Ensemble To Provide Choral Settings For Playshop’s “Beggars In Paradise”

by Barbara Walck

“Although it is a small musical group, I think musically we are achieving very new and different effects,” Mrs. Margrette Hokanson enthusiastically declared about the Workshop Ensemble which she directs.

This ensemble—there are ten members at present—was one who just likes to sing,” as one member put it. But the group is unique in that the voice is used as an instrument producing new and varied tonal qualities. Occasionally a musical instrument, such as a clarinet or perhaps a cello, is actually blended in, and the result is a type of vocal chamber music.

Mrs. Hokanson also explained that each person sings his own individual part against the rest of the group, although several parts may coincide in a particular measure. As one member declared, “With such a small number you have the feeling of understanding the individuals and their own interpretations.” Occasionally the group is accompanied on the organ or piano.

Last year the Ensemble recorded the musical background for the Playshop production of “Peer Gynt,” and this year they perform in the Chapel during the Christmas season.

The group will appear in the Playshop production “Beggars in Paradise” April 25 through May 2. On stage and in concert, all the singers will help to create the atmosphere for the various scenes. In one scene the group represents a heavily choir singing a Bach number entirely without words. The arrangement by Mrs. Hokanson uses only vocal sounds as the text is not visible. The Ensemble will also sing “Ring Dings” and “Now Is the Month of Maying.”

Before coming to Allegheny Mrs. Hokanson was director of the Nordic Choral Ensemble, founded in 1939 at the visit of Crown Prince Olav and Crown Princess Martha of Norway to the United States.

Senator Ralph Flanders To Be Guest Speaker At ’53 Commencement

Senator Ralph E. Flanders of Vermont will be the guest speaker at Allegheny’s commencement in June 8. He was appointed to the Senate on November 5, 1946 to replace W. B. Miller.

Senator Flanders was president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston before entering politics. He has also served on the Economic Stabilization Board and the Advisory Board of NASA.

General chairman for Commencement Weekend is Dr. Phillip M. Benjamin. Mr. Guy Buckingham is chairman of the commencement committee, which includes Dr. Paul Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Hokanson, Dr. Henry Muller, Dr. Lewis Pino, and Dr. J. Don Smith. Dr. Robert Bugbee is chairman of the Baccalaureate service, to be held on Sunday, June 7, at the Stone Methodist Church. Others on this committee are: Mrs. Margrette Hokanson, Dr. Morton Luvas, Dr. Charles Plicht, Dr. Edward Rickard, and Dr. Eric Sturkey.

Other committees are: advisory committee, Dr. Richard Browns, Dr. Allen B. Edwards, Dr. John McPharland, Mr. Gustave Rylander; playshop production, Mr. John Hellward; Sinfonietta concert, Dr. Herbert Nornuth; Ensemble’s concert, Dr. Morton Luvas.

Chamber Music Concert To Be Given April 26

A concert of chamber music will be presented at 3:00 p.m. on April 26, in Ford Memorial Chapel. This event, originally scheduled for March 1, was postponed because of the illness of Dr. Herbert Nornuth.

The program will include J. S. Bach’s Cembali Toccata, “I Hear My Cross Staff Gladly,” Walter Piston’s “Sonatina” for violin and piano, a contemporary American work, and Robert Schumann’s “Quintet” for piano and winds, and one of the sympathetic attendants.

Now try and tell us that we don’t have music in common! Really! Our “human” females may be a bit more subtle. They may fool most men into thinking that it is the men who are in pursuit of them, but take a quick look at the lower forms, and then a quick look back, and the real story reveals itself.

Sumali may not have aoodle cut which exposes the aspe of her neck, she may not douse herself with perfume, put her hair up every night, paint herself with Max Factor’s products, or use any number of other “devices” which will make Mambo view her through the traditional rose-colored glasses, but the instinct to catch her in still is there. Then again, it may not be instinct. Maybe Sumali learned the technique watching the people into your face. You never can tell with these animals.

Beggars in Paradise

Here April 28-May 2

50 over students will take part in the Playshop production “Beggars in Paradise,” to run from April 28 through May 2. Described as a “Merry Miracle of Fiddlers” by the original author, the play is presented in English by Marston Balch.

“Beggars in Paradise” has been performed in 15 countries. The play was produced for the first time in America at Tufts College in 1950. Students may make reservations for the performances by presenting their Playshop activity tickets at the box-office.

