.

ALUMNI

Beginning with this issue the Campus will be mailed to every Alumnus of the College for the remainder of the year. This new policy has been made possible by the Administration of the college and in hope that the Alumni of Allegheny will be kept in closer touch with the college and its activities. Alumni news will be made a special feature of the Campus and an Alumni department has been organized to handle this material.

The Alumni editor will be glad to receive at any time news or personal items for this column. All changes of address should be reported to the circulation manager in order to eliminate errors in the mailing lists.

DR. HAMILTON HOLT SPEAKS AT COURT HOUSE

Dr. Hamilton Holt, publisher of the Independent magazine, spoke to a crowded court room on "The League of Nations," Friday night. A large part of the audience was composed of students and faculty of Allegheny College.

Dr. Holt spoke very ably from a knowledge gained while working for the League in the United States and studying its results abroad. His comments upon the scrapping of the League and upon the contentions of its enemies were very shrewd and often humorous. His remarks were enthusiastically applauded by the interested audience that had availed itself of this opportunity to hear a discussion of the League by one of its warmest supporters in America.

JOHN A. LOMAX GIVES TWO RECITALS TODAY

QUILL CLUB BRINGS FAMOUS BALLAD COLLECTOR TO COLLEGE

John A. Lomax, lecturer and collector of cowboy ballads and negro spirituals, will speak twice today in Ford Memorial Chapel, this afternoon at 4 o'clock giving a group of negro spirituals, and this evening at 8 o'clock reading a number of cowboy ballads. Such ballads at "Jesse James," "Hell in Texas," and "Joe Bowers" are a prominent part of the evening performance.

Every year Mr. Lomax makes a tour of American Colleges and Universities giving his program to college audiences. Quill Club and the English department are responsible for his local appearance. At the present time he is concluding a trip throughout the East, leaving here tomorrow for Western Reserve. However the large part of his work is not so much to present to the public these native American Ballads, as it is to collect them from their places of development, the ranches of the West and the cabins of the South.

Those who heard Carl Sandburg last year can draw a somewhat close comparison between the work of the two men. Lomax sings some of the songs as he heard them, as did Sandburg in one or two instances. Carl Sandburg gained his knowledge of the Western Ballads from John Lomax.

Mr. Lomax is a native of Texas and received his college training at the University of Texas. Harvard University soon after gave him a traveling scholarship in order that he might carry out the work in which he is now engaged. It is on this scholarship that he is now traveling. Much of his early life was spent on the ranches in Texas and on the trail leading from the South up into Wyoming, Montana and even Idaho, where the cattle received summer pasturage. Along this trail many of the best ballads have been developed.

The tickets for the recital are priced at 50 cents and can be secured either from Quill Club members or from members of the English department. The same ticket admits both to the afternoon and evening numbers.

PRES. HIXSON ENTERTAINS MEADVILLE CLUBS

President Hixson entertained the local members of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs on March 27 at a dinner held in Cochran Hall. In lieu of tedious speeches for the evening's program, the freedom of the bowling alleys, gymnasium, and swimming pool were offered to the members of the clubs.

ALLEGHENY DEBATERS TO MEET DICKINSON

KANSAS COURT PLAN IS AGAIN ISSUE FOR DEBATE

By striving to vanquish Dickinson College in a dual debate on April 19, Allegheny debating teams will make a strong effort to uphold her remarkable record in forensic activities. The members of the teams realize that they will have no easy task since Dickinson has a reputation of producing some of the strongest debating teams in the country and this year's representatives have already turned in several victories over prominent colleges.

The proposition to be discussed is Resolved, "That the United States and the several states should establish courts analogous in principle to the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations." This is a topic of timely importance and one upon which there is much to be said for either side. Both the affirmative and the negative teams have been hard at work and have succeeded in building up particularly strong cases. Practice has been held daily in the chapel, and the coaches are much pleased with the results so far.

The Allegheny affirmative team consisting of Messrs. Larson, Demmler, and Hammett with Mr. Wright as alternate will travel to Carlyle, Pa., to meet the negative team of Dickinson, while the negative team made up of Messrs Ross, Sutton, and Leeper with Mr. Bartlett as alternate will meet the opposing affirmative team on the home rostrum.

CATALOG FOR SUMMER SESSION IS ISSUED

In the College Bulletin, May number, the courses which will be offered in the summer session are printed. Registration will be open on June 25 and work will begin in all courses the next day. Examinations will be held August 3 and 4.

