"The Comedy of Errors" Successfully Presented by Duzer Du Last Thursday

Fourth Annual Production of Men's Dramatic Club Given in Good Shakespearean Style.

"The Comedy of Errrors" was presented on Thursday night in the Academy of Music by the Duzer-Du Dramatic Club, before one of the largest audiences that have witnessed any of the productions of the club during its existence. This was the fourth annual production of the club, "The Rivals," "She Stoops to Conquer," and "The School for Scandal" having been presented in the three preceding years. Thursday night was the first time that a play of Shakespeare had been attempted; the enthusiasm with which it was received by the audience is indicative of the interest taken in the classic plays, particularly those of Shakespeare.

The training and coaching of the cast was again in charge of Miss Eliza Warren, head of the Eliza Warren School of Acting of Cleveland, who was responsible for the unusual success of the play of last year. The acting of each individual showed the result of the careful study and interpretation of the characters. Miss Warren has fully demonstrated to the Meadville audiences that she is an efficient coach in rapidly rounding an amateur cast into form.

A unique feature of the play this year was the effort made by the club to present it in the light of the latest study of Shakespeare and the Shakespearean stage, and to produce as near as possible the conditions of a dramatic production in Shakespeare's time. The curtain was not lowered once during the play, the speakers simply retiring from the stage at the close of the scenes. The scenery was very simple, showing a convent at the rear, a house at one side and the market place of Ephesus at the other. This had been made from a design drawn by Mr. T. R. Flood of the Ben Greet Players for the club. Numerous pine bows were placed about the stage in order to produce an outdoor effect.

The humor of the play centers about the two sets of twins—the Antipholi and their servants, the Dromios. At the opening of the play, the father of the Antipholi is sentenced to death by the Duke of Ephesus for his presence in the city of Ephesus, he being a native of the rival city of Syracuse. Antipholus of Syracuse, while posing as a native of that country is surprised by the fact that he and his servant are recognized by so many people and called by name. A number of peculiar difficulties are brought about and it is not until the last act that the two brothers, their servant and the father, Aegeon, meet and find each other.

The part of Antipholus of Syracuse was played by H. J. Wieler, '13, and that of Antipholus of Ephesus by O. C. McLean, '13. The similarity in build of these two men rendered them particularly fitted for the parts and it was with difficulty that the audience could disinguish them. Their acting was fully up to the standard that has been set by the leading characters in the plays of previous years. Wieler in particular showed marked ability in his scenes with Adriana and when alone. His acting was probably the best of the male characters.

The favorites of the evening were the servants of the Antipholi in the persons of L. W. and W. H. Wells. Many people find it difficult to separate the two even on the street and to do this on the stage was practically impossible, as their speech and costumes were practically identical. Their clever representation of the Shakespearean clown was one of the pleasing features of the play.

James M. Miller, '14, made his debut in Allegheny dramatics in the role of Adriana, wife of Antipholus of Ephesus. In the production of "Lovey Mary" at the University of Pittsburgh last year, Miller took the part of Aunt Jane and his experience was shown in the manner in which he played the part of the wronged wife. The part of Luciana, her sister, was played by E. P. Daniels and that of Lesbia by R. H. Boyd in a most creditable manner.

C. S. Burwell, '14, showed marked ability in his interpretation of the ancient father who is willing to die unless his sons are found and, although he appeared only twice, he was heartily received.

As Solinus, Duke of Ephesus, R. W. Thomas, '12, made his second appearance before the footlights. Mr. Thomas was responsible in a large measure for the success of last year's play as Sir Peter Teazle. All the other members of the cast lent their share for the success of the play and their work is commendable in the very highest degree. Much credit is due to W. F. Maxwell, president of the club, who managed the production and devised the various means of presenting the play as close to the Shakespearean manner possible.

Hawk Re-elected

Basket Ball Men Re-elect Hawk As Leader.

Louis L. Hawk, '13, was re-elected captain of the basketball team for the year of 1912-13, at a meeting of last Wednesday noon. The choice was unanimous.

Captain Hawk's record in college is so well known that little need be said of it. Having already had experience as captain on two varsity teams, he was the logical man for the leader of next year's basketball team. And with "Louie" at the helm, the season ought to be one of the most successful Allegheny ever had.

Prof. Edwin Lee presided at the election. Those men voting were: Hawk, Mates, Nichols, Thomas, Ramsy, Lindberg, and Graham.

