Pictorial Review Building
New York City, New York

To the Committee:

As Chairman of the Division of Indian Welfare for the General Federation of Women's Clubs I have come in contact with many club women of America and am always interested in public recognition of the achievements of women.

I wish to propose Amelia Earhart for this year's Pictorial Review's Annual Achievement Award. I have been familiar with the career of Amelia Earhart prior to her Atlantic flight when she was identified with educational and settlement work, especially during the two years that she was with the Denison Settlement House in Boston.

I consider that she has carried into the modern field of aeronautics and commercial achievement the spirit of social service which characterized her settlement house work. Her writing, her speaking and general example of her modest demeanor and achievements have been an inspiration in a field of feminine activity which creates new employment opportunities for women.

The recognition of what she gives to the cause of aviation is to be found in the positions she has held leading up to her present appointment as Vice-President of the National Aeronautical Association. I consider that her aviation record and the way she has handled herself are outstanding examples for the young womanhood of America to follow.

I am

Sincerely yours,

Signed: Corinne Lindon Smith
(Mrs. Joseph Lindon Smith)
