ALLEGHENY SINGERS ARE ON WEEK'S TOUR

Will Broadcast From KDKA on Saturday Afternoon, April 18

Under the direction of Professor Morten J. Luvaas, the Allegheny Singers left Meadville on Sunday, April 12, on the first annual spring tour of Western Pennsylvania. The Singers will return to Meadville Sunday, April 19, from Pittsburgh, which will be their headquarters during the last four days of the tour. Each day trips will be made by bus to neighboring cities where the combined Glee Clubs will render concerts giving an exhibition of their work during the past months. Arrangements have been made to make the tour of this section of the state an annual affair.

Sunday evening, April 12, the Allegheny Singers sang at Rev. Jones' Trinity M. E. Church in Oil City. They appeared Monday before Oil City, Titusville, and Franklin High Schools and Monday evening at the East Side Baptist Church of Sharon, of which Rev. Charles E. Lunn is pastor. Concerts were rendered Tuesday at New Castle High School and the First Methodist Church of New Castle. Today they are to sing at the Ben Avon, Avalon, and Bellevue High Schools, and again at the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church this evening. They will spend Thursday and Friday in Irwin and Mt. Lebanon respectively. The remainder of the week will be spent in Pittsburgh where they will sing at an Alumni Banquet at the Schenley Hotel and will broadcast over station KDKA, Pittsburgh, on Saturday afternoon from 2:15 to 2:45. The concluding concert will be given Sunday, April 18, in Dr. Albert E. Day's Christ M. E. Church of Pittsburgh, after which they will return to Meadville.

The Allegheny Singers, who will be accompanied by chaperones and the leader, includes the combined Men's and Women's Glee Clubs with approximately fifty voices. There will be no accompanist on the tour. The college has recently secured new robes, which will be used throughout the trip and will give a note of formality to the concerts. The Singers have spent a great deal of time on their numbers and will render all concerts from memory.

Education Fraternity Holds Founders' Day Banquet on April 9

Kappa Phi Kappa, national professional education fraternity, held its annual Founders' Banquet Thursday night, April 9, at the Kepler Hotel. Dr. Riverda H. Jordan, professor of education at Cornell University, was the principal speaker.

This banquet is held each year by the Allegheny Zeta Chapter to celebrate the founding of the fraternity, and members of the fraternity who are connected with the Meadville public school system are invited.

Dr. Jordan's topic was "Three Objectives in Teaching." He emphasized the importance of developing in students the faculties of intellectual curiosity and intellectual honesty.

The other speakers were Dr. Guy E. Buckingham, professor of education at Allegheny College, and Frank A. Whitsett of the senior class.

Fifty-two persons were present at the banquet, including. Dr. R. H. Jordan, Superintendent and Mrs. P. D. Blair, Major and Mrs. Fred L. Pond, Hon. Arthur L. Bates, Ralph A. Theuret, Miss Julia Ryan, Lyle M. Gilmore, Miss Franchon Schanck, Dr. and Mrs O. P. Akers, Dr. and Mrs. Guy E. Buckingham, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Henke, Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Church, Dr. Anna Schafheitlin, Professor and Mrs. Morton J. Luvaas, Professor and Mrs. Horace T. Lavely, Dr. and Mrs. Julian L. Ross, Professor and Mrs. Harley J. Morris.

JUNIOR PROM WILL BE PRESENTED NEXT WEEK

As the social season at Allegheny gradually comes to a close the Junior Prom comes to the foreground. It has been arranged to hold the Junior Prom as part of the Founders' Day program, on Friday evening, April 24, in the Gymnasium.

No definite choice of an orchestra has been made by the committee, but everyone may be assured the presence of an excellent band such as Ted Weems or Kay Keyser. The dance will be informal, and dancing hours will be from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.

The Junior Prom committee under the able direction of its chairman, Homer Moody, have been hard at work, and promise not only an excellent band, appropriate decorations and programs, but in addition a jolly good time. Announcements will be made concerning the orchestra and decorations in the next issue of The Campus.

Several New Features Are Incorporated in 1931-32 Catalogue

The new Catalogue and Bulletin of Allegheny College which came out this month contains a great number of alterations, both in courses and other matters.

The first thing which catches the eye is the innovation of a map of the Campus facing page one. The map is complete and up to date and furnishes a good conception of the relative size and position of our buildings.

There are numerous changes in the way in which some things have been written up, but these changes are relatively insignificant. The really important changes consist of the introduction of new courses and the rearrangement of old courses.

Dr. Elliott is giving two new courses, which are Art II, the History of Painting, and Art III, on the History of Architecture. Considerable change has also been made in the Economics courses. The new courses in the department of Economics and Business Administration are Economics V, Marketing, Economics VI, Principles of Accounting, Economics VII, on the elementary principles of Statistics and their application, Economics X, Transportaiton, and Economics VI, dealing with International Trade.

In the Education department new courses are being offered in Educational Measurements, School Efficiency, and Extra-Curricular Activities, which are listed as Educational IX, X, and XI respectively. The English Literature department offers two new courses in English Literature XI, a study of Seventeenth Century Literature, and English Literature XIII, on Contemporary Prose. In addition to these two new courses there has been considerable rearrangement of courses in the English Literature department.

Professor Morten J. Luvaas has added to those already given in Music a new course, Music III, the study of Advanced Harmony. Professor McClean is making an addition of three new courses in Sociology, which are listed Sociology II, Criminology, Sociology III, the Family, and Sociology IX, Poverty and Dependency.

There are two new courses offered by the Speech department, namely, Speech IV, the History of the Theater, and Speech V, the Theater of Today.

In view of these many changes and alterations it would be well for all students, in arranging their courses, to make a thorough investigation of the catalogue, and to make sure exactly the material that is being offered in a certain course.

