THE CAMPUS

OF ALLEGHENY COLLEGE

1913

VOLUME XXXI—NUMBER 25.

MEADVILLE, PA., APRIL 29, 1913.

FOUNDERS' DAY WAS OBSERVED THURSDAY

President Thwing of Western Reserve and F. L. La Bounty, '07, Speak.

The annual Founder's Day exercises, commemorating the 98th anniversary of the arrival of Dr. Timothy Alden preparatory to the founding of Allegheny in 1815, were held in the Chapel on last Thursday morning. Probably, never in the history of the college, was the day of its founding commemorated in a more fitting or impressive manner. The very fact that practically every student of the college attended the exercises, was in itself sufficient evidence of the true college spirit that this occasion called forth. In addition to this, two addresses were given that in scholarly form and in wealth of inspiration would be hard to equal on any similar program.

Immediately preceding the program in the Chapel, the academic procession, marshaled by Dr. G. E. Snavely and C. S. Miller, '13, president of the Senior class, composed of the speakers Faculty and the Seniors in their academic garb, the Juniors, the Sophomores and Freshmen in order named, wended their way across the campus from Bentley Hall and entered the Chapel at 10 p. m. The regular Chapel ritual was used and prayer was offered by Bishop James M. Thoburn, '57.

President Crawford then introduced the first speaker, F. L. LaBounty, with a few words about the founding of the college. He also stated that the purpose of Founder's Day was not only to honor the man that had placed the foundation of this institution, but as well to recognize the men that had come after him. In introducing Mr. LaBounty, Dr. Crawford paid a tribute to the work that he had done in preserving the history of the founding of Allegheny College in the following words:

"We are exceedingly fortunate that the first speaker this morning is one of our own alumni. One who did so much to enrich the college while he was a student, and has added great lustre since he has left us. He is associated with Dr. E. A. Smith, now at Princeton, in the publication of a college history, which we hope will be forthcoming in the next two years."

Taking as his subject "Timothy Alden: A Study in Leadership," Mr. LaBounty gave an interesting historical sketch of the life and the work of Allegheny's founder. In his introduction, he dealt with the various types of leadership that the world has recognized in its history. With this as a basis, it was clearly shown that Timothy Alden should be called a leader of men. As a defense against the charge that Timothy Alden was a dreamer, Mr. LaBounty pointed to the work that was accomplished in his life. The tireless efforts that have produced such a building as Bentley are in themselves a testimony of the practicability of its builder. It would be hard to believe that Alden was a dreamer, when one reads of the life that he spent in founding an institution in the wilderness. But this was not his only task, as he was as well called upon to equip the college with a library and with the necessary

Duzer-Du Cast

Men Chosen for Leading Parts—Rehearsals to Begin at Once.

As a result of the Duzer-Du tryouts that have been held during the past few weeks, the cast has been partially decided upon. The material this year was far better than in any previous year, and consequently, some difficulty was experienced in the choice of men for the leading parts. Practically every man that was given a try-out showed marked ability and was capable of handling some part in the play. However, because of the short time before the production of the play, it was entirely impossible to give every man a thorough try-out. Many of the men who did not succeed in making parts this year will be in line for good positions next year.

At this time only twelve of the leading parts have been definitely decided. These are given below with the names of the principal first, and followed by the names of the understudies.

Tom Wrench—E. S. Weidle, '14, C. S. Burwell,' 14.

T. Gadd—C. S. Burwell, '14, J. M. Mates, '13.

Telfer—R. D. Mosier, '13, M. P. Jeffery, '14.

Colpoys—M. P. Jeffery, '14, O. C. Graham, '15.

Arthur—T. Smith, '15, H. L. Askey, '15, and C. R. Wolfe, '15.

Ablett—H. A. Taylor, '15.

Sir William—E. A. Hickman, '16.

Mrs. Mossop—C. A. Flick, '15.

Imogene—F. H. Sanner, '16, J. M. Miller, '13.

Avonia—J. M. Miller, '13, C. R. Wolfe, '15.

Rose Trelawney—E. Horner, '16, J. M. Miller, '13.

Mrs. Telfer—L. Scott, '16, understudy undecided.