A new arrangement has been adopted with regard to the tuition for the courses offered this year. A fee of $6.00 will be charged for each term hour. In addition to the courses given last year there will be five courses in Education. Further information concerning the summer session may be secured from the pamphlet which may be had upon application at the Registrar's office.

GLEE CLUB SINGS AT ROTARY CLUB MEETING

Singing before the local Rotary Club, the Allegheny College Glee Club gave a short informal concert on April 4 at the organization's regular meeting. The program for the afternoon was only of about a half hour duration and was composed of some of the Glee Club's best ensemble and solo selections.

VARIED PROGRAM OF GIRLS' GLEE CLUB IS WELL GIVEN

Both Ensembles and Special Numbers Display Commendable Talent

Before an appreciative audience, the Girls' Glee Club presented its formal concert last Saturday evening in the Ford Memorial Chapel. Director L. H. Barnes lead the club in person. The well chosen numbers together with the pleasing manner in which they were given stamped the concert as the very best one ever given at Allegheny by a Girls' Glee Club.

"A Tragic Tale," by J. Bertram Fox pleased the listeners immensely because it was something unusual, and it's levity was contrasted by some of the heavier numbers of the program. The solos by Miss Mussler "Yesterday and Today," by Spross, and "The Summer Wind," by Bischoff, were two of the best rendered numbers in the concert. Miss McCafferty's accompaniment and piano solos, "To a Water Lily" by MacDowell and "June" by Tschaikowsky delighted the audience who expressed their pleasure by the length of the applause.

Of all the concert, the last two numbers, "The Two Clocks" by Rogers, and "Dreams in Twilight" by Woodman, were without doubt the favorites. These were especially well prepared and given and were a proper and appropriate conclusion to the concert.

The first number on the programme after the intermission was a reading by Miss Helen Shaffer, entitled "Aunt Eleanore's Hero." It was well presented, and the well portrayed humor of it took the audience by storm.

It may be said with no reservation, that the concert far excelled any ever presented here by the club and much credit must be given Director Barnes and the entire Club for their efforts.

DR. LOWE GIVES FORCEFUL MESSAGE AT SUNDAY VESPERS

Noted Church Executive Urges Living Life At Its Best

"Life at its Best" was the theme of a dynamic sermon delivered by the Rev. Titus Lowe, D. D., of New York, Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Church, at the Vesper Service at Ford Memorial Chapel last Sunday afternoon.

"Life," said Dr. Lowe, "is a pursuit that should attain, a race that should have a goal, and a battle that should win a victory;" and with this last phrase he related his text: "So fight I not as one that beateth the air."

Setting forth the state of extraordinary unrest that is now prevalent, he averred that every person worth his salt today is a fighter, and, as such, must have a three-fold standard: the body must be strong enough to bear up under the stress and strain of modern life; the mind must be balanced; and the soul must be free.

The mind should be trained to be responsive to new ideas, and to correlate history to modern problems. Education is not for the purpose of stuffing the mind with information, but give it fundamental conceptions that have to do with all life.

A soul, triumphant over fear, a conqueror of passion, and a master, not a slave of life, is the third part of the fighter's standard.

But the fighter must also have a motive. In this, the spirit of acquisition must not dominate; yet that spirit is not to be entirely condemned, for when properly subordinated, it is one of man's best endowments. Neither is personal happiness a worthy motive. Weaklings sigh for happiness, but fighting souls ask only a chance to fight. Personal interests do not make any real object; even the preservation of life itself is not a sufficient motive for the fighter. This fact Dr. Lowe illustrated with instances of the courage and willing self sacrifice of soldiers with whom he had associated in the late war.

As a fit master-motive for a modern man, Dr. Lowe recommended "to make a sincere, even if modest, contribution toward the progress of the human family, and to make life more meaningful and vibrant for coming generations." He likened the worthy man to the lamp lighter who lights a lamp here and there so that those who come after won't have to stumble.

Life at its best is found when an individual has become a buoyant fighter. "A Christian that isn't buoyant is not of the Christ kind."

To maintain personal integrity is no sinecure, but it can be done; for the fighter who does not quit does not fight alone—God always helps. Nevertheless there are millions of people who are contented to remain second rate. These, who do nothing to achieve, are slacker souls.

If you belong to the fighting gang, Dr. Lowe asserted "You belong to the order of the square-dealers." There is great need for men to fight to make this republic respected, not feared, by other republics, particularly those of South America, who entertain intense suspicion for the United States..