MOVING PICTURES NEXT MONDAY

The Alliance Francais was addressed at the regular meeting in the library last Thursday afternoon by M. Anatol Le Braz, who is at the present time making a tour of the United States and Canada as the official lecturer of the International Alliance. His subject was "The Young French Generation—Its Aspirations and Spiritual Guides," the lecture being delivered in French. M. Le Braz is a French scholar of some note, being a professor in the University of Rennes, a member of the Legion of Honor, and being the author of a number of books, some of which are used as text books in American schools.

Announcement has been made that, through the efforts of Mr. A. W. McCoy, one of the associate members of the Alliance Francais, a number of reels of motion pictures of French scenes have been secured, and will be exhibited at the Manhattan Moving Picture house next Monday afternoon. The admission will be free.

CONCERT THURSDAY BY ALEXANDER HEINEMANN

German Lieder and Ballad Singer to Appear in the Chapel on April 4.

Allegheny music lovers will have an opportunity to hear a distinguished musician on next Thursday evening, when Herr Alexander Heineman, a German lieder and ballad singer, will give a concert in Ford Memorial Chapel under the auspices of the Modern Problems Club. The bringing of this famous singer to Meadville marks the second entertainment that has been given this year by this new live club, Mr. C. M. Jesup having lectured earlier in the year.

Mr. Heineman's tour through this country has been marked by the extraordinary notice that has been given him in the towns and cities in which he has appeared. His interpretations of folk songs and of the songs of the great German masters has gained for him a reputation of no small account. Musicians and those prominent in musical circles have been unanimous in declaring for him a place among the most prominent singers who have chosen the German leider as their specialty.

Alexander Heinemann.

The Chicago Record has the following to say of him: Mr. Heineman possesses a seducive voice of wonderful sweetness. It is not a voice which tries to deceive an easy believing power and the singer prefers not to inject dramatic touches for the sake of the effect and he does not know what it is to pose or indulge in manueveurs on the platform. With all the dramatic intensity of Wulmer and the elegance of Bispham, Mr. Heineman has a baritone voice of resonant quality and he interprets the folk songs of his country with the compelling interest that comes from high cultivation, both musically and intellectually."

The price of admission is fifty cents and tickets may be had from the various members of the Modern Problems Club.

All the professors in the University of Cincinnati who have served the University for over ten years have had their salaries raised to $3,500 a year. All who have sehved over five years, $3,000 a year, and the younger professors are to receive $2,500.

Important Meeting of Trustees to Devise Means of Completing Endowment Fund

Board of Trustees Organizing in Helping President Crawford in the Campaign.

A special meeting of the Board of Trustees of the college was held last Tuesday at the Fort Pitt hotel at Pittsburg for the purpose of considering ways and means for the raising of the remaining amount of the extra half million dollar endowment. The meeting was called to order by President F. A. Arter, '64, of Cleveland, after which the report of President Crawford was heard.

In his report President Crawford stated that a total of $385,600 had been subscribed to date leaving a balance of $114,400 to be raised before April 24, the time set by the General Education Board in order to receive the $100,000 gift from them. Owing to the slow response to his requests for money in and about Pittsburg, the president recommended that: "first—a strong appeal be made to the alumni of the college; second—the organization of a campaign for subscriptions among the friends of the college in Pittsburg; third—the organization of a campaign for final work in Meadville and neighboring towns." Following these recommendations, the board adopted the following resolutions:

"That we endorse the action of the president of the college in sending a letter to every alumnus of the college and recommend that this letter be followed by an urgent letter to the alumni from the president of the Board of Trustees to be followed by another letter from the president of the college.

"That we authorize the appointment by the president of the Board of Trustees and of the college of a committee to conduct a canvass in the interests of the college endowment fund among friends of the college in Pittsburg and vicinity.

"That an organized campaign be undertaken in Meadville and in other towns in Northwestern Pennsylvania to reach all friends of the college in the interest of the fund, and that the executive committee have charge of this campaign."

Following the adoption of these resolutions, President Arter appointed J. W. Kinnear, Mr. Paul Sturtevant, Mr. E. T. Mossman, Rev. John T. Miller, Rev T. H. Woodring and Rev. J. W. Hoffman to act as the committee for soliciting subscriptions in Pittsburg and vicinity.

