COMMITTEE PLANNING ALL COLLEGE DANCE FOR JANUARY FOURTH

Lord's Rhythm Artists to Furnish Music for Dance in Gym.

LATE PERMISSION

$1.50 to be Charged for New Year's Hop, Which will Open Winter Season.

Homer Moody, chairman of the Senate Committee on All College dances, announced on Tuesday that the student body is to inaugurate the new year with a New Year's Hop. The dance, to be held on Monday evening, January 4, will be an all-college affair, to be in charge of the Student Senate.

The function is to be unlike those of similar nature held in the past, in that dancing will be for four hours, from eight until twelve o'clock. Music will be furnished by Maurice Lord's Rhythm Artists, popular local orchestra much in demand for college dances. Admission to the affair, to be held in the College Gymnasium, will be 1.50.

Due to the fact that the dance is scheduled for the night upon which students return from the Christmas recess, those in charge will have little opportunity to produce elaborate decorative effects. The holiday spirit, however, is expected to make this home-coming event a high-light of the term and social season.

This dance is expected to be the first of a series of two or three, to be held at intervals during the coming year. Discussion at present indicates some possibility of at least one all-college dance to be held somewhere outside the college environs, possibly at Oakland Beach. In case these plans meet with success, a late permission will be secured for college women, and buses may supplement cars as a means of transportation.

Playshop Host To Large Crowd at Miracle Play

Before a capacity audience last Sunday evening the Allegheny Student Playshop presented a Christmas miracle play, "The Star."

Miracle plays were first given at the high altars of the cathedrals as a part of the church service. Their original purpose was to draw the people away from the pagan plays, and to instruct them in the biblical stories. They remained for centuries simple, genuinely emotional, and, except to our changed sense of the comic, genuinely reverential.

The original text of "The Star" is now preserved in the library of the Bollandists.

A fragmentary scene at the end of the manuscript was omitted in the Playshop production. Otherwise the play was presented in much the same manner as it was produced nearly ten centuries ago.

The play was under the direction of Miss Alice H. Spalding, and the technical work was supervised by Mr. J. W. Hulburt. Miss Jean Holman acted in the capacity of assistant to the director, while Mr. L. Bramer Carlson was the production manager.

Following is the cast of "The Star":

INTERFRAT COUNCIL MET LAST WEDNESDAY

The meeting of the Interfraternity Council was held at the Phi Kappa Psi House last Wednesday, with Frank Morse, the senior representative of that chapter, presiding. When the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and approved, the business to be discussed was brought up. The report of the National Interfraternity Council was postponed until the following meeting. Also, the faculty advisors of the various fraternities were invited to atend the next meeting, which is to be held on Wednesday, January 13, 1932, at the Phi Gam House.

Criticizes "Fraternities"

Criticizing women's fraternities as now conducted at Swarthmore College, with their "social exclusiveness," as, on the whole, a "disadvantage," Dr. Frank Aydelotte, president of the college, says that if the abuses cannot be remedied the fraternities must go.

The women of the college use the name of fraternity in prefe rence to sorority.

Dr. Aydelotte's remarks were made at a recent conference of represenatives of the women's fraternities and non-fraternity groups, and are published in the current issue of Phoenix, the student publication.

"There are 228 members of women's fraternities, constituting over 77 per cent of the women now in college," he said. "The result is a situation which tends to be uncomfortable for the minority left outside."

"The fraternity organizations bulk so large in undergraduate social life that it is rarely possible for a girl belonging to a fraternity to be intimate with a non-fraternity girl without both being conscious of the barrier between them," he adds. The correction for this evil lies in so altering the situation as to make fraternity membership merely an incident in college life and not the principal social factor.

Final Touches on New Reis Library Near Completion

Under the direction of Mr. McClelland, who has charge of the new stack installation in the New Reis Library, workmen of The Snead Company are setting up the old stacks which have returned from Jersey City, where they were sent to be refinished in the same color as the new ones. This work will be completed in a few days and will allow the books on reserve to be moved to the stack section adjacent to the new reading room at the right of the stairway.

The Quill Club room has been put in order and, atlhough the walls will be left undecorated for the present, the room is now ready for use.

The .U. S. government documents which have been stored in the basement of Arter Hall for the past twenty months have been moved to the basement of the new library and are now available for use.

The work planned for the holiday recess includes that of moving books from the department libraries in the various buildings into the Library. At this time also Schwegler and Company, of Cleveland, will decorate the walls and ceiling of the new reading room.

The Library will be open each day from 10:00 to 12:00 A. M. during the Christmas vacation.

GERMAN CLUB HOLDS CHRISTMAS MEETING

Last evening, Tuesday, December 15th, the German Club held a meeting at the Beta Kappa house. The program for the evening was a short German Christmas pantomime and singing Kappa house. The program for the evening was a short German Christmas pantomime and singing of German Christmas carols. German Christmas cookies and other refreshments were served.

Miss Schaufheitlin read the story, while several students acted out the pantomime, which was a story about a German peasant, his wife, and his family. Death, the Blessed Virgin, Angels, and other characters entered into the play. The cast was as oflows:

A child	Betty Cappe
The father	Clarke Beiler
The mother	Ruth Sundback
The Blessed Virgin	Mary Schumann
The King	Harold Aikens
An old woman	Anna Strott
A soldier	Kenneth Johnson
Death	William Hunter

Angels—Lois Gratz, Wilma Kuhnert, Winifred Strick, Ellenetta Beachley.

