Fortunate seniors at Houghton College are entertained by the sophomore class. This year's entertainment took the form of a very novel party. Examination of programs proved that the sophomores went in for court life on no small scale. With the sophomore president acting as prime minister, the king and queen were ushered in to be entertained by the court's jester, court tumblers, magicians, and troubadours. It's a fine idea—for the seniors.—The Houghton Star. Houghton, N. Y.

With the sole purpose of providing a good time for everybody, extensive plans are being laid for All Sports Day, a new activity at Juniata College. The entire school will be divided into two sides, blue and gold, further subdivided into groups of twenty. With a varied selection of sports, it is hoped that each individual's taste will be suited by the program and the prizes. —The Juniatian, Huntington, Pa.

For the seventh year in succession, the same professor has been voted the "most popular" by the student poll, which ought to set some kind of a record.—The Geneva Cabinet, Beaver Falls, Pa.

In a recent survey covering the last examination period, it was discovered that Geneva students lost on an average of two pounds per person during the hectic siege. It was concluded that professors, students, and textbooks are all to blame.—The Geneva Cabinet.

The Outing Club at the University of Vermont is sponsoring a moonlight boatride on a big lake steamer. With moonlight, music, and dancing all for the price of fifty cents, the event should prove a popular annual affair. —The Vermont Cynic, Burlington, Vt.

Two students at George Washington University will have the opportunity to participate in the 1938 Rainbow Bridge Monument Valley Expedition which leaves June 21, and will return in September. These boys will take part in the exploration and study of a remote section in Arizona and Nevada. —The Hatchet, Washington, D. C.

Surveys Show Approval Of Speech Course

"Results of two surveys made by the Allegheny speech department show that its work is not only appreciated by the audiences before which programs are presented, but that it ranks high in relation to 50 other leading colleges and universities," according to Mr. Charles Irvin, a professor in this department.

The first survey took the form of a questionnaire, and was sent to audiences before whom Allegheny speakers presented debates, individual talks, and forums.

The other survey was made of 50 educational institutions which led in the field of speech work.

When asked whether or not they benefited from the programs presented, 15 per cent of the audiences stated that the chief benefit that they received was an educational one. The remainder claimed they had received both educational and entertainment values.

UNANIMOUS INTEREST

With unanimous approval the audiences voiced their interest in hearing

Commencement Exercises On June 13

Arrangements for the 123rd annual commencement exercises of Allegheny College, to be held June 13, were announced this week by college officials.

Commencement week, which will begin Friday, June 10, will culminate in the Academic procession, and commencement exercises at 9:45, Monday morning, at which The Reverend Hugh Thompson Kerr, of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, will be the speaker.

Other guest speakers for the week will be Bruce Bliven, editor and president of The New Republic, and the Reverend Samuel Worthington Robinson, '07, of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Franklin, Indiana.

Mr. Bliven will deliver the Phi Beta Kappa address, to be held Saturday afternoon at 4:30 in Ford Memorial Chapel. The Reverend Robinson will speak at the Sunday afternoon vesper services, also to be held on the campus.

PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION

First event scheduled in honor of the 117 graduating seniors is the President's reception, which will be held in Cochran Hall Friday evening at 8:30.

Saturday's program will begin at 8:30 a. m., with the class reunion breakfast, followed by Alumni college. The discussion of the college, led by Professor Julius A. Miller, Professor Alice H. Spaulding, and Professor Morten J. Luvaas, will be on the importance of fine arts in the modern world.

At 11:00, Saturday morning the senior class will bid its last farewell to Allegheny's buildings. This is to be followed by the Alumni Association luncheon in the gymnasium, and the dedication of the rustic bridge by the class of 1926.

Following the dedication of the alumni gardens at 2:45, there will be an organ recital by Mr. Edward H. Johe, in Ford Memorial Chapel, and the annual meeting of Phi Beta Kappa in the Craig room of Reis library.

FRATERNITY DINNERS

The rest of Saturday evening alumni and guests will attend fraternity and sorority dinners, the final presentation of The Bishop Misbehaves in Playshop Theatre, the campus illumination, and inspection of Alumni gardens.

Climaxing Saturday's events, Kappa Kappa Gamma will play hostess to the college and its guests in Cochran Hall, where they will hold their Semi-cen-

Football Pictures Tomorrow

Tomorrow at 7:45 p. m., in the gymnasium there will be a meeting of all men interested in football, irregardless of previous football experience. Films of the Army-Navy, Penn-Cornell, Pitt-Fordham, Yale-Harvard, Notre Dame-Northwestern, Wash.-S.C., Yale-Army, Minnesota-Nebraska, and Allegheny games will be shown, and plans for the fall season will be outlined.

Hobbies To Be Shown In Library

The Student-Faculty Committee to Give Awards in June

Exhibitors in this year's Robertson Hobby contest placed their contribution on display this week in the Historical Room in the Reis Library. Heavily insured, the exhibit room will be open only at those hours designated on the Library bulletin board.

Awards will be made by a faculty-student committee and announced on Commencement Day.

Howard Gibbs submitted a collection of paper money and old history texts, the currency representing issues of different periods. Particularly interesting are the maps found in the history books.

The only philatelic collection entered was that of Tom Cort. It includes first day covers and many rare issues of stamps.

Only entrant from the freshman class in the Division of Creative Writing is Helen Hilker, who has contributed a collection of her poems and essays.

PHOTOGRAPHY PROMINENT

Angle shots of twelve of the campus buildings submitted by Leroy Schneck, '41, are of particular interest in their shadow effects and scenic backgrounds.

Lawrence Frost, '41, submitted five photographs, including in the consignment two campus "shots", and three views of animate objects.

Printed and enlarged photographs compiled in an album of his own con-

Courses In Classics To Be Offered

Department of Greek and Latin Combined in Classics Course

Allegheny's curriculum next year sees the establishment of a new department, Classics, and the introduction of three new courses in that department. The addition comes as a result of a union of Greek and Latin departments.

