Dear Mr. Robertson:

The reports I am having of Homecoming Day and its delights make me more sorry than ever for my bad luck in missing it.

You suggest that if I have any time to eat luach with a business man I am to let you know when and where. When a business man is yourself nothing suits me better. I am just leaving town for ten days but when I gget back you may be certain you will hear from me.

Very sincerely yours

Mr. A. W. Robertson
