New York City, N.Y.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

It was very gracious of you to give to the writer so much of your valuable time the other morning in discussing with him the question of Reed Novelettes and he would like to have you know that he appreciates it.

We are quite enthusiastic on your promise that in about 3 months it would be our pleasure and privilege to bring to our readers, a Novelette under your name, for work of your character is of the kind that we take joy in making people acquainted with.

We are enclosing a copy of our January release, "Patriotic Songs" for we thought you might like to glance it over.

As soon as conditions have adjusted themselves with you so that you can take your Novelette up with us, we would be indeed glad to hear from you.

Very truly yours,

REED PUBLISHING CO.

William W. Reed.
