Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
120 East 19th Street,
New York City.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

We are all of us delighted with the revised version of the MacRae story. It is a splendid piece.

I do not want to press you unduly, but I think that perhaps it may be useful to run the editorial on farm cities in the same issue in which the MacRae article appears. What do you think? If you agree with me it would be useful to have copy sometime next week, or early the week after.

Sincerely,

Loren Palmer
Managing Editor.

Your secretary just telephoned that she has the editorial. Thanks!