The necessity of promptness was emphasized in the meeting, the point being brought out that the task of raising such a large sum in a month required extra effort on the part of everyone concerned. Both the gifts of Mrs. Cochran and the Educational Board are for $100,00 and require that an amount sufficient to make $500,000 be raised by April 24.

Four Thousand a Day.

That the million dollar endowment is not merely a possibility but rather a probability was shown on Wednesday of this week when about $15,000 was added to the subscription. A message was received by Dr. Snavely from President Crawford stating that he had already passed the hundred thousand dollar mark.

At the beginning of the campaign President Crawford set as his motto "A thousand dollars a day" but on account of the business depression in some places the subscriptions fell below this mark. At the trustee meeting on Tuesday it was shown that $114,600 still remained to be raised and various means were devised for raising it. About twenty-five days remain until the time set by the Educational Board for the raising of the money and this will require abo · $4,000 a day.

Meadville Alumni

Local Alumni Hold Banquet in Cochran on March 22.

The third annual banquet of the Meadville branch of the Allegheny Alumni Association was held on Friday night of last week in the private dining room at Cochran Hall. About forty were present. Mr. Frank L. Lippitt, '80, president of the association, acted as toastmaster. Miss Lucy Pickett, '90, responded to the first toast, "Timothy Alden," telling of the founding of the school and the spirit which pervaded it at that time. Rev. A. C. Ellis, '78, followed with a toast to "Allegheny," and spoke of the conditions when he was in school, giving his hearers an idea of how things used to be run at the old Culver Hall, where he was commissary for two years. The last toast, "Nineteen-fifteen," was given by Prof. M. H. Dewey, '04, who spoke of the position the college occupies among schools of her class, pointing out that 1915 ought to be the beginning of a greater era rather than the closing of a period. After the toasts the following were elected as officers for the ensuing year: president, Mr. S. P. Schiek, vice-president, Mr. George Davenport, secretary-treasurer, Miss Mary T. Heydrick. Mr. D. A. Gill and Prof. C. F. Ross were chosen as additional members of the executive board.

DEATH OF FRESHMAN GIRL.

Miss Evelyn Smith, who until recently was attending college as a member of the Freshman class, died very suddenly at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Whiting, on Terrace Street, last Sunday morning. Miss Smith had been in ill health for some time and for this reason was forced to drop her college work about a month ago. Her death which was due to heart failure, was a great shock to the large number of her friends, both in town and college circles. Miss Smith was nineteen years of age, and had lived for some time with her aunt. She was a graduate of Meadville High School and had started a very promising career in college. Besides her mother, Mrs. H. E. Smith, of Harmonsburg, and her aunt, three sisters survive her.

The funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. Whiting last Wednesday afternoon, and the interment was at Harmonsburg.

H. J. WIELER, '13, ELECTED PRESIDENT OF Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. nominating committee, composed of L. B. Angus, F. O. Amon, R. W. Thomas, W. R. Hofelt, P. W. Johnston, N. L. Ramsey and B. R. Beisel, met recently to nominate the association officers for the coming year. At the Y. M. C. A. meeting last Wednesday evening, the chairman of the committee, L. B. Angus, made the report that the following men being chosen as officers for the ensuing year: President, H. J. Wieler, '13, Vice-Presidene, P. W. Johnston, '14, Secretary, W. R. Hofelt, '13, Treasurer, J. G. Lane, '14. The report of the committee was unanimously adopted.

"THE MISER" ABANDONED BY THE KLEE-O-KLEET.

The Klee-O-Kleet held an important meeting last Wednesday afternoon, at which time it was decided to abandon staging of "The Miser" as the annual play, on account of the difficulty in securing someone to take the heaviest part in the play, that of the miser himself. No other play has as yet been decided upon, but the members of the club are striving to find a play which will meet all the requirements.. Miss Colter will not require general try-outs for the cast of the new play, but will judge from the ability shown in the try-outs for "The Miser."

A book entitled 'Letters That Land Orders or How to Make Letters Sell Goods" which is now in the college library was written by an Allegheny man, Mr. John Horace Lytle.

Miss Nelle E. Laffer, '97, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Laffer, in this city.

Duzer Du Adhering to Classic Drama.