The men who fight squarely, as citizens, to put into practice the Golden Rule are the ones who belong to the "order of square dealers." Dr. Lowe concluded by saying, "Wouldn't you like to belong to the order of square dealers.?"

A feature of the service was a selection by a double quartet.

PI DELT CONTEST INCITES INTEREST

ALLEGHENY CHAPTER OF NATIONAL JOURNALISTIC FRATERNITY STIMULATES LITERARY ACTIVITY

Interest in the literary contest of Pi Delta Epsilon is being shown from even most unanticipated quarters. Students who have heretofore exhibited no active interest in the journalistic field have made inquiries about the details of the contest and have indicated their intention of contributing to it.

Although the contest was announced only last Tuesday, contestants have already begun work on manuscripts. Owing to the almost unlimited range of work which may be submitted and the absence of complicated restrictions and requirements, the contest has a wide appeal.

RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. Men students of the college may submit any form of prose-writing. Such writing includes short stories, formal or informal essays, character or descriptive sketches, plays, and editorials.
2. Three houndred words is the minimum length, and five hundred words should represent the maximum in most cases.
3. All contributions must be given to Mr. W. M. Jones or Mr. C. W. Havice on or before Wednesday, April 18.

Pi Delta Epsilon is conducting this contest as a part of its program for the encouragement of college journalism, and its effects will not only be reflected in the college publications, but will also create a wider interest in this phase of the student activities.

In addition to the prize which will be given for the best contributions, all other meritorious work will receive fitting recognition.

The judges will be Dr. S. S. Swartley, Dr. J. R. Schultz and Prof. R. W. Thomas.

TRAINING CAMPS MAY HAVE OPPORTUNITY FOR ALLEGHENIANS

This summer the third session of Citizens' Military Training Camps will be held from June 26 to July 25. These camps are conducted by the U. S. Government, transportation to and from the camps at five cents a mile, rations, quarters, medical attention, uniform, rifle and equipment all being furnished free to accepted applicants.

Pennsylvania men will go to Camp Meade, Maryland. Crawford County's quota is thirty men, of which number eight have already signed up.

Men in the college interested in this free summer camp can secure more detailed information and application blanks from Dr. K. F. Bascom.

QUESTIONAIRES TO BE SENT ALL SENIORS

ANSWERS TO BE INCLUDED IN FEATURE SECTION OF KALDRON

Circular letters will be sent to all members of the senior class by the editor of the Kaldron. These letters will be in the form of questionaires and a number of unusual questions will be asked. It is hoped that the seniors will answer these questions as humorously as possible as their answers will be published in the feature section of the Kaldron. This idea was carried out successfully at Bowdoin and is said to have improved their year book greatly. Therefore, in order to make the Kaldron of 1923 the best yet, it is hoped that the seniors will do their part.

"QUO VADIS" IS CANCELLED

"Quo Vadis," the film version of Sienkiewicz's famous novel, which was to have been shown in the Chapel on April 10 under the auspices of the Classical Club, has been cancelled.

The club was forced to make this announcement as a result of conflictions with State motion picture laws.

Beginning with this issue, the college is sending the Campus to all members of the alumni of the college. This policy has been inaugurated in the earnest hope of being able to gratify the desire of the alumni for more college news, and in the hope of promoting a more glowing and enthusiastic Allegheny spirit wherever former students of the college may be located. For many years the only news which the alumni of the college received has been through the college bulletin which appears monthly and does not keep the alumni in close touch with college affairs. The Campus, the weekly publication of the college, will carry to all alumni a digest of the news and happenings at Allegheny for the week. It is the sincere hope that this policy will bring the alumni in closer contact with the college.

An alumni department has been organized for the handling of all alumni news. This department will not be able to function properly unless material is sent in from the alumni. This department will be glad to handle all news and personal items concerning the Allegheny alumni.

Interest in journalistic and literary activity at Allegheny has been unusually intense during the current year; competition for places on the various staffs of the college publications is most keen. To foster this worthy interest and to provide an added incentive, Allegheny Chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon has announced a literary contest open to men students. In addition to the prize given for the best contribution, the fraternity will employ a means of recognition which will well award the efforts of contestants whose work shows merit. The contest offers a decided opportunity for those who desire to develop and test their ability to write.