Emphasis is given to courses which require no knowledge of Greek and Latin. Aimed at providing students outside the department with an adequate background in their fields, the courses are given under the supervision of Dr. William R. Tongue.

TERMINOLOGY COURSE

Offered in the second semester, the course aims to increase ability to recognize new words through a knowledge of Greek and Latin roots.

Emphasis will be given to a detailed treatment of learned words and words coined for the various sciences. The course will be largely adapted to the needs of the students enrolled.

ENGLISH COLLATERALS OFFERED

Literary works of Greek and Latin writers are offered in English. Hence these works can now be read by students having no knowledge of either of these languages.

Classic 2B is Latin Literature read in English. Similar in structure to the course in Greek Literature read in English, this course accentuates historical and political writings. Literature written during the period of transition from the Republic to the dictatorship and the subsequent empirt predominates. Writers include: Plautus, Terrence, Lucretius, Catullus,

Dr. Woodring Resigns His Post Here

Accepts New Professorship at Ohio State University

Dr. Warren F. Woodring, professor of history and political science at Allegheny, has resigned his position here to accept a professorship of English history at Ohio State university.

Assistant Professor of History and Political Science Paul Henry Giddens will take the place vacated by Dr. Woodring.

Dr. Woodring, who had been at Allegheny for 13 years, has spent the last year on sabbatic leave as visiting professor at Ohio State university.

Dr. Giddens has been relieved of his teaching duties for the past two years, in order that he might complete the Birth of the Oil Industry, which will be published this summer by MacMillan company.

Dr. Woodring came to Allegheny from Morningside college, where he was professor for two years. In 1932 and 1934, he was the professor of English history at Southern California University's summer session.

Dr. Giddens, a graduate of Simpson college in 1924, came to Allegheny in 1931. He received his A.M. degree from Harvard in 1926, and his Ph.D. from the University of Iowa four years later.

OTHER CHANGES

The administration also has announced that sabbatic leave has been granted to Professor Lee Dudley McClean for the second semester of next year.

Dr. Guy E. Buckingham and Professor Morten J. Luvaas will also be absent for the second semester of the coming year. Dr. Buckingham will assume a temporary position with the State Department of Education.

Dr. Stanley S. Swartley will be absent from Allegheny for the entire year.

As a result of the resignation of Mr. Martin K. Howes, a new instructor in the chemistry will be appointed. On the recommendation of Dr. John Cavelti, the services of Dr. Herbert S. Rhinesmith of Wesleyan University have been secured. Dr. Rhinesmith received his Ph.D. in organic chemistry from Harvard.

Mr. Howes is planning to enter the Library School of Columbia university.

The title of Dr. C. F. Ross will be changed from that of vice-president and registrar to dean and registrar. This change will involve no change in his duties.

Examination Reports To Be Studied

Profits Explained in a Commentation by Dr. Guy E. Buckingham

Among the most startling differences in the recent comprehensive tests was the vocabulary test, with a high of 93 and a low of 6. Other tests ran anywhere from a couple of zero scores in fine arts to averages of 80 and higher in the literary comprehensive.

Dr. Buckingham's comment on the test was: "The test itself is an effort to try to define the common elements of the so-called general culture that we think should form a core for every student. Future tests will have to be refined constantly in the years to come.

"Because this test is something new, the faculty themselves are in the dark as to what would be the ideal score for any particular student, or even the average student. Scores distribute themselves like any natural phenomena, and an abnormally low score is not necessarily indicative of an inferior student.

"Measurement of students' achievement in the past hasn't been very accurate, but the professors, although aware of the fact, have had no solution. Dr. Buckingham believes that this ought to be one more factor in the adjusting of progress to individual differences.

Dr. Buckingham further suggested that students can be of help if they express themselves and take a cooperative attitude in the matter. Said he: "It might be advisable should people with widely different profiles, say one with a very high one, one with a low, and one about average, volunteer to submit their profiles anonymously to see what would be a better diet for these students educationally."

New M. U. C. Rushing Plan Rejected

M.U.C.'s new rushing plan took a definite turn for the worse this week when several houses either definitely disapproved or else could reach no agreement on the plan.

According to the Men's Undergraduate Council rules, unanimous approval by all houses would be necessary to put the plan into effect. A survey by the Campus office revealed only three houses expressing complete approval, two definitely rejecting the proposal and another coming to no decision.

Delta Tau Delta, Phi Kappa Psi, and Alpha Chi Rho expressed approval of the plan. The Phi Delta Thetas rejected several points while the Phi Gamma Deltas could reach no agreement. Sigma Alpha Epsilon rejected the proposal entirely.

SEVEN POINT PLAN

Proposition presented to the houses embraced the following points:

1. Rushing shall begin at 12 noon of the first Sunday after freshman week except as provided under rule 6.
2. Pledging shall begin at 12 noon of second Sunday after freshman week.
3. Rushing may be carried on during summer, but there may be no pledging.
4. Rushing program for first Sunday of rushing shall consist of entertaining the freshmen at smokers at the fraternity houses under the supervision of the M.U.C. Smokers shall begin at 2-5 p. m. and 7-10 p. m. Freshmen shall visit each and every fraternity house on the hill during this period.
5. On first Sunday of rushing no more than one engagement for the future may be contracted between any one freshman and any one fraternity.
6. No engagement may be contracted between a freshman and a fraternity for the first Sunday of rushing except as provided by the M.U.C.
7. Second semester rushing and

Kaldron Date Change

Students may receive their 1937-38 Kaldron by calling at the registrar's window in Bentley Saturday and Sunday, June 4 and 5.

The yearbooks will be given only to students presenting themselves at the window and only alumni orders at $4.00 will be mailed.

By leaving 75 cents with Miss Cotton today or tomorrow, students may have their names engraved in gold on the cover of the Kaldron.