As there will be approximately twenty characters, it can readily be seen that there are many minor places that are yet unfilled. These, however, will be announced during the coming week. They will be chosen from the following list of men:

O. C. McLean, '13, J. M. Miller, '13, H. B. Storer, '13, W. H. Wells, '13, H. J. Wieler, '13, C. S. Burwell, '14, M. P. Jeffery, '14, J. G. McNulty, '14, R. D. Mosier, '14, F. J. Mechlin, '14, E. S. Weidle, '14, H. A. Askey, '15, E. A. Hickman, '16, E. J. Horner, '16, R. E. Hoffman, '16, Ernest Ling, '16, B. C. McLean, '16, F. H. Sanner, '16, W. L. Scott, '16, J. W. Tear, '16, C. R. Wolf, '15, Howard Boyd, 15, H. Brownell, '15, F. G. Brooks, '15, C. A. Flick, '15, O. C. Graham, '15, F. D. Gealey, '16, Ralph Fox, '15, E. A. Robinson, '15, T. Smith, '15, G. A. Shaner, '15, H. A. Taylor, '15. The women's parts, however, will be restricted entirely to the following men: J. M. Miller, '13, F. H. Sanner, '16, W. L. Scott, '16, F. D. Gaeley, '16, C. A. Flick, '15, C. R. Wolf, '15, and E. A. Horner, '16.

Practice started last night in the club room in Bentley and the play will be given May 29.

Concert Tonight

By Male Chorus of Meadville—Special Soloists to Feature Program.

The Meadville Male Chorus of 40 voices will appear in their annual concert at Ford Memorial Chapel on this Tuesday evening. For this occasion the chorus will render the charming Norwegian story of "Frithof," the legend being artistically adapted to music by Max Bruch. The large chorus has been in regular training during the past winter under the able direction of Prof. Harry W. Manville, and the music-loving public is assured of a most artistic performance.

The Male Chorus is to have as assisting artists, Mrs. Harrison W. Ewing of Cleveland, a soprano of more than local fame. Clyde M. Miller will sing the baritone role, Otto Ebisch of Erie, will be at the organ, and Miss Charlotte Marhoffer is to perform the piano work. A brief explanatory story of Tegner's interesting composition will be given in advance of the singing by Miss Clara Hutchinson, '13. The whole performance is one of unusual merit and deserves the patronage of all who are lovers of music.

CHAPTER OF DELTA SIGMA RHO GRANTED

Will be the Thirty-eighth Chapter—Replaces Alpha Kappa Lambda.

At the national convention of the Delta Sigma Rho fraternity which was held at Columbus, Ohio, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week, a charter was granted to the local society of Alpha Kappa Lambda. The charter committee of the convention met at five o'clock on Thursday afternoon and Allegheny's petition was the first considered. Harry J. Wieler was the local society's representative at the convention and he was called in by the committee and questioned regarding Allegheny's standing. After about five minutes' deliberation the charter was granted. Other colleges and universities applying for charters at the same time as Allegheny were Amherst, Coe, Colgate, Franklin and Marshall, Washington and Lee, William Jewell, Langton and University of Oklahoma.

Delta Sigma Rho is the only debating and oratorical fraternity in the country and was founded in 1904. Its emblem is a diamond-shaped gold key somewhat similar to the key of Phi Beta Kappa. There are at present thirty-seven chapters and Allegheny's makes the thirty-eighth. It is interesting to note that charters have been granted to very few small colleges, Allegheny being the sixth one that has succeeded in obtaining a chapter. The others are Knox, Albion, Beloit, Wesleyan, and Carlton—all institutions of well known standing.

Following is a brief history of the local petitioning chapter:

In the fall of 1910 plans were set on foot for the organization of a society having for its purpose the fostering and encouragement of debate and oratory at Allegheny College. In the spring of 1911 these plans took definite shape and the Alpha Kappa Lambda Society took its place in the active life of the college.

The charter members were: Professor S. S. Swartley, W. L. Stidger, ex-'10, J. W. Barkley, '11, P. M. Hillman, '11, H. R. Hunt, '12, W. E. Sheffer, '12, R. W. Thomas, '12, C. E. Vogel, '12, and J. R. MacGowan,' 14.

In order to be eligible for election into the Alpha Kappa Lambda Society one must have represented Allegheny College in an inter-collegiate contest in the capacity of debater or orator. Most of the original members of the society have now graduated but with addition of the men made eligible this year the members of the society now number six. The present active members are Mr. S. S. Swartley, J. R. MacGowan, '14, O. C. McLean, '13, H. J. Wieler, '13, C. V. Sparling, '13, and W. J. Armstrong, '16. E. J. Hall, '13, and D. J. Blasdell, '13, are eligible but have not yet been initiated.

A charter was refused to the local society in 1911 largely on account of the fact that the petition was not presented in time for consideration, and also because a charter is seldom granted upon first application. Amherst and Colgate were refused chapters at the same time.