Even those who protest against college organizations most emphatically must admit of their valuable contribution to campus life after hearing the very pleasing and talented program of the Girls' Glee Club last Saturday evening. Alleghenians will shortly be given two further examples of successful organized effort. Quill Club has brought John Lomax here where he will give one of his nationally famous recitals. Duzer Du is now preparing three excellent one-act plays which they will offer in a public presentation next week. Certainly such altruistic enterprises on the part of our college clubs should be heartily commended.

The college is extremely anxious to have nominations made by the alumni of students for the college. The limitation on the enrollment of the college makes it necessary to select the applicants with great care. Thus information concerning prospective students or nominations sent in to the college of students, from alumni, will simplify the matter of selection a great deal. It has been found that the Alumni nominations have been the most valuable that the college has received. It is the earnest hope of the Administration of the college that the alumni will submit such names for prospective Allegheny students.

COLLEGE NETTERS PLAN BIG SEASON

PROMISING SCHEDULE IS ARRANGED

With a tentative schedule of thirteen matches, starting with West Virginia at home on May 3, the Blue and Gold clay court representatives will embark upon one of the most strenuous net campaigns ever attempted by an Allegheny squad.

Manager Clark has arranged for matches with all the important Tri-State institutions, including Pitt, Tech, W. and J., West Virginia and Bucknell. The feature of this season's card will be the appearance of the Michigan Agricultural College netters here on June 4. Prospects are also bright for a home and home series with Bucknell. Although definite dates have not been decided on, it is altogether probable that Thiel, Westminster and Grove City will be met.

Plans are being formulated for an elimination tournament with the possibility that the letter men from last year—Cochran, Coale and Clarke—will not enter the competition. In this case the four finalists in the tournament will challenge the letter men for positions on the team. This procedure will uncover the best tennis talent in college at the same time affording everybody an opportunity to display his ability. Some of the most promising candidates are the Pratt brothers, T. O. McQuiston, Brownell, Weining, Mook, Drake and Smith. The schedule is as follows:

May 3—West Virginia, at home.
May 4—W. & J., at home.
May 5—Carnegie Tech, at home.
May 19—W. & J., away.
May 22—Pitt, away.
May 26—West Virginia, away.
May 28—Pitt, away.
June 4—Michigan Aggies, at home.
June 6—Thiel, pending.
June 8—Grove City, pending.
June 9—Westminster, pending.

SENIOR HOP IS THE THING

Friday, April 20, is a red-letter day for all college students, for it is then that the Senior Hop takes tangible form. The Senior Hop is to be informal and will be held at the State Armory. Dancing will be from eight to twelve o'clock. Spring and all that it means is here, and no one with the heart and idealism that characterizes youth should pass up this party.

For many it will be their last all college dance and for all it will be the last one for some time. If you are not planning to go, draw a mental picture of yourself as you will be Friday night: a futile attempt to study, for your mind is filled with the thoughts of that which might have been: a lone tear steals from the depths of your staring eyes; the dank empty halls of the house no longer reverberate with the sound of footsteps and the very silence seems to leer at you; then, you think of the party, pulsating, throbbing, seething, quivering activity—blithesome youths and vivacious girls with life's cup o'er running. Then is the time you feel like going stark staring mad and vehemently wish you had gone. Don't let this happen.

Get a lick in on that rival and call 527 in the immediate future. You had better call now or that other fellow will get ahead of you, and that would never do. It is up to you fellows to show your college spirit by putting this dance across and at the same time have a ripping good time yourself. The mere pittance of two dollars is asked for the Hop, a widow's mite as it were. The committee is desirous that all co-operate. Secure your ticket from Wise or Prather at once.

Many Guests and Few Parties Summarize Social Activity

Allegheny's card-basket is kept well-filled by visiting friends and alumni; especially is this true of the past week. The various groups on the Hill report week-end and dinner guests to a considerable number. Only two fraternity parties and one club party were held this week-end. The present week will bring with it several group parties as well as an informal smoker. The activity of the Alumni Associations is most commendable and encouraging.

Pi Delts to Hold A other Smoker Thursday

The members of the Allegheny Chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon will hold an informal smoker tomorrow evening at the Phi Gamma Delta house for all men of the College who are actively interested in journalism. A particular invitation is extended to all those men who are working on the several college publications.

Beginning at eight o'clock an informal program will be given of which several brief addresses will form a part. Mr. W. I. Bates, editor of the Tribune-Republican, will be the main speaker of the evening. He will talk on a practical phase of journalism.

Music, good fellowship, and appropriate refreshments will all go in making this social event one to be enjoyed and pleasantly remembered.

