BLUE AND GOLD TO MEET GENEVA ELEVEN SATURDAY

STUDENTS PLAN TO JOURNEY TO BEAVER FALLS FOR LASA GAME

With the Canisius game out of the way, Allegheny's crippled team is in the midst of preparation for the annual struggle with Geneva. This game, which will mark the close of the hardest season Allegheny has ever been through, will be played Saturday, November 20, at Reeves Stadium, Beaver Falls.

Grove City's great victory over the Covenanters last week shows that the Beaver Falls aggregation can be beaten, but Geneva's defeat will lessen Allegheny's chances of victory, for Bo McMillen is determined to avenge last week's defeat at the expense of the Blue and Gold. Geneva will not call their season a success unless they beat Allegheny.

The game Saturday marks the thirty-third renewal of the feud between the two institutions. This rivalry of more than twenty-five years has always been one of the most outstanding dual series in the Tri-State district, and the result of the game has a distinct bearing on the success or failure of the season. Due to the prominence Geneva has gained in the East this year under the guiding influence of Coach Bo McMillen, this year's contest takes on something of a new light. In their opening game Geneva lost to Cornell 6-0, but the following week they downed Harvard. This achievement gained much prestige for the Covenanters, and as a result they have been watched closely all season by Eastern critics. Their success in minor college competition placed them in a position to claim the district championship. Although Grove City ruined this aspiration, Geneva will try to show Allegheny that they are a worthy foe of any college team.

Since Allegheny and Geneva began to meet on the gridiron, the Blue and Gold has won fifteen times and Geneva has emerged the victor on thirteen occasions. This year, for the first time since 1918, the Covenanters will enter the game the favorite to win. In the last four encounters Allegheny has come out victorious, winning by a 14-0 score in the last two games. This year it looks as though the tables might be turned, as comparative scores give the Covenanters a big advantage. Using the second team during most of the game, Geneva triumphed 19-0 over Thiel, and Allegheny was able to win but by 6-0. In much the same manner the Beaver Falls team beat Canisius, 28-7, while Allegheny won by 12-0. This year Geneva possesses an eleven that is hardly to be compared with its 1925 aggregation, as Coach McMillen has taken advantage of the new material and has placed a team on the field that is without question the best that Beaver Falls has ever claimed.

Coach Merritt has been handicapped all year by injuries and bad weather. Saturday, at Geneva, he expects the playing conditions to be more suitable. Merritt is still uncertain as to the team he can put on the field. Brendel may be ineligible on account of scholastic standing, Hepler suffered a broken collar bone in last week's game, and Gillis and Waleski may still be down in their studies. If these men are not able to get in the game, the Blue and Gold will be forced to rely on its defense more than any other phase of the game if it is to make a good showing.

However slim Allegheny's chances

FIRST NUMBER OF LIT MAGAZINE NOW ON PRESS

The first issue of the Literary Magazine has gone to press, and according to an announcement it will be distributed to the students immediately after the Thanksgiving vacation.

This issue, which is entitled the "Dramatics" issue, contains several plays, two of which are "Shallow," written by Henry Johnson, and "A Man of Choice," a light fantasy, written by Marion Bradford. Dorothy Davids has composed several poems for this edition.

Two new departments have been created this year which will add much interest to the magazine. The first of these is called the "Microscope," which treats very minutely many details of college life which are overlooked by the normal student. The second new department is called "Ex Cathedra," and will contain in each issue a contribution by some member of the factulty. In this issue there will be an article on "Dramatics" by Dr. S. S. Swartley.

Doctor Beebe Speaks Before Meeting of University Women

Members of the Meadville branch of the American Association of University Women held their regular quarterly meeting at the Saegertown Inn on Saturday, November 13, at a delightfully appointed luncheon which was served at one o'clock. President and Mrs. James A. Beebe were the guests of honor.

At the close of the luncheon Miss Henderson, president of the organization, introduced President Beebe who spoke on "Efficiency and Human Values."

