ALLEGHENY WINS.

Robert C. Freeman Wins the Gold Medal in the Tri-State Oratorical Contest--Pandemonium Reigned Supreme When the Decision of the Judges was Made Known.

Allegheny students have had many opportunities during the past year to exercise their vocal cords in cheering over victories which have come to the college, but all occasions for giving vent to enthusiasm were eclipsed on Wednesday night when Dr. Ferguson, of Westminster College, who presided at the oratorical contest, announced to the overwrought audience that Allegheny's man had won first place. The scene following this announcement beggars description. The scene might be suggested to one of vivid imagination by stating that three hundred students, aided by nearly as many enthusiastic city supporters, vied with each other in making a noise. Anyone acquainted with a student's ability in this line can imagine the result.

The contest was to have begun promptly at 8 o'clock, but owing to the tardiness of one of the judges the program did not begin until 8:30.

Dr. Ferguson in a few well-chosen words of introduction, appealed to the students' sense of fairness and asked that no undue demonstration be made until the final result should be announced. The request had the desired effect, and it would have been impossible for any judge to have recognized Allegheny's representative by the demonstration of the student body. But as the contest progressed and the impression grew that Freeman was the orator par excellence of the evening, the storm of enthusiasm kept gathering. As Dr. Ferguson was announcing the result in reverse order, the entire audience sat in breathless nervous expectancy. The announcement came in a most exasperating, deliberate way:

"Last place is given to Thiel, sixth place to Bethany,—the Doctor seemed to be enjoying his task as he took all the time he wanted. Fifth place to Muskingum, fourth to Westminster,"—again the Doctor paused, allowing the audience to breath. "Waynesburg third." The deadly calm before a mighty storm hung over the audience. Dr. Ferguson paused a few minutes, feeling that his next statement would be the lightning flash which would herald the storm. "Geneva second"—and the storm was on. The air was thick with hats, coats and waving arms. The windows rattled, the walls and ceiling of the Academy vibrated in response to the mighty waves of sound. During a lull in the storm Dr. Ferguson managed to make himself heard by shouting, "Allegheny first," and the storm broke again to last until all the pent-up energy of the student body was expended. When the noise had subsided, Dr. Ferguson called Mr. Freeman to the stage and in a most happy way presented to him the gold medal. There was a last outbreak on the part of the student body and the Academy was quickly cleared. In a few minutes the college bell was tolling out the story of victory and a great bonfire was lighting up the campus. The evening was one long to be remembered. It was the crowning event of a red letter year for Allegheny.

The contest throughout was of a very high order. The Glee Club added much to the program of the evening, "The Phantom Band" being especially entertaining.

Mr. Freeman, as the figures below show, was marked very high by all the judges.

It was plainly evident to all who heard the contest that Mr. Freeman was the orator of the evening. His delightful Scotch brogue added much to his rich voice and commanding appearance, and Mr. Freeman's oration, while not as flowery or bombastic as some of the orations of the evening, nevertheless held the entire audience as only an orator with an oration worth hearing can. His oration in brief was as follows.

The Jew has always been a despised man. We have known only one of late years—the mean money grabber, the "Shenny" of the city, the Shylock of the stage. We have forgotten that Shylock is not true to nature; we have forgotten what the Jew has really been and done.

The history of the Jew is that of a sufferer. In Italy, Prussia, France, Germany, Sprain, Russia, England and America he has been treated like a dog. And why? Simply because he is a Jew. In social life he has been exemplary; there are very few Jewish criminals. In the financial world he has been at the head. In the world of intellect he has supplied much more than his share. Many of the most noted of the world's literary, musical, and scientific lights are Jews. A number of the greatest colleges in this country have chairs filled by Hebrews.

The Jew played no small part in the discovery of America. A Jew supplied Columbus with the funds needed, a Jew composed the astronomical tables used, and another provided maps. There were six Jews with the great navigator, one of whom was the first to see the land and another the first to set foot on it. The Jew has been accused of lack of patriotism, but an unprejudiced student of facts will find him one of the truest of patriots. Fifteen Jews went down in the Maine; the first man to fall in the attack on Manila was a Jew; and President Roosevelt says that his seven Hebrew Rough Riders were remarkably courageous. The Jew is the marvel of the ages.

ALLEGHENY WINS FROM WESTMINSTER IN A RATHER UNINTERESTING GAME—THE TEAM NOT YET OVER THE HARD TRIP OF LAST WEEK.

