Dear Miss Tarbell:

I am enclosing two letters which are addressed directly to you. They are a sample of the pile on Mr. Graeve's desk, all lively attacks on "AS IDA TARBELL LOOKS AT PROHIBITION".

I am more and more impressed that this subject has become a religion. Prohibitionists see red and are ready to crack skulls at any questioning of their faith. Your plea for tolerance completely misses them, since they are fundamentally intolerant.

Again we congratulate you on a fine article.

Sincerely,

Associate Editor.