Doctor Beebe said that modern efficiency in the economic and educational phases has done a great deal for the betterment of humanity, but that at the same time this same efficiency is responsible for many of the crushing effects on individuals and peoples. He also brought out the true evaluation of any great endeavor, whether it be an industrial plant or an educational institution. The importance of a factory must not be measured by its products alone, but that its effects on human life must also be taken into consideration as to whether it is developing or stunting the mental and physical growth of its workers.

Doctor Beebe next referred to the educational field. He spoke of the so-called "revolt of youth," and showed a sympathetic understanding of the problems and attitudes of youth as well as an optimistic view of their outcome. The extra-curricular activities of students, sports and social affairs, by means of which young people are really educating themselves, were recognized as having their place as well as class-room efficiency.

SECOND COLLEGE CONCERT TO BE GIVEN MONDAY

JULIA CLAUSSEN, FAMOUS VOCALIST, AS SECOND CONCERT NUMBER

Music lovers in this community will be given an evening of high class entertainment when Madame Julia Claussen, famous Swedish mezzo-soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will appear in Ford Memorial Chapel at 8:15 on Monday evening, November 22, as the second number of the College Concert Course. Madame Claussen is one of the outstanding women vocalists of today, and has appeared in numerous concerts and operettas both in this country and abroad.

Julia Claussen was born in Sweden. She studied at the Royal Academy of Music, Berlin, making her debut as Lenore in Donizetti's "Favorita" at the Royal Opera of Stockholm. Later she was heard by Andreas Dippel, who engaged her for the Chicago Grand Opera Company where she sang for five seasons.

Her American debut as Ortrud in "Lohengrin" created a stir that left no room for doubt as to her right to a high place among the operatic artists of the day. Her "Brunhilde" won even greater critical and public acclaim. During her winter engagement with the Chicago Opera Madame Claussen accompanied the organization to the Pacific Coast. She sang during the summer at the royal Opera, Covent Garden, London, and with the company under Henry Russell at the Theatre Champs Elysees, Paris.

She left the Chicago Opera Company for the Metropolitan Opera where she has held several leading roles. Madame Claussen has also made many concert tours which have taken her over the length and breadth of the United States.

Julia Claussen has been an American citizen since 1920. She is a life member of the Royal Academy of Music in Sweden, and has been decorated with the Litteris et Artibus Medal by the King of Sweden. She has appeared as soloist on many occasions at the Royal Palace by the special command of the king. She has received the Jenny Lind Medal and the Ludvic Norman Medal from the Royal Academy of Sweden. She was formerly vice-president of the National Opera Company of America and is an honorary National Member of the Sigma Alpha Iota Sorority.

Madame Claussen will be accompanied at the piano by Mr. Theodore H. Poister, Jr., who so capably accompanied Paul Althouse in the opening concert of the course.

President James A. Beebe attended the Western Reserve Centennial Celebration at Cleveland as a delegate of the College on Friday and Saturday, November 12 and 13.

ALLEGHENY ENDS HOME SEASON WITH VICTORY OVER CANISIUS

New Yorkers Are Downed In Good Contest In Spite of Handicap of Muddy Field

Allegheny's football team successfully closed their home season with a 12-0 win over Canisius on Montgomery Field last Saturday, November 13. Although greatly handicapped by the treacherous condition of the field, which was ankle deep in mud, and outweighed on the line and in the backfield, the entire Blue and Gold machine played heads-up football and out-classed their opponents in every department of the game. At only one stage of the game did Canisius ever threaten to score, and that was early in the second quarter when they succeeded in working the ball down to about the Allegheny 20-yard line where they lost the ball on a fumble.

Allegheny kicked off at the start of the game, and promptly held Canisius on downs and forced them to punt. Hepler received the kick and made a beautiful run of about 30 yards before he was downed. However the Merrittmen were slow in starting the good work which they displayed throughout the most of the afternoon, and they found themselves on the defense in their own territory as the first quarter ended. Then after repulsing Canisius' only attempt to score, they worked the ball steadily down the field. Gene Davis was substituted for Maloney, and had only been in the game a few minutes when he grabbed a pass from Hepler and sprinted 38 yards for a touchdown. The completion of this pass was quite a feat, considering the condition of the field. The run was made behind perfect interference. Slaven missed the attempt for the extra point and the score stood at 6-0. White again kicked off, the ball only going about 20 yards, but the Canisius player fumbled when he attempted to scoop it up, and an Allegheny man fell on it. From then on the Blue and Gold had possession of the ball most of the time and gained considerable ground.