Mambo Learns The Facts Of Life

by C. F. E.

Let’s face it, evolution is a fact. Every day we discover new information which adds to an already imposing list of evidence that Darwin’s original theory more securely than ever. Last month, for example, we came across a group of monkeys in the Zoo which seemed to us to constitute an even more irrefutable evidence in support of the theory that man and the ancestor.

After much study, that peculiar hairless primate, known as the Crown Zoo, recently acquired a new male gorilla named Mambo (gorilla names aren’t too tough to comprehend). Although authorities felt that Mambo might be maladjusted unless he was supplied with a playmate, it seems that only available gorilla in Mambo’s age group is a five-year-old female named Sumali, so the zoopeakers decided to introduce the two in the hope that they might — say in 10 or so years — when they reach maturity — settle down and get married.

So a few days later Mambo was gently placed in Sumali’s cage while the Crown Zoo people and the Times’ reporter watched with interest. The result was as inevitable as tomorrow’s Times. Sumali — just five years old, mind you — got a glimpse of her new mate, welcomed him, and they spent hours sitting next to each other, their arms outstretched and the look of joy on their faces.

Now and then she would tell us that we didn’t have hair in common, but really, our “human” females may be a bit more subtle. They may fool most men into thinking that it is the men who are in pursuit of them, but take a quick look at the lower forms, and then a quick look back, and the real story reveals itself.

Sumali may not have aoodle cut which exposes the face of her neck, she may not douse herself with perfume, put her hair up every night, paint herself with Max Factor’s products, or use any number of other “devices” which will make Mambo view her through the traditional rose-colored glasses, but the instinct to catch her in still is there. Then again, it may not be instinct. Maybe Sumali learned the technique watching the people into your face. You never can tell with these animals.

Baseball Team Opens At Susquehanna Today

The Hilltopper baseball squad has been working hard for the past few weeks in preparation for their first contest of the season this afternoon at Susquehanna. Tomorrow they travel to Philadelphia where they will face the Phillies. The first home game of the season will be next Wednesday when the Gators will play host to Mount Union.

Nine Lettermen Return

The initial turnout for the diamond sport found 35 hopefuls reporting to coach Bob Garbark. After a few days' workout in the gym and a couple out in the open air, Garby cut his squad to 24 men. Despite the fact that nine lettermen return, only three positions are definitely nailed down. Gordie Black and Tom Bengen will start in the outfield, and Fritz Cotton on first base. Bengen and Black were two of last year's leading hitters and should be the mainstays in the Gator batting order this year.

Thirteen Freshmen

Freshmen today are interested in the team and it is going to be a tough fight between them and the other six returning men for the remaining six starting spots on this year's team. The following are the freshmen who will be on the opening day squad: Bob Shockey, Beagan and Cotton, the following men are back from last year: Al Pankoff, Don Rainer, Bill Bolland and Bennos, Gene Loughney, and Bill McVay.

Freshmen vying for positions are Bill Began, Jim Balby, "Scot" Altimore, Jim Bogden, Cliff Morris, Jerry Sandels, Tom Winesewski, Carl Erickson, Meert Davis, Mike Garby, Art Walch, Dick Wignor, and Wally Neil. Bill Davis and Gay Torens are two transfer students on the squad who should give the team a new dimension.

The first two games should furnish an even better indication of the Hilltoppers' chances than the recent practice sessions. Little is known about the Susquehanna team, but Pitt always booms as a threat. This season the Engineers will make their debut on the hill as the season's first game, 7-1, to close the Hilltoppers' record for the season at three wins and right losses.

Gator Track Team Preps For Opener; Time-Trips To Be Run This Weekend

Stepped up practice and hard work have marked Hilltopper track preparations, as Coach Bill Hanson prepares his charges for their first meet against Westminster a week from Saturday. With approximately 50 aspirants out for the squad, Hanson hopes to have a better balanced team than he did last year when the Gators posted only one victory.

Eight lettermen return this year and will form the nucleus of the thincldus. Hub Ocambo in the javelins, Bill O'Boyle, the half mile man, Dave Warren in the hurdles and Gashu Dunlop in the pole vault probably will be consistent starters as they were last year, augmented by the other returnees and some promising freshman material.

Freshman Prospects

Among the first year men who have impressed Coach Hanson are Chuck Watir, Art Steffe, and Dick Zehner, who showed meritorious promise in workouts so far. The squad has been divided into two teams for time trials which will be held today and Saturday. The showings made by the squad in these practices meet will determine to a large extent the starters in the opening meet a week from tomorrow.