Annual Celebration for Founders' Day is Set for April 24

Friday, April 24, will mark the date of the anual observance of "Founders' Day." This day is one of the most important of the College year and requires a great deal of careful planning to make it a success. This year's committee has been working hard and feel that they have arranged a very interesting program.

The entire observance will be held in the gym. A colonial dinner will be held at six o'clock after which a Colonial pageant, under the direction of Miss Spalding, will be presented. A scene from the 1915 Centennial will be used. There is to be no special speaker this year. After the pageant the annual Junior Prom will be held. The identity of the orchestra will be released shortly.

One of the most notable changes of this year's program from those of other years is the holding of the Junior Prom. The Prom replaces the Founders' Day dance and the change was made possible by the joint cooperation of the two committees. Complete arrangements and the program of the day will be announced in the next issue of The Campus.

PHI KAPPA PSI HOLDS COUNCIL IN COLUMBUS

During April 9, 10, and 11, the Third District Council of Phi Kappa Psi convened in Columbus, Ohio, with headquarters at the Ohio Delta chapter of the fraternity at Ohio State University. The convention included delegates from Allegheny, West Virginia, Washington & Jefferson, Ohio Wesleyan, Wittenburg, Carnegie Tech, Penn State and Case. Those in attendance from the Allegheny chapter were: C. Robert Burr, Karl K. Smock, Laurence Boylan, Robert S. Bates, and Oliver E. Turner.

Although very intensive business meetings were conducted throughout the session, a very suitable social program was carried out which consisted of a formal banquet, a formal dance, and also an informal dance. The social affairs were held at the Neil House in Columbus.

ALLEGHENY PLAYERS GUILD OFFERS BILL OF DIVORCEMENT

Little Theatre in Arter Hall Scene of Polished Production by Speech Department.

Playing to capacity houses at both performances an experienced and extremely well-drilled cast presented what is popularly felt to be the finest production ever seen on the stage of the Playshop Theatre in Arter Hall on the evenings of April 10 and 13. From beginning to end the performances exhibited a finesse and professionalism seldom seen on the amateur stage. The lion's share of the credit is due to Miss Alice Huntington Spalding, director of the Student Playshop The art of casting a play which she has so well developed was certainly at the height of its perfection in "A Bill of Divorcement". Each character was so well grooved into the entire play that the delineation was well nigh too perfect in many instances.

The type of play suitable and pleasing to Allegheny audiences has been found, and the fact was well demonstrated at the box office. Possessing sophistication to exactly the right degree and tempering this with genuine and not artificial suspense, "A Bill of Divorcement" seemed tailor-made for the stage of the Playshop Theatre. Divorce and its problems, when discussed and argued on the high plane of "A Bill of Divorcement," ceases to be an abhorred and avoided subject, and presents an interesting side with situations which are almost beyond human power and endurance. What took place on the stage of the Theatre in Arter Hall on last Friday and Monday evenings was a realistic picture of what is happening in everyday human existence, unadulterated by touching, skin-deep sentimentalism. This was the note which was struck by the actors and actresses in the Student Playshop.

Miss Adele Ely gave one of the finest performances ever seen in our Theatre. Playing the role of Sydney, a part made famous by Katherine Cornell who is acclaimed by many critics as the greatest of living actresses, Miss Ely touched a responsive chord and two minutes after her initial entrance her character was well defined and she had aroused the sympathy of the audience for her predicament. When a seventeen-old girl is called upon by a playwright to solve an intricate divorce situation the feat is apt to appear somewhat awkward upon the stage, but not so with this Sydney. It would be very hard to imagine a finer and more convincing Sydney than that played by Miss Ely.

A new character actress has been found. Miss Jean Holman who played Hester Fairfield, the maiden aunt of Sydney, created a new voice and demeanor for herself. The limits of a fine actress with excellent make-up are almost undefined. It is hoped, however, that Miss Holman will not be relegated to character roles for she has demonstrated that she can play straight characters with unusual excellence.

When Miss Elizabeth Ann McCune is found in the cast of a play there is certain to be seen some real acting. She has a quality of transmitting to those on the stage with her a confidence which is essential to good acting. The attitude of exasperation is difficult for an actor or an actress to strike. Miss McCune did it to perfection.

Mr. Bramer Carlson who has stamped himself in the last three productions in the Playshop Theatre as one of its finest actors has made his position mong the eminent secure. When an amateur actor attempts to protray insanity, overacting, one of the gravest, histrionic faults, is apt to find its way into the character. Mr. Carlson, however, scrupulously avoided this pitfall, and on almost every occasion when it was necessary for him to reach a climax, he climbed to just the right pitch, "did not saw the air with his hand," and did not "o'erdo Termagant."

Will Roos, always dependable for a good performance, was at his best. His scenes with Miss Ely were the finest of the play. They required a great amount of acting skill, and it was not lacking in any respect. One of the hardest things to do on the stage is for a good actor, playing a minor role, to subordinate himself sufficiently to the actress in the major character. This Roos did. The trained critic could have seen immediately that Roos was an experienced actor, but at the same time he so lent himself to the support of Miss Ely that he figured prominently in her own success.

The old reliable character actor is Milton Brown. He can play anything from Verges to the Rev. Pumphrey and do it well. His antics on the stage sent the audience into fits of laughter at the right times.

Knighton Waite and William Green, although both were somewhat inexperienced, were very convincing. Their attitudes and gestures showed that they had been well-trained. Miss Twyla Jean Hoch made an excellent servant.

Too much credit cannot go to Mr. Boettcher and his assistants for the splendid set and lighting effects which they produced. Not a great deal of glory is attached to the production side of a play, but their job could not have been done better.