Allegheny kicked off again to start the second half, and were superb on the defense, forcing the Buffalonians to punt. As the game progressed, the Blue and Gold succeeded in keeping the ball in Canisius territory, but lacked the power to put across another touchdown on straight football. Nice line plunging and end running would take the ball up the field, but the Canisius defense would stiffen when within their own 20-yard line, and Allegheny would be forced to surrender the ball. In the last quarter, Canisius opened up with a forward passing attack, which was, however, ineffective, only one pass being completed. The final Allegheny score came in the last few minutes of play when Maloney intercepted a Canisius pass and ran for a touchdown. Behrhorst's attempt for another point was unsuccessful.

The defense work of the line was ragged at times, but this was due to the peculiar style of play used by the visitors and also to the sloppy condition of the field which made quick charging impossible. Throughout most of the season Montgomery Field has been in poor condition, and it has proven a great handicap to a fighting team. Not only has it made good playing impossible, but it has made practicing difficult and disagreeable. A team that has acquitted themselves as commendably as Allegheny's deserves a better field, and it is to be hoped that some improvement can be made upon it before next season's strenuous campaign is inaugurated.

Canisius proved to be as strong as was expected. Their defense in particular showed great power in the first part of the game. The entire game was a real defensive one, considering the fact that Allegheny made but seven first downs and Canisius but four. Four of Allegheny's seven were made in the second half, during which time the New Yorkers failed to make their yardage once. Canisius gained a total of 68 yards compared to Allegheny's 185 of which number 45 came as the result of two forward passes.

The Blue and Gold eleven worked smoothly throughout the fray in spite of a number of changes in the lineup. The work of Davis stood out promi-

VARSITY DEBATE TEAM CHOSEN LAST FRIDAY

THREE OLD MEMBERS FORM NUCLEUS FOR THIS YEAR'S TEAM

As a result of the Varsity Debate trials which were held in the Chapel on Friday afternoon, November 12, under the direction of the faculty committee, six speakers and two alternates were chosen to represent Allegheny in her forensic contests this year. The subject to be argued is: Resolved, That the United States Should Cancel Its Inter-Allied Debts.

The speakers chosen to uphold the affirmative side of the question are Messrs. tive side of the question are Messrs. B. L. Middaugh, Alan Christner, Robert Kirkpatrick, and William Wycoff, alternate, while Messrs. J. Hicks Baldwin, Edgar Deissler, Robert Corbett, and John Lindsey, alternate, will defend the negative of the same question. Of this number, Corbett, Kirkpatrick, and Deissler were members of last year's team, and with these men as a nucleus two good teams will be formed and Allegheny should enjoy a successful forensic season. The new members of the team have had considerable experience in class and high school debating and should be able to fill in the positions left vacant by the graduation of five members of last year's squad.

The men will begin at once to prepare for the first debate which will probably be held sometime during February. Thus far two debates have been definitely arranged for, a triangular debate with Wooster and Oberlin, and a dual debate with Mt. Union College instead of Ohio State University as has previously been reported. March 3 is the date set for the triangular meet with Wooster and Oberlin. Negotiations are under way to schedule other debates with Ohio and Pennsylvania colleges in addition to the two already mentioned.

The faculty committee in charge of debate this year is composed of Dr. S. S. Swartley, Chairman, and Professors Hovde, McClean, Smith, Schruers and Lalley.

PI DELTA EPSILON HOLDS SMOKER FOR JOURNALISTS

MEN OF COLLEGE ARE ENTERTAINED AT DELT HOUSE LAST WEDNESDAY

Forty men of the College were present at the Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity, smoker which was held at the Delta Tau Delta house on Wednesday evening, November 10.

