DEMAND FOR DEAN'S RESIGNATION REJECTED

Letter From President to Student Committee Defends Dean.

The request of the student body for the resignation of Dean of Women Evelyn Miller met with defeat, when President William P. Tolley made public his reply to the Student Committee in a letter dated May 11. President Tolley, after expressing his appreciation of the methods of the Committee, reiterated his confidence in the Dean of Women and proceed with a recitation of her activities during the current academic year. The letter stated, "Far from accepting the resignation of Dean Miller it seems to me that we ought to congratulate her on the progress she has made under serious handicaps . . ." He expressed the hope the students would coöperate with the Dean from this time on.

In an interview the President stated, "So far as the administration is concerned, the issue is a closed one." According to his letter, Dean Miller will be reengaged for another year.

Copies of the letter were sent to the fraternities and sororities on the campus, and it was published in a local newspaper.

Members of the student committee assert that while they will not themselves press the matter any further, they remain at the service of the student body and are willing to continue to act as the agents of the students.

The Student Committee has persistently refused to divulge the contents of the letter in which they requested the resignation of Dean Miller. President Tolley, however, is known to be pleased with the tact and sanity of the presentation of their complaints.

The fourth annual Interfraternity Sing will be held on the steps of Bentley Hall on Monday evening, May 22, at 7:30. Each fraternity will sing two fraternity songs and "Near the Vale." The Interfraternity Sing was introduced upon the Allegheny campus four years ago, at the instigation of Dean Benjamin. The first year the Phi Gamma Deltas won, receiving as their reward a silver cup. For the past two years the Sigs have held the cup; and if they win this year, it will be theirs permanently.

Major Pond Speaks To Assembly on Secondary Education

"Secondary School Curriculum" was the subject of Major Pond's address on Friday, May 12. Major Pond is the principal of Meadville High School and spoke at the request of Kappa Delta Epsilon, national educational honorary sorority. "Centuries ago in the dark ages, learning was set up in monasteries," he began. "Men were very carefully chosen and then trained. All graduates of these monasteries were succesful, for they loved subjects for their own sake. Of course, the courses they took were often dull and tedious, but that didn't hurt their interest."

Continuing, Major Pond told of the remarkable change in the manner of learning due to the forces of democracy and dynamic living. He outlined the following principles of secondary education. to teach pupils to do desirable things and to reveal to them higher types of activities. He suggested that courses of appreciation be added to the high school curriculum and more useful courses be substituted for Latin, mathematics, and pure grammar.

In conclusion, Major Pond admitted that teachers were at fault in teaching facts rather than principles for later life. Students, he claimed, often work only for their teachers or are the victims of a disease called "creditis." Teachers could remedy this situation by getting into society and taking a better part in the communities of which they are a part.

New catalogues and schedule sheets for next year will be available at the office today.

Civic Oratorical Contest Held at Ohio Wesleyan University

John A. Cobbs, representative of Western Reserve University, was the winner of the International Civic Oratorical Contest, which was held at Ohio Wesleyan University on Friday, May 5. His subject, "My Problem and Yours", dealt with the present race problem. The representative of Colgate University, Carl J. Arlt, presented the second best oration on "A Plea for Action."

Harry Thomson, speaking on his oration "Whitewash" which won first place in the Wakefield Oration Contest this year, was Allegheny's representative in the contest.

The Intercollegiate Civic Oratorical League is composed of six colleges, Ohio Wesleyan University, Allegheny College, Albion College, Colgate University, Western Reserve University, and College of Wooster. A contest is held each year at one one of the above colleges. Last year the contest was held at Allegheny. And then, also, the same two colleges came out on top. At that time Emmett A. Pedley, representative of Western Reserve, won the contest with his oration "The Hands of the Living Death." And Vitaly Lapin took second prize with his oration, "The Mirage." In this contest, Alle-

CORCORAN MADE EDITOR OF 'LITERARY MAGAZINE'

John Corcoran, '35, has recently been appointed as Editor of the "Literary Magazine". The selection was made by Miss Edith Fox, retiring editor, and Professor Swartley. The other appointments to the staff have not yet been completed but will be announced at a later date.

Robert Howe Wins In Philo-Franklin Oratorical Contest

Robert C. Howe, speaking on "He Who Has Returned" was the winner of the Philo-Franklin Oratorical Contest, which was held in the Playshop Theatre on Thursday, May 4th.

