Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
132 East Nineteenth St.
New York City.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

There have been no papers, relating to Lincoln in Indiana, which have been published by the Indiana Historical Society. I refer you, however, to Mr. Logan Esarey, managing editor of the Indiana Magazine of History, Bloomington, Ind. for an article By J. Edward Murr, entitled "Lincoln in Indiana". This article appeared in that magazine in Dec. 1917 and in May and June for 1918.

Mr. Charles W. Moores, Indianapolis, has been much interested in your subject and might be able to give you some aid. You possibly are acquainted with his little book, entitled, "Life of Abraham Lincoln for Boys and Girls", Houghton, 1909.

I am sending under separate cover the Report of the Lincoln Highway Commission. It may be of some interest to you.

Yours very truly,

Esther U. McNitt