Pi Delta Epsilon gave a similar affair last fall at which many embryo journalists convened for the pleasant program which had been prepared.

Phi Delta Theta Has Five-Couple Party

Phi Delta Theta held a five couple party last Friday evening with Miss Hazen and Mr. Marshall as chaperones.

Alpha Chi Rho Holds Formal Dance

Sixteen couples attended a formal party at the Alpha Chi Rho house last Friday evening. Among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Ling, Dr. E. J. Werle, Miss Murray of Warren, Pa., and Miss Gray of Pittsburgh.

Northern Ohio Alumni to Banquet

The annual banquet of the Northern Ohio Alumni will be held at the Cleveland Hotel on the night of April 27, at 7 o'clock.

The alumni in this section have been very enthusiastic in their interest and support for their Alma Mater and announcement of this annual banquet will undoubtedly be received with much gratification.

Allegheny Tossers Have Even Break For Season

Three Veteran Players Leave By Graduation This Year

With the close of the 1922-1923 basketball season another epoch of history has been written in the annals of the popular indoor sport. Although the athletic authorities deemed it inadvisable to enter the newly organized Tri-State League, the Blue and Gold figured in numerous engagements with the district leaders. According to experts, the local representatives displayed their best brand of all-around team play in the contest with the University of Pittsburgh at the Motor Square Garden. After the uphill battle waged at Waynesburg the previous night the Panthers were inclined to take the visiting floormen too lightly, and a nip and tuck agair resulted in a 4 point victory for the Carlson coached squad.

Various efforts to secure a coach for the season had met with failure until C. D. Baker, an alumnus and former basketball star, was induced to take charge of the squad. Upon his arrival early in December the new mentor set about to mold a winning combination with the materials at hand. With but two weeks in which to condition the squad and prepare for the tough holiday trip, Coach Baker worked incessantly to pick out a fairly smooth working combination for the strenuous trip which included games at Butler, Ne wCastle and Pittsburgh. The first mentioned contest was won and the remaining pair were lost by narrow margins.

Waynesburg was defeated 25-25 in the season's opener here on January 5. With a week's preparation the squad invaded Tri-State territory for the first time and again took the Waynesburg Collegians into camp. The remaining assignments proved too much for the local aspirants. Pitt and West Virginia managed to outscore the travelers by 4 and 6 point margins respectively. Alfred university next appeared on the home court and were made to bow in defeat by a 31-20 score. Geneva then invaded Meadville, chuck full of confidence as a result of their victory over the Carnegie Tech Clan. However, they did not show any unusual ability and were turned back with a 36-19 count. The first half of the schedule was brought to a successful conclusion with the 31-20 win over Bethany here February 3.

Mid-year examinations exacted their toll and Wolfe and Sharpe, both promising young Freshmen, were declared ineligible. Geneva was beaten in the return game at Beaver Falls and Bethany again fell before the Allegheny attack. With eight victories out of ten starts, the Blue and Gold five had every chance to establish an enviable record, but fate stepped in at this point and the loss to the Carnegie Tartans started the team on a losing streak which was destined to haunt them continually during the final lap of the schedule. Bonaventure surprised everybody and took the home crew into camp by an 11 point margin. Grove City held the locals to 13 points and amassed a total of 25 themselves to win the first game of the home and home series here February 20. Saturday night of the same week the Plaid appeared here for a return game and won a hotly contested battle by a 10 point margin.

The game at Grove City was a close affair with the Crimson fighting to the utmost to stave off apparent defeat. After 40 minutes of unendurable suspense the Thorn squad was awarded a 27-22 decision over the desperate Blue and Gold outfit. On the following night the Westminster cagers won a heart-breaking contest, 26-25. Leading the United Presbyterians until the final quarter, the local five was unable to stem a last minute rally which turned the tide and enabled the home favorites to win by a single point. Determined to win the return engagement with the squad from New Wilmington, the Baker proteges worked with a vim which was more than matched, however, by the visitors' play. The locals were very decidedly below their regularm and the losing streak continued. Colgate cancelled the contest scheduled to be played in Erie March 3. Juniata closed the season here on March 10. Flashes o fold time form marked the play throughout and the Allegheny floormen succeeded in emerging from theirl sump in the "grand finale" of the campaign.