On Saturday Allegheny met her old-time rival on the diamond and succeeded in winning out quite easily. The game was not replete with brilliant plays and at times was on the slow order. Haas pitched a steady game and at no time allowed the visitors to bunch their hits. The team as a whole played somewhat listlessly not the kind of a game that will win games from fast snappy teams.

The team has not recovered from the hard trip of last week and was not in shape to play the ball they are capable of putting up. However, there is no kick coming, as runs were made when most needed, and that is what wins games.

Mook, behind the bat, did fine work, although handicapped by a very bad hand.

En Dean had his eye on the ball and succeeded in getting three hits.

Leffingwell covered the ground in left field in fine shape, gathering in everything that came his way.

The work of the infield at times was very good, while at other times it was decidedly ragged.

By Tuesday the team will have recovered from its hard trip of last week and good, fast, snappy ball may be looked for. The boys are all hitting the ball and running bases well. All they need is someone with a little ginger to spare, and they will put up glit-edge ball. Saturday's game in detail was as follows:

The run-getting was started by Westminster in the first inning, when Pegelman, after reaching second on a base on balls and a pretty steal, was allowed to score on Haas's wild throw, in his attempt to catch the runner at second.

In the second, Lackey reached first by being hit by pitched ball and scored a moment later on a pretty double by Haas.

In the next inning Allegheny took the lead and practically won the game. After Endean's failure to reach first on a bunt, Lewis landed safe through Moore's inability to handle his fast grounder. Fletcher's bunt, in his attempt to sacrifice, was handled so neatly by Stuart that not only was Lewis thrown out at second but Fletcher narrowly escaped being caught at first. Then with two out, Leffingwell started a batting streak which resulted in three runs for the home team. Miller's fumble of Leff's hard drive placed a man on both first and second base. A moment later Mook sent a single so far into center field that Fletcher and Leffingwell scored with ease. Mook stole second and scored on Lackey's drive to center. The side was then retired on Bryce's easy grounder to short. Allegheny added two more runs to her credit in the fourth. Haas went out from Moore to Breaden. Moore's muff of Turner's pop fly to right allowed the captain to reach first, from which point, by desperate base running, he scored on Endean's single to Grove City This Afternoon.

A FAST GAME MAY BE EXPECTED. WE HAVE NOT DEFEATED GROVE CITY IN BASE BALL FOR THREE YEARS—HOPE TO BREAK THE RECORD THIS P. M.

We meet Grove City's base ball team this afternoon in Athletic Park. We seem to have been hoodooed in base ball as far as Grove City is concerned, as they have beaten us five times out of the last five times we played them. It is to be hoped that the hoodoo will be broken this afternoon, and if we are to do it, we must have three hundred students on the side lines. This is not asking too much. It is only asking the student body to do its duty. The team has been up against a little hard luck and it is up to us to come out and encourage it. A little ginger is all the team needs and we ought to be able to supply that.

Everyone make an effort to get out to the game this afternoon and do some good, hard rooting.

TRI-STATE COLLEGE LEAGUE.

Annual Meeting Held With Allegheny College Wednesday Afternoon.

The annual meeting of the representatives of the several colleges in the Tri-State league was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms of Allegheny college on Wednesday afternoon, with the following delegates present:

Westminster college—J. K. Gamble.

Bethany college—F. J. Kent.

Geneva college—J. C. Taylor.

Thiel college—H. E. Snyder.

Waynesburg college—W. C. Montgomery.

Muskingum college—J. M. Thompson.

Allegheny college—H. L. Smith.

The following officers for next year were elected: R. W. Kidd, Geneva, president; W. C. Armstrong, Waynesburg, vice president; Jos. M. McCalmot, Westminster, secretary and treasurer.

The next contest will be held at Westminster. Beginning with next year, all contests will be held on the second Tuesday of May, instead of the second Wednesday, as heretofore.

Baltimore, May 11, 1902.—The Johns Hopkins lacrosse team, for the fifth time in its history, won the intercollegiate lacrosse championship of the United States by defeating the Swarthmore twelve yesterday afternoon in the final game of the season by the score of 8 goals to 2. The game was witnessed by over 1,200 spectators, among whom were some of the best known of Baltimore's swell set. President Remsen, of the Hopkins; Dr. Griffin, dean of the college faculty, and many other members of the faculty were present, and Major Hayes and a party of friends occupied one of the boxes. The majority were Hopkins sympathizers, but a considerable band of "the truly loyal" were in the grandstand to cheer the red and white of Swarthmore on to victory.

