Miss Ida Tarbell,
120 East 19th Street,
New York, N. Y.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

Miss Grinnell in the publicity department of your publishers has forwarded me an excerpt of your letter saying that you were tied up on a piece for publication elsewhere regarding leadership among women. I am sorry I missed receiving it, but sometimes those things happen.

Would it be possible for you to suggest any other material you have on hand which would be of current interest for our consideration. This could save you time, as we wish you to be represented in the position which we feel you have earned among leading women in the nation.

If you can find it within your province to consider this matter further, we shall be very grateful to you and extend full cooperation.*

We are publishing "The American Woman" by Miss Dorothy Thompson. This might interest you.

With every kind wish,

Cordially yours,

Rachel MacKinnon