On last Thursday evening, the fourth annual production of the Duzer Du Dramatic Club was given successfully. The men in the cast, the coach, the club and particularly the president, upon whom the entire responsibility rested, deserve commendation for the performance. It is gratifying to see the dramatic club meet with success; but the success of the production of this year, The Comedy of Errors, is noted with especial interest and pleasure because in giving a classic production to which there was originally some little opposition, the club held firmly to the ideals under which it was organized. At the beginning of the year there was some talk, as there has been in previous years, of staging a modern play. Different plays were considered, both modern and classic, and finally the Shakespearean comedy was decided upon, not with perfect confidence of its success nor entirely without fears of lowering the Duzer Du standard. It was the first attempt at Shakespeare, about which there is something which causes ordinary men to stand aloof. But the performance on Thursday evening proved that the men can interpret Shakespeare intelligently and artistically. After this demonstration it is to be hoped that Duzer Du will always adhere to the original ideals of the club, in staging classic drama.

TEUTONIC PARTY IN COCHRAN.

The members of the Teutonic Society entertained a number of their friends of Teutonia at an informal party on Tuesday evening in Cochran Hall from eight until eleven o'clock. Professor and Mrs. Swartley and Dr. and Mrs. Akers were the chaperones.

The lounging room and reception hall of the Commons had been previously decorated with pennants and large palms. A unique feature of the program was the leap year idea which was carried out. Each lady was given a program, which was divided into four parts, each one of which denoted one of the prominent clubs in school. The first number was "Petit Salon" where punch was served to the thirsty guests. For the Scientific Club, the Cochran Hall bowling alleys were visited where that branch of sport was indulged in. The Modern Problems Club had its headquarters in the Y. M. C. A. rooms and here a number of games were played. The last club noted was the Quill Club, the requirement being that everyone should write down the latest scandal and present it for reading before the company. Following this, refreshments were served in the banquet room of the hall. During the evening, D. C. Thompson, '12, rendered a number of selections on the piano.

The party was in charge of F. O. Amon, A. A. Rea, W A. Whiting and R. W. Kendall.

The Adventurer

A writer whom the Adventurer has come to know only recently is Mr. Arthur Christopher Benson, a fellow in Magdalene College, Cambridge, who has written a number of volumes of unusual worth. Perhaps his best known work is the book of essays under the caption, "From a College Window." Then there is that other collection of essays called "At Large." But these are not all. There are "The Upton Letters," "Beside Still Waters,' which seems, from the outside, to be a novel; and there are others. In all Mr. Benson's writings there are some admirable qualities, some distinctive virtues which combine to make the reading of them delightful.

Mr. Benson has his own theory on the question of style—that one should not attempt to develop style consciously, as Stevenson did, but should merely write as vigorously, forcibly and above all, as sincerely as possible, and thus develop a style of one's own. There is certainly something in this theory, but whether it is good or bad, Mr. Benson certainly gives it a splendid recommendation in his own style, presuming that his style was evolved in this manner. His style is above all easy and mellifluous. It is clear and lucid. There is never the necessity for a studious searching for the meaning which has characterized the writings of some.

Aside from this charm of a good style there is much else to be said for Mr. Benson, as he is revealed in his writing. He teaches in a Christian way a love for things that are good and beautiful. He has much admiration for sincerity and urges men to cultivate it as a choice virtue. The aim of writers, he says should be to give "a perfectly sincere presentment of our thoughts." He is a lover of truth and beauty and enthusiastically glorifies the one who seeks these things industriously and persistently.

But, to the Adventurer, the best thing about Mr. Benson—or rather the best thing about his writing—is that he makes one feel like writing, like pursuing the craft of the man of letters. He is enthusiastically devoted to authorship and believes that there is no joy like the joy of expression in writing, and no delight comparable to the delight of authorship. It is easy to imagine how he must sit down day after day to do his writing, just as a nature lover spends hours each day in fields and forests. He writes because he finds nothing else so comforting, so enjoyable. And it is inevitable that he communicate this delight to his readers. And so if there are any who have a notion they want to write and yet who find no real joy in composition, the Adventurer recommends them to Mr. A. C. Benson.

ROMAN RELIGIOUS CEREMONIES.

The regular bi-weekly meeting of the Classical Club was held in the club room in the Library last Tuesday. The main paper was on "Roman Religious Ceremonies" by Miss Ruth E. Dorworth, '12, which dealt with the various customs in sacrifices, marriages and burials of the ancient Romans. Miss June Shires also read a paper on "Julius Caesar as an Epileptic" and Miss Barbara Deane a review of a book dealing with Religious Ceremonies of the Romans. W. R. Hofelt was chairman for the evening.