Team Needs Depth

Members of the football and soccer squads have been working out with the team and have availed the number of men out for the sport. If the depth problem can be solved, the team should be in much better shape at the end of the season than they were last year. The first real indication of the team's strength cannot be gained, however, until the Westminster meet next week.

Publicity Department Receiving Applications

The Publicity Department is now receiving applications for student assistants for next year, college executive secretary John R. McFar- land has announced. Openings are available for reporting and for secretarial work.

The work averages about 13 hours per week, most of time being scheduled between classes. Interested students are requested to see Mr. McFarland or Mr. Kern as soon as possible. Selection of student assistants will be made before the close of the current academic year.

Ballish To Return Next Year; Hopes To Expand CU Program

Tom Ballish, '52, present director of the College Union, has received a draft deferment for the 1953-54 academic year and has been reappointed as CU director for next year. He will also continue graduate work towards a master of education degree, on which he has been working this year.

College Union plans for next year tentatively call for the housing of at least a few student government and activities offices. Located Baldwin Hall, the new dormitory, is completed. In any case it will still be necessary to house some freshman men in Cochran.

The social and cultural activities begun by the union this year will be continued, and the scope of the programs expanded "to make the CU the true center of campus activity," according to Ballish.

ARE YOU TOUGH ENOUGH FOR THIS JOB?

If you can make the grade, the U.S. Air Force will award you a commission, your wings and pay you over $5,000 a year!

CAN YOU "TAKE IT" 6 days a week? For 52 weeks? Can you meet the high standards required to be an Aviation Cadet? If you can — then here's a man-size opportunity! An opportunity to serve your country and build a personal career that will fit you for responsible positions both in military and commercial aviation.

It won't be easy! Training discipline for Aviation Cadets is rigid. You'll work hard, study hard, play hard — especially for the first few weeks. But when it's over, you'll be a pro — with a career ahead of you that will take you as far as you want to go. You graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year. And this is only the beginning — your opportunities for advancement are unlimited.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE? To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement — it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

You can choose between pilot or aircraft observer

If you choose to be an Aircraft Observer, your training will be in Navigation, Bombardment, Radar Operation or Aircraft Performance Engineering.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.

2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will arrange for you to take a physical examination.

3. Next, you will be given a written and manual aptitude test.

4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet Training Class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

Where to get more details: Visit your nearest Air Force Base or Air Force Recruiting Office.

Creative Play and How It Backfires
by C. F. E.

It is Saturday afternoon. The Brooks girls are crowded into their little yellow bus on their way out to Bethesda for a day of jolly gaming. To get into the spirit of the thing they amuse themselves by throwing spit balls at the bus driver and singing songs learned at the last international Girl Scout Jamboree. Finally, they reach their destination, and quick like bunnies hurry off to play with all the sweet little children.

Brooks gal: Gosh, I can hardly wait 'til next week. One of the kids promised to let me use his magic kit, and ... the rest is lost in the strains of that great old American folk-song, 'In the Evenin' by the Moonlight'...

First Kid: You know, she gets a bigger kick out of this than we do.

Second Kid: That's true, but let's humor her along, shall we? Those poor girls have to study hard all week and they certainly need the recreation.

First Kid: I know that, but what I can't figure out is where she gets all the energy. Every time you look around it's ashes, ashes, all fall down. My knee is beginning to hurt.

Second Kid: Well, try and stick it out a while longer. I think she's getting bored with this. As a matter of fact, I think she's about ready to start a community sing.

First Kid: Oh no, not that again. You know, these girls' knowledge of American folk-songs is painfully limited. You would think that they might give us 'In the Evening by the Moonlight' and devote themselves to something a bit more mature.

Second Kid: My God, are you still expecting maturity from college students?

Brooks Gal: (Full of pep and just beginning to come into her own): All right, kiddies. Now how about quick game of steal the bacon.

First Kid: (Under his breath, which is now coming in short gasps): Ooohh. I simply haven't the energy for steal the bacon.

Second Kid: I sympathise with you, but it certainly isn't as bad as those insane boys that were here at Christmas with those ridiculous model airplanes. Did they get a kick out of that?

First Kid: I suppose so. A bell rings. It is time for the girls to return to the college. Another afternoon of making little children happy comes to a close.