WISE

The fact that Verne was chosen by a Pittsburgh sport expert for the All-Western Pennsylvania team should accurately bespeak the quality of his work on the floor. He is essentially a defensive center and, as such, his equal would be hard to find. His playing on the offensive, while not so startling nor brilliant, was consistently good and his ability to outjump his opponent was noticeable thruout the season. Verne is a Senior. a fact which tells its own sorrowful tale.

MILLER

Captain Miller was possibly the most aggressive man on Allegheny's team. His work at forward was characterized by fast and snappy playing. He played a very consistent game and his long shots from any point on the floor were the sensation of the season. On the defense also, Hoppy displayed his basketball ability. He will be lost to Allegheny next year and the team will miss a good man.

MOUNTSIER

When "Rush" Mountsier was drafted from the Senior class team to the Varsity, his partners on the fourth year squad truly enough declared "There goes our team." Mountsier was a valuable understudy for Wise. He showed his ability on the Geneva-Bethany-Tech trip when he most capably played as a substitute for the regular center. "Rush" will graduate in June.

ROSS

Leo has just finished his first year on the Varsity and if it be a criterion of what he will do in his remaining years at Allegheny the team will not lack a forward of the greatest ability. Leo specializes in shots under the basket and in the Juniata game especially he displayed his adeptness at this to everyone's satisfaction. He is also an accurate passer and a smart floor man.

BRAUN

"Lou" played a brilliant game at guard this, his first year on the Varsity. He plays an excellent floor game and scores occasionally but seldom allows an opponent to slip by him and score. As he, too, will be back, the guard problem for next season is already solved.

BROWNELL

Only a substitue last year, "Johnny" came through this year and played a real game at guard. He knows basketball, guards well, and is an uncanny shot. At shooting fouls, he made himself an excellent record. He will mean much to the team next year.

SHULTZ

Paul got in but few games, but showed real ability when he did. Heavy, aggressive and quite fast, he shone at working the ball down the floor. His man seldom scored. Fortunately, he is only a Junior.

DALE

"Court" Dale was taken on the squad in mid-season. His brilliant offensive playing in the class league showed enough promise to make him a Varsity man. Dale is one of the scrappiest players on the team and this year's experience ought to enable him to well fill the gap that will be left when Captain Miller graduates. Dale is a Junior this year.

DEVNEY

Lee Devney was utility guard on the 1923 Varsity. Although he played in only a few home games, nevertheless Devney was a valuable man and played a good relief role on the trips. He has two more years at Allegheny and in that time should advance to a regular position on the squad.

MANAGER KINNEY

Kinney, as student manager, made himself of valuable service to Graduate Manager Townsend, and in all ways proved capable and energetic in his position.

COACH BAKER

Coach Dick Baker, '10, who was probably more directly connected with Allegheny's quintet than any other individual, won the unanimous approval and sympathy of the entire student body through his untiring efforts to build up a team worthy of Allegheny's records.

TOWNSEND

A very great deal of credit is due Graduate Manager Townsend for the schedule of games for the past season, the greatest number in which an Allegheny team has taken part in years. His perseverance and excellent financial management proved invaluable.

COACH HAMMETT

Working with the squad as an aid to Coach Baker, Professor Hammett proved himself an able lieutenant. His knowledge of the game helped mightily in untying some of the intricate problems incidental to the indoor season.

TRACK PROSPECTS ARE FAVORABLE

Track training, although retarded for a day or two after vacation by bad weather, is now in full swing. The weight men are practicing daily, those in the field events from two to four o'clock, and the sprinters, hurdlers and distance runners from four to six.

Captain Wimmer, Ellsworth, Judd and Bliss are the letter men. Little, Taylor, Steenken, Nelson and Arthur Reams, second string men last year, should be good men this season. Miller, captain of the basketball team, and in his freshman year a strong track man, has announced his intention of coming out again. His cooperation should strengthen the team considerably. Dunmire, who has not before tried track, shows promise for the sprints and 440. Miles is doing good work in the distance run, and should give any of the new men a race for the two mile event. Freshmen of promise are Parnell, Byham and Walker in the field events; Montgomery in the sprints; Weining in the hurdles and pole vault, and Beyer, Bogardus, Mackintosh, Homer and Archbald in the middle and distance runs. The schedule is the best we have ever had, as follows:

April 28—Dual meet with Thiel College, here.
May 5—Dual meet with Alfred University, here.
May 12—Annual Interscholastic meet, here
May 19—Dual meet with Geneva College, here.
May 26—Dual meet with Rochester University, New York.
June 2—St. Bonaventure, New York.