It has been largely due to the efforts of Professor S. S. Swartley that Allegheny has succeeded in securing a charter to Delta Sigma Rho and the future success of debating and oratory will be due in great measure to his work. The securing of a charter here will undoubtedly lend great impetus to these branches of college activities as membership in such a fraternity is a much desired honor.

A cursory glance at Allegheny's oratorical record will show that it is one of the best. Since the beginning in intercollegiate oratorical contests in 1888 it has been represented in nineteen contests. In these, Allegheny has won first place seven times and second place three times; in the other contests its representatives were awarded third place or below. The record in debate is equally good. Allegheny began intercollegiate debate in 1898. Of the nineteen debates held, Allegheny has lost eight and won eleven. It has defeated among others Albion, Cornell Congress, Syracuse, Kenyon and Washington and Jefferson.

Alden Alembic Club

Formed from Advance Students in the Department of Chemistry.

With the recent formal recognition by the Faculty of the "Alden Alembic Club" there appears a new member in the family of departmental clubs at Allegheny. For some time the advanced students in Chemistry have felt the need of a society by which those interested in the special study of the science could receive help in association and discussion with one another. Last fall, after a petition had been presented to Dr. Lee asking for the formation of such a club, a number of these men met and formed this organization, with the adoption of a constitution and the election of officers. Since that time regular meetings have been held and with such benefit that the importance of the club was realized and recognized by the school. The announcement of its existence was delayed at the request of the members until such time as it should receive this recognition.

The membership of the club at present contains the names of fifteen men, but the late Mr. Palmer was one of the first men enrolled. The following men constitute the club: Dr. Lee, W. H. Fegely, '14, Frank O. Amon, '12, T. R. Fitzgerald, '13, J. C. Blucher, '13, C. E. Hinckley, '13, Evans McKay, '13, A. Wilkinson, '13, N. D. Doane, '13, F. J. Mechlin, '14, F. W. Fabian, '14, John Bright, '15, H. F. Brownell, '15, G. A. Shaner, '15, and G. A. Ricker, '15. The officers of the club are the following: W. H. Fegely, president; F. O. Amon, vice president; J. C. Blucher, secretary, and Evans McKay, treasurer. Although it is the intention to elect others to membership from time to time, yet it will be necessary that they show marked qualifications before they will be taken in. The prime aim of the club is to encourage scholarship among the men of the department of Chemistry, and membership will be given as a reward.

A very neat certificate, known in college and university life as a shingle, carrying a reduced seal of the college and the seal of the Alembic Club is given to each member. This latter one is very novel. Around the outer edge is a beaded circle containing the statement that it is the "Seal of the Alden Alembic Club of Allegheny College." Inside this is an equilateral triangle at the three sides of which is the motto of the club, "Scire et Producere." In the interior of the triangle are double alembics and an alchemist's symbol. The organization is not secret, but the seal here described naturally has peculiar significance to the members of the society. Considerable time was spent in the designing of the seal.

Teutonia Banquet

Held at Saegertown Inn on Saturday Evening.

The Teutonia girls held their fourth annual banquet of that organization at Saegertown Inn on last Saturday evening. Various forms of entertainment, including games and charades, had been arranged by the committee in charge of the banquet. Mrs. G. E. Snavely and Mrs. L. M. Riddle were the chaperones.

At seven o'clock dinner was served in the dining room of the Inn, which had been decorated with daffodils. Miss Oma B. Stoner, '11, acted as toastmistress and announced the following toasts:

Valhalla—Mary Walters, '13.

Allegheny song.

Witenagemot—Ethel Bacon, '14.

Teutonian Song.

Valkyries—Margaret Ross, '16.

Teutonian Song.

Rites of Odin—Alice Chapin, '15.

Teutonian Song.

In Honor of Freya—Elizabeth Lord, '13.

Allegheny Medley.

The following alumnae were present: Miss Florence Bacon, '11, Miss Clementine Calvin, Miss Mildred Reed, '12, Miss Adelaide Remler, '12, and Miss Oma Stoner, '11.

THE TWIG OF THORN TO BE GIVEN THIS WEEK

Klee-O-Kleet Presents Play Friday and Saturday.

After weeks of rehearsing, the cast of the "Twig of Thorn" will make their debut on next Friday evening. During the past few days the various committees of Klee-O-Kleet, have been hard at work in the final preparations for the production of the annual play. As in former years, the play will be given on two successive nights in the gymnasium of Hulings Hall. All the necessary scenic effects have been received and now only the stage is lacking. The stage, itself, however, will be built within a day or so, and preparations will be complete.

