Allegheny Welcomes Foreign Students; Far East Countries Newly Represented

Aei-Kyong Kim, So-Heun Han, Hironori Onishi, and Marie Claire Morane are probably the best known of the students who have recently joined the Allegheny family.

Hailing from foreign lands they have come to share their varied backgrounds, experiences, and cultures with us. Together with Mary Falconer of Argentina, Guido Guayasamin of Columbia and Milton Ouye of Hawaii, who are already full-fledged Alleghenians, and Dorthea Swartz and Ruth and Josie Thoburn who spent the majority of their lives in India as daughters of American missionaries there, these new students are adding a cosmopolitan air to Allegheny.

Coming here as representatives of their countries, Korea, Japan and France, these students are also symbolic of the shift of interest as the focus of the world rests upon the Asian area. The shift from Europe, which was last year represented by four Dutch, German and Swedish students, to the Orient was far from accidental. It was deliberately planned by the Foreign Student Committee which is composed of four faculty members, Miss Mildred Ludwig, Mr. Wayne Merrick, Dean McCracken and one yet to be announced, who is to replace Mr. Tanimoto, and four students, Carol Pennington, Hannah Rutter, Art Blank, and Harrison Shields. Not only did they wish to have a more representative student body for a better understanding and feeling of world unity, but they responded to the sentiment for aiding the young people from the far eastern countries who are interested in studying in the states. A more far reaching result will be the goodwill and understanding of America and Americans which these students will take to their native lands.

Aei-Kyong Kim, known as Aei (pronounced like a long a), is hoping to complete her A.B. degree at Allegheny. Although originally from North Korea, Aei's family moved in stages during a five year period into the Republic of South Korea and now lives in a small town near Seoul. She attended the Korean Theological Seminary of the Presbyterian School in Seoul for one and a half years, and plans to teach English in a church school when she returns. Miss Kim and

Benezet Stresses Order Of Values In Convocation Address Yesterday

"If we cannot establish a clearer order of values on a campus, the whole idea of going to college in times like these becomes absurd," Dr. Benezet stated in his convocation address, "The Absurdity of Going to College," in Montgomery Gym yesterday morning. "For far too few is a college education the deeply meaningful experience that it ought to be," he continued.

In developing his ideas on the ordering of values, President Benezet asked whether we achieve true likeness between the General Education objectives as stated in the college catalog and what really happens here. "Moral bankruptcy may result when stabilizing agencies such as the home, church, and school buckle beneath the force of short-run thinking. Furthermore, lasting effects of the education offered by American colleges has not seemed as strong as we might wish."

The President continued, "Never in the history of the world has brain power been so needed." He discussed the reasons for the existance of the courses at Allegheny and for the pursuit of a major subject, which he termed the "chief vehicle toward your calling."

President Benezet suggester that students build an order of priorities for themselves. "Don't let the side show swallow the main tent" he said.

Closing his speech, the president stated, "we have our assignments ladies and gentlemen, let's go to work."

Student Government

Precceding the President's address, Jack Burns, AUC President, spoke on the need for good citizenship through active participation in Student Government. As means of achieving that goal he listed the following: standing for loyalty to the institution above mere personal loyalty, standing for the individual's right to think for himself, and standing for all segments of our campus (students, faculty and administration).

"If students cannot feel that they are helping in this process, they are not good citizens," stated Burns. "Students at some colleges are merely subjects with privileges while at Allegheny we are citizens with rights."

Scholastic Honors

Another part of the program was the presentation of Phi Beta Kappa awards to the following on the basis of a three year academic record: Suzanne Dougall, Sam Hellman, John Roach, Carol Smith, Barbara Walck, and Charles Wells. This is the greatest number of people elected as "Junior Phi Bete's" since the chapter was first established at Allegheny College in 1902.

The James Bennet Porter prize, awarded to the student with the highest average in last year's freshman class was presented to Alex Hill. The recipient of the Phi Beta Kappa prize, for the highest average made by a girl of last year's freshman class, was Constance Hernik.