Following is the cast in the order of their appearances:

Margaret Fairfield.....
.....Miss Elizabeth Ann McCune
Miss Hester Fairfield.....
.....Miss Jean Holman
Sydney Fairfield.....
.....Miss Adele Stuart Ely
Basset.....Miss Twyla Jean Hoch
Gray Meredith.....
.....Mr. Knighton V. Waite

Allegheny Chapter Entertains Cwens at Annual Convention

About the most prominent activity over the last week-end on the campus was the national convention of Cwens. Thirty-six delegates from various sections of the United States were in attendance. They represented Miami University at Oxford, Ohio; Missouri University, Penn State, Carnegie Tech, University of Pittsburgh, and Muskingum College. Seven active and fifteen alumnae members of the Allegheny chapter attended all sessions.

The first session was held at 1:30 Friday afternoon in the parlor of Hulings Hall with Dr. Guy E. Buckingham as the speaker. He chose as his subject, "The Modern Trend of Colleges." On Friday evening the entire convention attended "A Bill of Divorcement" in a body. On Saturday morning the convention was addressed by Miss Rush, assistant Dean of Women at the University of Pittsburgh. At three o'clock Saturday the delegates were the guests of the Women's Student Govenrment Association at tea. A musical program was the form of entertainment. The convention was formally brought to a close with a banquet at the Lafayette Hotel on Saturday evening. The banquet was followed by the ritual service.

The delegates were highly entertained during their stay at the college. Headquarters were made in Hulings Hall.

The Allegheny Chapter is made up of the following women. Carol Moore, Wilma Rogers, Ruth Staples, Cleo Duffield, Ruth Bowden, Mary Catherine Klingensmith, and Wilma Kuhnert.

Miss Ruth Farquhar is Grand Secretary of the national organization.

PHILO-FRANKLIN FORUM CONTEST TO BE HELD

Limited only to Freshmen, the Philo-Franklin Forum Oratorical Contest will be held at the chapel on May 19. In the past the contest was open only to members of the Forum; but due to the abolishment of the club, the committee decided to restrict competition to freshmen.

The first prize of $25 and a second of $10 comes from the Philo-Franklin Forum Endowment, left by a prominent member of the alumni body. The names of the contestants who wish to compete, along with their subjects, should be turned in to Hurst Anderson immediately.

ORGANIZATION ELECTS OFFICERS LAST WEEK

Thursday, April 9, between one and three o'clock, the annual election of Y. M. C. A. officers for the coming year took place at the Registrar's Office in Bentley Hall with all male undergraduates entitled to vote.

The new officers who will direct the work and activities of our Y. M. C. A. for the nevt year are John Coffin, president, Paul Cares, vice-president, Robert Brakeman, secretary, and William Roos, treasurer.

A senior at Washington State College has attended 14,055 classes in the past sixteen years and has never missed one class.

Several Changes Are Noted in Bulletin of Summer Session

A very comprehensive and convenient schedule has been worked out by the committee for the Summer Session of 1931. This committee is composed of Dr. Frederick G. Henke, Director of the Summer Session, Dr. Clarence F Ross, and Dr. Chester A. Darling. Through their efforts several special features have been added to this year's program. Not only will there be a wide variety of the regular studies, but special courses including those for teachers have been arranged. Another notable circumstance is that a large number of the courses are offered by men with the rank of Professor in College.

Among other advantages listed unusual opportunity will be offered (1) to teachers who desire more training, (2) to students to obtain advanced credit or remove conditions, (3) to high school students preparing for college, (4) and to persons entering courses for the purpose of self-improvement. The following is a list of the courses offered and the teachers presiding:

Biology—Prof. Darling.
Chemistry—Mr. Morris.
Economics—Prof McClean.
Education—Prof. Henke, Supt. Norton, Dr. Buckingham, Miss Ludwig.
English—Prof. Hagen, Dr. Julian Ross.
French—Mr. Roessing, Miss Ludwig.
History—Prof. Woodring, Dr. Beyer.
Philosophy—Prof. Henke.
Political Science—Dr. Beyer.
Sociology—Prof. McClean.
Spanish—Mr. Roessing.

This summer also inaugurates the new plan of two terms of six weeks each. The first term is from June 9 to July 17, while the second begins July 20 and ends August 27. The opening day of each semester is Registration Day, the final one Examination Day. tSudents may register for the entire Summer Session of twelve weeks or for either of the six week terms. All classes will meet five times a week for an hour and twenty minutes each assembly.

Regular college credit may be secured for six semester hours each term, giving the student exceptional opportunity to complete a substantial amount of work toward the Bachelor's Degree. The minimum registration fee is $30.00, for which three semester hours credit may be secured, and for every additional hour's credit, the added amount of nine dollars is charged. All laboratories will be open, but those fees will be extra.

Non-resident women will be required to room at Hammet House, while approved private residences will be available for men.

For further information and for the convenience of applicants an illustrated Summer Session Bulletin may be secured from the Director of the Summer Session, Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa. Posters with an excellent plate of Bentley Hall have also been printed and will be variously distributed.

Playlet and Double Quartet to Feature German Club Meeting

On Monday, March 23, the regular meeting of Der Deutsche Verein was held in Wilcox Hall. Prof. Schafheitlin took the members on an imaginary trip through the picturesque medieval town of Rothenburg ob der Tauber by means of a series of slides donated to the German Department by the former Professor, Dr. Mulfinger. Following this, Mr. William Hunter entertained with a group of half a dozen German student songs, recording them from a gramophone.