Seniors Just Beginning In The Cold, Cruel World

By HELEN OCHSENHIRT

Going on the assumption that people like to be quoted, we scourged the campus for Senior remarks on graduation, the summer's activities and plans for next year.

Those who are going on to graduate school, probably won't find life much different than here at Allegheny. But those who are thrown against the hard, cruel world will begin to face some new experiences. Already some are very optimistic—others, pessimistic.

SAM ZISKIND—Will work and play in Pittsburgh this summer, then join the senior class exodus at Yale. Four that I know will be going there, quothe the redoubtable Sam.

MYRA JUNE BANKIN—I'm going to secretarial school. My future doesn't look very bright since I've seen my profile.

CHET PARDEE—Well, I'm looking for a teaching job. I want to teach and coach.

SOLON STONE—I'm going to go to summer school here, maybe. I'm going to graduate camp in the Catskills before going to Syracuse.

HERBIE RANSFORD—Yes, I'm going to be a traveling salesman (I've heard a lot of these stories). I'm going to sell high tension electric equipment. Graduation—I've been counting on it for four years. I'm ready for something new and different now.

FREDDIE NEIMAN—Nothing definite, I want to sell, too, like my roommate, but not the same thing. Next winter I want to sell anything from baby's rattles to locomotives. If nobody'll buy anything somebody'll let me teach school.

MARY LOU QUAY—I'm going to work at Halley's in Erie to get experience before going to Prince. (School of Store Service Education.)

JEAN STEWART—I'll be working for a month in a store this summer—in the fall I'm going to Prince in Boston.

ELINOR KEEFER—I'm hoping to be another "school Marm" when school reopens in the fall. During the summer I'm just going to relax and enjoy the things I haven't had time to do before graduation.

BILL BURR—As yet I have no definite plans, but I've been traveling around the country looking for some.

JUDITH KERR—I'm going to apply for a secretarial position. I'll guarantee a commission to anybody who can get me a job—providing I can wade through my notes to cram enough for written comprehensives.

JOE PHILIPPBAR—I haven't any definite plans about anything, I'll prob-

Students Strive For Variety In Daily Campus Greetings

By HELEN HILKER

In the brief interlude between classes each morning, just after the ten-minute bell has rung, all speech on the campus is converted into a continual bombardment of greetings.

If you are even slightly skeptical about it, just try to keep up a conversation with someone walking from Bentley to Arter some morning. Between greetings you may find time for a few disjointed snatches at sentences, but as for conversation—never! Most of us have found that the best thing to do is to follow the path of least resistance, that is, to just resign oneself to say nothing for a few minutes except "Hi," "Hello," and "Good Morning.' (Good mornings are reserved for the faculty.)

Variety in greetings is something students unconsciously strive for. A constant repetition of the "Hi . . . Hi . . . Hi . . . Hi!" to which we have degenerated is monotonous, and so occasionally it is varied with "Hello . . . Hullo . . . and 'Lo!", always, as has been observed, reserving the Good Mornings for the profs.

Occasionally an intense foreign language student hails a comrade in his foreign vocabulary, but this is a dangerous practice. One should be mildly proficient before attempting it, else it may result in something like "Bongsewer, mess-zhyour," or "Why Gates?" This is very disconcerting to the language department.

KEEP YOUR GREETINGS STRAIGHT

The machine-gun-like fire of salutations issuing from students passing to and from classes is responsible for the wide-spread use of "Hi!" It is the quickest way of disposing of acquaintances when you are in a hurry. The chief disadvantage is that the habit clings both on and off campus, and someone may in an absent-minded moment use it to greet an instructor. Equally embarrassing, of course, is remembering to say "Good morning" to the right person and discovering with great dismay that it is four o'clock in the afternoon.

FOR WE ARE JOLLY GOOD FELLOWS

However, all that may be, in spite of monotony and absurdity, there is something unique and delightful about the spirit of hailing comrades and strangers on the campus. Allegheny co-eds have adopted or developed an intonation peculiar to themselves in their "Hi's" which carries the spirit with them. It is that faint low cadence in their voices, indescribable in words, which is so familiar to us from daily use. It begins with a low pitch and rises slightly, and, coupled with a smile, the common "Hi-i!" emerges as a friendly greeting suggestive of all campus goodwill.

PLEASE NOTE YOU HAVE LOST ONE HOUR'S CREDIT . . .

One of the most unique features of education is that it is the one commodity for which people will pay large sums of money, and then go to extreme lengths to avoid getting. Hence the problem of the chronic cutter is a real one, for which numerous answers may be postulated. Among these answers is that of Allegheny, loss of credit for lower level, and grade reduction for the upper level.

About which system several comments might be made.

Is there a fair basis for such drastic distinction between levels? Does a student grow so much more mature during the summer between his second and third year that he can be at once entrusted with the responsibility of attending classes all by himself?

Or is it up to the student whether he attends or not?

It is our opinion that cuts become over-cuts when the student's work suffers from poor attendance, not when the number of absences reaches a certain point. If we are correct, then excessive absence penalizes itself, and little administrative supervision should be necessary.

Why not let the report card determine overcuts?

BOOKSTORE vs. CHAPEL

Demonstrating for the second time in a month, as far as number participating is concerned, the superiority of elections held in the book store over the old practice of balloting in chapel, the class of '41 polled a large vote in run-off elections held Monday and Tuesday.

Under the old system, voting was limited to a comparatively small proportion of the student body, composed, in a typical chapel attendance group, of 40 percent freshmen, smaller representations of sophomores and juniors, and virtually no seniors. The best publicized census was fortunate if it polled a vote of 250.

With book store elections, however, a larger vote can be easily polled and checked. It is a simple matter to mark voting students on the rolls, making multiple voting by any one person practically impossible. With the proper publicity, a large percentage of the students can be turned out to cast their ballot for the person or idea of their choice.

