Dear Mrs. Chase;

Your card has just been sent to me here from Connecticut with word that a box is there. I shall not get up to the country until next week, but I am asking that the box be kept in a cool place until I get there and decide just where the iris shall go. I will see that they are put in water as you suggest overnight before planting.

It is very good of you to think of me, dear Mrs. Chase, and believe me I shall treasure anything from your garden.

Affectionately yours

Mrs. E. W. Chase