The next meeting will take place on Tuesday, April 21, in Huling's Parlor at 8:15 p. m. It will offer as entertainment a double program. The first part will consist of a playlet in German, coached and directed by Dr. Anna Schafheitlin. The cast includes Ruth Sundbach, Carl Lesher, and William Guenon. The original play was written by the 16th century poet-cobbler of Nurnberg, Hans Sachs. It is entitled "Der Student aus dem Paradies."

After the playlet, a double quartet comprising Ellenetta Beachley, Henrietta Walling, Alberta Argow, William Hunter, Russel Chilcote, Kermit Kelley, and Carl Klicka will sing a number of German folk-songs. They trained under the able guidance of Mrs. Spann, and will reneat their program of songs the following afternoon over the Allegheny radio hour.

This meeting is open to all those who may care to come. A special welcome is extended to the German I students who will be eligible to join next fall.

One thousand, four hundred and twenty-four institutions of learning have been extended invitations to compete in the Penn Relays to be held on April 24 and 25.

EDUCATION FRATERNITY CONVENES AT SYRACUSE

Six Delegates Represent Allegheny Chapter at Convention

Delegates from nearly every chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa convened at the Hotel Onondaga, Syracuse, New York, from March 26 to 28, in the Sixth National Assembly of the professional educational fraternity, with Zeta chapter of Allegheny represented by Dr. Frederick G. Henke, Prof. Horace T. Lavely, Norman Ish, James Springer, Howard Plate, and Harold McLallan. Dr. Henke was re-elected treasurer of the organization, a position which he has held for several years.

Nu chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa, at Syracuse, were joint hosts to the convention with Phi Lambda Theta, women's national educational fraternity. The meeting opened on Thursday evening, March 26, with a reception at the Alpha Gamma Delta house, where the visiting assembly delegates were entertained. On the following night, after a series of business meetings during the day, the guests were given a banquet at the Onondaga Hotel. Saturday was also taken up largely with routine business, and the consideration of various problems and difficulties which had arisen since the last biennial conference.

Among those attending the gathering at Syracuse was the national president of Kappa Phi Kappa, Guy E. Snavely, who was for a number of years Registrar of Allegheny College. He is now president of Birmingham-Southern, Birmingham, Alabama.

Leap Week Will Be Observed by College April 26 to May 2

With the addition of a Leap Week to the Allegheny social calendar, The Campus staff, sponsors of the innovation, present a few regulations in summary of student conduct necessary in that period from April 26 to May 2:

1. The girls, during Leap Week, shall make all dates, arrange for the evening's entertainment—and provide all requisite cash settlement for the same.

2. Men should make no dates whatever during Leap Week.

3. The men must exercise their customary prerogatives in one respect—going to the Hall to get their dates, and also returning to Hulings with their partner of the evening.

4. The girls will be limited to the usual dating privileges—eleven o'clock permission, and the number of engagements progressive with their undergraduate status.

Careful consideration of these rules during Leap Week, with everyone falling wholeheartedly into the spirit of the thing, assures the success of the project. The event has met with utmost approval in many other schools, and will in all probability become an annual institution at Allegheny if the results are satisfactory this year.

MAY DAY OBSERVANCE PLANNED FOR MAY 20

Now that pleasant weather has arrived, arrangements are being considered by Miss LeRoy for a suitable and pleasing May Day program. Since the weather conditions cannot be wholly depended upon, the May Day events will be given either May 20 or 21.

The usual program will be carried out with the exception that no all-college dance is scheduled. Instead of the dance, a lantern scene will be substituted.

The program for May Day will occupy a large part of the day. A baseball game will be played in the morning by the Hulingsites. In the afternoon refreshments will be served by the Cwens, and the Girls' Glee Club will give their presentation. The athletic awards earned during the past year will be presented to the girls at a dinner. In the evening the procession of the May Queen, the Pageant, and the Lantern scene will occupy the high-lights.

CELEBRATION PLANNED BY DELTA SIGMA RHO

In conjunction with the observance of National Anniversary Week by all the chapters of Delta Sigma Rho, the local members of the honorary forensic fraternity will celebrate the date of the founding of the organization with a banquet at the Kepler Hotel on April 28. Mortimer E. Graham, '22, of Erie, has been secured as speaker for the occasion. Among the guests at the banquet will be the Oratorical Board of the college and all this year's debating classes.

TRADITIONS

"Rich in the lore of tradition" has long been a characteristic of Allegheny life. The period from the days when Crawford County was inhabited solely by Indians to the present moment is abundant with instances relating to the founding and growth of Allegheny College. Founders' Day is observed in an endeavor to animate and vivify those delightfully entertaining incidents pertaining to the early history of the institution. But this observance does not revive the host of legends and tales of later periods. The stories lending an atmosphere of romance and fantasy to the Seven Sisters, the Hand of Knowledge, the Bearded Lady, the Circle of Pines, and the Rustic Bridge are known only to a few professors and former students. Undergraduate tradition lore is limited to anecdotes of the painting of a former president's cow, the placing of the same animal in the tower of Bentley, and similar pranks. The Alma Mater and the Pep Song complete the repertoire of the average student. The songs and ballads of the older alumni are totally unknown to the undergraduate. Much has been said of the new, progressive Allegheny with an undying pride in her traditions. Yet, to the majority, these traditions are mysterious tales to be reverently spoken of in the presence of alumni and freshmen, but dismissed hurriedly when pressed for details. The student body should be made acquainted with our traditions. The consummation of such a project can be realized by the aid of alumni and instructors. Chapel talks and feature articles for one of the publications are the most feasible proposals. They will be heartily welcomed by every student and alumnus.

COLLEGE ELECTION DAY

With the advent of spring and thoughts of graduation comes the fact that mutual-benefit organizations must hold their public elections preparatory to organization for the next school term.