LIBERAL CLUB WILL CHOOSE DELEGATES

Today the Liberal Club is to choose one or more delegates to the model disarmament conference to be held in Pittsburgh on the week-end of January tenth under the sponsorship of the University of Pittsburgh. Most of the colleges and universities of western Pennsylvania will be represented in this assembly which is to be conducted in the manner of an actual international disarmament conference. This unique procedure is being followed in order to enable a better understanding in college circles of the problems of world armaments.

FACULTY WILL SPONSOR WINTER LECTURE SERIES

Professor Warner F. Woodring, speaking before the Chapel assembly on Monday, December 14, announced the inception of a movement by a group of Allegheny College faculty members to bring to Meadville a series of better class lectures and concerts of various types.

President Tolley, with the collaboration of the Chapel Commission, Dr. Church, and Mr. Luvaas, has instigated a plan to sell a minimum of three hundred adult tickets at three dollars each in the Meadville district. These, together with the sale of special student tickets to College students, will realize a sum of approximately one thousand dollars. Under present economic conditions, this sum will procure the services of a series of four or five of the finest lecturers and artists to be secured today.

Season tickets alone will be available, no single admissions being sold, and those wishing to attend one or more of the series will be in a position to attend every performance.

The series, if student support is sufficient to warrant arrangements, will consist of four or five performances running over a period from February to the latter part of March. They will be conducted somewhere in Meadville, probably in Ford Chapel.

The lectures will be passed upon by the regular Chapel Commission, and musical programs will be secured at the recommendations of Dr. Church and Mr. Luvaas.

COLLEGIATE DEBATING TO BEGIN IN MARCH

Language 4A Class Continues Speaking Program before Service Clubs.

The last trip of the members of the Language 4-A class was made Monday when Harmon Gilbert and Paul Cares debated before the Jamestown, N. Y., Rotary Club. The topic under discussion was the same one that has been used all season, "Resolved, That capitalism as a system of economic organization is unsound in principle."

Intercollegiate debating will not get under way until next semester. Tentative dates for competition among its members were announced earlier in the year by the Ohio Debating League, comprising Allegheny, Oberlin, Ohio Wesleyan, Western Reserve, and Wooster. On March 3 and 4 the members of the debating team of this school will meet Oberlin and Wooster in a triangular debate. On the evening of the third the Allegheny affirmative team will appear against the negative team of Oberlin at Oberlin. On the following night the local team will meet Wooster at home.

During the same trip on which it clashes with Oberlin, the Allegheny affiramtive team will debate two colleges. The team will appear against Ohio Wesleyan at Delaware on March 2, and at Cleveland against Western Reserve on Friday, the fourth. The same question of capitalism will be used in all these debates.

Phi Beta Kappa Initiates Three Men Last Monday

Phi Beta Kappa held its initiation and banquet on Monday, December seventh. The initiation took place in the faculty room of Bentley Hall at five o'clock in the evening with Dr. Church, the chapter president, presiding. The initiates who received formal admission to the honor society were Paul Cares, Harmon Gilbert, and Jack Hartman.

The banquet in honor of the new members was given in Cochran Hall at half-past six. Dr. Darling presided over the thirty-five members of the society who were present. Dr. Church, the principal speaker, talked on "The Ideal Scholar". He presented a discussion of prominent libraries and scholars of history, especially the libraries of Upsala, Sweden, and the College de France at Paris. In connection with the latter he mentioned Ernest Renan as a true scholar. Dr. Church also characterized Faust as an ideal scholar.

From these scholars and institutions the speaker drew a composite picture of the ideal scholar who should be considered as the patron saint of Phi Beta Kappa.

HISTORY CLUB TO TO SEND DELEGATES

"Disarmament" was the topic for discussion at the last meeting of the History and Political Science Club which was held on Tuesday, December 8.

The club has received lately from the Carnegie Institute for International Peace a number of books which deal with disarmament. Reports on these books were made by Marian Sleeman, Paul Cares, Clifford Lewis, and Professor Giddens.

The Club is sending delegates to the model disarment conference which is to be held in Pittsburgh in January. At present the delegates include Miss Bowie, Paul Cares, Mary Mull, Isabel Stamm, Clifford Lewis, Hugh Elliott, and Donald Williams.

The next meeting of the club will be in January before the conference takes place, and the program will be a further discussion of disarmament, in order to prepare the delegates who are going to Pittsburgh.

MISS EDNA YOST GUEST OF QUILL CLUB DEC. 8

Alumna of College Addresses Student Body at Chapel Service.

On Tuesday, December 8, under the auspices of the Quill Club, Miss Edna Yost, Allegheny '13, gave a talk on journalism. Miss Yost was elected to Phi Beta Kappa during her last year at school here. After her graduation Miss Yost became a free lance writer. She has written short stories and essays for magazines in the quality group which includes Harpers, The Outlook, The Forum, etc.

Miss Yost discussed the history of magazines beginning with periodic literature of over three hundred years ago. The speaker told of her own experiences in the field of writing. How she broke into the game of writing and reminiscences of her career since that time were interestingly portrayed by Miss Yost.