Miss Ulla Roueche of Guys Mills, who is now staying in Meadville, was the guest of Miss Lottie Smith at dinner last Friday.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR BASEBALL

With the close or basketball season, interest in baseball begins to show itself. Thus far the weather has eben too inclement and unsettled for any practice, but as soon as the ground permits, Captain Townsend expects to start practicing, so that the men will have a chance to show heir speed as early as possible before he schedule opens.

Of last years team quite a number are still in school. Abbott will again be on hand to fill the catching department. In the pitching line are Hawk, Lore, and Ben Ball. Of the infield Lavely, Capt. Townsend, and Thoburn are still in school. The position at shortstop which was covered last year by Harry Firestone, is open for a new man. Galbraith is the only outfielder of last year's team who is back this year. The vacancies made by Meek and "Ty Cobb" Case will be easily filled from the new material which will be tried out this spring.

Among the new men who will try out this year are a number who have strong recommendations as baseball players. "Red" Robinson has shown his ability as pitcher on the Alden Academy team and also filled the box well for the Chautauqua Athletic Club last summer. C. A. Gilbert, '15, has a reputation as an outfielder and a strong batter. Max Croasmun, '13, will undoubtedly make an infield position if he tries out. Parks, of Franklin, and Strauss, who played with Alden Academy, both have ability as first basemen McWhorter at second, and Ricker, as a left handed pitcher, might also be mentioned among the promising material.

Manager Hinckley has been busy arranging a suitable schedule for the team. Two practice games are to be played with the Northwestern State Normal team of Edinboro. A trip taking in West Virginia Wesleyan and the University of West Virginia, may be arranged for the latter part of May or the first of June. An effort is being made to secure a game with Oberlin here on the ninth of May, while there is a possibility of Mt. Union being here for a game on the fourth of May. If the Mt. Union and Oberlin games are arranged the schedule, aside from the two practice games with Edinboro will be as follows:

May 4—Mt. Union here.
May 9—Oberlin, here.
May 11—Carnegie Tech, here.
May 25—Hiram, here.
May 30—Carnegie Tech, at Pittsburg.

Last Thursday evening, Dr. Robert S. Breed lectured at the High School on "Microscopic Forms of Animal and Plant Life."

Mrs. W. H. Crawford, Miss Lucy Crawford, and her guest, Miss Pauline Avery, took dinner at the Phi Kappa Psi house last Sunday.

H. S. Leitzel will conduct a series of meetings at Blooming Valley, beginning next Wednesday evening. He will be assisted by several of the other college men.

Karl A. Miller, a graduate of Allegheny, who has a position with the C. B. and I. system, headquarters at Omaha, Neb., has been in the city visiting his parents.

P. C. Deemer, '09, principal of the Leetonia, Ohio, high school, visited friends here for a few days this week, making his headquarters at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house.

Dr. and Mrs. Elliott, Dr. Lockwood, Professor Dewey and Professor and Mrs. Reed, of the Pennsylvania College of Music, were guests at the Delta Tau Delta house last Sunday.

The Greek IV class will spend a couple of days of the Easter vacation at Pittsburg studying sculpture in the Carnegie Museum. Dr. Elliott will be in Pittsburgh with the class.

Prof. Lawrence M. Riddle was forced to stay at his home on Baldwin street, last Thursday on account of a bad cold. The class in French I. was taught in his absence by S. E. Nichols, '12.

Last Tuesday evening Miss Ruth Baldwin, '13, gave two readings at the meeting of the Social Center. Miss Ernestine Cobern, who is registered as a special student at Allegheny, sang some pleasing solos.

Frederick B. Trace, a well known football star and all round athlete who graduated recently from Meadville High School, and who expects to enter college next September with the class of 1916, has been pledged to the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Mr. Charles W. Gill, '07, who has been pursuing graduate work at the University of Chicago, and filling an instructorship in English at that institution during the past year, has returned to Chautauqua, N. Y., where he has charge of the Chautauqua Book Store.

Statistics computed from the new catalogue show that about 66.3 per cent. of the men in college belong to fraternities, while the percentage of the women is about 59.8. The general average of 63.6 per cent. is slightly higher than it has been in past years.

Last Saturday evening the college Mandolin Club was on the program at the Social Center, giving a number of selections prior to the talk by Dr. M. J. Lichty. Last night the club was the attraction at a meeting of the local branch of the Tribe of Ben Hur.

