Dear Miss Chase

W. L. Wolfe

Forgive me for having been so slow in sending you a copy for your Bulletin. I have been too busy to put my mind to it and now that I am attempting to do that I am having trouble in getting a proper phrasing. You suggest that you would be glad to have me "combine some phase of Lincoln's life or idealism with today." And that was what I had had in mind. My notion was to discuss what you might call natural vs mechanized growth using Lincoln as an illustration of the former. Do any one of the following seem suitable to you?

Growth as Abraham Lincoln Understood It.

Has Lincoln a Place in Present Day Thinking?

How do Men best Grow?

Lincoln vs Mechanized Growth.

I hope you can fix one of these up and kindly let me know what you decide.

It is going to be a pleasure to see you again.

Very sincerely yours