The play was first written for the Philadelphia Society of Brooklyn Heights Seminary, by whose members it was successfully staged on April 16, 1910, in Memorial Hall, Brooklyn, N. Y. From this it can be seen that the play is still quite new and, consequently, has probably never been seen by any Alleghenian. The scene of the play is laid in the cottage of Nessa Teig, in County Galway, near Kylebeg, in the year of the Great Famine. The first act is supposed to take place at twilight on the last day of March, while the second is on the first day of winter of the same year.

Throughout, the production is tinged with that spirit of mystery and quaint romance, which is found in the stories of the early Irish peasants. No one who has ever studied, ever so lightly, the old traditions of Ireland, can keep from falling under the spell of their magic. The story tells of the romance of Oonah and a young peasant, Aengus Arann. Oonah, who is living at the house of her grandmother, Nessa Teig, has been charmed and filled with awe at the recitation of the old Irish myths. Oonah, during her wanderings about the neighboring country, at one time picks the flower from a black twisted thorn tree. When her grandmother sees the twig, she is horrified, for her superstition has taught her that its possessor will be cursed as well as the house into which the twig of thorn is carried. The remainder of the play is based on this superstition. The lover of Oonah, Aengus Arann, is also horrified and tries to break the spell in various ways. At this point, another character typically Irish, enters the play, in the person of the wandering harper, Aileel. His pensive songs, which so enchant the humble people are in reality merely his way of showing his own love for Oonah.

Finally the great famine comes which compels Aengus to leave the land. In the meantime, however, all his friends are in terrible want for food. The way in which the playwright has pictured the suffering of the people is both masterful and impressive. Aileel returns after some time and finds that while his own love is unrequitted, Oonah's love for Aengus is stronger than ever. Aengus on his return, however, is destitute and his sense of pride will not allow him to live on the property of his sweetheart. All her entreaties that he marry her are repulsed because of this same spirit of pride. Aileel, with his sympathetic nature, understands the difficulty and takes steps to remove it. He finds that the fairies are in need of a harper, and engages their help in return for his promise that he will act as their harper. The fairies, in turn, assist him with all their magical powers in the consummation of the wedding. As a result, Aengus and Oonah are married and a wonderful wedding feast is prepared in the time of famine. Aileel goes away to act as the harper of the fairies.

The complete cast follows:

Nessa Leig—Lucille Lippitt, '15.

Maurya—Louise Irwin, '16.

Oonah—Ruth Lavely, '15.

Aengus Arann—Anna McKenna, '16.

Aileel—Elizabeth Best, '16.

Father Brian—May Girsham, '14.

Fenula—Faye Neale, '16.

Kathleen—Alice Hawkey, '16.

Shiela—Leona Rial, '16.

Sheamus—Marion Whipple, '16.

Martin—Marion Thomas, '13.

Tumas—Marion Carroll, '14.

A Faery Child—Ruth Dodd, '14.

A Difference of $375,000.

The Campus takes this opportunity to correct an error regarding Allegheny which appeared in Red and Black Weekly for April 24. W. & J. is just starting on a campaign for an additional half million endowment and in this issue gives a number of the colleges of the country together with the amount of their endowment. Allegheny is rated as twenty-fourth with an endowment of $650,000 while in reality her standing is fifteenth with an endowment of $1,025,000—quite a little difference when money is the question under discussion.

Another Honor.

The granting of the chapter of Delta Sigma Rho debating fraternity to Allegheny is but another addition to the long list of honors that has been bestowed on the school during the present college generation. The fact that the constitution of the society specifically states that "chapters shall be granted to schools whose standing is of such a character as to give them full credit in the better graduate schools" adds one more point to Allegheny's scholastic standing, while the report of Dr. Babcock, of the department of Education, placing Allegheny, with five other schools in the state in class one, is the highest honor that can come in any way.

Special credit is due to the untiring efforts which Mr. Swartley has put forward toward the securing of the chapter of Delta Sigma Rho. The idea of petitioning the society was formulated by him and the definite plans for carrying forward the organization were the result of his work.

SINGING CONTEST.

Now that definite announcement has been made relative to the rules that will govern the interclass singing contest, all the classes will be at work in preparation for this event. Although a definite date has not been announced, it is probable that the contest will be held on either May 28 or 29 at four o'clock in the afternoon. It will be in the open air, at some place on the campus, possibly on the rustic bridge. As previously announced, only men will be allowed to participate, while the feminine contingency will only be permitted to show their appreciation by rooting or enthusiastic applause. In order that the masculine element may still be retained, the judges will also be men from Meadville, who can be called representative singers and lovers of music.