The game was undoubtedly the finest exhibition of skill in lacrosse playing ever witnessed in Baltimore. The two teams were very nearly matched on all points, and the game was a battle royal from start to finish.

We feel that Allegheny College may well be proud of her record of victories for the present college year. And among all of her victories no one is of so great importance as the one which came our way on Wednesday night of last week. We congratulate Mr. Freeman on his success and feel that he has brought lasting honor to our Old College.

Thee ry that comes from some of our older alumni who do not keep in intimate touch with the college, to the effect that Allegheny is not achieving anything in a literary line, may perhaps be stopped for a short time. We note that Mr. Freeman scarcely had a second, according to the marking of the judges. Strange to say, the three first places were won by Allegheny, Geneva and Westminster respectively, the three colleges so closely related in athletics. It reflects much credit on the colleges of the league.

The amount of college spirit displayed on Wednesday was most commendable. It is to be hoped Wednesday's display did not exhaust the supply for the year.

The baseball team has completed its Southern trip, and while not very successful in number of games won, we feel that the showing made outside of Morgantown was very creditable. It is no disgrace for a college team to lose to W. V. U., since it is generally understood that this team is a professional one, containing several players who will shortly go to the American league. Our team made a very creditable showing against Waynesburg and W. & J. and we are not at all discouraged over our team's work. We have not lost a game on our own grounds and if we succeed in winning this afternoon we stand a good chance to make our record a clean one on our home grounds.

We hope that a larger number of students than usual will turn out to see the game and help the team to win out.

ALLEGHENY WINS.

WAYNESBURG.

First speaker, J. Franklin Bailey, Waynesburg, winner of third place; oration, "Our Greatest Need."

Our greatest need is to understand and to use our freedom so as to maintain the highest ideals and minister to the largest life. To understand our freedom we must have a clear insight into the natural course of affairs; not only the institutions of man, but also the simple objects of nature as they influence the higher man.

To use our freedom we must have a complete grasp of the present situation, both at home and abroad. Having acquired these things, man can enter that greater sphere of life where races are united and discord forever banished.

GENEVA.

J. M. Blackwood, of Geneva, winner of second place, gave as his oration "Intellect and Society Mutually Helpful."

The intellect is related to society; the relation is reciprocal. Neither is complete in itself. Each finds its development in the other. There are dormant powers in the mind awaiting the touch of society to quicken them; while on the other hand the disciplined mind accepting the noblest commission becomes the uplifter of the race.

These are related as mutual recipient and producer; both help, both are helped; both give, both receive.

Mr. Blackwood then showed how society as a teacher helped the intellect; then how the wants of society stimulate the intellect; the intellect, in response, meets these wants.

BETHANY.

F. J. Kent, of Bethany College, took for his subject, "With the Red Badge of Courage." Strife and struggle have predominated. Man fought at first the wild beast, snatching his sustenance from the earth. After the book of man's beginning was written man developed ambitious alms; then man struggled with man. Peace is beautiful, but how many would exchange the keen competition for the sameness and monotony of rest? Small souls see small enterprises, attempt and accomplish them. Great men see enterprises of magnitude and, attempting, sometimes fall maybe in their accomplishment.

It is fortunate for us that we live in a strenuous age and in a country that has entered on a period of world power. Whether it be ours to live under a strain peacefully, let us work on with unflagging valor, always knowing that with "I will" for a watchword we will conquer.

The Glee Club sang "The Phantom Band" and responded to an encore.

MUSKINGUM.

P. Livingston, representing Muskingum College, spoke on "The New Citizen." This is a day of cumulative resources and strenuous life. Standing amid all the improvements, surrounded by new ideas and urged on by increased incentives we have the new citizen. Dewey's guns forced new responsibilities upon us. Never was there a time when we were so deeply impressed into a greater current of world making. As a nation isolation is impossible, and the maintenance of a good government at home makes secure our standing with the nations. The duty of the new citizen is to see that this is done. Touch any part of the government and you touch all, and it belongs to the citizens to uphold all. We hail the true American citizen, fostering the good and hating the evil. The anarchist does not belong to this age or to a free country; he is the degenerate of the age. The spirit of every man for himself must be overcome by the new citizen. The demands of the world are on us, and our response determines our future.

THIEL.

Thiel was represented by H. E. Snyder with the subject. "Triumphs of the American People." Three prominent elements of an American are independence of spirit, unlimited vitality and just pride.

American institutions compare with the very best of any country.