The award for the person who during his sophomore year made the greatest improvement over his freshman year was given to James Bogden. Robert Moyers received the prize for the person who during his junior year made the greatest improvement over the cumulative record of his freshman and sophomore year combined.

Dr. Herbert Picht gave the invocation, and Mr. Robert Lynn played the organ.

Help Wanted

If your interests run toward journalism or "just plain newspaper work," here is your chance. The Campus needs you!

The Campus office on the second floor of Cochran will be the scene of a meeting on Monday, September 27, at 4 p.m. at which time Editor-in-Chief, Marilyn Bennett and members of the staff will discuss openings on the newspaper staff.

There are opportunities from janitorial to editorial, including reporting, proofreading, feature writing, layout, and business aspects. Previous experience is not necessary.

If you are interested, but unable to attend the meeting, please call the Campus office.

Luce Appointed CU Head Plans Made For Changes

Jim Luce, recently appointed College Union director, has announced tentative fall plans scheduled by the Union Board. Monday afternoon the Union Board held its first meeting in Cochran Hall.

During the summer months much time and effort has been put into redecorating Cochran. The improvements, financed and supervised by the Board, include redecorating the first floor lobby and lounge, purchasing new furniture for the AUC offices and painting of the student publications' headquarters.

Within a few weeks Luce promised, the lobby and lounge will have new furnishings and drapes. The Board is planning the construction of a woman's lounge on Cochran's second floor across from the Campus office.

Activity on the second floor this summer has resulted in the building of a room designed for the exclusive use of male commuter students.

Luce also expressed the hope of the Union Board that by Mid-October a recreation room will be opened in the basement opposite the college bookstore. Here students will have facilities for active indoor games.

In addition to the Cochran improvements the Board has also concerned itself with the planning of fall activities. Highlight of the fall

A Thought

A new term, and once again the blaze of football fields and the incessant social activity will soon unfold. To all the exhilaration and excitement of college life we, the editors of The Campus welcome you. But there is something more to a school than the fever of physical and social activity; something more than organizations and parades. Vastly more important is the education we receive. So here, at the beginning of a new term, it might be wise to state some of the aims of a Liberal Education. We do so with the hope that they may serve as a reminder and perhaps a guide during the following term.

A Liberal Education aims at the cultivation of all that is good and human in man, demanding he think and act freely in all things of life. Its results are intangible; they cannot be translated into material gains. This education hopes to aid him in performing justly and skillfully actions both public and private. Also among these aims is the acquisition of new and valuable perspectives, perspectives as standards with which we can face the mass of problems in later life as well as here at school.

In a world in which misunderstanding is rife, a Liberal Education provides a broad base from which understanding may rise, understanding born of a common intellectual background. We cannot expect a school to endow this gift to us by the magic of systems and techniques. But rather, as Mark Van Doren suggests, it is something we must labor to give ourselves.

Pins 'n Sins

Best wishes and congratulations from all of us on the Campus staff to Dr. and Mrs. Paul Knights who were married this summer. We're sure the entire student body shares our feelings in the matter.

We also wish to include in our congratulations to members of the student body who took the big step over the summer: I.F.C. president John Biekarck and Phyllis Beck (Jamestown, New York), Bill Kenyon and Betsy Wolfe, and Ray Leuenberger and Barbara Cummings (Cleveland).

The diamond industry suffered no loss at the hands of Alleghenians this summer as witnessed by the following engagements: A.U.C. president Jack Burns and Ann McCreary, Phil Lang and Colleen Stone, Ed Shepler and Izzie Van Ness, Gary Strauss (Los Angeles) and Nancy Jackson, Bill Bloom and Joan Spinning, and Paul Zavarella and Marty Long. Who says we have a depression!

Thanks to the following five couples we're still in business under the same name (pins, that is!): Chuck Nettrour and Lou Soisson, Fred Smalstig (Dennison University) and Barb Wright, Bob Gannon and Barbara Brown, Ed Zelinsky and Sally Reynolds, and Clyde Metzger and Carol Budden.