As a straighter, more representative, more efficient method of measuring student opinion, we endorse the book store election as an institution which should be established as standard in determining any question in which all-college sentiment is involved.

EXIT THE THUNDERING HERD

Moving to abolish one of the most childish features of the fine old art of fraternity rushing as practiced locally, Men's Undergraduate Council has lately presented to the several houses a system signed to make the first day's rushing contact more of a contact and less of a rush. The program has as its avowed primary purpose the end of the mad trample to reach the cowering frosh on the first Sunday noon of the season, and seeks to institute in its stead a more controlled and gentlemanly approach to the already-bewildered-enough fledgelings.

If the innovation is approved substantially by the houses and council, the class of '42 will be guided by members of M.U.C. to the various houses, and entertained at smokers in the afternoon and evening. Engagements made with any frosh by any house on this Sunday are limited to one, thereby abolishing the practice of stealing and filling the rushee's date-book, and assuring each freshman of a look at every house.

We view this action of the Greeks in solemn conclave assembled as a severe blow at the time-honored lead pipe, and an intelligent step toward more efficient and courteous means of luring new members into the sacred halls. No more will frosh, fresh from the college scenes of Warner Brothers, be terrified by the sight of a horde of screaming savages about to destroy forever the privacy of their boudoirs and the rosy tint of their dreams of the collegiate life. And no more will fraternity men be forced to sit, usually in the rain, before Caflisch for two hours before the signal is given, in the fear that someone's watch may be two hours, instead of the customary twenty minutes, fast.

To the men's student government organization we tender our congratulations on an intelligent revision of rushing rules, and our hope that minor details can be ironed out in tomorrow's meeting, leaving the basic principles of the plan unchanged.

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

All examinations are to be held in the gymnasium except as indicated. Students who miss examinations because of conflict or illness are to take the missed examination on Friday morning or afternoon, June 10, and MUST report to Dr. Buckingham beforehand what subject is to be taken.

SENIOR COMPREHENSIVES are to be taken on Saturday morning, May 28, or Tuesday, May 31 or at a time to be arranged by the department.

Special examinations morning and afternoon for students absent from the regular schedule.

Cinema Sensers

By JEAN MEGAHAN

Cinema fare this week consists of four comedies and an adventure film. Not a very varied menu, except that it offers an opportunity to compare different treatments of comedy.

Wednesday at the Park, Reckless Living stars Nan Grey, the ingenious young actress who made her motion picture debut not so long ago in Three Smart Girls. She's on her way up. Aiding and abetting her in Reckless Living are Robert Wilcox, recently seen in Four Men and a Prayer, and Jimmy Savo. A class B film, but good for an evening's amusement.

Thursday and Friday brings Go Chase Yourself—a surefire comedy starring Joe Penner and his duck. In the wake of the duck come Lucille Ball and Richard Love. Those of you who have not yet outgrown your childhood love of seeing animals perform will enjoy the duck, if nothing else.

The Academy brings Maureen O'Sullivan in Hold That Kiss for Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Mickey Rooney, the screen's perennial bad boy, gives her admirable support and all but usurps her place as star. A newcomer, Brian O'Keefe, is also worthy of your attention.

Saturday at the Park is another comedy. Joe E. Brown in Wide Open Faces gives Joe Penner some competition, though in our opinion the Joe Penner film is much to be preferred. After his usual fashion, actor Brown romps through the film emitting his well known howl and distorting hie face in characteristic fashion until we decide that a better title could not have been chosen.

Vogue Awards Are Presented

Vogue's annual Prix de Paris award was made May 18 to Miss Valentine Porter of Radcliffe College.

Purpose of the contest is "the discovery and development of college women who have imagination, a flair for fashion and the ability to write."

Miss Helen Hartman of Bryn Mawr was awarded second place. She will be given six months employment in Vogue's New York office.

Ten other of the contestants of 252 colleges were awarded honorable mention. These graduates will be given excellent recommendations for future positions by Vogue.

Philo-Franklin Initiates Six

Members of Philo-Franklin union served as hosts to participants in this year's speech activities at Venango Inn Thursday evening. Newly selected members for the union were announced by Rex Malmquist, retiring president.

The new members are: Everette Apt, Mary Brock, James Gettamy, Richard Miller, Robert Oberlin, of '41, and Robert Wright, '40.

They will succeed Lois Chambers, Rex Malmquist, Aileen Rockenbach, Seymour Smith, and Alfred Wellons, and Sam Ziskind, all of '38.

Campus To Be Improved Soon

Plans are already being made for the improvement of Allegheny campus and Bousson farm, according to Mr. Kraft, superintendent of grounds.

Only major project on the campus at present is the landscaping of the southern end of the lower ravine.

Ground is to be broken this week for the faculty cabin at Bousson. The cabin is to be similar in form to the Outing club cabin, although somewhat smaller in size.

It is to be partly constructed from material which is taken from the old Bousson house, recently torn down for this purpose.

Speech Class Gives Recital

Completing the interpretation course, Speech III, members of the class gave their first recital yesterday afternoon at 4:30. Under the guidance of Miss Alice H. Spalding, interpretations were presented of The Swan Song, Death of the Hired Man, scenes from Death Takes a Holiday and The Rivals.

Members of the class include Frances Batchelor, Betty Biggs, Peggy Turner, Betty Boltz, Helen Hahn, Betty Meier, Betty Steward, Frederick Davidson, Edgar Wood, and Michael Enserro.

Another recital will be given this evening in the Playshop.

Champion Jesse Owens accepted a job in Cleveland a few weeks ago as a bath-house attendant. Salary: $22.70 per week.

No Holds Barred

By BEN BEACOM

Sunday, May 22, 10 p. m., E.S.T. and the Campus fountain is still running like mad and won't stop. We tried but it's jammed. Joe Raab will have to get at it.