The situation has been, in the past, to have a certain day established as election day for each organization, with the result that the fraternity or groups that had men entered as nominees would turn out en masse for one election and fail to appear at the next one if they did not have any men up for office. And yet it is said of the officers that they were elected by the student body. Comparison of figures of eligible voters and the number actually appearing at the polls on election day will readily convince one that students do not vote out of moral obligation, but because they are especially desirous of putting some measure across.

Since so much has been done to remove formerly existing evils from elections at Allegheny, it seems logical that something additional should be done to insure the organizations that their officers were placed because they were all-college choices and not the result of one or more fraternities having more men than another group. Certainly a general election day would fill that need; all fraternities as well as the other groups on the campus would be represented so the votes of all would be assured; the disutility of several election days would be eliminated, and every one would know when elections were to be held, instead of having the returns of a certain organization's election made as the first announcement that new officers for that society were to be selected.

HOW TO TELL AN EDUCATED MAN

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler tells us how to determine when a man is educated. An educated man, according to his yardstick, is correct and precise in the use of the mother tongue, has refined and gentle manners, the power and habit of reflection, the power of growth and the possession of efficiency.

There are not many requirements, but few there are who can measure up to them in large degree. If correct and precise use of the English language is an inflexible sign, then most of us fall far short of reaching the mark. Most Americans "butcher" the English language at every turn; they use slang that is most expressive but is not according to the rules of grammar. But as a usual thing there can be no misunderstanding of their meaning; they get their ideas across.

We boast of our efficiency, but we are only efficient in a comparative degree. We waste thousands of motions every day; most of our thinking is without purpose, and most of us have manners that would stand considerable improvement.

Dr. Butler has condensed the requirements into a nutshell, however, and the man who can measure up to them certainly may be justly classified as an educated man. It is unfortunate that more of us cannot come under the classification, as he sees it.

THE SCRUBBING BRUSH

Dr. S. Brush gives you a few health tips for this spring weather: "To prevent colds, don't go riding in rumble-seats bare-headed and without a top-coat—and if you happen to be riding with a young lady, see that she is well protected from the wind. Don't use the porch to sit out dances, and if you go strolling through the ravine, remember that the ground is still damp."

PHI DELTA THETA

Phi Delta Theta's chapter house was the scene of another delightful chapter party held by the fraternity on Saturday evening, April 11. Tommy Dillon and his Orchestra from Sharon furnished the music for the dancing, and chaperones were Professor and Mrs. H. T. Lavely. Guests of the fraternity at the party were the Misses Ruth Bailey, of Meadville, Louise Miller, of Warren, Dorothy Gillespie and Marian Carruth, of Wilkinsburg, and the Messrs. Lloyd Saeger, Neil MacDonald, and Aeldred Gray, all of Warren, Pa., Martin Howes, Jack Ungerman, James McCracken, Alton Klinestiver, and Agnew Bliss, of Meadville.

ALPHA CHI RHO

Alpha Chi Rho was the sponsorer of a chapter party held on Saturday evening, April 11, at the chapter house. Music for the occasion was furnished by Dutch Kress and his Olympians. Decorations of red and white streamers augmented the gay spirit of frivolity which prevailed at the party. Professor and Mrs. L. D. McClean were the chaperones. The Misses Edna Stambaugh and Margaret Daugherty, both of Meadville, and the Messrs. Ray Furney, of Sharon, Keneth Blake, of Tionesta, Ross Carey, Tom Gill, Irvin Winters, Ronnie Gregg, Marvin Kerr, Fred Clark, and Wilson Kelly were the fraternity's guests.

Members of Beta Kappa entertained with a five-couple party at the chapter house on Saturday evening, April 11. Professor and Mrs. Harley Morris were the chaperones.

Mr. Latney Barnes, traveling secretary of Phi Delta Theta, was a visitor of the local chapter last week.

Coach and Mrs. H. Paul Way chaperoned a five-couple party held at the Beta Upsilon house on Saturday evening, April 11. Refreshments were served.

Dr. Lee Writes About Work and Instructors in California School

"Einstein is a thoroughly likeable man," according to Doctor Lee, who is studying at the California Institute of Technology. "The noted Professor always smoked his favorite pipe while listening to any of the many lectures that he attended.

"Professor Einstein delivered all his lectures in German. He would speak for five or ten minutes and then either Professor Mayer or Professor Zwickey would translate what he had said. It seems that he must be able to understand English because he would follow the word of the interpreter and interrupt him several times.

"Doctor Tolman, another authority on 'Relativity', through his teachings and research work has forced Professor Einstein to alter his theory on this subject.

"California Institute of Technology is essentially an institution for research work and training people for research work. For instance, there are three instructors in Physical Chemistry, each one of whom teaches a different phase of the subject and the students are encouraged to take up the phase in which they are the most interested. This follows the lines of the German Universities. There are a great many German Professors here who are either teaching or doing research work.

"At the present time there are between forty and fifty scientists visiting the College. These men are of high rank in their field and at the College are either teaching or doing research work."

Doctor Lee is sitting in on many of the lectures and taking six courses, one in Relativity and five in Physical Chemistry. His teachers and lecturers are among the best in their field.

His only regret is that he has not had time to play any golf, but thinks that he will cut a class some day and go out and play a round.

Dr. Maxwell J. Lick, Noted Erie Surgeon, Addresses Students

Dr. Maxwell J. Lick, prominent Erie surgeon and Alumnus of Allegheny College, addressed the students in Chapel Wednesday, March 25, 1931. His subject was "Being a Doctor".