The songs that will be used in the contest will be "Alma Mater" sung to the tune of Austria and with the repetition of the last two lines, and the following selections from the college song book: "Allegheny Forever," "Loud Let the Sons of Harvard Sing," "Dear Allegheny," "Sing Her Praises."

Two Baseball Games

Edinboro Easily Defeated Friday—Tech Took Saturday's Contest.

The Allegheny baseball nine celebrated its first victory of the present season in good style on last Friday afternoon, when the Northwestern State Normal team was defeated by the score of 18-5. Allegheny hit the ball hard and freely and before the nine innings were over gathered 19 hits from the two opposing pitchers. The fielding was better than in the opening game, although some of the errors made were quite costly and accounted for Edinboro's runs. Ricker started the pitching until E. Gilbert was substituted, who did well for a new man on the mound. Croasmun, C. Gilbert and Thoburn starred both in the field and at bat, while DeRenner of Edinboro was the only man to show any form. "Red" Robinson featured with a home run, the first one of this season.

Allegheny immediately started the scoring the first time at bat and when the inning was finished two runs had crossed the plate. Edinboro retaliated with a single score. In the second inning no scoring was done by either team, but in the third the gold and blue added two more runs to the count and Normal School got one. Allegheny started to hit the ball freely in the fourth and with the help of the opponent's errors four more runs were added. The best that Edinboro could do in this inning was to make a single tally. The fifth inning resulted in another tally by the local team, while red and white was shut out. In the sixth inning Allegheny engaged in a regular hitting bee and when the smoke cleared away seven runs had crossed the plate. The Normal School nine "blew up" in this inning and could only come back with two runs. The seventh inning resulted in one run for the gold and blue and in the ninth another was added to the total count. Edinboro failed to score in the last three innings. The contest this year at Edinboro furnished more of a practice game for the local nine, although in years past the annual game with the red and white has generally been very close.

The Allegheny college base ball nine was defeated in a close game on Oval field at Pittsburg by the Carnegie Tech nine on last Saturday afternoon, the final result being 4-2. The Gold and Blue got an early start and for a time threatened to shut out the Techites. Allegheny scored both their runs in the first inning by the hard hitting of Croasmun and Robinson. This ended the scoring for the local team and as the game progressed the Tech pitcher tightened up and only allowed three hits in the remaining eight innings. The Pittsburger's scores in the fifth were the result of hard hitting with a wild throw and before the inning closed three runs had crossed the plate. The plaid scored another run in the eighth, while Allegheny was unable to advance a man across the plate. Captain Hawk pitched his first game of the present season and held his oppnents to six hits. Richards played well for the local school, while Lobert, of Tech, featured with a running catch in deep center field. Yesterday and today the team lines up against the West Virginia Wesleyan nine at Buckhannon, West Virginia. The score:

INTERCOLLEGIATE CONTEST NEXT FRIDAY EVENING.

D. J. Blasdell, '13, winner of the annual Wakefield Oratorical Contest, held in Ford Memorial Chapel, Thursday, February 14, will represent Allegheny in the intercollegiate forensic contest to be held at Colgate University, Friday, May 2. At that time he will compete with representatives from Wooster, Colgate, Ohio Wesleyan, and the University of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Blasdell's oration on the "Delusions of War," deals with a subject that has been attracting interest. Since the time of the Wakefield contest, he has made many important changes in his oration, as well as having spent considerable time in practicing its delivery.

HULINGS HALL.

Miss Elizabeth Lord, '13, Editor.

Miss Helen McKenzie, '16, entertained her mother of Oil City the past week end.

Miss Mildred Reed, '12, of Crafton, was the week-end guest of Miss Fawn McDonald, '13.

Miss Oma Stoner, '11, of Scottdale, spent the week end at the Hall as the guest of Miss Edith DeLand, '13.

The regular Y. W. C. A. Wednesday evening prayer meeting was in charge of Professor Swartley. His very practical and interesting talk was based on "The Difficulties of Personal Testimony."

Several girls were guests of Miss Borell of Meadville at dinner last Wednesday evening. Among those present were the Misses Margaret Seitz, '14, Margaret Simpson, '15, Harriette Bassett, '15, Mary Carroll, '16, Martha Kelley, '16, and Ginerva Campbell, 16.

Senior Tea last Thursday afternoon was given in honor of Founder's Day and although the speakers of the day were unable to be present, there was an unusually large attendance of Faculty and town friends. Miss Mary Walters and Miss Jessie Tomb proved delightful hostesses. Miss Frances Norton and Miss Ethel Bayard poured.