It's none of our business but the Delts sure stank in the Intramural Track Meet, individually and on the whole. They had one of the better teams entered and they should have had better than fourth place.

"Doc" Darling has recently been extended an invitation to join the Beach Club. Said Potentate Ransford: "It is a regrettable oversight on our part in not having discovered so well qualified a candidate at our inauguration; however Dr. Darling's name should lend our incipient organization no little prestige" (End of Quote).

The cinder squad was dogged by bad luck in the Rochester meet. With stars White and Vosburg on the invalids list and "Horse" Lavely almost there the boys were not up to their usual par.

S.A.E. entertained at the Chapter House in a modest fashion. They called it a "Parole Party" and it is reported that they only danced and went through the usual motions. The reports do not state whether they talked or not. We suppose they did, many of them are capable of intelligent conversation. Those who are not do very well with smoke signals.

We are gratified to note that our efforts have been to some avail. Many of the lads have deserted their nefarious haunts for an innocent ice cream parlor on North Street. We have not determined, as yet, what the attraction is.

The Phi Delts, ever progressive, have something new in table service. At the recommendation of a prominent alumnus the Phi Delts have discarded the old common trough system and installed the new and vastly superior individual stoker. As yet the boys are not used to the new machines, and as a result they are getting mighty bloated. Scarpitti says: "I'm a rugged boy and I can stand most of the tripe that comes from our kitchen but I drew the line when some Brother Rat drops my press clippings seasoned with broken glass into my stoker. Why I was stranded at the table four hours before the meal ended.

Four Valuable Books Donated To Library

Four old and valuable books have been presented to the Reis Library by the Countess Katherine Cortazzo of Newport, R. I.

Included in the donation is Racine's Phedre, published in Amsterdam by Alvert Magnus in 1683. The volume is dedicated to Miss Sofia Huidekoper of Maarsevern.

Another is a book of poems by Beschryvingh Von Batavien, published in 1729 and dedicated to Balthazar Huidekoper.

Also addressed to the Huidekopers is a collection of poems by Vondel.

Book Contest Winners Are Given Awards

Rex Malmquist, Ben F. Miller, and Alfred E. Wellons received first, second, and third prizes respectively for the collections which they entered in the Senior libraries contest, it was announced last week.

For his collection of 186 volumes predominantly non-fiction and including many books on labor, European and American history, and birds, Rex Malmquist received $25.

Alfred Wellons' library of 87 volumes for which he received $10 is comprised of books of English fiction, French and sociology.

Also on display in the Craig room with the collections of the prize winners, are the libraries of David W. Abel and Dale S. Bowman.

The library contest is included in the A. W. Robertson prizes for creative work. Collections are judged according to subjective value and not on the basis of number or cost.

Applicants must enroll for at least four weeks and may remain on board from June 1 to October 1.

While on board instruction will be offered in nautical subjects. Those completing the course with a passing grade will be eligible to apply for a scholarship in the Regular Course.

Additional information may be acquired from the American Nautical Academy National Training School for Merchant Marine Officers, Washington, D. C.

Generally Speaking . . .

The time has come for me to flash my name in print since I've been taking the advantage of an anonymous all year. If you have any old bones to pick with me I'll be bound for points West on the first train. But seriously, since this is my swan song, I'll tell you that its—DOTTIE HANNON, as if you didn't know.

Phi Delt Delvings—Since it wouldn't be a Spring party for the wearers of the Sword and Shield without hanging a pin, Bucky Martin upheld tradition and Betty Jane Chambers is now out of circulation . . . congratulations kids. Bob Williamson, Jack Haberman and Bill St. Clair, the three Musketeers, had an old fashioned gathering with Bob taking the beating in every direction. With stiffening bones the alumni tried to keep up with the college peepers, Don Chester and Bill Hampton heading the old guard! And who was the ardent freshman who sent the little note with his corsage "Roses for angels"? All in all it was the best Phi Delt party we've ever been to!!

Sig Shufflingss For their second party off pro, the Sigs swung in the chapter house and enjoyed the newly painted wordwork instead of Riverside, Oakland, etc. Little Zahnie squired one of the cuter redheads of Pittsburgh while Big Zahnie was back to scream with the rest of the gang . . . Dr. Scott Hall celebrated his birthday along with the Sigs and declared it was the best he ever had . . . Another Sig party goes down in History.

Chi Rho Rootingss Riverside, the scene of so many successful parties, again resounded to Rose of the Alpha Chi Rho's. Powder boxes with the seal were favors but Frannie Batchelor copped the grand prize—and Tom chairman of the affair too, something's fishy . . . Janie Stewart receives our roses for looking among the better . . . Lynn and Al Van Andel were back for the party . . . but we missed Jack Spitler and his Captain Bligh . . . another chapter for fraternity parties was ended.

Our boys' fame spreads far and wide—a paragraph in the University of Syracuse's gossip column was devoted to Bob McVey, Junior, and his bewildered wanderings around the Tri Delt house while he was there for the SAE convention.

"Bishop" On Road Trip

The Bishop Misbehaves travelled to Titusville on Friday, where it was well received by a capacity audience.

The final performance will be given at Commencement. The cast includes Elizabeth Gotscholl, Martha Keefe, Phyllis Freeland, Edgar Wood, John Jones, Willard Cutler, Richard Aiken, Dave Robertson, Herbert Willison, and Michael Enserro.

Surveys Show Approval Of Speech Course

college students discuss vital questions and they felt that Allegheny students had shown themselves reasonably well qualified both in training and information.

Although 15 per cent of the voters said they were not in favor of open forums following discussions, and that they saw no benefits derived therefrom, all requested that the speech department send folders again next year.

"This was the best program we have ever had, and we have had over 1000," was the statement of the Kiwanis club of Punxsutawney.

Many other remarks bore a complimentary tone. This cross section of audience opinion will be of great aid to the Speech department in classifying its problems, it is expected.

