Dear Miss Tarbell:

Of course I did not forget you. I remember the splendid articles you wrote for McClure's & gave it its first big boom. It is also a longer time ago: but you & your class of work are not easily forgotten.

I wd so much like to be entertained by the Pen & Brush Club and I waited replying till I cd be sure. I am not sure yet. I am trying to arrange it, but it is very difficult as there are engagements in London which I must keep, I fear. I have however called to London to see if I can stay another week and I shd have a reply by tomorrow, I think. I hope that will do, for if the reply is favourable I will come gladly to the Pen & Brush Club.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely

Gilbert Parker
