My dear Mr. DeVries:

The Editor of McCall's Magazine has sent me your letter of April 17th. It's a satisfaction of course to know that you liked my first article on Florida, in spite of the two wrong impressions which you find that I have given. I am afraid I shall never cease to hear that I am wrong about Florida being flat. I thought it was, though, when I wrote that article. I discovered by ~~later~~ further traveling that I was wrong and I hope to correct the impression later.

Now, as to what you tell me about the Seminoles. That was a slip. I knew they were not in Florida at De Sota's time. I think that I should have caught the mistake had I seen the proofs, but there was not time for the magazine to let me see the proofs; we were so late in getting out this piece.

What you write about the Caluses is most interesting. At my first opportunity I am going to try to get hold of a copy of Lakanokee's Legend.

Thank you heartily for your trouble in writing your interesting letter.

Believe me,

Very sincerely yours,