Though the results for the second survey are still incomplete, a partial picture of Allegheny's work in relation to the other schools is given.

In the number of intercollegiate debates presented, Allegheny ranks sixth among fifty schools, and places in the first ten in number of students participating and in the number of extension engagements. Only four other colleges have Speaker's Bureaus.

The survey shows that Allegheny is taking the lead among colleges and universities. The field of public discussion is growing, and according to Attorney Rose of the United Labor Relations board, "Allegheny is a mighty contributor in this field of education."

In connection with the surveys, Mr. Irvin of the speech department makes the following statement: "We who are teaching speech at Allegheny are determined to expand this work. We invite all students to take part in this valuable experience. In this day when one must speak in order to live, the student should avail himself of every opportunity to speak before public audiences. The demand for such discussion and speaking is great and growing, and we will see to it that Allegheny supplies that demand.

SPRING SPORTS

SIDELINE SLANTS
By HERB KOERNER

Due to an oversight last week, this column failed to mention the fact that Nye also set a college record in the 220 dash. We wish here to correct that obvious error and wish Bill Nye "many happy returns of the day."

At Rochester last Friday, the meet was literally "blown up." Cross bars on both the pole vault and the high jump had to be held in place between tries, and Rochester was aided to victory in the hurdles when the wind removed two of their obstacles. McCrea, our feather-weight feature in the two-mile, was gently but firmly brushed from the track by the gale, which made his placing at the finish line impossible. Other incidents of a similar nature both for and against the 'Gators caused both schools to have remarkably poor times and distances in their events compared with previous records.

TENNIS HINDERED

Olr tennis team ran into the same grave difficulty as the track team. High lobs were impossible and good tennis ruined by this condition. One strange combination in the tennis lineup was the fact that the number one doubles team were twins. What one couldn't do the other could and together they made a very good showing.

Both squads when they returned home expressed their approval of the reception they received while away—not only from the teams but the student body as a whole. This might be a good point for local students to remember: incoming teams are strangers and visitors, and would appreciate any kindness proffered.

Don't forget the Hiram track meet this Saturday. The stands are spacious and solid, and look much better when filled with spectators.

Sports Spot - Lite

It is an established fact among American sports circles that a college or university of today hasn't a chance against schools using subsidized athletics. Many small schools, who believe that the 3 R's come first, have tried to succeed in athletic competition with schools where athletic scholarships are evident, and have failed. Everyone, perhaps, but Allegheny.

Subsidization of athletes was discontinued at this institution five years ago and there followed the most disastrous period of 'Gator athletics. Then one day last October, Allegheny found herself proclaimed on the sport pages of Eastern newspapers as the college leading the parade of unsubsidized schools to a prominent position in the athletic world. On that particular day Allegheny defeated the favored W. and J. eleven, 14-13.

Allegheny's first endeavor to get out of its athletic doldrums was the scheduling of the University of Buffalo and Washington and Jefferson on last year's football schedule. After losing a close game to Buffalo and Haverford, Allegheny went on to win her remaining games, including the big victory over W. & J. The athletic department, realizing 'Gator athletics were on the upward trend, scheduled opponents of nation-wide athletic fame.

Outstanding grid opponents for next year are Buffalo U., Johns Hopkins U., and of course our traditional rival Grove City. In soccer, Oberlin, Carnegie Tech and Rochester appear formidable. Two new opponents have been added who are two of the middle west's outstanding teams, Western Reserve and Ohio Wesleyan. 'Gator swimmers will also undergo a bruising schedule, meeting such teams as Pitt, Rochester, and Slippery Rock, while the tennis team plays host to both Carnegie Tech and Pitt.

FROSH ATHLETICS BOLSTER VARSITY

One of the reasons Allegheny can look forward with confidence in regard to athletics is because of the re-establishment of the freshman rule. Freshman coaches must be honored in that they took a group of green athletes and whipped them into a formidable fighting line for all 'Gator sports. For instance, only 4 members of the '41 grid team had ever played football before. Next year, however, there will be a freshman filling a gap left open here and there by a graduating player.

So it is fitting that we dedicate this final sport page of the year to the coaches of our Alma Mater, Messrs. Way, Lawrence and Brickley, who have brought our teams through a highly successful season.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS
By HELEN LITTEN

This week mushball reaches one of its crucial points. The winners of the three leagues will contest for the championship which may decide who gets the banner for the year.

The tennis tournament which was to have been well under way has scarcely begun due to the inevitable spring "rush of things" while the ping pong tournament may have to remain incomplete for the same reason. So it looks as though two spring sports are relegated to oblivion.

The annual athletic banquet is scheduled for Thursday night at the usual dinner hour. Nancy Peffer has indicated that a long list of girls has qualified by unusually active participation in the sports program, for regular sports awards. The awards are based on the following point system: 500 points, blue A emblem; 1,000 points, bracelet. Girls having 1,500 and 2,500 points will also receive tokens for their achievement. In addition, three women of the present junior class have been elected the Honor Club of athletics. These girls will receive flannel sports jackets. There will be no speaker due to the busy program of the week.

The following results have been announced for the swimming meet held Tuesday evening: Alpha Chi's, 17; Beebe, 11; Thetas, 9; Alpha Gams, 9. Officials explained that although each of the smaller dorms entered separate teams, the freshman women, considered collectively, accumulated the largest number of points.

Ruth Wetherbee was elected president of the Women's Athletic Board in elections held Friday by all college women. Helen Litten was named vice-president and Donna Ochsenhirt, secretary.

The Allegheny Outing Club is in the midst of a busy schedule for closing up the current season of activities. The annual spring outing will consist of an overnight trip to an abandoned CCC camp between Warren and Sheffield. The time named by Outing Club officers is the week-end following exams. Last Friday night 22 members enjoyed the novelty of a hayride, with all of the trimmings including hay. After a two-hour ride refreshments were served at the cabin. Saturday members who are to be taken into the club had charge of a "clean-up" campaign at the Bousson cabin.