After an hour of informal discussion, T. S. Borrell, president of the local chapter, took charge of the meeting and called upon several members of the fraternity for impromptu talks.

Dr. S. S. Swartley, head of the English Language Department, was the first speaker. He outlined briefly the purpose of the fraternity, and its place on the college campus. He then told of the important place that the newspapers hold in the everyday life of millions of people, and of the wide field of opportunity which is open to the journalist. Doctor Swartley emphasized the fact that the freshman, who is contemplating any extra-curricular activity, should choose one or two fields of work and strive to become efficient in those rather than to compete for a large number of activities and fail in all of them.

The editors of the four College publications were also called upon to give a sketch of their respective publications to the guests. Assistant Professor E. J. Schruers told of his associations with the fraternity and The Campus while he was a student.

The guests were entertained by a short musical program. Ross Carey played several piano selections. David and Clifford Behrhorst and Frank Wicks sang two numbers with banjo accompaniment, and the Behrhorst brothers also gave several banjo duets.

George Buchwalter, '29, who entered Allegheny with advanced standing this fall, has furthered his claim to the junior middleweight professional wrestling championship of America by his spectacular defeat last week of James Demetral of Chicago. Demetral was Buchwalter's fifth consecutive victim of this season.

Former Meadville Boy To Appear Here In Recital on Dec. 2

On Thursday evening, December 2, Mr. George Mulfinger will give a piano recital at Ford Memorial Chapel, under the auspices of Chi chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, women's national musical fraternity, located at the Pennsylvania College of Music of Meadville.

Mr. Mulfinger is the son of Dr. G. A. Mulfinger, a former instructor of German at Allegheny College. He received his early musical training at the Pennsylvania College of Music, where he showed unusual musical talent. He also successfully composed music to some extent, having written the music for some of the Meadville High School songs which are still in use.

After graduating from the Meadville High School and also the Pennsylvania College of Music, Mr. Mulfinger attended the University of Chicago. Later he went abroad to study music under Emil Sauer and other musicians of note. After studying abroad for four years, he made his debut in Vienna last year. Since then he has played in the larger cities of both Europe and the United States with great success.

His coming here is creating considerable interest among both the town people and the College students. Many residents of Meadville will remember him as accompanist for the Stone M. E. Church choir about ten years ago.

Tickets are now on sale by the graduate members of Mu Phi Epsilon who live in town. The prices of the tickets are 75 cents and $1.00.

DR. G. S. LACKLAND GIVES ARMISTICE DAY ADDRESS

PASTOR OF STONE CHURCH SPEAKS ON SUBJECT OF WORLD PEACE

Dr. George S. Lackland, pastor of the Stone M. E. Church, of Meadville, addressed the student body at the special Armistice Day services held on Thursday morning, November 11, in Ford Memorial Chapel.

Prior to Doctor Lackland's address, President James A. Beebe spoke briefly upon the nation-wide observance of similar meetings and pointed out that the prevalent thought of the Armistice Day exercises was a one-minute period of absolute silence which should be tempered by reverence and gratitude. At the conclusion of President Beebe's remarks, the entire gathering paid tribute to those Americans who fell in France by observing a one-minute period of reverent silence.

Doctor Lackland opened his address by pointing out that "peace will not come easily." He contrasted the worshipful attitude with which our Allies looked at us at the close of the war with the anti--American feeling which exists in those same countries today. The speaker accounted for this change in attitude by the vastly different economic conditions existing in the United States and Europe, and the foreign feeling that the United States is strongly oppressing her former Allies at the present time.

"The United States today," Doctor Lackland said, "is the economic Mussolini of the world. The wealth of our country is fifty per cent greater than that of Germany, France, and Italy combined. American capital controls the industries in foreign countries, and loans to the foreign governments by private banks in this country may be made only with the consent of the State Department."

The speaker enumerated the various methods by which the countries who are indebted to us might settle their debts, and he presented the objections to each method. He next pointed out the success which the Dawes Plan brought about in providing a partial solution to the debt problem, and suggested that a similar plan for the rest of the world is necessary, if present conditions are to be corrected.

