Dear Miss Orr:

Thank you for your letter. You tell me that you, too, knew Rouseville in those early oil days. I do not often hear from a correspondent who actually knew that town of which I was so fond in spite of its disorder.

I drove through it a few weeks ago. It is a prosperous town now. Refineries have taken the place of derricks and oil tanks.

I would not be quite honest in saying that I remember the Orr Refinery up Cherry Run, there were so many refineries in those days. But the name Orr is familiar to me in connection with oil history.

Thanking you again for your letter, believe me

Very sincerely yours

Miss Margaret N. Orr
