November 5, 1934

Dear Anne;

I am obliged to write to Miss Fitzgibbon that I cannot join you on Tuesday, November 13th, for dinner. I am swamped with work and engagements and obliged to be away soon for some little time.

I have an idea, though maybe I am wrong, when we talked the matter over in the Spring that I doubted if I would be available for anything extra until sometime late in the winter and that will be too late for your purposes I am afraid. I am really sorry. I always want to do what you ask me to do.

Hoping I will see you soon

Affectionately

Miss Anne Morgan