Miss Janet Ellis, '15, was the leader of the Y. W. C. A. meeting of last Sunday evening. From the subject of her talk, "The Power of Prayer," she drew many helpful lessons, which were further emphasized by a number of the girls. Miss Ethel Bayard, '13, played a piano solo.

The Wednesday evening meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was led by Miss Clementine Calvin, '82. She took as the text for her brief talk the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians, which she interpreted vrse by verse, in this way bringing out many splendid points about the ideal "Love."

A letter received from Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Morlord stated that they have recently spent some time at Santa Clara. They report that the season has been very dry, and in consequence of it, the fruit and flowers are less abundant. Mr. and Mrs. Morford expect to return home soon.

On Friday afternoon of last week Alpha Chi Omega gave a reception in the sorority rooms, from four to six, in honor of Mrs. Mount, National Inspector of that sorority. The town alumni of the sorority as well as a number of the young ladies of the Senior class were present. Miss Florence Moore sang a solo.

In the second game of the interclass basketball series the Juniors defeated the Sophomores, last Saturday afternoon, by a score of 20-8. The upperclassmen had the advantage throughout, the score at the end of the first half being 8-4 in their favor. Ball did good work for the Juniors, some of his baskets being of quite a sensational nature. Zelwis and W. Thoburn played the best games for the Sophomores.

H. M. Fishel, '09, has written a poem called "The Waterfall," which appears in the last number of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate. The front cover of the same number shows the picture of the Erie Conference delegates to the General Conference, which is to be held in Minneapolis, Minn., in May. Among the delegates is President W. H. Crawford.

Quill Club members will be the guests of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity at the regular April meeting which is to be held at that fraternity house on next Monday evening. The meeting will be in charge of Miss Elizabeth Ling and Thomas Hughes. The main paper of the evening will be read by Captain Smith of Meadville on "Tolstoi." A number of invited guests will be present and several special features will be introduced at this meeting.

Dr. M. J. Lichty, a noted physician of Cleveland, and a member of the faculty of the Medical Department of Western Reserve University, gave a talk to a number of the men students in Cochran Hall after supper last Saturday evening. After speaking for about fifteen minutes, the Doctor answered a number of questions relating to the medical profession. While in Meadville, Dr. Lichty was the guest of Dr. Lockwood, through whom he was brought here to give a lecture on "Sex Hygiene" before the Social Center.

The students of the colleges and universities belonging to the Northwestern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference are to decide by vote whether the University of Oregon or Oregon Agricultural College shall be given the basketball championship of that conference. Both teams seem to have a pretty good claim for the honor. The O. A. C. team has been brought up to its high standing only by the excellent coaching of Coach Stewart, formerly of Allegheny, who has raised the team from the cellar position in the conference to its present high standing.

Last Saturday lectures were given at the City Teachers' Institute by various members of the Allegheny faculty. Dr. Cobern spoke on "The New Pedagogy." Dr. Elliott followed this with an illustrated lecture on "A Tramp Through Thessaly" which proved very interesting. Prof. Frank A. Baker, '05, Principal of the Northwestern State Normal School at Edinboro, talked on "Moral Training in the Public Schools." In the afternoon the teachers visited the Biological Laboratories in Ruter Hall where Dr. Breed gave a talk on Nature Study which was illustrated with microscopic slides.

On Tuesday morning of this week, Rev. Dr. Edgar M. Smead, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Union City, read the Scripture lesson and offered prayer at the morning Chapel service. In a short talk to the students, afterward, he pointed out that the three things necessary for one to be successful, no matter what line of work one is engaged in, are consecration, conservation, and conquest, meaning self-conquest. Dr. Smead has been engaged in assisting Dr. Irwin in a series of special services at the First Presbyterian Church of this city, for the past week.

SUMMER SCHOOL ARRANGEMENTS.

Definite arrangements are being made for the Allegheny Summer School, which will be conducted for six weeks next summer. An announcement of the detailed plans for the school is now being printed. The tuition for the term will be $20. Twenty-five courses will be given, the Faculty including all the present Faculty with the exception of Professors Lockwood and Cobern, who will be occupied with lecture engagements. Special emphasis is to be laid on the courses in Pedagogy and the History of Education. One lecture will be given in each week of the session, one by each of the following: F. A. Arter, (president of the Board of Trustees), President Crawford, (the lecture on Wycliff), Professors Elliott, Ross, Ling and Lee.

