

December 22, 1932

Dear Mr. Burton:

I am enclosing copies of parts of a couple of letters that I have just received apropos of our attitude on the American Plan.

Richard Lloyd Jones is the editor, you know, of the Tulsa Tribune. He gives most of his editorial page for Sunday, December 11th, to the two articles which you have published.

The second letter interests me - the suggestion that I must be a stockholder in Naumkeag. Now isn't that a proof, if a small one, of what I said in that first article - that one could no longer serve the public or try to, without being laid open to the suspicion of serving himself.

I am hoping to hear from you very shortly about the second series of articles. If you do not want to continue I must know at once as I must decide immediately about another series that I have on hand.

With all good wishes for the holidays.

Faithfully yours

Mr. Harry Payne Burton
The Cosmopolitan
57th St. & 8th Avenue
New York City