Miss Ida M. Tarbell
120 East 19th Street
New York City

My dear Miss Tarbell:

Acting upon the suggestion in your letter of June 2, I am writing to remind you that we hope to have something from you in the January issue of our Journal. You will remember that you thought of developing the theme on which you talked at the College Club of Youngstown, Ohio, into an article for all our members. However, if during the summer some other theme has come to your mind, I am very glad to leave it to you to take any topic which you think should be brought to the attention of university women. Fortunately, the interest in "practical education" to which the Association is committed gives us a wide latitude in choice of themes.

I had suggested that you let us have an article of about 1800 words before November 1. If you find that you can do so, I assure you our whole membership will greatly appreciate having you address them thus.

Very sincerely yours,

Ruth Wilson Tryon