Doctor Lackland's concluding words were, "No nation can live unto itself, for economic forces are compelling the nations to work together."

NON-FRATERNITY MEN

All non-fraternity freshmen are asked to be the guests of the non-fraternity upperclassmen at a smoker, which will be held in Cochran Hall tomorrow evening between the hours of nine and eleven. An informal program, smokes and refreshments will be provided.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC BOARD INCREASES ACTIVITIES

POINT SYSTEM ARRANGED FOR AWARDS TO BE MADE IN COMPETITION

Striving to create a wider interest in Women's Athletics and to strengthen the spirit of competition among the women students, the Athletic Board with the assistance of Miss Georgia Herald, instructor in Physical Education, has worked out a new point system for the current year. Under this system several additional sports are included.

The recently extended swimming privileges have opened up new opportunities for the women of the College, and as a result swimming holds an important place under the new system. Another innovation will be a track meet to be held next spring. Points will be given for placements in any of the events.

Of special interest will be the selection of an honorary varsity basketball team. The team will be chosen from class and fraternity material. An athletic club is to be organized, having the present board as charter members. Girls making 1000 points will be admitted to the club.

A list of the individuals, classes and fraternities having the most points will be posted at the end of each month. For the month of October the Sophomores are ahead with 1150 points, the Juniors are second with 800 points, and the Freshmen third with 550. For the fraternities, Tallagewe leads with 550 points; Alpha Xi Delta ranks second with 500 points; Alpha Gamma Delta and Alpha Chi Omega are tied for third place with 350 points each. Individual competition is very close, as the honors are divided among a number of girls who have 100 points each.

An outline of the point system follows:

	Points
Schlog Ball—each game	50
Touchdown—each game	50
Baseball—each game	50
Basketball—each class game	50
Basketball—each fraternity game	25

For all class and fraternity tournament games, a person must have played at least one quarter to be eligible for points.

The honorary varsity team consists of the eight best basketball players in the school. These will be selected by the Athletic Board.

Points will be given to the Sophomores and Freshmen receiving the highest grades in gymnasium.

All Juniors and Seniors who attend some gymnasium class on an average of one hour a week will be given points.

A hike for which points are given must not be less than three miles long and all hikes of three miles or more will count toward the twenty-five mile goal.

Any dive will be accepted and any stroke may be used in distance swim-

JOURNALISTIC OPPORTUNITY

To all the Allegheny students, but particularly to the Freshmen, we are making the plea to take part in some form of journalism as it is offered to the students on this campus. It is not yet too late to become affiliated with some of the publications, and we who have had some experience in this form of endeavor assure you that it will be worth your while. Of course, personal interest must be sincere and more than merely superficial, for, in this field as in all fields, the benefit one derives from anything is, to a great degree, determined by the interest shown in, and the actual work given to, the cause.

Many students labor under the impression that time spent in journalistic endeavors is time lost, and that all that campus writers get for their efforts is a somewhat hollow satisfaction that comes from seeing their writings in print. However, the men and women of the journalistic fraternity will tell you that this reward is not the only one or even the greatest remuneration for their efforts.

Participation in campus writings offers experience that is of inestimable value to the individual. Aside from the fact that it may return actual pecuniary reimbursement in journalistic activities after leaving school or even during vacation periods, campus writing holds forth other compensations. College journalism povides one of the most practical forms of mental training obtainable today. It broadens the field of activity and interest, because it continually develops and refines the art of self expression—and an art it is, indeed, for as a great writer has expressed it, one of the most tragic things in life is the man or woman who is unable to find expression for his or her thought and ideas through the medium of speech or writing. All success and achievements are based upon man's ability to express, in one form or another, the thoughts that come to him. Through campus writing he is given valuable training in this line, and immediate results are noticeable in an enlarged vocabulary and the increased ease with which contributors are able to write themes and essays for class work. Finally, journalism is conceded a prominent place as a mental developer and stimulus.