He pointed out the large number of applicants for medical school and the comparatively small number that are accepted together with the rigid requirements. In these days when it is a common occurrence for the student to apply to four or five schools it is first very necessary to have a high scholastic average. The applicant's reputation for extra curricular activities and personal appearance are of great importance today.

Conditions have greatly changed today. The older surgeons could read a book and then go out and learn from experience under the tutelage of a licensed practitioner. Although College plays an important part it is almost play compared with medical school. A great many things must be learned and also practically a new language.

The public today is guarded by certain laws which require that the doctor must have a license to practice. The doctor no longer claims he has a medicine to cure every disease but he can give certain drugs for some things and must treat the symptoms as the case develops with others.

There is a fetish in all of us for quackery. The waves of quackery are the same today as in the days gone by though we scarcely realize it. A lished for the standard of all classes lished for the standar dof all classes of healers so as to protect the public from unskilled men who have had merely a few months' training.

Dr. Lick concluded that he believed that medicine was a most Christ-like profession because it alleviated suffering and restored life from the verge of death. There are three aims of profession. First there should be a legal requirement for the standard education of healers, second there should be public health instruction and finally there should be ample protection afforded the public by laws restricting licenses to practice and prescribe drugs of all kinds.

Washington & Lee University sends 1200 of its students to the movies every week. The afternoon matinees are the most popular shows. One senior has the record of not having missed a show in four years.

The Bookshelf

Prof. L. D. McClean delivered the third address in a series of book reviews at the regular chapel service on Wednesday noon, April 8th. He spoke of three books covering three outstanding economic questions of the present time. The books were "Men and Machines," "Some Folks Won't Work," and "Economic Life of Soviet Russia."

The first book, "Men and Machines" by Stewart Chase, deals with the problems of the machine age. Prof. McClean characterized the book as refreshing, vigorous, and in places highly humorous. It is well written, concrete, spirited, and entertaining. The book neither attacks nor approves the extensive use of machines. The author does not advocate a "back to the farm" movement or a "simple life," but gives a good discussion of the facts concerning the machine age.

The name of the second book on which Prof. McClean spoke was "Some Folks Won't Work," a discussion of the unemployment situation. It has no artificial appeal, but gives a vivid account of real people out of work, using cases selected during the prosperous years of 1928 and 1929. The book does not attempt a solution of the problem, yet it refers to unemployment as the greatest indictment of our social order. The book was recommended as a cure for smugness regarding the unemployment problem.

"Economic Life of Soviet Russia" was the third book which was discussed. It was written by Prof. Hoover who traveled extensively in Russia during 1929-30. The book gives an intelligent understanding of the Soviet Russia and gives numerous instances of the reaction of peasants and tradesmen to the new regime. Prof. Hoover uses extensively the actual statistics of the five year plan as compiled by the Soviet government. It is the most up-to-date book on the subject, according to Prof. McClean, and has a most objective character. The book was highly recommended to the students since it was stated that every educated person should real at least one book on the Soviet Russia.

Dr. Elliott Writes of Terrific Storm While Traveling in Sicily

The New York Times of Sunday, Feb. 22, carried the story of a terrible storm which swept the island of Sicily, doing its worst damage in and around Palermo. Professor and Mrs. W. A. Elliott, absent from Allegheny on sabbatic leave, were in Sicily at the time. The storm, at its height, found them on the train going from Taormina to Palermo. The high mountains along the north coast protected the train from the raging winds but the rain fell continuously in sheets. Mountain brooks swelled to rivers, and level spots became lakes. Dr. and Mrs. Elliott reached Palermo in the early evening finding many of the streets deep under water, all trolley service suspended because of numerous fallen trees, and a large number of homes and places of business unroofed by the high wind. Thousands of people were driven from their homes to find shelter in public buildings, hotel lobbies, and tram-cars stranded in the streets. The electric lighting service was cut off from a third of the city. The water system was completely out of commission. The hotel where Professor and Mrs. Elliott were staying was more fortunately situated than some. They suffered no serious inconvenience. The travelers later learned that the train which had carried them to Palermo had crossed a bridge which an hour and a half later collapsed under the locomotive of the following train. Some of their friends were marooned in trains blocked by landslides with no provision for sleeping or eating. One large tourist party was compelled to sleep in a hotel lobby during one whole night.

Professor and Mrs. Elliott after two days in Palermo under these conditions succeeded in getting a boat to Naples. The adventure ended what had been a most interesting two-weeks' tour of the island.

Library Addition is Progressing Rapidly with Spring Weather

With the arrival of favorable weather it has been possible to commence work in earnest on the new addition to the rear of the library building. The construction force took advantage of the recent spring recess to make many of the required alterations on the north wall of the present building. Prior to the spring recess, however, work on the addition was at a practical standstill. The concrete foundations had been laid, a start was made on the brick work, and many other preliminaries were attended to, but all this had been largely accomplished several months ago. With the advent of spring, however, it is probable that building operations will progress at a much faster rate.

To date the brick wall is built up to a height about equal to that of the sills of the lower windows in the original structure. The rear wall of the present building shows the results of the work done during the suspension of school for the spring recess. In the center of the rear wall, at the second story level, a considerable portion of brickwork and windows were removed, and in their place a large square opening was built for the staircase which is to connect the two structures. Several other alteration jobs of a similar nature have also been made on the wall. These openings are temporarily closed by a weather paper covering.

MR. COLLEY SPEAKS TO STUDENTS IN CHAPEL

Mr. A. B. Colley of the English Department gave an address to the students in chapel, Monday, April 13, on the subject of "Religion."

