Mrs. Jeremiah Jenks,
38 E. Gramercy Park,
New York City.

Dear Mrs. Jenks:

Mr. Tanimura came to see me yesterday, Dr. Finley introducing him. He told me his story. Do you see any way of helping him expiate his crime against his ancestors of not leaving an heir by leaving a farm with an endowed institution for Japanese girls? He tells me you are interested in doing something. I do not see how, with my limited time and means I can do much but Mr. Tanimura is so childlike - canny - that I should be glad if there was anything I could do. At least if you are taking hold of the thing I should like to talk to you. Perhaps we can get together some afternoon soon for tea and talk it over.

Very sincerely,

IMT B.K.