Word has it that Izzie Van Ness dropped her pajamas in front of a Mountie during the Kappa convention held in Canada. 'Course she wasn't wearing them; must have just been a take-off on the Pajama Game!

And speaking of pajamas, we notice the Bookstore had a complete sell-out of No-Doz last week. What about it freshmen—was it the Cwens or the counselors?

The latest in progressive education comes by way of a certain professor and his philosophy of student-faculty relations. His Friday's lecture to the freshmen went something like this: "Since there are no upperclassmen present, there's not too much to do. Any of you girls wanna neck?" He was only kidding —honest???

Question of the Week: Is the orange monstrosity behind Montgomery really a field house or the latest in hangers for ROTC blimps?

Stay off that spotlighted bench beside Bently, freshmen—we're told it's for professionals only.

At least one Phi Psi is progressive. It's rumored that Chris Amoroso's lack of plumbing experience resulted in their acquiring a brand new dining room minus a water soaked ceiling. A big thanks to Chris from all the brother Phi Psis.

cultural program is the Union's sponsorship of a Museum of Modern Art sculpture exhibit. This exhibit, now on national tour, is entitled "The Sculptor Explores."

Contemplated activities for the coming year also include traditional duties assumed by the Union since its conception four years ago. Weekly Saturday afternoon receptions under Union sponsorship will follow all home football games.

Luce cited the possibility of scheduling student art exhibits as well as the perennially popular purchase exhibitions. These exhibits will provide the faculty and students with the opportunity to obtain famous prints.

During the first week of the new session the Union Board directed the presentation of two traditional events on campus. Last Friday evening in Cochran the Board acted as hosts to the freshmen in the annual "Whing-Ding." Earlier this week the student book exchange run by the Union offered second hand texts for sale.

Luce is a June graduate of Florida Southern College in Lakeland. He has had much experience in student guidance work and plans to devote his life work to College Unions. While an undergraduate Luce served as Assistant Dean of Men and Director of the College Union.

Last week Luce explained the reason for existence of the Union and the importance of this existence. He emphasized that on the Allegheny Campus the Union "is an important phase of the educational program."

Songs, Skits, Dining And Dancing Climax Freshman Orientation Week

Orientation week for the new class of '58 was opened Sunday, September 12, by President Benezet's welcoming address.

The freshmen were soon swamped by the usual pile of evaluation tests—from reading and math to languages and pre-engineering. Departmental open houses were held on Tuesday to help the new students meet the faculty members in the field closest to their interests and to give them an idea of the requirements for specific careers.

Later in the week Professor Benjamin, college librarian, gave a speech on the traditions at Allegheny.

At a banquet Thursday evening Jack Burns, AUC president, compared the student governments found in high schools with the real participation of all students in the Allegheny AUC. He also pointed out the fact that graduate schools and industry look for both an academic and extra-curricular background when considering students for admission or employment.

A Whing-Ding, informal party for the class of '58, took place Friday night in the College Union. The Union was also the scene of Saturday's "picnic" due to Meadville's famous weather (rain). After parading to Cochran accompanied by an oomph band, the freshmen were led in cheers and later each section presented a skit. Section 5 of Caflisch gave the skit winning first place. Following a dinner served by the Cwens, Flo Kappler led the group in singing. According to Jim Luce, new CU director, "They had everything for a picnic but ants."

The week was climaxed by a dance in Brooks Saturday night with music furnished by the Blue Knights.

New Coach Heads Allegheny Squad; Gators To Face Wooster Saturday

The 1954 edition of the Allegheny football team had its first opportunity to meet its new coach, William "Red" Moore, just two weeks ago Sunday. In the following two weeks they have come to know the solidly built mentor exceedingly well. The gridders went through two weeks of gruelling practice sessions which were climaxed last Saturday with an intersquad game. We have high hopes that the team will repay the efforts of Coach Moore with results on the gridiron.

Taking a closer look at Coach Moore, we find that he received All-East and All-American honors while at Penn State and also played in the Shrine and College All-Star games. While with the Pittsburgh Steelers he was named as an All-Pro guard. Since coming to Allegheny he has introduced a wing-T formation much on the order of the pro systems he is so familiar with.