The second best oration was presented by Robert Dennis, who used as his subject "Vultures". Other speakers were Alverda Gerlach, Robert Hunter, Joseph Musick, Kenneth Powell, and Arthur Vangeli.

Howe approached his subject by painting a picture of an old medicine show, with the old time medicine man about to sell his wares. Although he was once driven away by laughter, the quack has come back and is now using as his weapons education, science, the press, etc., to advertise his wares. Mr. Howe claimed that the real solution to this new problem of getting rid of the medicine man again, is by educating the people to the true facts about advertising. The people must laugh at him so hard that he will again pack up his stuff and depart.

The judges of the contest were Professor Julian Ross, Miss Alice Spalding, and Dean Benjamin.

SIPLE WRITES OF TRIP THROUGH JORDAN VALLEY

Famous Scout Alumnus Recounts Exploration of Holy Land.

Paul A. Siple of Erie, the Allegheny graduate who won national renown as a member of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, and who has been invited to be a member of the second trip to Antarctica, recently made a trip down the Jordan River Valley between Palestine and Transjordan that rivaled his Polar adventures in rare experiences and thrill.

Siple described the journey in a letter to a friend, August Horowitz of Long Beach, L. I. He left New York last October and has since visited Europe, including a trip in Russia and in Asia Minor. He plans to return to the United States late in June, preparatory to the start of the second Byrd Antarctic Expedition.

The journey from the Sea of Galilee to the Dead Sea was made with only two native guides, one of whom knew only about a dozen English words, and the other knew no English except "Very good". It is a trip made very rarely by travelers and tourists, since strangers must be constantly on the guard. Siple desired to study the Jordan Rift which he had observed from south of Allepo, Syria, and he traveled on foot because he could not get much nearer to what he wanted to see by any other means of transportation.

The party spent several nights in

Choose New Editor And Editorial Board Of "The Campus"

Announcement was made last week of the appointment of Richard H. Smith, '35, as Editor-in-Chief of The Campus for the academic year 1933-34. Smith has served during the past year as News Editor and will assume his new duties with the next issue of the paper, succeeding Harry R. Pore, '33, the retiring editor. The selection was made by Mr. F. F. Seely, faculty adviser of the newspaper, and the retiring editor. President William P. Tolley concurred in the appointment.

Miss Catherine Miller, Miss Myra Martin, Miss Genevra Hazen, Warren R. Keck, Wesley P. Miller, and William B. Kennedy, all members of the class of '35, will compose the Editorial Board, which will work under Smith's supervision. These competitors have all served as either reporters or department editors under the present regime.

Announcement will be made in the next issue of The Campus of the selection of members of the Class of '36 to serve as department editors of the paper.

In the business staff, A. Clarke Beiler, business manager, has appointed Max B. Maloney, '34, to succeed him. The other positions have been switched around to make John J. Johnston, '34, circulation manager, and John P. Gilmore, '35, advertising manager.

"AFTER GRADUATION, WHAT?" SENIORS TELL REPORTER OF PLANS FOR FUTURE

Many Senior Girls to Follow Teaching Career.

It is always interesting to find out what seniors at college are going to do after graduation. Many of them, of course, are undecided. That is to be expected, since the current economic depression has forced so many college graduates into unemployment and has prevented them from pursuing post-graduate courses at universities.

Quite a few of the senior women intend to teach. Donna Ray is going to teach English and Latin at Tionesta High School; Virginia Harvey is going to teach French, English, and History at the Utica High School; Alberta Shaw is going to teach Mathematics at Beaver Center High School; and Martha Demmler is going to teach History at the Ingomar grade school.

One of the luckiest girls in her class is Katherine Millhoff, who will receive a generous scholarship for graduate work in English Literature at Radcliffe College.

Katherine Stewart and Ruth Lininger will probably study interior decorating in New York next year.

Ruth Staples anticipates taking a business course at the University of Cincinnati. Alice McClelland expects to get a secretarial position.

Charlotte Merwin wants to go into dramatic work.

PLANS OF MEN.

Approaching Sanford Corcoran whose work in debating has always been outstanding, a reporter learned that "Sandy" plans to attend Harvard Law School. Another person who will be going to Harvard is Ross Brown, versatile athlete, who has made plans to attend the School of Business in that institution for two years.

Will Roos, whose dramatic ability no one can question, allows The Campus to quote him. Mr. Roos said, "I have no idea."

