Dear Mr. Black:

I wonder if you are still at Dearborn? I hope so and that you have not forgotton me, I remember with g great deal of pleasure my visits to the Ford plant for material.

It is a matter in connection with Mr. Ford that I am writing this letter. I have in my files a long telegram and letter, both of them doing credit to the heart of the man, inviting me to join the company that he was gathering for an International Conference in Copenhagen where it was hoped that negotiations could be carried on for a just settlement of the War. Now I want to use this telegram and letter in some paragraphs I am writing for a book of my Recollections. Lest you may not have the letters at hand I am enclosing copies. Is there any objection to my using them in your mind?

I shall be grateful for an early reply.

Very sincerely yours

Mr. F. L. Black