The annual Senior Y. W. C. A. service was most capably led by Miss Marion Thomas last Sunday evening. After a vocal solo by Miss Florence Downing, '16, Miss Thomas showed what qualities the term, "Senior" should suggest. Assuming S to stand for self forgetfulness, E for efficiency, N for nobility, I for ideals, O for originality and optimism, and R for religion, the one word, Senior, comes to be a most powerful word the English language.

Miss Mary Sansom, '14, president of the Athletic Association, is putting into practice a new plan for the coming tennis tournament. Each class will have a tournament within the class whereby the representative players may be selected for the interclass meets. The best players will be selected from the whole for the prize tournament. The following girls have been selected for managers for the class teams: for the Juniors, Miss May Girsham; for the Sophomores, Miss Ethel Gealy; for the Freshman, Miss Mary Hoffman.

President Crawford will deliver the commencement address at the Harmonsburg High School tomorrow evening.

Miss Ruth Ellis, sister of W. A. Ellis, '16, was a guest at the Phi Gamma Delta house for dinner on last Saturday.

Last Saturday evening the local chapter of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity entertained the members of Kappa Kappa Gamma at their home on Highland Avenue.

A conference of student editors of the college and university publications of the Middle Atlantic States will be held at Pittsburgh under the auspices of the University, on Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9.

On last Sunday evening, Professor I. R. Beiler preached the baccalaureate sermon for the commencement of the Blooming Valley High School, in the Methodist Church at that place. The regular commencement exercises will be held on next Friday evening.

The Mission Study committee of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. will hold a banquet on next Thursday evening at which Dr. Crawford will be the guest of honor. This method has been adopted to show to some extent the appreciation of the students for the work that was done in the organization by Dr. Crawford during the past year.

On account of the wet weather this spring, work which was to have been done on the over-flow athletic field, has been delayed until this summer. In order to put the field in the best shape several ditches will be necessary to drain the water from the field. Work will be started on this as soon as the weather permits, so that the field will be ready for use by the opening of school next fall.

Dr. F. W. Hannan, of New York, will be the speaker at the college sermon for the month of May, which will be delivered in Ford Memorial Chapel on Sunday afternoon, May 11. As will be remembered, Dr. Hannan gave a short address before the Y. M. C. A. at the regular meeting, which was held last week. Dr. Hannan is interested in social work and has given a series of lectures at Drew Theological School, for some years.

Another step was taken toward increasing the college records, when the blanks called "Information Regarding Seniors" were given to the members of the graduating class. This blank contains a long list of questions regarding the work done during the college course, as well as the prospective work of the student. Such a record will undoubtedly be of great interest as well as of service, in keeping in touch with the alumni of the college.

"The Pied Piper of Hamelin," by Robert K. Browning, was successfully presented in the local Academy of Music by an amateur company composed of Meadville residents, college students, and members of the Faculty Dr. G. E. Snavely and Mr. L. M. Riddle were the members of the Faculty on the caste, while a large number from the student body took part. The performance was given under the auspices of the Meadville Civic League and quite a sum was realized from the production.

Last Saturday Rev. Geo. M. Hughes, D.D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Brookville, Pa., was present and led the devotions at chapel. He read the familiar chapter on "Faith and Works" and in a few remarks brought home the lesson of their inter-dependence. He illustrated by the use of the figure of the man who by using only his right hand or only his left hand accomplishes nothing but only keeps turning around, while when both hands are put to use there is progress.

Owing to heavy college work, L. L. Peterson, '13, has been compelled to resign his position as manager of the baseball team. This will leave J. G. McNulty, '14, in charge for the remainder of the season, as he has been acting as assistant manager. Before his resignation, Mr. Peterson had completed the schedule and had made practically all the arrangements for the season. Consequently, the only duties that will fall upon the new manager will be the accompanying of the team on any trips and making arrangements for the incidental expenses.

LeRoy L. Peterson, '13, has returned from Washington, D. C., where he was the representative sent by the local chapter of the Inter-collegiate League, to their annual meeting in that city and New York. The business sessions of the convention were held in New York City, while later Washington was visited where Mr. Peterson met the President and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Many interesting, as well as instructive, discussions were brought before the convention and the delegates enjoyed seeing the sights of the National Capital.

The March number of The Literary Monthly made its appearance on Wednesday of last week and although the issue was a little late, it was up to the usual high standard of the publication. A story, "The Tavern Road," by F. G. Brooks, '15, and a sketch by Miss Gertrude Hammond, '14, were unintentionally omitted in the "Lit" review in the last issue of The Campus. Both of these contributions compared favorably with contents of the number. This was the last number put out by the present board and the April number will be in charge of the newly elected editor.

