My dear Miss Potters:

I was much interested in your recent letter. I have heard of Pine Manor and of what it was trying to do for our "Poor Little Rich Girls," but I never have had the pleasure of visiting the school. I wish I could accept now the invitation to spend a week end with you in February or soon after. It would give me real pleasure and I should be glad of a chance to talk to your girls about Lincoln, but I cannot think of it this coming Season. I have a month of Conferences on the Writing of Biography with Lincoln as my main subject for illustration out west - the University of Arizona. It will take me away the first of February. So you see I cannot accept as I should really like to do. But believe me I do appreciate the suggestion.

I have heard no little about that brilliant Seven College dinner in Boston last month and I do hope that something is going to come of it all. I am sure it will.

Thank you for your friendly reference to my own little contribution to the cause. With all good wishes to you and Pine Manor, believe me

Very sincerely yours
