Dear Julie,—

Surely you may speak of the A. A. R. poems — and of her, the more said, the better. God bless her!

Please let me make it clear again, however, that the C. Y. R. Evening is not a dinner, but an open meeting of the Educational Association and Louisville citizens; in other words an affair before a large audience: Which doesn't mean formality, of course, but I wish to make sure that you understand.

We are relieved — immensely — to know from you personally that the change of affairs has proven a blessing to you and Baker — and J. S. P. about Bert we are still troubled, but you shall tell us all.

Much love,

Ale.
