pithy remark of ~~Col~~ Butler X. p 80.

The long and short of the Black Hawk war was chasing that chief and his 400 braves, who had crossed the Mississippi from Iowa, near the mouth of Rock River, up that water to Koshkonong, and thence by way of Four Lakes & the Wisconsin River, back to Iowa. & this chase the whites - mainly farmer's boys - each selected himself a good farm.

As soon as soldiering was over, many a youth made haste to break up his land, buying with him, or soon after, the girl he had left