Assisting "Red" is another new face on the Allegheny Football scene, Frank Leibel. Frank was a former 60 minute man at end and halfback with the New York Giants. He is coaching ends and backs here. Hank Zimmerman, starting tackle on last year's Gator Eleven, is now coaching the line. Bob Garbark returns as backfield coach.

A closer look at the squad itself shows due reason for the high spirit and confidence in the Gator camp. At end we have returning letterman Don McArdle. Backing him are Jim Ryan, a vet from California, and Dick Boyd, a transfer student from Penn State, who has just become eligible. We seem well set at tackles in spite of the fact that we lost last year's starters through graduation. Freshmen Tom Biggam and Dave Blaunch, 200 and 180 pounds respectively, seem to be two excellent tackles. Four impressive guards include lettermen Roy Cowen, 190, and Al Wilson, 212, and freshmen Tom Reinen, an All-State candidate from New Jersey, and Olmar Light. The center position looks solid with sophomores Pete Croft and Jack Cotton showing good form. At quarterback there is Captain Fritz Reed, a three year letterman, backed by an excellent prospect in Ron Ratcliff, a vet who packs plenty of passing and punting potential. Filling the other three backfield positions should be an easy task for Coach Moore. Returning lettermen Don Barron, Roger Donodeo, and Don Kimmelman should supply the necessary running power. The Gator backfield received an added boost with the late arrival of Mel Laskoff, Erie East's hustling back of last year.

Last Saturday's intersquad game pointed out many Gator standouts but at the same time showed many weaknesses. The team's fine spirit and will-to-win however seems to be an indication that perhaps at last Allegheny will have a team to be proud of. They'll have a chance to prove themselves at Wooster this Saturday.

After journeying to Wooster this Saturday, the team will play the next three games at home. They will face the teams of Hobart, Thiel and Oberlin on October 2, 9, and 16 respectively. The game with Oberlin will be Homecoming. On October 23, the team will travel to Grove City to play the Grovers. The following week, October 30, the squad will face Bethany at Bethany, West Virginia. On November 6, the Gators will play their last home game of the season against Westminster, and on the following Saturday, November 13, the team will wind up the season down at Beaver Falls where they will face Geneva.

Soccer Workouts Start Ozmun Captains Squad

Soccer workouts were officially oriented last Monday with 41 booter hopefuls reporting for the first session. The squad this year will be minus the services of All-American goalie, Bob Buck, and eight of last year's starting eleven, who gave Allegheny its best season last year. The impressive record of four wins and four losses stands in the record books only through the able coaching of Bill Hanson, who naturally hopes to improve his record this year. Coach Hanson won't have too much trouble molding a new team with returning starters John Dobson, Ronny Goldsmith, Bob Ozmun and last year's high scorer, sophomore Bob Banham. The added support of veterans Marty Reichle, Bill Regan, Al Monstrum, Jim Lauffer and Dave Williams will give a little depth to the squad. This year's seniors saw a familiar face back in uniform with the return of Bob Seamens, from an army hitch. Bob, a junior, lettered as halfback for Allegheny in 1951, and should be a valuable asset to the squad.

With only three weeks to prepare for the first game of the season, against Western Reserve, Oct. 8, the team will undoubtedly be complaining of aching muscles.

The schedule for the soccer team this year is as follows:

Oct. 8—Western Reserve at Cleveland, Ohio

Oct. 15—U. of Rochester at Rochester, N.Y.

Oct. 20—Case at Meadville

Oct. 22—Grove City at Grove City

Oct. 26—Slippery Rock at Slippery Rock

Oct. 30—Oberlin at Meadville

Nov. 2—U. of Pittsburgh at Meadvill

Nov. 5—Grove City at Meadville

TENNIS

Athletic director Howard Paul Way has announced that there will be an all college tennis tournament starting Monday, Sept. 26. The tournament is an annual affair open to members of the varsity tennis team as well as the rest of the college.

GOLF

A meeting of all students interested in varsity golf will be held in Montgomery Gym this afternoon at 4 p.m.

