Dear Mr. Stout:

I have your note, asking about Mrs. (not Miss) Lillian Gilbreath (not Breech) her speaking ability, her message. I have never heard Mrs. Gilbreath talk, myself, except informally in scientific management meetings. There she is excellent. She has had long and fruitful experience in efficiency work. If you could get her to tell her story in simple terms - her experiences here and abroad - her applications of scientific management to the household - you would have a remarkable tale, which I think she has the ability to get over.

I am enclosing the little note that I made on her in my "Fifty Leading Women" and also advise you to see "Who's Who" where you will find her address. Hoping this is something that will be useful to you, believe me

Very sincerely yours

Mr. W. H. Stout