Among others in the same predicament as Mr. Roos are Clarke Beiler,

Boys Face 'Depressed' World With More Uncertainty.

Pro Robblee, Louis Haberman, and Harry Thomson.

John Fisher, editor of "The Kaldron," is going to plunge immediately into a position under his uncle, John S. Fisher, either in a banking institution or in the insurance line.

Harry Pore has tentative plans to do graduate work in English at one of the universities, while Bill Horn and Harry Massing, both who have distinguished themselves in athletics at Allegheny, are taking up teaching as a profession.

Gale Engle, upon being asked, stated that he was going to spend a year at Drew University before he definitely decided what he wanted to do.

William Hunter gave the amazing answer that he will return to his uncle's ranch in Wyoming. Mr. Hunter stated that he already refused the offers of a dozen boys and seven girls to accompany him.

CREDITS AND DEBITS.

Two weeks ago The Campus stated in an editorial that an investigation of the official record of Dean Evelyn Miller was necessary and that the results of that investigation by the Administration of the College should govern the future attitude of the students towards Dean Miller. Through conferences with President Tolley and by means of a letter, the Student Committee, the members of which were appointed by the fraternities and sororities, brought the grievances of the student body to the attention of the President. The reply of the President in a letter, which he made public, is now before the student body.

The Campus has made an earnest effort to be fair to all parties concerned in this controversy, and it sincerely hoped that President Tolley would be able to make an adequate defense of the activities of Dean Miller and thus put an end to the unfortunate situation. We must confess, however, that the reply of the Administration to the student body does not offset the charges which the students made against the Dean. The President's letter states, "Both before and after our conferences together I interviewed a number of different student groups and I believe I have a full understanding of the feeling of the students in this matter." With that statement the specific grievances of the students as set forth in their letter to President Tolley are dismissed and give way to a recital of the activities of the Dean during the year, and it is our opinion that her efforts do not outweigh the charges brought against her, and which the Administration, by its silence on them, admits to be valid.

The President goes on to state, "To request the resignation of the Dean at the end of her first year would be tacitly to admit that a vote of unpopularity by the students is sufficient to secure a Dean's dismissal," and we must agree with that statement until we consider the causes of that unpopularity, of which both Dean Miller and President Tolley are now fully aware.

If it is the desire of the student body to accept the reply of President, The Campus will sublimate its sense of justice to that desire and proceed accordingly, not, however, without first expressing its feeling that the students are justified in requesting the resignation of the Dean.

The Campus has consistently endeavored to blend its policies with the best interests of the College, regardless of personalities or factions which might be offended. It has rigorously defended the program of the Administration and is still of the firm opinion that Allegheny College is blessed with an administrative staff which will place it again in its rightful position among higher institutions of learning. It is for this very reason that The Campus now believes that the resignation of the Dean of Women and the filling of the office with a person possessed of more tact and self-control in dealings with college students would advance the welfare of the College.

It has indeed been unfortunate that the College has been the subject of so much adverse publicity in this affair, and The Campus regrets that it was instrumental in furnishing the outside world with information regarding events on the campus. The first duty of this paper, however, was to report to the students with the greatest accuracy possible the proceedings involved in this matter. That this duty necessitated putting into print certain events which were strictly of campus interest is regrettable but unavoidable.

Books Given Library By Widow of Noted Allegheny Alumnus

The Reis Library of Allegheny College has received through the courtesy of Mrs. Rosalie Bork McCloskey (formerly widow of the late Ernest Ashton Smith, Ph. D.), a gift of 171 volumes of books from the library of Dr. Smith. This collection, added to an earlier gift from Mrs. McCloskey, makes a large and valuable addition to the college library.

Dr. Smith was professor of History and Economics in Allegheny College from 1898 to 1910. After a three year period as assistant professor in the history department at Princeton University, he returned to Allegheny for the years 1913-16 during which he wrote and published the book Allegheny, a Century of Education, which was issued by the College as a part of the observance of its one hundredth anniversary. After these two periods of distinguished service to Allegheny College, Dr. Smith turned to a new field of education in which he had been interested for some time. He served as superintendent of schools in Salt Lake City, Utah, from 1916 to 1920 and in a similar capacity at Evanston, Ill., from 1920 to 1926. During this period he was also a lecturer in Northwestern University. In 1926 he was elected to the presidency of the University of Toledo (Ohio). He had scarcely entered upon the duties of this position when he died suddenly on Dec. 28, 1926.