Know Your Gators

Fritz Reed

This Saturday at Wooster, Allegheny will again hear the signals being called by Gator captain David "Fritz" Reed. Fritz is a well-known and well-liked quarterback who's lettered three times with the Allegheny squad.

Reed is a 21 year old, five foot nine, senior from Butler, Pa. While attending Butler High School he piloted the WPIAL AA Championship football team, and received honorable mention for All-State honors. In the fall of 1951 Fritz entered Allegheny as an economics mapor. On the campus Reed is active in various undergraduate circles. He has the responsibility of House Treasurer of Phi Gamma Delta, and holds offices as President of the Block "A" and Secretary-Treasurer of the IFC.

Fritz claims he has no favorite pastime, just his studies. After graduation he plans to go to work for his Dad and maybe carry on the family business.

With Fritz holding the reins this fall we can rest assured that the Gators have an excellent ballhandler.

Boots and Saddles Tryouts Scheduled for Next Week

Boots and Saddles, the Allegheny College riding club, will hold tryouts for new members on Thursday, September 31, and Friday, October 1, at 1:30 p.m. at the riding ring. Students may practice riding on Wednesday, September 29, at 3:30 p.m.

Both men and women are eligible. The necessary qualifications are not only a certain ability in riding, but also a keen interest in horses and in the activities of the club.

Gator Grandstand

by Walt Minigutti

Now that the Allegheny campus has had its look at the Class of 1958 it wouldn't be too optimistic to say that all indications point to a very fine year, sports wise. With all the speculation going on with the Football and Soccer squads this should prove to be a very interesting year. Not only do the Freshmen men look promising but we have a "Sshh Boom" football coach, "Red" Moore, who's played with the pro's, has been making it rough for the Gator Eleven during practice sessions, and promises to break into the much needed "win column." With only one Senior on the squad the going will be plenty tough. Let's add a little support by migrating to Wooster this Saturday.

The loss of Bob Buck and eight starting seniors, through graduation, last year, will obviously be a serious setback to the Soccer Team. Bill Hanson gave Allegheny its best Soccer season last year and could very easily repeat his performance. It'll take a lot of aching bones, however, to shape up a squad as good as last year's; then again the inevitable bench spirit will be there . . . uh Jay?

Many thanks to my Predecessor, Doc Thoburn, for his kind words last year. You gave me the column Doc, but what do I do now?

Musical Organizations Hold Tryouts, Practices

Although the school year is only in its first week, the musical organizations on campus are already in full swing in anticipation of a full year of activity. Dr. Morten J. Luvaas, head of the music department, and director of the Allegheny Singers is holding tryouts for upper-class men and women through this week. Freshmen tryouts were held the week before. This year marks the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Singers by Dr. Luvaas. The Singers are known for their annual Christmas Concert and for their spring tours through the East.

Sinfonietta

The Sinfonietta, directed by Dr. Herbert Neurath, has started to rehearse for their annual Christmas Concert. In addition to this performance, Allegheny's "little symphony" also makes several off-campus appearances, in addition to a spring and a commencement concert. New players are welcomed by Dr. Neurath and anyone interested in playing with the group should attend the rehearsal next Tuesday at 4 p.m., in the Music Building.

Chapel Choir

The Chapel Choir has completed its audition for new members, and started rehearsals for the year. Under the direction of Mr. W. S. Wright North, the choir has planned combined performances with the Singers and Sinfonietta.

Band

Mr. Louis Varricchio, director of the Allegheny Marching Band, has announced the following rehearsal schedule for the coming football season: Monday and Wednesday afternoons, at 4 p.m., and Fridays at noon. More musicians who play brass instruments, especially trumpets, are needed. Anyone interested in drum major or majorette work is also urged to attend the meetings, held at the Music Building. The band, which participates in pep rallies and plays at all home games and a few away games, will make its initial appearance this year when Allegheny meets Hobart on October 2.