"Our modern cultures of art, politics, education, etc., have come down to us through religion," said Mr. Colley, "but in our modern times they have set themselves up in apparent indpendence from it." It was religion that paved the way for science and education, that introduced dancing, art, music and politics. But today, this relationship is not recognized nor is religion associated with any of these modern cultures, especially politics. Education at most ignores religion or treats it as a poor relation. Modern science has taken a better attitude toward religion than these other cultures, especially in the interests of recent discoveries, but it can truly be said that at times it acts "high-hat," or assumes an apparent independence as the rest. The result of these attitudes toward religion is that modern manhood feels that religion is no longer needed—that it may have been of some use in the past, but that today it is quite possible to get along without it.

No scientist is content to be merely a scientist. Many begin as a scientist, but as their knowledge and experience increase, they change and end as a philosopher. They speculate on the universe, its vastness, its formation, its end and are interested solely through hope—hope for the future of the universe and man. If man should believe this life meaningless, worthless or gainless, would he be willing to be heroic, to suffer hunger, exile, imprisonment or death for some strong ideal which he struggles for? In this, religion is still needed. Art cannot be appreciated if it is meaningless. It must express some great thought or hope. No great work of art was made but through religion.

General Electric Contributions to Health

at College
at Home
at Play

COLLEGE-TRAINED electrical engineers coöperated with the medical profession in developing G-E products that safeguard health. Notable among these are the x-ray tube, the G-E refrigerator, and the G-E Sunlamp. Of these three, the Sunlamp is the latest development, but it has already been acclaimed for its service in helping build that vitality which maintains the happiness of good health.

At Cornell University, members of "cold-prevention classes" (under daily, brief, ultra-violet-ray lamp treatments) reported 40 per cent less colds than were reported by classmates in a group without this treatment. Beyond home and college, the use of Sunlamps has extended to swimming pools and indoor golf courses. In the future, you may enjoy the Sunlamp as a standard fixture in offices, trains, clubs, and many other places where people gather.

And you may continue to expect new, unusual, and useful developments from G-E engineering and research. Among such products, there will doubtless be further contributions to personal health, comfort, and convenience, as well as to the promotion of industrial efficiency.

INTERFRATERNITY COMPETITION IN WINTER SPORTS COMPLETED

Phi Gamma Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon Lead Greek Letter Organizations in Athletics.

With the winter group of intramural athletics completed and the spring group about to begin, the standings of the various teams at the present time have been announced. The standing of the teams includes all the events that have been completed. These events are volley-ball, cross-country, swimming, free throw, all-around competition, basket-ball, and bowling. The leader is Phi Gamma Delta with a total of 820 points. This group has won first place in the swimming and the free throw contests, and second in the volley-ball and in basket-ball. Sigma Alpha Epsilon is in second place with 750 points, having won first in volley-ball and bowling and third in cross-country. Third place goes to Beta Kappa with 640 points.

The first event of the year was volley-ball. Sigma Alpha Epsilon won first place, Phi Gamma Delta took second, and Beta Kappa was third. The Turkey Race, one of the most popular events of the year, was won by Delta Tau Delta. Beta Upsilon was second, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon was third. Swimming, the last of the fall group, was won by Phi Gamma Delta, with Delta Tau Delta in second place and Phi Delta Theta in third place.

The winter group consisted of the Free Throw contest, Basket-Ball, All-Around Competition, and Bowling. Phi Gamma Delta took first place, and Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Psi tied for second. The All-Around Competition, which consisted of several field and track events, was won by Beta Upsilon. Phi Kappa Psi took second place, and Delta Tau Delta came third. Basket-Ball, which was also very popular, was won by Alpha Chi Rho, with Phi Gamma Delta taking second and the Non-Fraternity group taking third. Bowling, the last of the winter group, was won by Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Beta Kappa came second, and Phi Kappa Psi was third.

Considering the fact that this is the first year that an extensive program of intra-mural athletics has been arranged, this program has been very successful. It was the purpose of this program to provide a sport for every man on the campus. When it is found that 529 men competed in the various events it is easy to see to what extent this aim has succeeded. By the time the spring events are completed the total will be much larger. It must be remembered that there will be some duplications in the number of men competing, but in spite of that the great majority of men on the campus have competed in at least one of the events.

	Volley Ball	Cross Country	Swimming	Free Throw	All-Com.	Basket-Ball	Bowling	Points

Track Men Working Hard in Preparation for Their First Meet

With outdoor track practice well under way after the spring recess, about twenty-five candidates are on the elld daily getting into shape for the first meet, with Washington & Jefferson, at Washington, on May 2.

In addition to the varsity program a telegraphic meet has been scheduled for the Allegheny frosh to meet the Yearlings of Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio. Such a meet means that the teams will run the events on their own track simultaneously and relay the results by wire between the two schools. This method, while curtailing expenses, affords real competition. The meet is tentatively scheduled for the first part of May. In case plans are completed for the meet, Allegheny will call upon Gregg, Beers, Kerr, Francis, Hershelman, "Red" Vanaman, Tinsman, Collins, Dave Smith, Murrey, and Richard Quinn to oppose the invisible enemy. Those who survive the battle will, no doubt, be in line for a position on the varsity squad.

As in the past, on the varsity team the field events are weaker than the track events. However, among the new candidates a good percentage are field men. Both Kerr and Francis are throwing the javelin around 170 feet; both are doing well with the discus, and Francis also puts the shot and throws the hammer. Gregg and Nichols will be added to Poole, Lowry and Beighley in the pole vault; Vanaman, Tinsman and Hershelman will held McManus and March in the weights. Bob Garbark has also decided to throw the various weights around, and is likely to be a three-letter man this year. The first-year class also supplies Quinn to team with Boetcker in the broad jump, and Gregg and Murrey to work with the Lowry's in the high jump. On the track the veterans are fairly well established. Beers, freshman sprinter, Collins, freshman quarter miler, Nichols and Gregg, freshmen in the 880, and John Williams, sophomore two-miler are the outstanding additions.