On our campus we have four publications; namely, "The Alligator," "The Campus," "The Kaldron" and "The Literary Magazine," offering four different types of writing ranging from jokes, up through news stories and particular and personal "write ups" to the more serious efforts in the line of story writing and poetry. Surely this varied writing must make an appeal to almost everyone. Why not start now and reap the rewards mentioned above? The staff of any and all of these publications will be only too glad to accept your work, humble as it may be, and help you to develop your own powers. These publications are yours, not the staff's. In conclusion, remember that this plea is not forthcoming at the urgent request of the editors in order to obtain more writers for their respective publications. This idea is only secondary, for these publications will probably manage to survive regardless. The plea is directed to you—for your benefit.

WHY NOT BREAK THE WINDOWS TOO?

Of all the disgusting and unsportsman-like methods employed this year in razzing the freshmen, the worst occurred last Thursday as the yearlings were entering the chapel. Warm weather following a four-inch snowfall made the snow just right for packing into hard balls.

If a majority of the men students had responded to the requests made earlier in the year to enter the chapel building at once, instead of razzing the freshmen before the services take place, the mention of this subjct again would be needless. But since these same young men persist in their discourteous and embarrassing actions toward all visitors plus their cowardly conduct with the freshmen, we take this opportunity of calling them for it.

Not only the sophomores but even the juniors and seniors took part in the snowballing escapade. Certainly the upperclassmen, at least, should be grown up by this time, and the sophomores must hasten their maturity.

Everybody—even a freshman—can appreciate the snowballing sport when it is done in the right manner, but when the upperclassmen take advantage of one's back being turned toward them and throw the pellets with all their strength at all parts of a person's anatomy, then that sport becomes obnoxious and deserves all of the criticism that can be directed towards the participants. Taking the case a step further, suppose these same upperclass "chidren" should pelt the young ladies with their snowballs. If that does not raise the ire of any true yong man, then there "ain't no justice." Nevertheless, this was the case last Thursday, and many times, not only the stray snowballs, but also directly aimed pellets found their mark upon some young lady who was entering the building.

Students, imagine what an onlooker might think if he saw you pelting both men and women who had no source of come-back; imagine what the young ladies of the College have a right to think of your discourteous conduct. After deliberation, would you not call your act one of cowardness, certainly disgusting, and most unsportsman-like? Try the idea which was stressed in a previous issue of The Campus of forgetting about the freshmen until after the chapel service.

GENEVA GAME

of victory appear to be, there is unusual enthusiasm being shown in the game. Practically all members of the "45" Club will journey to Beaver Falls, and many others of the student body will be there to support the team in the final game.

For one man, Captain "Marty" Kinnunen, the Geneva game will mark the close of a gridiron career for the Blue and Gold. Captain Kinnunen has played regularly for four years, and the game on Saturday will mark the passing of an Allegheny player whose place must be filled when another season rolls around. He is the only member of the class of '27 represented on the team.

The co-eds at the Western Reserve College for Women do not want compulsory chapel four days a week as they now have it. The majority want compulsory chapel one day a week only.

MEN'S SENATE TO SEND DELEGATE TO CONFERENCE

NATIONAL STUDENT FEDERATION TO HOLD CONGRESS AT ANN ARBOR

Allegheny College will be represented at the Second Annual Congress of the National Student Federation of America which will be held at the University of Michigan, on December member of the Men's Student Senate. Each college is entitled to send one delegate to the Congress, and in cases of co-educational institutions one woman and one man delegate is permitted.

During the past year there have been repeated protests by students and educators concerning the over-organization of extra-curricular activities, the commercialism of athletics, and the false values of undergraduate life. The National Student Federation, formed at the National Collegiate World Court Conference held at Princeton last December, proposes to appraise the value of these charges. This Congress will examine the various factors that contribute to the complexity of our present academic life.

The subject for general discussion is: "The Student's Part in Education." The Congress will open Thursday evening, December 2, with an address of welcome by President C. C. Little of the University of Michigan, and by two speeches by educators of national repute.

