NEW YORK

of November.

Dear Miss Tarbell:-

On June the 18th you generously consented to address my class in Short Story Writing at the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences this year. It is needless to say that the students are anticipating your visit with delight. We want just the same sort of an address that you gave us last year -- a heart to heart talk about your own methods of work. In fact, I should be very glad to send you a list of questions to answer about your articles; so no preparation will be necessary.

You said in your letter of June the 18th that you expected to be in Washington for the most part of this season; we shall leave the matter of the date entirely in your hands. Any Monday that you are in New York will be convenient for us. The class meets at the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, Academy of Music Building, Brooklyn, 4:30-5:30. I shall be glad to have a car call for you at your New York address.

Truly yours,

Dale Carnagey