Initiation into the organization will be held Tuesday night at the cabin. Members to be inducted are: Louise Aichner, Ann Albright, Jane Anderson, Alice Bryant, Bee Broomall, Rudy Blake, Kay Challinor, Janet Chipman, Lois Dobbins, Sue Gardner, Alice Hand, Louise Hazlett, Deedie Henry, Dot Hickernell, Ellen Hoffman, Ruth Mary Krall, Barbara Lane, Jane Lance, Peggy and Elizabeth Marquis, Jean Megahan, Vera McMichael, Alice Rothrock, Georgia Seitz, Peg Turner, Ann Wolfe, Charles Bayless, Al Brandt, Al Colley, Walt Maloney, Herb Mallick, Robert Moore, Bob Shane, Andrew Singleton, Don Starr, Fred Lichtenfels, and Robert Bought.

INTRAMURAL ROUND-UP

SIGS WIN INTRAMURALS

For the third consecutive year, Sigma Alpha Epsilon came out well ahead of the other six groups represented in the intramural program. With only tennis left unplayed on the list of events, we find that the Sigs have placed in every event, a third in golf, second in volleyball, bowling, basketball, and track, first in touch-football, swimming, handball, softball.

Amassing thus a total of 775 points, the Sigs were never seriously threatened throughout the entire year. In participation percentages S.A.E. also placed in the higher bracket. Closest rival was Phi Delta Theta which accumulated 600 points by virtue of thirds in volleyball, swimming, and track; second in golf, handball, and softball; first in bowling.

MANAGERS

The manager system in intramurals will go into full effect starting next year, with Al Hogeland as senior manager. There is an excellent opportunity for underclassmen to work into this phase of intramural work. There will be one senior manager, who will be awarded a major "A", as well as two junior managers, four sophomores, and some freshmen.

In collaboration with this scheme, a system of officiating has been worked out which calls for men who are interested in that sort of work getting the call over the less experienced and less efficient fraternity appointees. This plan has been used to great advantage in tennis, track and softball this spring, and will be a valuable addition to the intramural program.

PHI PSIS WIN TRACK MEET

Building up an insurmountable lead in the field events, Phi Kappa Psi lifted the track cup from Sigma Alpha Epsilon, by the close score of 29½ to 27 points. Placing in only seven of the ten events as compared to the Sigs nine, the Phi Psis took high ranking places to swing the meet in their direction. The Phi Psis took firsts in four events with Saylor winning the 220-yard dash, Barrackman taking the high jump, Williams the pole vault, and Spence the javelin. The Sigs on the other hand, could boast but two firsts, that of Tommy Clark in the 120-yard low hurdles, and Art Gratz in the broad jump.

A summary of points shows:

1.	Phi Kappa Psi	29½
2.	Sigma Alpha Epsilon	27
3.	Phi Delta Theta	21½
4.	Delta Tau Delta	20
5.	Phi Gamma Delta	10
6.	Alpha Chi Rho	2

Two unfortunate occurrances took place at the meet, and ruined two winning attempts. Stitzinger, DTD, fell as he was leading the pack over the last hurdle, and did not place, and the PKP relay team was disqualified for breaking too soon.

Tracksters Swamped By Rochester

Suffering its first defeat of the season, the Allegheny track team was overwhelmed last Friday by the University of Rochester, 86 2-3 to 44 1-3, at Rochester. The 'Gators were only able to take three firsts, though times were no better than previous Allegheny meets this season.

The defeat might not have been so disastrous if White and Vosburg had been available. White, star distance runner, is out temporarily with a bruised foot while Vosburg, holder of the new broad jump record, is disabled with a pulled muscle.

Setting the pace all the way in the 220-yard dash, Bill Nye captured one of the three firsts for Allegheny. Nye covered the distance in the fast time of 22.5 with Harvey taking a close second. Nye and Harvey also took a second and third in the 100-yard dash respectively.

Chuck Cares leaped to a new height for the season, capturing the high jump with a leap of 5 ft. 10 in. The other first place was taken by Aye, who garnered the pole vault honors with a vault of 10 ft. 6 in.

The two surprises of the day were the good showing of Schroyer in the 880 and McCrea in the two-mile run. Schroyer pushed McCowan the complete distance and just missed nipping him at the tape.

Racketeers Downed By Rochester

Led by the Dickinson twins, the University of Rochester tennis team defeated the Allegheny racquetmen, 7-2, last Friday at Rochester. It was the fourth loss of the season for Coach Ufford's men but it took a sensational brother act to do it.

Robert Dickinson, captain and regularly No. 3 man of the Rochester team was moved up to No. 1 position for the Allegheny match, the last of his college career. To make this honor complete he easily defeated Wellons, 6-0, 6-0. His brother, Richard Dickinson, not to be outdone, overcame a fighting Luke Taylor, 6-0, 1-6, 7-5. The two brothers again showed their tennis prowess by pairing in the doubles to defeat Wellons and McVey, 6-1, 6-3.

Due to a terrific wind which greatly handicapped the Allegheny team, the 'Gators were only able to win two matches. McVey defeated Drake, 6-3, 6-2, while Taylor and Shields won over Wall and Robinson, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Complete scores:

Robert Dickinson defeated Wellons, 6-0, 6-0.

Robinson defeated Topper, 6-1, 4-6, 6-3.

McVey defeated Drake, 6-3, 6-2.

Wall defeated Boyer, 6-3, 6-3.

Williams defeated Way, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Dickinson-Dickinson defeated Wellons-McVey, 6-1, 6-3.

Williams-Drake defeated Way-Topper, 6-4, 6-1.

Fraternity Formals And Mother's Week-End Ends Our Social Season

Before settling down to exam dol-drums, the campus saw its last social fling this week-end with three fraternities "formaling it."