The greatness of a nation is judged by the influence for good it has for raising other nations lower than itself into higher planes of life. A nation exercises her greatest influence by her invention, her literature, and her form of government.

In invention, no power has been so great in elevating humanity, in binding together the nations of the world.

The literature of a nation shares the triumphs of a nation's moral and emotional natures. American writers have had lasting influence.

The greatest triumph is the freedom and liberty which belong to the American people. She is the teacher of the world.

WESTMINSTER.

A. C. Weidler was Westminster's representative with the subject, "Christianity and Labor Problems."

Man is a social being and therefore cannot exist without bearing to his fellowmen some intimate relations, the nature of which determines the character of society. There are two fundamental forces that govern all the actions of men—Altruism and Egoism. Egoism is the greatest antagonist of a perfect society, and as such gives rise to the vexing labor question. Materialistic political economy, based on egoism, has rated labor as a commodity. But altruism as found in the teachings of Jesus Christ is the champion of an harmonious industrial regime. Neither political economy nor Christianity can ameliorate the evils of the laboring world when opposed to each other; but when combined, balance and strengthen each other, thereby fulfilling the glad prophecy of the angelic refrain.

"On earth peace, good will toward men."

The program for the evening was as follows:

Oration: "Our Greatest Need."—J. Franklin Bailey, Waynesburg.

Oration: "Intellect and Society Mutually Helpful"—J. M. Blackwood, Geeva.

Solo—Mr. Herbert Taylor.

Oration: "The Jew, a Man with a Record"—Robert G. Freeman, Allegheny.

Oration: "With the Red Badge of Courage"—F. J. Kent, Bethany.

"The Phantom Band"—Allegheny College Glee Club.

Oration: "The New Citizen"—R. Livingston, Muskingum.

Oration: "The Triumphs of the American People"—H. E. Snyder, Thiel.

Solo—Mr. Fred Smith.

Oration: "Christianity and Labor Problems"—Albert C. Weidler, Westminster.

"Simple Simon"—Allegheny College Glee Club.

Much credit is due the committee of arrangements for the successful way in which the contest was handled. The committee was composed of Dr. Smith, Mr. Allen, Mr. H. L. Smith, Mr. Royce and Miss Bard. The committee spared neither time nor labor in bringing the contest off in a successful manner. The delegates all report that they were received in a most courteous manner and would carry away with them a high regard for Allegheny College. The contest will be held at Westminster next year.

The Southern Trip

DID NOT PROVE VERY SUCCESSFUL—THE MOST IMPORTANT GAME, HOWEVER, WAS WON.

The Southern trip of our base ball team was not as a whole very successful, but as the most important game on the trip was won we ought not feel so bad about it. On Monday of last week the team played at Waynesburg, Pa. The team had to drive from Morgantown, a distance of thirty-five miles, and was not in the best condition. Haas did the twirling and pitched a masterful game, giving eight hits and having eight strike-outs. The boys complain of the treatment they received at the hands of the umpire at this place and say if they had had an impartial official they would have won the game. The team played fine ball in this game, the work of the infield being especially fast. The game was lost, 6-4.

The W. and J. management ment induced the team to play an extra game on Wednesday, and as our manager found that he could not possibly come out even in finances without playing an extra game, he decided to play Homestead before returning home. The second game with W. & J. proved to be a hard-luck game if ever there was one. Our boys got sixteen hits to W. & J.'s nine, and three times during the game Allegheny had three men on bases with no one out, and were unable to score. If two runs as a result of sixteen hits isn't hard luck, there isn't such a thing as luck.

Haas did the work in the box for Allegheny and Magregor for W. & J. At no time in this game was Haas hit safely consecutively, but his support was not up to the standard and he lost 7-2.

FIRST PRIZE FOR ORATORY DUPLICATED TO THIRD MAN.

The following was clipped from a Chicago paper:

"The value of self-appointed judges at an oratorical contest was strongly impressed yesterday upon Bertram G. Nelson of the University of Chicago, unsuccessful candidate for first honors at the Northern Oratorical League contest. In an anonymous letter he received a check for $100, the amount of the first prize in the contest, and congratulations to "the best orator in the contest in spite of the decision of the judges." The writer of the letter explained that he wished his identity to remain a secret.

"The anonymous letter bearing the check deplored the decision and declared that Mr. Nelson was entitled to first place. The letter read in part as follows:

" 'As a protest against the decision of the judges, and as a recognition of your thought, style, and delivery, I beg you to accept the inclosed check for $100, a prize to which I believe you are justly entitled.'