EARLY BIRDS FOR TICKETS.

The great interest taken in this year's Duzer Du performance was shown by the fact that when a certain college man, who thought himself quite enterprising, arrived at the Academy of Music ticket office last Tuesday morning at three o'clock, he was surprised to find eight individuals already in line waiting for the office to open some six hours later. Others soon augmented the number in line until at six-thirty there were about thirty sleepy looking students in line. The number was slightly over fifty when the sale of tickets started at nine a. m. Last year the earliest arrival, who came to get his choice of seats, came at five in the morning. Numerous conjectures have been made as to what time those most anxious to secure the best seats in the house will line up next year.

The student who has a desire to make from $.75 to $1.50 an hour during his summer vacation ought to see "Dutch" Nevins. He has some choice territory for about a dozen good men as agents for Aluminum Cooking Utensils. See him at once.

Y. W. C. A. ELECTION ON MONDAY.

The annual election of the officers of the Y. W. C. A. for 1912-13 will be held next Monday evening at 6:30 in Hulings Hall. All town members of the association who wish to vote at this election must deliver their proxies before 6 p. m. Monday, April 1, to any one of the four officers of the association at the present time. The following are the nominations which have been posted:

For President—Miss Frances Norton, Miss Dorothy Sansom.

For Vice-president—Miss Edna Yost, Miss Lottie Smith, Miss Elizabeth Lord.

For Secretary—Miss May Girsham, Miss Janet Ellis, Miss Jessie Reed.

For Treasurer—Miss Margaret Seitz, Miss Ethel Bayard, Miss Vera Foster, Miss Eva McKinney.

The newly elected president will appoint the heads of the committees, so that a full cabinet may be ready for work soon.

CALVIN SPEAKS ON PATIENCE.

The Y. M. C. A. service last Wednesday evening was led by C V. Calvin, '13, who took as his subject "Patience." He brought out the necessity of having faith in God and our fellowmen, and said that patience did not necessarily mean resignation, to what ever comes along, but that it was the safety valve of one's temper and thoughts when trying situations were being experienced.

It was decided that the book to be used in the Mission Study Class after the spring vacation should be Arthur E. Brown's "Chinese Revolution," a work which is just being printed. This book will be supplemetary to the book which was used this year on China. It was decided to hold over the book on the "South American Republics" for use in the class next year.

Announcement was made of a song recital to be given in Ford Memorial Chapel on the 22nd of April by U. S. Kerr, a noted basso, under the auspices of the association.

HAMILTON HOLT TO LECTURE ON "THE FEDERATION OF THE WORLD."

"The Federation of the World" is the subject of a lecture to be given by Mr. Hamilton Holt of New York City in Ford Memorial Chapel on Thursday evening, April 18. Mr. Holt is the managing editor of The Independent and at the present time is making a lecture tour in which many leading colleges and universities are being visited. A date had been arranged for Allegheny some time ago but owing to the inability of Mr. Holt to come at that time the date was cancelled and this is the first opportunity since that time to bring him here. Mr. Holt is coming under direction of the college and no admission fee will be charged.

Mr. Holt is admirably equipped for the task of lecturing on this subject, for under his direction, The Independent in the past few years has published more in a constructive way on international peace and that movement which is substituting law for war than any other periodical of its kind in the country. He is personally acquainted with many of the world's peace workers, and is one of the founders of the New York Peace Society and a member of its executive committee; a member of the Executive Committee of the First National Arbitraion and Peace Congress, held in New York City, May, 1907—"the greatest unofficial gathering ever held in America"—and Chairman of its Press Committee; an official representative from the State of New York, appointed by Governor Charles E. Hughes, to the Second National Arbitration and Peace Congress, held at Chicago, May, 1909, a speaker there and a member of its Committee on Resolutions; a member of Baron d'Estournelles de Constant's society of "Conciliation Intrnationale," of which Mr. Carnegie is Honorary American President and Nicholas Murray Butler is American President; and an invited delegate to Albert K. Smiley's Lake Mohonk Arbitration Conferences.

In the summer of 1907 Mr. Holt made a special trip to Holland to attend the Second Hague Conference and to get acquainted with the European leaders of the peace movement, and since then he has given about one hundred addresses on the peace movement before universities, Chautauquas, clubs, churches, Y. M. C. A.'s, schools and lyceums.