Miss Yost concluded her talk by giving hints to aspiring writers. One of the chief necessities required of the individual, according to the speaker, is a cultivation of style. After the person has written an article or story it is very desirable that he read aloud what he has written. Miss Yost also discussed the personality of an author as expressed in his writings. She said that all good works of literature clearly show the personality of the writer.

On Wednesday Miss Yost held conferences with students who desired to discuss with her the subject of journalism and writing as a profession.

Distinguished Negro Addresses Students at Special Chapel

Mr. Frank Wilson, secretary of the National Student Council of the Y. M. C. A., spoke before the student body at a special chapel Thursday, December 10th. His topic was the problem of the Negro race in America.

Mr. Wilson stated briefly the history of the Negro race, beginning with the discovery of America. He said that the Negroes have contributed to the colonization and development of our country.

He traced three outstanding lines of progress of the race. First, various church and religious bodies have made of the Negroes a religious people, and have started the first schools for the colored people. Second, there has been great development in education. At the present time there are over one hundred and fifty negro colleges and universities. Third, the Negroes have advanced rather slowly in the business world because they have no natural aptitude for management.

In conclusion, Mr. Wilson appealed to the youth of the nation to help the advancement of the race whenever opportunity presents itself.

KALDRON STAFF WILL REORGANIZE IN JUNE

Work on the year book continues its normal progress, as the staff adopts a plan to reorganize completely at the end of this year.

When the editor in chief is chosen from the eight department editors next June, he will have under him an editorial board of four juniors, chosen from the present sophomore class.

Competitors who are at present freshmen will be known as sophomore competitors, who will function under the direction of the editorial board, which will be in turn supervised by the editor in chief.

The following year the editor will be chosen from the editorial board of four, and these four suceeded by men selected from among the competitors.

The Kaldron now under development will be in no way affected by these changes, since the reorganization is not to take place until June.

Old Diploma

Through the efforts of Mr. James R. Rettew, ex-'80, of Philadelphia, and Mr. Horace Lee, the diploma of Mr. Lee's father, Dr. John K. Lee, '49, has been given to the college and placed with other papers of like nature in the Library files. In addition to the diploma there is a certificate of membership in the Allegheny Literary Society dated 1849 and inscribed "Johannem K. Lee, A. B."

The text of the diploma has been translated from the Latin in which it was written:

"Let it be known that we, the president, the professors, and tutors of Allegheny College, which is at Meadville, Pennsylvania, together with the trustees of the same (college) according to the custom of Colleges everywhere and of Universities throughout the world wish it testified by this document that the title of Bachelor of Arts is given to John Kidd Lee, a young man of excellent promise, an alumnus of this College, (and to him are given) all of the other privileges, immunities, and rights, which here and at other places of this type are wont to be granted to those who have attained this peak: that the authority of this document may be greater, we add the public seal and our signatures. In Bentley Hall of Allegheny College in the year of our human safety MDCCCXLIX."

Second Issue of Lit Magazine Is Distributed Today

At noon today appeared the second issue of the Literary Magazine for the current year. In the traditional manner of a Christmas edition, its white pages are attractively inked in green.

An article by Paul Siple, "Christmas in the Antarctic," carries out the holiday theme, while a gruesome murder story in the Van Dine manner, by Hugh Elliott, is woven around characters in France in March of 1919.

A number of shorter articles and poetry in more than usual predominance fill out the fiction sections.

Dr. Julian Ross contributes an acute review of the recent Play Shop production, "Arms and the Man," while "College Criticisms" discuss "An Oxford College Freshman," and "Allegheny College from the Point of View of the Town Girl."

The current issue shows definite improvement over former numbers. Although the number of pages remains the same, the amount of material presented is appreciably greater.

Thoburn Club to Send Delegates to Buffalo Meeting

Members of the Thoburn Club are centering their interest on the Student Volunteer Movement Convention which will he held in Buffalo from December 30 to January 3. At a meeting of the Thoburn Club in Ruter Hall last Thursday night, members discussed a plan for helping the Allegheny representatives to the convention to defray a part of their expenses. Following the discussion Mr. Locke gave an interesting talk on the Oberammergau Passion Play.

In introducing his subject Mr. Locke summarized some of the various conceptions of Christ, beginning with Jesus as he appeared to the writers of the Synoptic Gospels. He then proceeded to relate his impressions of the 1930 Passion Play.

A part of last Thursday's plan for soliciting aid for delegates to the convention went into action Sunday when an appeal was made to community churches. Favorable response has already come from Stone Church. Further action was taken in Monday's chapel, when college students were asked to contribute.

An attendance of between two and three thousand delegates from all parts of the world is expected at Buffalo. John R. Mott, Bishop McConnell, Ernest F. Tittle, and other outstanding figures in Christian missionary work will address student volunteers.

WESTERN STUDENTS FLY DRY BANNER

Figuratively flying a banner inscribed "Allied Youth," representative students in the University of Southern California, University of California at Los Angeles, California Institute of Technology, and Occidental College, joined together in a local law enforcement demonstration in Los Angeles recently, which is declared to be the greatest undertaking of its kind ever staged in Southern California.

ALLEGHENY SINGERS FEATURE OF ANNUAL CHRISTMAS VESPERS

Impressive Concert Attracts Large Audience From Town and College.

CHAPEL BEAUTIFUL

Singers Score Hit in First Appearance of the School Year.