Dr. F. Watson Hannan of the Drew Theological Seminary, addressed the regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. which was held on last Wednesday evening at 6:45 o'clock. In a short and forceful address, he pointed out the four factors that enter into the making of a perfect life. Each factor began with the letter P. By examples from the lives of successful men he showed that all four, preparation, purpose, principal and passion were requisites. After the regular meeting, Dr. Hannan addressed the Thoburn Club and told about the details of equipment and instruction, which can be found at Drew.

The members of the Classical Club were entertained at the home of Dr. Elliott, on last Tuesday evening. During the first part of the evening the regular meeting of the club was held and an interesting program was presented. Miss Foster, '13, read an excellent paper on the subject of "Grecian Medicine and Doctors." Many amusing stories of the queer concoctions, which were given to unfortunate patients, were told. The second paper, by Miss Helen Thomas, '14, dealt with a similar topic, as regards the early Romans. Her paper was illustrated by pictures of the surgical instruments that were used by the Roman doctors. Many of these instruments are similar to those used in the best hospitals of the present day.

MANAGERS FOR PUBLICATIONS.

The Campus Electoral Board, composed of Miss Beatty, '13, Miss Domer, '15, C. S. Burwell, '14, T. R. Fitzgerald, '13, and B. H. Hall, '13, met on last Saturday afternoon to elect the manager for the ensuing year. As there was a tie in the vote taken at that time, the board reconvened on last Monday morning, when H. J. Hartman, '15, was elected as manager.

Miss Elizabeth Lord, '13, Miss Lucile Lippitt, '15, T. W. Thoburn, '14, J. R. MacGowan, '14, and C. V. Sparling, '13, the members of The Literary Monthly Electoral Board, met on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock and elected Douglas Dunbar, '15, as the manager of that publication for the ensuing year. The vote was unanimous.

INTERCOLLEGIATE.

The Intercollegiate Peace Association represented by 15 states in its membership, is planning to hold an oratorical contest next May in St. Louis, while the fourth American Peace Congress is in session. The association will be divided into three groups of five states each, the winners of these groups to meet in finals at Lake Mohonk later in the month.

The three-cornered eight-oared varsity race between Harvard, Princeton and Pennsylvania will take place next summer, unless present plans miscarry.

Canadian hockey players are the highest salaried professional athletes in the world. For the number of games they play, they are paid a great deal more than any National League baseball player. The season is of two months' duration.

For the first time in the history of the school, spring football practice is being held at Oberlin. Eight regular men will be lost by graduation, and the new practice is being instituted in the hope of seasoning the new men.

FOUNDERS' DAY WAS OBSERVED THURSDAY.

funds for other equipment. Timothy Alden died in Sharpsburg, where he was serving as a clergyman, in 1839. In April of 1908 his remains were removed from their first resting place to a suitable location in Greendale Cemetery. Only a simple tablet commemorates his existence, but his greatest monument is Bentley and the other buildings which now compose the college that he founded."

Dr. Crawford then introduced the main speaker of the day, Dr. Charles F. Thwing, President of Western Reserve University. Dr. Thwing is also the secretary of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, which is at present interested in Allegheny College. Dr. Thwing's address, "The Types of Universities," might well be called a scholarly speech. In a manner that was both interesting and instructive, Dr. Thwing dealt with the four types of universities as seen in various parts of the world.

"The purpose of the first type, the German university, can be summed up in the one word, scholarship. As a result of this aim, Germany stands today as the country where scientific research is at its best. The very type of education is aided by the climate as well as the very nature of the people that are found in the German university. This type might well be termed one of the highest in the world.

"The second type is exemplified by the universities of England as found at Cambridge and Oxford. Here the prime aim seems to be the production of a gentleman, with all that this word implies to the Englishman. A sharp contrast in purpose can be seen when the German scholar is placed beside the English gentleman. As a result of this type has come the highly organized society of England.

"The universities of India, Japan, and China are representative of the third type. Here, efficiency is the keynote of all the courses of study. The large population, with the resulting poverty, necessitates the learning of this lesson of efficiency. Bishop Thoburn, himself, could testify to the conditions, as found in these countries.

"And finally, there is the type of university that is found in the United States and Scotland. Its purpose is to create a power to think, rather than to devote the energy to mere learning. It is rather to think as a result of learning, to assess truth with true valuations, and to be able to relate fact to fact. It is easy to understand that this is the power most needed in American life. In every part of this country, the call is for the man that can think, whether it may be in business, science, or a professional life."

The entire program for the day was as follows:

9:50 A. M.

