Dear Mrs Tarbell:

We were delighted to have your Christmas greetings and we hope you may have a Happy New Year.

We are spending the winter out here so that Maude can be near her Mother who is very old and buckle.

With best wishes from both of us,

Sincerely Yours
John McA. Palmer

After a long struggle, I am at last nearing the End of my life of Baron von Steuben. What I thought would be a simple military book for an old soldier to write, has turned out to be the most baffling psychological problem an amateur biographer ever tackled. A genuine case of dual personality, half hero and half crook.
