New York, N. Y.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

Some time ago I wrote you a little note and inclosed it with a report of my work here in the factory. At that time you were possibly out of the city and have had other things of far greater importance to attend to, and have had little time to think of me.

I am wondering, Miss Tarbell, if you could take dinner with us on Sunday the 13th or 20th of February, -either date would be convenient for me and if you will let me know where and what time to call for you, the girls will very gladly be at your service.

Hoping we may have this pleasure and that I can hear from you when convenient, I remain as ever

Cordially,