On Friday morning, a meeting of the Congress will be held to ratify or reject the permanent constitution. A section of the preamble to the constistution is: "We would achieve a spirit of co-operation among the students of the United States to give consideration to questions affecting students' interests; we would develop an intelligent student opinion on questions of national and international importance; we would foster understanding among students of the world in furtherance of an enduring world peace."

Friday afternoon will be devoted to Committee meetings of approximately thirty each upon the following topics:

1. The Honor System and Student Government.
   Topics: Application to work other than examinations. Composition of Student Council. Co-operation of Student Council and Faculty.
2. Athletics.
   Topics: Non-scouting agreements. Commercialism. Eligibility rules. Intersectional contests.
3. Fraternities.
   Topics: Methods and time of election. Legitimate function in college. National versus college fraternities and clubs.
4. The Choice and Methods of Teachers.
   Topics: Lecture, preceptorial and tutorial systems. Requirement of research work for faculty promotion. Teachers' salaries.
5. The Nature of the Curriculum.
   Topics: Elective and required subjects. Elimination of underclass years. Methods of specialization and upperclass study.

Friday evening dinner meetings of the committee are to be held, followed by a dance which will be given by the University of Michigan.

On Saturday morning a meeting of the entire Congress will be held during which nominations for national officers for the coming year will be made. Following this business meeting a discussion of the various committee reports will be held. Saturday afternoon offers regional lunches followed by election of regional members to the Executive Committee, and the discussion of any additional business. Saturday evening will mark the final meeting of the Congress. A closing address will be made by Doctor Stephen P. Duggan, Director of the Institute of International Education.

On Sunday morning the meeting of the new Executive Committee will be held to make arrangements for next year's Congress.

The accomplishments and projects of the Student Federation are:

1. Accomplishments
   (a) Intercollegiate surveys on chapel, prohibition, teachers' salaries, eligibility rules, and fraternity regulations.
   (b) Joint auspices with The American Advisory Committee for student tours in Europe.

BAND PLAYS BEFORE STUDENT BODY FRIDAY

FIRST CONCERT OF SEASON PLEASES AUDIENCE—MUCH IMPROVEMENT SHOWN

On Friday morning, November 12, the College Band gave a short concert to the student body at the regular chapel hour in Ford Memorial Chapel.

The concert, consisting of classical numbers interspersed with several marches, was presented in a well balanced and entertaining manner under the direction of James E. Meadowcroft. Rules Are Announced For Annual Wakefield Oratorical Contest

Announcement has been made of the rules which are to govern the annual Wakefield Oratorical Contest which is to be held on Wednesday evening, December 8, in Ford Memorial Chapel. The date of the contest has been changed from December 2 to the evening of December 8, since previous announcements were made, due to the extra number on the College Concert Course which is being held on that evening.

The awards for the winners are offered each year from a fund donated by James Wakefield, '90, of Pittsburgh. The prizes for this contest are the first of five prizes offered to the students each year and must be awarded in December. The winner of the first prize will represent the College in the Inter-Collegiate Civic Oratorical Contest which will be held in May. Robert J. Corbett represented Allegheny in this contest last year.

The rules of the contest are as follows:

1. The Wakefield Oratorical Contest will be held on the evening of Wednesday, December 8.
2. The contest is open to all men of the senior, junior, and sophomore classes.
3. The winner of a previous contest is not for that reason barred from competing again.
4. The orations are to be the original work of the students competing in the contest.
5. No oration should exceed eighteen hundred words in length.
6. Three typed copies of each oration should be in the hands of the committee on Debate and Oratory not later than Wednesday, December 1.
7. If more than six orations are submitted the committee reserves the right to eliminate all but six, the basis of choice being on the quality of the oration.
8. Two prizes, one of thirty-five dollars and the other of fifteen dollars, the income from a fund left by James Wakefield of Pittsburgh, will be given the men awarded first and second prizes respectively.

Alfred University has started what will probably become a tradition in that institution. The freshman and sophomore classes have a joint dance at which a friendly feeling is built up between the two "warring" classes.

