My dear Mr. Burns:

How kind of you to write me so appreciatively of the little article that I did for the Human Needs campaign. I have been away for the last three weeks so that your letter only just came to me.

It was a little thing to do. I was so sorry I could not be at the Washington meeting and that I could not do any speaking. You give me more credit than I deserve.

With all good wishes and the hope that I may see you when you are a little less busy, believe me

Very sincerely yours

Mr. Allen T. Burns