PHI DELT FORMAL

From seven 'til one Saturday night Phi Delta Theta held its spring formal at Conneaut Lake Hotel, dancing to the strains of Wes Scott and his orchestra. The committee for the dance was composed of George Houck, '39, Bill Scarpitti, '40, Ed Wood, '40, and Harry McCurdy, '40. Chaperones for the evening were Dr. and Mrs. Julian L. Ross and Dr. Albert E. Ogilvie. Mother-of-pearl lavelliers with the fraternity crest were given as favors. Guests included Ray Robertson, '37, Don Chester, '37, Bill St. Clair, ex-'38, Bob Cappe, ex-'39, Tom Hawkins, '35, and Byer Africa, '36, and Mr. Philip Benjamin.

CHI RHO FORMAL

On the same night Alpha Chi Rho joined the social whirl with a dinner-dance at the Riverside Hotel. Chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. Ufford, the party was in charge of a committee composed of Tom Hazlett, '39, Robert Thomas, '40, and Forrest Foster, '40. Music for the evening was provided by Benny Jones and his orchestra. Favors were "rollerette" vanities decorated wth the fraternity crest. Guests of the chapter were Orrin Hawkins, '36, George Kisch, '37, Bob Lyons, '37, Al Van Andle, '36, and Mr. and Mrs. Reeves Cole.

S A E DANCE

Also on Saturday night, members and guests of Sigma Alpha Epsilon danced from eight 'til twelve to the lilting music of the Towne Club Orchestra, at the chapter party in the fraternity house. Dr. and Mrs. W. Scott Hall chaperoned the dance with Mylan Harvey, '38, and Al Hogeland, '39, in charge of arrangements. Willard Conn, '32, was a guest for the evening.

Not content with stopping their spring social affairs with a formal dance, members of Phi Gamma Delta danced from eight to eleven Friday night at a radio party chaperoned by Mr. Martin Howes and Miss Mildred Ludwig. Roy Uhlinger, '39, took charge of all arrangements. Art Bush, '32, and Bob McVey, '39, were guests.

MOTHER'S WEEK-END

Alpha Chi Omega's mothers' week-end started formally Saturday noon with a banquet at Venango Inn, with Miss Laila Skinner, Mrs. Morten Luvaas, and Miss Mary Lewis, alumnae adviser, as guests. After breakfast was served in the sorority rooms Sunday morning, the mothers surprised the girls with a gift shower. Guests for the week-end were mesdames: English, Spring, Chambers, Aichner, Watt, Osborne, Rehtmeyer, Stafford, Clowes, Sieberg, Freeland, Kroegher, Parsons, Demmler, Dobbins, Sage, Randall, Ballinger, Aiken, Henry, and Miss Martha Demmler, sister of Kay Demmler, '38. Jean English, '40, was in charge of all committees. Louise Aichner, '40, Marion Henry, '39, Phyllis Freeland, '39, and Rachel Mumbalo, '40, took care of the arrangements for the breakfast. Betty Rehtmeyer, '39, planned the program.

SINGER'S BANQUET

Wednesday, May eighteenth, a banquet for the Singers was given at the Colonial Inn in Kinsman, Ohio. Edythe Wisan, '39, Robert Wright, '40, and Wayne Shields, '38, were members of the committee in charge of arrangements. Guests included Dr. and Mrs. Tolley, Dr. Schultz, Miss Laila Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Younger, and Mr. Philip Benjamin.

LIBRARY BREAKFAST

The annual Library breakfast given for the student assistants was held at eight-thirty Sunday morning in McClure Park. Each senior assistant was presented with an autographed copy of A Boy's Will by Robert Frost.

* * *

Headed by Jean Stewart, the seniors of Kappa Alpha Theta, took charge of a buffet supper for the alumnae Monday evening in the sorority rooms.

GUESTS

Guests at the freshman dormitories last week-end included Dorothy Else, sister of Tom Else, '38, Betty Markle, guest of Marjorie Weible, '41, Helen Rose, and Miss Grace Corcoran, guests of Doris Judge, '41. Ruth Myers, '37, Peg Stroble, '36, and Miss Marjorie Blimm, Miss Fern Clark, and Miss Elizabeth Slaver, all of New Castle, were also here.

Chuck Whitaker, '37, was a guest of Phi Kappa Psi.

SPRING WEDDINGS

Announcement is made of the wedding of Miss Louise Veach to Mr. Charles Irvin which is to take place on June eighteenth in Akron, Ohio. Both are graduates of Oberlin College. Miss Leach holds the position of music supervisor in Mansfield, Ohio. Mr. Irvin is completing his first year as instructor in the Speech Department at Allegheny.

BETSY ROBINSON—I'm either going to secretarial school of the University of Chicago.

JANE BERNHARD—Every year has been so different. Heaven only knows what'll happen next. (Ed. note: We were unable to contact Heaven for a statement.)

BILL CAPPE—I'll work if I can find a job. If not, I'll probably go to school. I might farm during the summer. I'm finding it pretty hard to graduate, but after four years I'm ready to go on to something else.

VIRGINIA DERR—I expect to go to graduate school next year—Clarke University, in Worcester, Massachusetts. Nothing definite for this summer yet.

In spite of four years of comparatively concentrated studying and the recent ordeal of comprehensives, the general feeling on the part of the seniors is a reluctance to graduate. Reading between the lines one can sense a bit of regret that the last four years have come to an end.

X-Ray Plates Are Returned

X-ray pictures for signs of tuberculosis are being returned slowly, but no information will be given out to any student until after all phases of the examination have been thoroughly studied, according to an announcement received yesterday.

Although comparatively few students took the exam, Dr. Skinner, college health director, considers the results very gratifying for those who did as no cases of active tuberculosis were indicated. A few pictures show lime calcifications which indicate contact with the bacteria at some previous time, but all the results thus far are negative.