CROSS COUNTRY SOUAD TO MEET GENEVA RUNNERS

BOTH TEAMS UNDEFEATED—MEET TO BE HELD BEFORE FOOTBALL GAME

Preliminary to the football game at Beaver Falls next Saturday, November 20, the Allegheny and Geneva undefeated cross-country teams will stage a meet. The contest between these two teams has aroused considerable interest, for both teams are known to be quite strong and are about evenly matched.

The Geneva harriers boast a splendid record to date this season, having engaged in six meets, all of which have resulted in Geneva victories. On two occasions, once against Thiel and once against W. and J., the Covenanter runners have made a perfect score, all five men finishing before a single one of their opponents. Geneva's impressive record includes victories over such teams as Carnegie Tech, Westminster, W. and J., Thiel, and Grove City twice. Allegheny's showing against Grove City was just as good as that which Geneva made, beating them by only one point less. Evans, the Grove City runner who was individual winner in the Allegheny meet, has won on both occasions that the Crimson have met the Covenanters. The Geneva team is a well balanced outfit with Lockley and Irons as the individual stars.

The Allegheny harriers have engaged in only two meets so far this season, both of which have resulted in victories for the Blue and Gold. Grove City was defeated by a 21-34 score, while Thiel lost by a 19-36 count. The Allegheny men have been looking forward to this contest for some time and have been engaging in strenuous practices for it. Coach C. E. Hammett, who has seen the Geneva team run, says that he believes his team has at least an even chance for a victory. Trials were run last Saturday, and the following six men have been chosen to represent the Blue and Gold: Captain Bentley, Wycoff, Dreibelbis, Ellis, Isenberg and Harbaugh.

FOOTBALL NOTES

In one of the biggest football upsets of the present season, Grove City defeated the great football machine of Geneva by the score of 3 to 0. Grove City outplayed Geneva during the whole game and deserved the victory. Pflug, Grove City tackle, featured by scoring the only points of the game when he booted the ball over the bar in the final period.

West Virginia University trampled over Centre College for a 21-0 victory in a game marked by very few thrilling plays.

In a game marked by many exciting moments Pitt battled W. and J. to a scoreless tie. Both teams had opportunities to score field goals and, likewise, both failed. Amos, brilliant President fullback, was stopped by the Pitt team in the same manner that many other stars have been stopped by the Pitt team.

New York University defeated Davis-Elkins, 10-0, in a game in which the Southerners, a veteran team with an excellent record this year, threw numerous scares into one of the best teams that the East has produced this year.

Cornell smashed a weakening Dartmouth team for two touchdowns and a placement goal to overcome a 27-3 handicap in the final period and whipped the Big Green, 24-23, in the most thrilling gridiron battle those ancient rivals have ever staged.

A rejuvenated team from Bethany College defeated Thiel, 10-0, in a well-played game. Neel, brilliant Bison halfback, was easily the outstanding player of the day.

Notre Dame defeated the Army, 7-0, in a stubbornly-fought battle. Art Dahl, former Allegheny star, was sent into the West Point backfield in the closing minutes of play and was the only Army back who was able to puncture the Westerners' line with any consistency, but his brief sensational drive came too late to turn the tide.

ALLEGHENY BEATS CANISIUS

nently in the triumph, as he carried the ball consistently, turning in a 38-yard run for touchdown as well as a 28-yard run that would probably have resulted in another score if the muddy turf had not caused him to lose his footing. Hudson, in his first assignment at end, played the position nicely and got away several nice punts, although his kicking was done in a dangerously slow manner. Maloney contributed a nice run for a score and his work showed much promise. Brendel played a nice defensive game, while Captain Kinnunen, in his final home bow, played his usual strong game at tackle. Moon at quarter directed the play in commendable fashion.

The lineup:

Allegheny—12		Canisius—0
Hudson	L.E.	Guthrie
D. White	L.T.	Burke
Billings	L.G.	Stammelly
Behrhorst	C.	Thomas

Slaven	R.E.	J. Brennen