The annual Christmas Vesper service was held on Sunday afternoon in the college chapel. It was filled to capacity with students and townsfolk who enjoyed a fine Christmas concert by the Allegheny Singers, under the special supervision of Professor Morton Luvaas. The decorations in the chapel consisted of evergreen trimmings and the usual Christmas colors of red and green with candles which were placed in row formation down the aisles, producing a dimly lighted effect, characteristic of the Christmas spirit.

The program opened with an organ prelude of selected carols played by Dr. H. W. Church. They consisted of the old songs, which have made possible the genuine spirit of Christmas from years past. Following the organ prelude, the Allegheny Singers made their appearance and sang the following selections commendably:

1. O Come, O Come, Immanuel.
2. O Holy Night.
3. When Jesus Was a Little Child.
4. In Dulci Jubilo.
5. O'er the Cradle of a King.
6. Lo. How a Rose E'er Blooming.

The program continued with an arrangement of 3 songs played by a Brass Quartette:

1. The Morning Star.
2. O Come All Ye Faithful.
3. O Little Town of Bethlehem.

After these selctions had been played, an offering was taken, the proceeds of which will be given to a charitable organiaztion. The Singers concluded their program by singing three more beautiful selections:

1. The Three Kings.
2. Beautiful Savior.
3. Silent Night.

Agitation Results in Change of Rules Governing Women

As a result of general agitation for more lenient rules governing the contact between freshman women and the men of the college the Women's Student Government announced certain changes in policy following Thanksgiving recess. Freshman women may now be escorted on the campus by men and are permitted to have afternoon "dates."

At the inception of the agitation a petition was drawn up to be presented for a vote before a meeting of the residents of the women's dormitories. The Student Government, however, decided to waive this procedure, and the announcement of the changes was made at a house meeting held shortly after the Thanksgiving vacation.

KAPPA PHI KAPPA MET LAST WEDNESDAY

"Careers" was the subject of a program given before members of the Kappa Phi Kappa, professional educational fraternity, which held its monthly meeting last Wednesday, December 9. Eight careers were reported upon by different members of the organization. The careers discussed included medicine, dentistry, law, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, civil engineering, journalism, and library work.

These reports also took up the requirements of each profession. Educational requirements, cost of schooling, salaries, advantages, and disadvantages were all mentioned in regard to each profession.

The next meeting will be held at the Phi Gamma Delta house in January. The speaker for the meeting will be Mr. Blair, county superintendent of schools. He will choose his own subject.

CLASSICAL CLUB MET TO DISCUSS ROMAN FORUM

"The Roman Forum" was the subject of a paper presented to the Classical Club by Harold Aikins on Tuesday, December 8. There was a short business session which preceded the reading of the paper. Mr. Aikins illustrated his talk by the use of lantern slides and models. The program proved to be very helpful and interesting.

Miss Irene McKinley will have charge of the next meeting which will convene in January. The meeting place and the subject for discussion have not yet been decided upon.

TRAINING IN JOURNALISM

An opinion that there is a pressing need in Allegheny College for more adequate training of embryonic journalists has been expressed at rather frequent intervals of late in the editorial columns of The Campus. To describe that need as being "pressing" would be employing a rather mild phraseology at the present time. With every issue of The Campus we are more convinced that the need is an absolute necessity. The style of writing in the news columns is almost universally immature and of a calibre which nearly any high school journalist could equal or even surpass. In many insances a distorted sense of news value emphasizes insignificant events beyond all proportion. The freshman and sophomore competitors are doing their very best, but, for a lack of proper and adequate training, their efforts seem rather futile.

Within recent years there has been no effort on the part of the faculty and administration to train students who are expected to issue a weekly newspaper which can take its place among similiar publications of colleges of the rank of Allegheny. At infrequent intervals a course in news writing has been offered, but this course has been of no practical value for very few members of The Campus staff were exposed to its benefits.

The problem must be faced squarely. The front page of The Campus cries out once each week for help. The quality of the paper cannot improve until some effort is made at training its writers. We do not raise the usual cry for "college credit". We merely ask that some attention be given to this matter before The Campus deteriorates to a weekly expose of the poor journalistic efforts of its staff.

A COMMENDABLE SERVICE

The Campus wishes to compliment the cabinet of the Y. M. C. A. on the real service it performed for the benifit of both students and faculty in bringing Mr. Frank Wilson to the chapel platform. Mr. Wilson's modest but forceful recital of the progress of his race in America was one of the rarest delights to which Allegheny College has been treated for some time.

With the problem of improving the quality of chapel programs now confronting both the administration and the student body it might be wise to suggest that more organizations make efforts to bring men and women of such prominence as Mr. Wilson to the platform of the Chapel.

IS THE YEAR BOOK PASSING?

"I fear the yearbook is passing," a man who has been in touch with the yearbook field for many years remarked not long ago. He based his remark upon the recent discontinuance of the annual by a large and well-known eastern University.

What is the answer? Are students no longer interested in keeping copies of the publication which carries their own and their fellow student's pictures and records? The growth of some colleges to the point where everyone can no longer know everyone else might well be expected to dispel considerably the interests in the memories of classmates, but the problem is found not only in the large college, but also in the small college where everyone knows everyone else.

It has been suggested that men in college are acquiring a cynical attitude toward all college honors as childish baubles, especially when flaunted in a yearbook. A contributor to this attitude has been the astonishing growth of the yearbook in our high schools.

