Chancellor Charles Wesley Flint
701 Walnut Street
Syracuse, N.Y.

My dear Chancellor Flint:

I want very much to have a talk with you within the next few days about Mrs. Florence Knapp. I am writing an article on her case, which I take very seriously indeed. I am not asking people I talk with to let me quote them. I can see how, particularly in your case, that it would be unwise, possibly unfair, I don't know; but I do want information from you about Mrs. Knapp in the University, which will guide me in my judgment. I want very much to know your feeling about her and her conduct in Albany.

Are you, by any chance, going to be in New York City within the next week? And if so, could you spare me a little time?

If you are not to be here, could you see me if I run up to Syracuse, say, next Wednesday night, returning in the afternoon? I should prefer that no one but yourself knew of my visit or the reason for it.

Possibly I should say that the article I have in mind is entirely non-partisan.

Sincerely yours
