Dear Miss Ida:

I hope that what I have written about your delightful book will meet with your approval. No doubt there was a good deal more in it for me than for a great many readers; but at the same time there is so much there that any one ought to have a great time with it, and be a good deal wiser and happier after reading it than before.

It is too bad — for us — that we were not in Titusville when you all had so good a time together. It is too bad for us that we are permanently so far west, anyway! But we hope that we may be in Titusville one of these days when you are, so that Marge and Carol may get acquainted with you, and I may renew old acquaintance.

With all best wishes,

Cordially yours,

Jarrod Albert Beck