Collegians

The Collegians Male Chorus, directed by Doc Thoburn, and sponsored by the Interfraternity Council, will have an organizational meeting tomorrow, Friday, in the band room of the Music Building at 4 p.m. All of last year's members, and any other men interested in the group are urged to attend this first meeting. Senior, junior, and sophomore men are eligible. Formed last year, the Collegians are planning both campus and town appearances this year.

Rushing Rules

counselors in order to protect the best interests of the freshmen, the fraternities, and the counselors themselves. They are set down here so that all parties concerned will understand the position of the counselors, in the coming six week waiting period, and the rush week to follow.

1. No fraternity man will be allowed in Baldwin Hall at any time during the waiting period of six weeks. Counselors will not report violations of this, unless there is repetition.
2. Rushing rules drawn up by the I.F.C. will not apply to the counselors. This refers particularly to rules concerned with off-campus contact. It is understood that counselors will not "talk fraternity" with any of their advisees at any time, except in a general way.
3. Counselors will not wear fraternity pins and will avoid display of fraternity membership for the six week period.
4. Counselors will not attend rush meetings and will not give information concerning rushees in any other fraternity meeting.
5. Counselors will not be present in fraternity houses during rush week, and will eat in Cochran Hall for that week.

For identification purposes the following named men are acting as freshman counselors for the school year 1954-55.

Bill Bowser	Jim Pomeroy
Frank Brand	Andy Goldstein
Bruce Hemer	John Wilson
Dave Williams	Larry Griggs
Val Sandberg	Bill Waugaman
Dick Wigton	Dick Fisher
Ed Gooding	Pete Van Strum

Doc Thoburn

6. The only exception to rule one will be the admittance of members of the I.F.C. enforcement body who shall enter freshman dorms when violations of pre-rushing rules are suspected.

The Rush Week schedule is as follows:

1. Rush week will be held on Tuesday, November 16, through Friday, November 19, 1954.
2. A Round Robin will be held on Sunday, September 26; and will be followed by a second Round Robin on Monday, November 15, 1954. Freshman men will be picked up at Cochran Hall at 7:30 Sunday evening, September 26th.
3. There will be two open houses held by each fraternity. The freshmen will be equally divided and one half shall visit each house alternately. No form of entertainment or refreshments will be permitted at these meetings. Cigarettes are the only exception to the above rule. Time for these informal open houses will fall between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30 P.M. on dates to be decided early in the first term of the 1954-1955 academic year.

Foreign Students

her younger sister, who is now attending Westminster, have been in the states since March and lived in Carittersville, Missouri where they were sponsored by the Presbyterian church. During that time they audited English classes in State University. Aei who is Miss Ludwig's advisee in staying at Brooks.

So-Heun Han is entered as a freshman and is residing in Baldwin. He completed high school in Korea and flew to the states directly from his home with only four years of English in high school. After spending a few days with a Korean doctor in Erie he arrived at Allegheny. So-Heun, whose advisor is Dr. Crispin, is majoring in political science and plans to complete his college education at Allegheny. His main ambition is to help in the rebuilding of his country.

Like So-Heun, Hionori Onishi is a freshman and has Dr. Crispin as an advisor. Hironori who is known as 'Tako' plans to graduate from Allegheny as a physics major. He studied English for six years in Japan and has been in the United States for five months, living with a family in Ridgemont, N.J. and attending high school there for a few courses. Tako is interested in gymnastics as an extra-curricular activity.

Returning to Europe we find dark-haired Marie Claire Morane who arrived Monday night from her home in Paris. After docking in New York City she was able to visit the United Nations building and Rockefeller Center with friends there. Marie, who has an advanced standing, will be here for one year. She is studying phychology and is being guided by Dr. Hanson. While at Allegheny she hopes to polish up on her English and gain practical experience in psychology which she studied in her three years at the Sorbonne.

The foreign students who technically number 6 are with one exception aided by a fund composed of the contributions of various organizations including church groups and the Allegheny Fund collected from the students and administration here.

Besides following the Allegheny academic and social program the students are interested in observing and learning of our way of life and our culture. The Foreign Student Committee excursions also become a part of their plans here. They are interested in seeing our nation and visiting homes, medical institutions, schools, and factories both large and small.
