Herold

March 18, 1921

Mr. Edwin Gay,
The New York Evening Post,
20 Vesey St., New York.

Dear Mr. Gay:

Would the Post or its literary supplement be interested in a rather superior sort of Paris correspondence along literary, artistic and dramatic lines particularly?

I have just received a letter from an old acquaintance of mine, Ferdinand Herold - I am sure you must know something about him. He has published several volumes of verse and prose, stories and sketches, has produced a number of plays and just now has something at the Comedie Francaise. He writes me that he would like an American connection, a place where he could report on books, plays, expositions, and all sorts of French matters that might be of interest on this side.

There is no question of his ability to do this. If you think there would be any thought of it, I will be glad to send you M. Herold's address.

Very sincerely yours,