Concurrent with the lessening interest in the annual has been the marked tendency toward improvement in the quality of yearbooks throughout the country. The question arises as to whether this improvement has been advantageous or harmful. With the betterment of quality has come the corresponding rise in the price of the book and in rates to advertisers. However, the old feature section which acquired so much human interest has for the most part disappeared, because of its inconsistency with the dignity of a work of art.

One often wonders whether the increase in the quality of the book is fully appreciated by many outside the yearbook staff. As a record of year's events, it still retains its write-ups, and who reads a yearbook write-up except the man who wrote it, the editor, and the person who expects to be mentioned?

Is the college yearbook then passing? Will colleges dispense with their annuals, or will the book return to something more popular, less artistic, less expensive, and keep its place in the sun? Perhaps yearbooks must inevitably become picture books and honor records only.

"THE STAR"

An ambition of some years standing was finally realized last Sunday evening when the Allegheny Playshop presented a Christmas miracle play, "The Star." If the production was intended to be drama it fell most miserably flat. But if it was intended to be placed in the category of the collegiate Sunday school pageant it must certainly be dubbed a success.

The technical work of the production was splendid. The lighting effects were without doubt the finest yet seen in the Playshop Theatre. Were it not for the fact in many instances the players spoiled the effect by standing out of the focus of the spots this end of the production would have been worthy of the professional stage. The rainbow effect in the scene at Herod's throne was dazzlingly beautiful.

The costumes were probably the most outstanding feature of the play. They were executed in excellent taste and added infinitely to the majesty and beauty to the legend around which the play revolved.

"The Star" was an admirable vehicle for the display of the talents of the technical branch of the Speech Department. A tremendous amount of work and expense was involved in the production. Whether or not the audience was amply rewarded for its attendance is still a question in our minds. At least we are safe in saying that "The Star" was the most poorly executed piece from a dramatic standpoint that has yet graced the stage of the Playshop Theatre. It was too evident throughout that the production had been executed rather too hastily. It lacked altogether the polish which is so characteristic of Allegheny Playshop productions.

Allegheny in Athletics

Veteran Quintet Will Receive Support from Good Reserve Material

With practice being inaugurated several weeks ago, Allegheny's basketball squad is off to a good start toward rounding into pre-season form. Scrimmages between the first and second teams with the remainder of the squad seeing frequent action have been held regularly; the showing of the veterans is up to expectations and the ability of some of the newcomers is particularly gratifying. Coach Baker has already cut the squad to twenty men, and there is a possibility of one more reduction before a definite group is decided upon.

The quantity and quality of the material at hand offers the possibility of a highly successful season. Of last year's lettermen Brown will be the only one who will not be avaliable. Injuries which he received during football season will probably prevent him from seeing active service this winter. However, Captain Dennison, Berger, Garbark, Conn, Kerr, Massing, Mills and Horn furnish Coach Baker with a wealth of material from which to mould a formidable quintet. These men have had plenty of inter-collegiate basketball experience and it should be no serious problem to develop an excellent team. Also the number of new comers which have reported for duty is especially encouraging. Of these candidates, Jiles and Ralston are both making strong bids for forward positions on the varsity. Then there is Willard Berger, Hibbs, McKim, Gregg, Serene, Hershelman, Lubick, Tamplin, Blaner and Vetovich who will do their part to build up the Blue and Gold reserve strength.

Conditioning practice was brought to a culmination last Saturday afternoon when the tentative varsity met the reserves in an "honest-to-goodness" game. For the varsity the starting line-up consisted of Dennison and a freshman, Jiles, at forwards, Conn at center, with Berger and Garbark at the guard positions. The reserve combination was made up of Mills, Massing, Ralston, and Serene alternating at forwards, Hibbs at the tip-off post, with Willard Berger and McKim in the back-court. Although the varsity disposed of the reserves in a fairly easy manner, the first string men were given a battle from start to finish.

Coach Baker in his last year as basketball mentor at Allegheny is doing all in his power to produce a winning club. As usual he will be handicapped by the lack of height among his material—even the freshmen are comparative "midgets" as basketball players go—but what the Alligators lack in stature may be counteracted by playing ability. The selection of a quintet to wear the Blue and Gold colors in the opening tilt will soon be made. In the inaugural game Allegheny will visit Youngstown City College on January 1, while the following day will see Fenn College acting as host to the Alligators. Last year Allegheny opened the season against Younstown City College, handing the Ohioans a 39 to 17 defeat. However, Fenn College is a new opponent and somewhat of an unknown quantity. The first home appearance of the Alligators will be on January 6 against Geneva. By that time, with two games under its belt, the Allegheny Alligator should be in condition to begin a winning streak in Tri-State ranks.

PROFESSOR SHAW GAINS PUBLICITY

Professor Charles G. Shaw, of N. Y. U., who proclaimed whistlers to be morons, has been subjected to ruthless, multilateral criticism from all over the country. Disregarding his purpose in his statements, and all this adverse criticism, there is nothing like a radical idea to give people food for thought. He has lightened the load about our hearts by giving us quaint ideas to think about. Some of his unusual ideas are that: "Pants are a sign of patriotism; avoid knickers or Democracy will go to the bow-wows;" "A million dollar prize should be given to the man who can invent a reason for living;" "Women alone have culture in America;" "We have no men of culture, they are all women;" "The Phi Beta Kappa key is useless;" "Men are growing womanish and are losing their title to the name. 'he-men'."

