Digital Image, 2009. The Ida M. Tarbell Collection, 1890-1944, Allegheny College Pelletier Library

The Christian Herald
BIBLE HOUSE NEW YORK

GRAHAM PATTERSON
PRESIDENT AND PUBLISHER

April 22,
1 9 2 5.

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
120 East 19th St.,
New York City.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

The names of six American women - leading in the various fields of uplift, moral and social - have been suggested to us as eminently suited to aid in the "Christian Conscience Crusade," which the Christian Herald has launched. We are sending you by this mail a copy of a recent issue of the Christian Herald, which will inform you of the general plan of the work in hand. It will be continued on a wide scale during the coming months.

The central thought of this campaign is to encourage law observance on the part of Christians, as contrasted with law enforcement. We feel that the Christian's first duty is to see that he and his immediate family are observing the laws, both for their own sakes and the sake of the example created. That this has struck a very needed and popular chord is evidenced by the letters we are receiving from Governors of States, Presidents of colleges, and leading men and women in every order of life.

As your name is one of those proposed for membership on the Advisory Board of the "Christian Conscience Crusade," we would be greatly pleased and honored by your assent to this proposition.

There are no specific duties connected with such membership; it is purely a board of service by way of clear understanding and the love of helpful and timely suggestion. We want your counsel and would always give it full consideration. At the same time, you and the other members of the Board assume no responsibilities in the case.

Trusting that you may be sufficiently interested to form one of the distinguished sextette on the Advisory Board of the "Christian Conscience Crusade," we are hoping for the favor of an early reply.

Cordially yours,

Graham Patterson,
President.

gp g