Academic procession by classes. Faculty and Seniors in cap and gown. Dr. Guy E. Snavely, marshal, Charles S. Miller, '13, assistant marshal.

10:00 A. M.

KALDRON BUBBLES.

Three. Yes, that's all, just three and after we passed out three hundred. Why we're ashamed of you students. There we went and gave you an opportunity to say anything you pleased and promised you that if it was said in a clever enough manner it would appear in the Kaldron. And yet, what do we get? Three. Now, we know that there is more wit in this school than three pages full and we want to preserve it for future generations, but we can't preserve it until you have handed it in. Now, for the love of a good laugh, fill in all that you can on one of those sheets and slip it in the Kalrdon box. Yes, we know that you are busy but before long you are going to be busier and then it will be too late. Hand one of them in if you can only answer one thing on that slip.

And here is something for you who are literary "sharks." For the best poem treating of any subject of local interest or for that matter of any subject of interest we offer a prize of one Kaldron. Now will you write? And once more hearken unto me. For the best article suitable for such a book as we are to have, a sketch, a dramatic production, a story, anything of real merit, we likewise offer one Kaldron. And now will you write?

And now listen, you who are not "literary sharks." Can you use a camera? You can? Well, now listen. Don't you often see something funny on the campus that you would like to preserve in such a form as to allow another besides yourself a laugh? Sure you do. We all do. If you can't write, if you simply won't hand in jokes and local hits, then do take pictures of funny things or persons and hand them secretly to some member of the board. And now will you work? Thanks, I knew you would as soon as you had the chance. Yes, we will take care of all of it.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Taylor, '03.

During the past week the body of W. Herbert Taylor, '03, was brought to Meadville for interment. Mr. Taylor died at his home in East Orange, N. J., on May 20, 1912. Short committal services were conducted by Dr. W. H. Crawford, after which the body was interred in Greendale Cemetery.

Bayle, ex-'05.

On last Thursday Allegheny College received an addition to her large list of ministers, when W. F. Bayle, ex-'05, was ordained into the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Since leaving Allegheny, Mr. Bayle has been interested in newspaper work and was for some time a reporter on the Erie Evening Herald.

Stockton, '07.

Dr. Frank T. Stockton, '07, who has been doing successful work during the past two years, as an instructor in the University of Rochester, has recently been transferred. His new position will be that of assistant professor of political economy in the University of Indiana. Mr. Stockton will probably be at Allegheny College some time in June, for a short visit.

Class of 1911.

An announcement of interest to the members of the class of 1911 and their friends is, that the second annual class letter will appear in a few weeks. Last year's letter consisted of individual letters from each member of the class, information as to the location and occupation of each member, besides articles of particular interest to the class. If the phophesies are true this year's issue, under the direction of Mr. Andrew J. Nelson, will far surpass last year's letter.

Sturtevant, '99.

Announcement has recently been received that Paul Sturtevant, '99, has been elected president of the Bank of Conneautville. For over forty years, the father of Mr. Sturtevant, the late Hon. John C. Sturtevant, ex-member of Congress from the Erie-Crawford District, acted as president of this institution. Shortly after his death, however, at a meeting of the directors, his son, who had been one of the directors and principal stockholders, was elected as his father's successor in the presidency. Since his graduation, Mr. Sturtevant has been engaged as an investment banker as one of the members of the international banking company of Harris, Forbes & Company, of Pittsburgh. In this position he has traveled over most of the United States and was for some time in Europe.

Piersol, '12.

During the past week, a letter has been received from R. J. Piersol, '12, which announces the fact that he has been awarded the Tyndale Scholarship by the University of Pennsylvania. As stated in the Catalogue of the university, "the candidate is required to hold a baccalaureate degree, and must intend to pursue advanced studies in Physics. The holder of the Fellowship may, with the sanction of the faculty, study at any university here or abroad. He receives a stipend of $500 per annum. No individual can hold this Fellowship for more than three years. Men only are eligible."

Since leaving Allegheny, Mr. Piersol has been working in the Tulane University of Louisiana, which is located in New Orleans. His present plans are to work under Dr. Goodspeed, of the University of Pennsylvania, during the coming year, after that it is probable that he will go to England, where he will study under J. J. Thompson at the Cavendish Laboratory, in Cambridge. Thompson is the man that has become famous as the originator of the theory concerning the construction of matter.

TENNIS NOTES.

Much interest is being shown in the tennis tournament and the single matches are being rapidly played off. A large number of men are showing splendid form and the contest promises to be close and hard fought to the finish. A slight change should be noted in the rules governing the matches. The winner in each case must now post his challenge within six hours after winning a match in order that all matches may be played as soon as possible.