The Comptroller at Penn State believes that a student should borrow money rather than work their way through college. Students who work their way, he contends, lose valuable contacts gained during leisure.

PHI GAMS CAPTURE FREE THROW CONTEST

Phi Psi's and B. U.'s Tie for Second in Closely Contested Match.

Scoring 85 points out of a possible 125, Phi Gamma Delta captured first place in the annual Intramural Free Throw Contest. Individual honors went to Ralston, Phi Gamma Delta, who caged 22 out if a possible 25, and G. Smock and Carver of Phi Kappa Psi and Phi Delta Theta respectively, who tallied 20 each. Scores were computed by adding the total number of baskets garnered by the five highest men in each fraternity.

Phi Kappa Psi and Beta Upsilon were close on the heels of the winner, each gathering 84 points, while Phi Delta Theta found the hoop for a total of 83. Competition was run off in a very efficient and methodical manner and a large number of students participated The results were:

Phi Gamma Delta	85
Phi Kappa Psi	84
Beta Upsilon	84
Phi Delta Theta	83
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	81
Alpha Chi Rho	76
Beta Kappa	71
Non-Fraternity	69
Delta Tau Delta	57

The winning fraternity reneived 60 points toward the intramural cup, while the tying fraternities split the 40 points of second place and the 20 points of third place between them.

Individuals placing in the first three fraternities are as follows:

Phi Gamma Delta—Ralston, Moody, Patterson, Doyle Wallace and Kemble.

Phi Kappa Psi—Kiebort, G. Smock, McKim, Truman, and Blaner.

Beta Upsilon — Isenberg, Rockey, Kagy, D. Smith and LaBorde.

Swimming Finals Will Be Run Off In Meet Tonight

Elimination heats in all but two events were run off last Monday on the first night of inter-fraternity swimming competition. The 120 yard medley relay, 40 yard dash, 40 yard breast stroke, 220 yard freestyle, 40 yard backstroke and the 100 yard dash were the events held, leaving only the 160 yard relay and the fancy dives to be completed before the finals.

In the 120 yard medley relay race Phi Kappa Psi and Delta Tau Delta took first and second places respectively in the opening heat, while Phi Delta Theta and Phi Gamma Delta survived elimination in the second. Markle, McKim, Johnson and Haberman earned the right to enter the finals in the 40 yard dash. The 40 yard breaststroke saw Klicka, DuMars, Kutz and Beighley qualifling, while in the 220 yard freestyle Beiler, Robblee, Kemble and Pringle made good. Walker, Lavier and Kemble won their respective heats in the 40 yard backstorke. tive heats in the 40 yard backstroke. dorfer earned entrance to tonights' finals in the 100 yard dash.

Throughout the eliminations marks were good; under stronger competition in the finals they should be greatly improved upon. A large crowd is expected to watch tonight's races. The method of scoring is 5 points for first place, 3 for second, 2 for third and 1 for fourth in all events but the relay races. In thes events a first place earns 8 points, a second place 6, third place 4 and fourth place 2.

THE SCRUBBING BRUSH

In our next issue we will publish a treatise by Mahatma Ghandi on "What the Loined Man Will Wear." And speaking of Ghandi reminds us that he is making a great fight for the liberty of the Indian people; maybe he will succeed in getting freedom—with reservations.

We were up to see the beaver dam in Cochranton the other day. Best thing we have seen by a dam site. Beavers were beaving away merrily,—not singly nor in pairs. No, indeed. These animals did everything by trees. They would waddle up to the trees and bark and then the chips flew. You may have seen Chipso in its palmy days but it was a washout compared with those trees. Never saw anything chipper in my life; in fact, you could have them for nothing. Did they ever work? Naw. Gnawed all the time, as a matter of record. We would enjoy seeing them chawing to town on our mother-in-law's wooden leg or a nice cob of corn.

And as a Christmas gift we are sending these industrious little creatures a choice book of logs—sort of giving a good dam, one might say. We suggest that the new structure be called the Intercounty Beaver Dam, or for short, I. B. Dam.

In closing, you may quote us as having wished you all an Hilarious Yule Tide and a Happy New Year—we mean a joyous time during the year of A.D. (Another Depression) 1932.

Campus Lore

Seven Sisters

Some ninety or a hundred years ago seven trees grew up from the parent root and in each dwelt a beautiful maiden, a Hamadryad. These maidens were permitted to leave their homes in the trees each night during the vernal equinox, on condition that they be safely back in their leafy bower at the first ray of dawn. But one moonlight night, the youngest and fairest of the seven, while out with her sister maidens, beheld a student youth strolling about the campus. She followed him, drawn on by love of a noble character. All unawares the busy-fingered dawn began to light day's tapers. The beautiful maiden was far from her bower home and could not return. She was lost—a homeless spirit doomed to wander forever in the moonlight about the campus lawns; for the tree which had sheltered her, touched by the rays of dawn ere her return, was blighted and died, leaving her sisters to mourn her loss.