" 'Professor Clark of the department of public speaking, who assisted in the management of the contest, said that the decision of the judges came about as it did largely because the judges marked on different systems."

An Error Corrected.

THE DECISION OF ONE OF THE JUDGES WAS MISUNDERSTOOD. HIS SYSTEM OF GRADING WAS THE REVERSE OF THE SYSTEM SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN USED.

The unexplainable decision of one of the judges of Wednesday night's contest in giving Mr. Freeman last place on delivery has been cleared up by the following letter to the Tribune-Republican:

Editor of the Tribune-Republican.

Dear Sir—Will you kindly allow me to call attention to an error in the judges' figures as shown in yesterday's account of the Inter-Collegiate Oratorical contest, May 14, which error however in no way changes the result. In rating the speakers the undersigned gave the highest numbers to those who ranked highest in his judgment, and vice versa, and this he stated clearly when his report was handed in; but it must have been overlooked in preparing the total count. The figures therefore in the column under my name should read as follows: Allegheny 1, Westminster 2, Muskingum 3, Geneva 4, Bethany 5, Waynesburg 6, Thiel 7.

Yours truly,
C. Koerner,

Meadville, May 16, 1902.

When a lot of love-sick spoons, who want to lean up against one another at every opportunity are allowed to destroy all the privileges at the Hall, it is time that the student body takes action. Dr. Crawford very properly makes the rules more strict and the result is that all the girls suffer.

Mendel Bros. have a swell line of belts. The buckle guaranteed to outlast the belt.

O the Roman was a rogue,
He erat, was, you bettum;
He ran his automobilis,
And smoked his cigarettum.
He wore a diamond studibus,
An elegant cravattum,
A maxima cum laude shirt,
And such a stylish hattum.
He loved the lucious hic-haec hoc,
And bet on games and equi;
At times he won, at other, though,
He got it in the neqai;
He winked (quo usque tandem?)
At puellas on the Forum,
And sometimes even made
Those goo goo oculorum.

right center. On Smith's attempt to catch Turner at home, Endean started for second. Perceiving that Turner could not be caught, Breaden intercepted the ball and threw it to Miller, who was covering second base. Endean, Miller and the ball reached the bag at the same time and in the mixup that resulted the ball rolled into left field and allowed the runner to score.

In the first half of the fifth Westminster increased her score on a fumble by Haas of Degelman's hard grounder and Parter's single to left.

In the sixth, although the visitors hit Haas hard, they scored but one run. Fletcher failed to stop Moore's grounder which rolled into right field. Tennent was then called out on infield fly. Miller struck out. Moore stole second and reached third on wild pitch, from which base he scored to Smith's single to right center.

Allegheny began the seventh in a most promising manner, but whatever hopes may have risen in the hearts of her admirers were dismissed a moment later when Moore, unassisted, retired both Fletcher and Endean on a double play.

In the eighth the visitors struck a batting streak which looked ominous until Haas settled himself again. Miller singled to left center. Smith followed with another single to center. Miller scored on Degelman's fly which Turner would have caught had he not slipped while running.

Breaden struck out. Fulbon went out from Haas to Lewis on easy grounder. The side was retired when Degelman was truck by ball batted by Porter.

Allegheny also struck a batting streak in the eighth, but with better results than the visitors. Mook, the first man up, sent a liner to center which rolled to the running track before it was stopped and allowed the runner to reach third. On Lackey's attempt to sacrifice, Porter threw the ball to Fulbon to catch Mook who ran back to third. Breaden's muff of Fulbon's throw to catch Lackey on first allowed Mook to score and Lackey to reach second. Bryce flew out to Stuart. Haas doubled to left, scoring Endean, who ran for Lackey. Haas scored on Moore's fumble of Turner's grounder. Turner scored on Endean's drive to center. The inning closed with a double play on Lewis' grounder to Moore, who touched Endean and then threw Lewis out at first.

A Remarkable Sentence.

The Latin sentence, "Sator arepo tenet opera rotas," which is, it must be admitted, pretty bad Latin, is a curiosity nevertheless. It can be freely translated as "I cease from my work; the sower will wear away his wheels." Its fine oddities are these:

It spells the same backward as forward.

The first letter of each word spells the first word.

The same may be said of the second, third, fourth and fifth letters.

The last letters, read backward, spell the first word, the next to the last the second word, and so on throughout.

There are just as many letters in each word as there are words in the sentence.
