TAYLOR SOCIETY
A SOCIETY TO PROMOTE THE SCIENCE OF MANAGEMENT
29 WEST 39TH STREET
NEW YORK

October 28, 1919.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

I am writing identical letters to you and to Mr. Dennison requesting that you consent to permit the Society to make the Saturday evening session of the New York meeting (December 6) an opportunity for discussion of the work of the industrial conference, which has just adjourned, and to that end to have you and Mr. Dennison begin the session by a thirty-minute presentation each of your conclusions based on your experience in the conference. You would then be followed by ten-minute discussions by several selected members of the Society, after which the session would be thrown open to all members for five-minute discussions from the floor.

It seems to me that you would be performing a distinct service, not merely for the Society, but for industry in general; that seems so obvious that I do not bother you with arguments. May I not have your consent to such a program, provided Mr. Dennison consents also?

Sincerely yours,

H S Person

Managing Director.