The Hand of Knowledge

Between Bentley and Hulings Hall stands a great silver poplar, which with little exercise of the imaginative faculties, one can trace in the form of a hand. Seen from the walk near Bentley, the hand is opened with palm facing, the thumb extending out, pointing over the walk—the great Hand of Knowledge reaching upward and outward, embracing all. In the spring time the leaves are silvery, all aflutter in the breeezes, in the fall they become golden, even as the knowledge of youth, glistening in the first consciousness of being, grows mellow and golden, stored in the mind, laid up as Cato suggests for the rich fruitage of old age.

The Lyre Tree

In a southern view of this tree, Allegheny's most celebrated, the classic and romantic are blended with an artistic effect unsurpassable. Looking past the doorway of Ruter, beautiful in classic simplicity of architectural detail, we see the tree planted in his student days by Jonathan Hammett, so long connected wih the college as student, instructor, Emeritus Professor, and Librarian. This tree, grown into the perfect form of a lyre may well arose the imagination and stir the romantic sense in every beholder. One might almost fancy that Orpheus brought strains from this living lyre which lured the Hamadryads from their home to dance in the moonlight when that fatal tragedy occurred which robbed the campus of one of the seven sister trees.

CAMPUS CLIPPINGS

The union of the Missouri and St. Louis conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church makes Baker University the official Methodist college for all of Missouri west of the Missouri River. Plans were also made for Baker to serve the Methodist students of southern Missouri after they have completed their work at the two Methodist junior colleges in that part of the state.

Brother succeeds brother as the oldest alumnus of Ohio Wesleyan University. When Col. Edwin A. Parrott of Princeton, N. J., recently died in his one hundred and first year, it was found that the alumni cane, traditional possession of Wesleyan's oldest graduate, was to go to Harry Eugene Parrott, 92, of Dayton, Ohio, who was graduated from the University 71 years ago.

Baxter Seminary, which last year found itself crowded with 150 students, this year opened its doors to 175. But the beginning of the fall term at Baxter saw the breaking of ground for a new academic building which, when it is completed, will relieve Baxter's crowded condition and enable it to help more young people to secure an education. Many Baxter students are working on the new building to pay their way through school.

The champion kick was made at the Dakota Wesleyan-Northern Normal game at Aberdeen, when Payne sent the ball through the bars of the goal posts from a distance of 63 yards.

The true spirit of American democracy is invading our American campus in a new, unusual way. Women have long demanded equal rights with men and now they must pay for them—on the campus of the University of Arizona. A Bachelors' Club has been formed in this institution for the purpose of conducting a drive to make its co-eds share the expenses of the all-necessary dates in order to bear through the depression together. It was estimated that the average college girl had more money to spend than the male. It seems that there is a danger that the "great American date" may lose much of its color unless this plan is adopted.

Jack Hershelman was elected president and Karl Klicka was chosen for vice-president. The other new officers are William Horn, reporter; Doyle Wallace, treasurer; Clark Markel, secretary; and Glen Rumberger, master of cerimonies; Mr. Harley Morris was reelected to the post of alumni secetary.

DR. ROSS SPEAKS IN CHAPEL MONDAY

Dr. C. F. Ross spoke in chapel Monday, December 14th. He quoted, "I have come that ye may have life, and have it more abundantly," and then applied it to college students.

Dr. Ross said that a student with "A" grade ability who is only making a "C" average is not getting an education, and is leading a very meager life. He compared such a student with several illustrations, one of which is an oil refinery that produces only enough oil to keep lubricated the machines of the refinery.

He stated that it is not enough for one to give the minimum of filial support to his parents, it is not enough for a newly elected Phi Beta Kappa man to have earned his key and then to lessen his efforts, and it is not enough for anyone to be the lowest form of Christian, but each one should continue to strive to attain higher places in life.

Dr. Ross said that sponges, trees, birds, and men all have life, but man alone leads a more complete existence than any of the others. Then he gave the students something to think about by asking, "Why be a sponge when you can be a man?"

Scholastic averages of athletically inclined students rank considerably higher than those of students who do not participate in sports acording to a recent announcement from Carnegie Tech.