Dr. Smith was a writer and lecturer on historical subjects and has to his credit the following books in addition to the History of Allegheny. History of the Confederate Treasury, Hildebrand the Builder, The Diplomatic Contest for the Ohio Valley, Martin Ruter, and Bishop Calvin Kingsley.

The books are about equally divided between History and Political Science and Education.

O. D. K. Taps Friday; Receive Publications Committee Report

Three new members were elected to the roll of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary activities fraternity, at the meeting of the fraternity held last Thursday. These new men will be tapped in Assembly this Friday.

A reply has been received by the fraternity to the resolution passed at the March 28 meeting and sent to the faculty committee on publications. The reply indicated that the committee had concluded that it would be best not to adopt the suggestion recommended by the fraternity, namely, to inaugurate classes in news and publication writing with college credit given for the courses.

The reasons advanced by the faculty committee for their decision are as follows:

"First, the proposal would mean the addition of one hour, perhaps two, to the academic schedule of the freshmen taking the course in news writing. The faculty is agreed, we believe, that the present sixteen-hour schedule is heavy enough for the average freshman.

"Second, it would be impractical to provide a course in journalism that would fill the needs of freshmen and upperclassmen as well.

"Third, the plan involves a degree of paternalism in the conduct of college publications that we believe is unwise. The Campus, The Literary Magazine, and The Kaldron provide virtually the only organs the college has for the expression of student thought and opinion. The students themselves would soon come to feel that the close faculty oversight proposed in your resolution involves censorship, and such censorship they would properly be the first to resent."

VARSITY TENNIS SQUAD AWAITS OPENING MATCH

Bad Weather Spoils Meeting With Grove City Racquet Men.

Varsity tennis for 1933 is now under way, the team picked and a few matches either scheduled or pending. "Tad" Anderson, '32, is coaching this year's turnout, and reports that the courts have been in poor shape up until now. He has chosen the following men for his 1933 team: Warner Peterson, captain; Bill Johnson, Joe Serene, Ed Sutter. Bob Dunkle, Forrest Beighley, Bob Collins, Ray Sternthal, Bill Goodrich, "Tut" Ralson, Bill Kennedy, Bob Sowers, John Lubic, and Bill Horn.

Peterson, Johnston, Ralston, and Serene were with last year's team, and the other members are new to the squad, Goodrich and Sowers being products of the class of '36.

Last Saturday's match, scheduled with Grove City here, was postponed on account of rain, and the match will be held some time this week. Other games on the schedule are with Geneva next Saturday, May 20, and with Grove City there on Thursday, May 23. There is yet a possibility that matches will be arranged with the racket swingers from Youngstown City College, and Fenn College, Cleveland.

The match with Grove City promises to be a good one, since Grove City was successful in downing Geneva last Friday, May 12.

SIPLE IN HOLY LAND.

Bedouin villages and ate the food of their Bedouin hosts, an adventure rarely experienced by the ordinary traveler. In describing the camp where he spent the first night, Siple's letter said:

"While one of the men was tying up a camel, one of the animals let out a bellow that sounded like the careless slowing down of a phonograph needle on a reproduction of the 'Damnation of Faust'. The noise of their chewing the cud and the horses eating piles of grass added an accompaniment to the clamor of baaing sheep and braying donkeys. I can see the origin of Eastern music for it has the discords of these animals well portrayed."

The young traveler found the Bedouin manner of eating extremely interesting. A large pan of rice with a piece of meat on top was placed before him and his guides, who, Siple said, stuck their fists into the rice and rolled up big balls which they stuffed in their mouths. He continued, "The noise with which a person eats denotes his pleasure. I had a hard time approaching a tenth part of the racket the others made."

The next morning Siple left the camp and proceeded to the Dead Sea and then on to Jerusalem. From there he and two American travelers whom he had met went on by plane to Maan, below the Dead Sea, to visit that section of the country, and from there by horseback to Petra, an ancient city seldom seen by tourists.

Just two words...

Yes, I have heard about two words; and now and then three words—but "They Satisfy" means "To gratify fully."

Why do these two words "they satisfy" fit Chesterfields? Because Chesterfield Cigarettes are milder. Because Chesterfield Cigarettes taste better.

Chesterfield's way of blending and cross-blending fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos brings out better flavor and aroma.

They Satisfy!