As a part of the policy of the University of Pennsylvania to lessen the emphasis placed on football, the salary of the new football coach, Harvey Harman, has been cut from $12,500 to $7,500. Pretty soon they will be begging alms for poor coaches who get only $625 each of the twelve months of the year.

DUTIES OF DEAN OF MEN OUTLINED BY MR. STONE

DEAN AT UNIVERSITY OF WEST VIRGINIA TELLS OF TRYING WORK

In spite of unemployment conditions more than eighty men were placed in part time jobs by the office of the Dean of Men at the West Virginia University last semester in addition to those recommended for places in Woman's Hall, the Cafeteria, the University farms, offices and grounds. In all the employed students number several hundred.

"It is difficult in dull times," said Dean of Men, Harry E. Stone, "to place students in part time work during their first semester on the campus when they are not known and their schedules and hours needed for recitations, laboratory work, preparation of lessons."

Part time work is only one of many matters handled in the office of the Dean of Men at the West Virginia University. The housing of University men who number more than two thirds of the more than twenty six hundred students during the winter sessions, loan fund recommendations, relations with fraternities having twenty-one houses occupied by six hundred men, the administration of attendance regulations for all students, administration of regulations relating to student marriages, membership on the Freshman Week Committee, membership on the social committee, service on the Radio Committee (School of the Air), operation of the University a [illegible]ar Committee, conducting of weekly guidance conferences for freshman men, and educational, personal and vocational guidance and some graduate placement work are among the many other duties of the Dean of Men of the State University.

When interviewed recently concerning his work Dean of Men, Harry E. Stone said: "I have stood with fraternity men before the grave of a dead brother. I have accomapnied the body of a student, accidentally killed, as it was being carried to its last home in a little cemetery nestled among the beautiful hills of West Virginia. I have stood at the bedside of a student about to die in our infirmary and sought to comfort his father and mother. I have broken the news to instructors and students of the serious illness and death of parents. I remember staying up nearly all night with one young instructor to whom, in the absence of the President, I had conveyed the news of the death of his father in an automobile accident. Quite as vivid is my memory of a night ride by train with a father whose boy had run away from college and taken a room at a hotel in a nearby city. I recall seeking to quiet the nerves of a fine young fellow who one afternoon had accidentally killed a fellow student and friend while, with loaded guns, they were climbing under a fence. I shall never forget the sessions with a student who lost his mind and was reported to me after he had threatened the life of a local teacher. I remember more than one call from the local police department to come down and see students who had been arrested.

"The office of the Dean of Men is a haven to which students, faculty members, parents, landladies, and others go when they have a real or fancied grievance or a request they hesitate to take to instructors or to other administrative officers. His office is a general clearing house for students who seek information about rules and regulations. He is the University trouble man. He is not a policeman. His business is helping young men and in this he gets his chief satsifaction."

VARSITY TENNIS TEAM FACES HARD SCHEDULE

Despite reports to the contrary, the college tennis courts have been opened for the 1931 playing season. Considerable difficulty in obtaining a hard surface postponed the opening date until recently when it was decided to use them although they are far from being in the desired condition. Previous training has been carried on in the gymnasium.

Varsity tennis at Allegheny was dealt a hard blow by graduation last spring but the presence of a good number of candidates this spring gives bright hopes for a successful season. From last year's squad only Dennison, Mills, and Anderson remain. The schedule is much harder this year but the quick development of several new men is anticipated. Outstanding on this year's schedule will be the two encounters with the University of Pittsburgh team which boasts several players of national prominence.

ALLEGHENY SEXTETTE IS DEFEATED BY EDINBORO

On March 18, Edinboro State Teachers College easily defeated the varsity women here with a score of 28-14. Allegheny women were captained by Carol Moore. Dorothy Fritz, Alice Luther, Ruth Farquhar, Helen Morrow, Wilma Kuhnert, Cleo Duffield, Marian Sleeman, and Peggy Herr played and substituted. After the game, the two teams and coaches were served by the Owens and Miss Dale in Hulings Hall dining room.

All men desiring to secure summer employment leave name, address and telephone number in Dr. Schultz's office. Some sales experience preferred, but not necessary. Real job for those who qualify!

College Student Makes $99 First 11 Days Helping Me

Ray C. Hahn
Sales Manager

Now I want 500 more college men to join me on the same basis.

No Experience Needed

I want ONE wide-awake College Man in every locality (500 in all) to introduce and demonstrate an amazing new Fyr-Fyter discovery. The work is easy and pleasant. You can handle it in full or spare time and make $9.00 or more a day the same as Harold Conklin, a college student of North Dakota, did.

$99 in 11 Days!

Conklin writes: "For the past few months, I have been working as salesman for your company. I have enjoyed the work very much, and I feel that the Fyr-Fyter line cannot be beat. On my last trip (11 days) I made an average clear profit of $9 a day. I have enjoyed the work very much and I am buying a car of my own. I realize that I am a new man, but I am confident." Conklin is a new man without any previous selling experience.

If you are interested in a position with opportunities to earn $6,000 a year or more, I can put you to work right away and prepare you for a big money-making summer season. Our new liquid actually ABSORBS fire like a sponge smothering vapor that is "sure death" even to the raging flames of high-test gasoline! You demonstrate to people in cities, small towns and on farms. WE DELIVER AND COLLECT AND SEND YOU COMMISSION CHECK EVERY SATURDAY. No experience necessary. We give you quick training and show you how to get started without capital.

WRITE NOW! We can place 500 College Men. It costs nothing to get the facts. Just send letter or postcard to me personally. Ray C. Hahn, Sales Manager
