

2087269
172 Elm Street, Boston, Mass.

August 24, 1909.

My dear Miss Tarbell,

Do you ever do such a thing as to give lectures or talks? If so, could you be prevailed upon to come to Berlin some time during the fall or winter and give a talk on any subject you may select?

A college society of which I am an alumnae member is working to raise a fund for a foreign fellowship to be offered to its women graduates. We should be greatly pleased if we might have a lecture from you to help us. Can you make it convenient to do us this favor, and if so, will you be so kind as to tell me the terms upon which you would be willing to come?

Hoping that we may have the pleasure of seeing you here, I am, my dear Miss Furbell,
Most sincerely yours,
Edith Dickson.