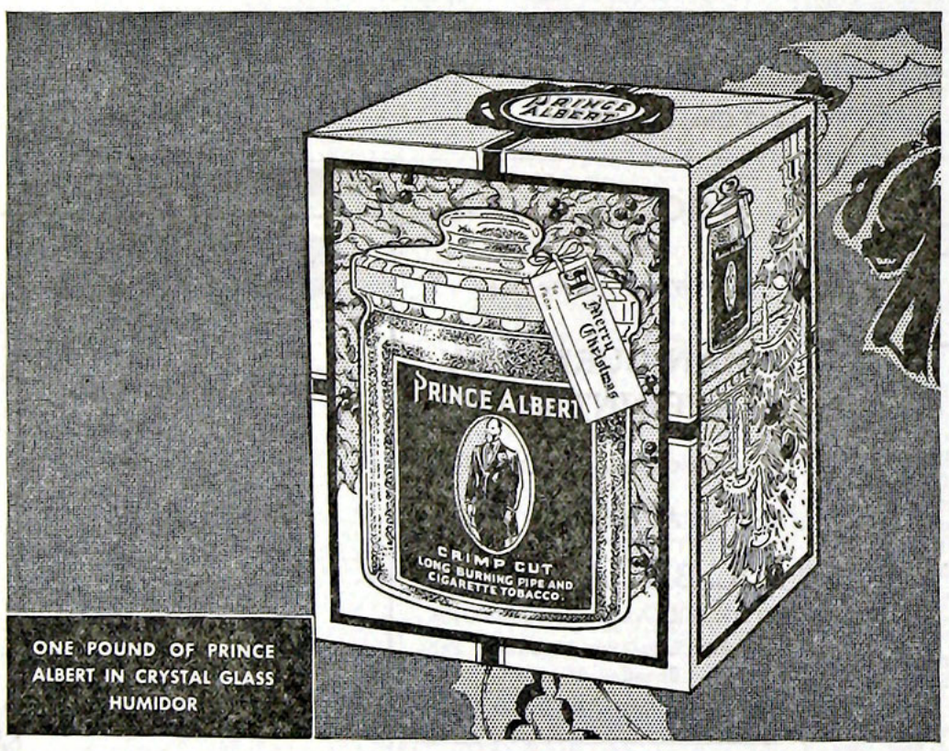
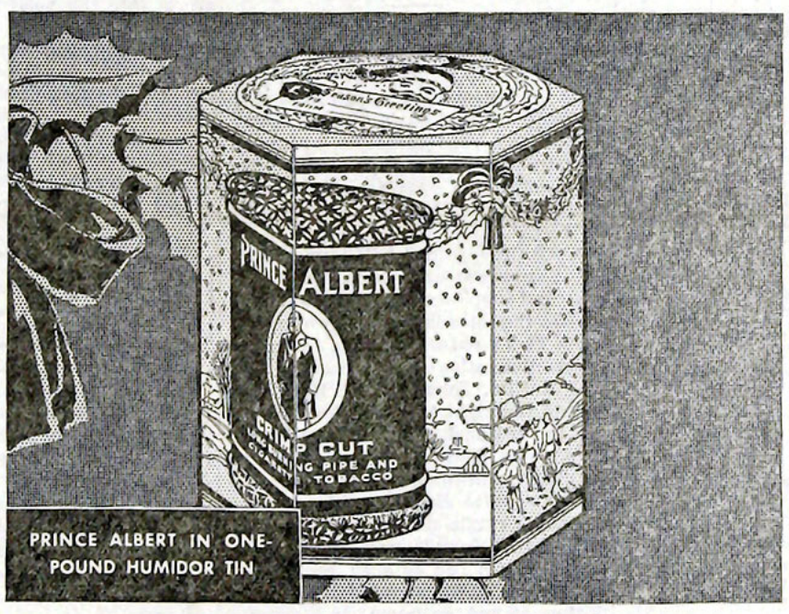
A friendly Christmas suggestion from Winston-Salem

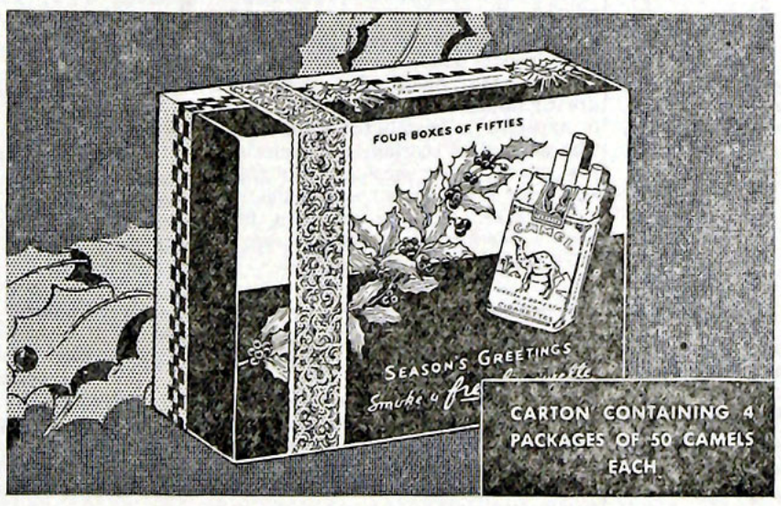


ONE POUND OF PRINCE ALBERT IN CRYSTAL GLASS HUMIDOR



PRINCE ALBERT IN ONE-POUND HUMIDOR TIN

CARTON CONTAINING 10 PACKAGES OF 20 CAMELS EACH



CARTON CONTAINING 4 PACKAGES OF 50 CAMELS EACH

IT IS NOT the cost of the gift, but the thought that lies behind the giving that warms the cockles of the heart on Christmas morning.

Then, instead of some short-lived trinket, how much nicer to give something that will bring solace and delight for many days after the Christmas tree is gone; until the New Year is on its way.

For the cigarette smoker, man or woman, of course give Camels. A blend of choice Turkish and mild, sun-ripened Domestic tobaccos, they are kept fresh and prime by the Camel Humidor Pack, with their natural moisture unimpaired by parching or toasting.

In appropriate holiday wrapping, Camels come both in attractive Christmas cartons containing ten packages of twenty and in cartons containing four boxes of fifty each.

For the man who smokes a pipe, we suggest either a pound tin or one of those crystal glass humidors of good old PRINCE ALBERT. Here is a present that goes straight as a Christmas carol to a man's heart; P. A., the best loved pipe tobacco in the world, all dressed for the occasion in bright Christmas costume.

What gift can you think of that will be more welcome or give more genuine pleasure and satisfaction?

Don't you hope someone will think of such a friendly gift for you?

We wish you Merry Christmas!
