1917-09-03

Letter: Beatrice Carr to Ida M. Tarbell, September 3, 1917

Carr, Beatrice

http://hdl.handle.net/10456/19195

The copyright owner of this item is unknown. It is the responsibility of the researcher to identify and satisfy the holders of all copyrights.

All materials in the Allegheny College DSpace Repository are subject to college policies and Title 17 of the U.S. Code.
Carr, Beatrice

September 3/19

Forty-three East Twenty-seventh Street
New York City

Dear Mrs. Farbelle:

I have just read in this morning's paper of the death of your mother. Did you not permit me to tender you my deepest sympathy in her bereavement.
In me thing you are fortunate - she has been spared to you to a wonderful degree. Dear dear uncle I was fourteen, and she herself was only thirteen. But the blow is always terrible, no matter when or low it comes. I must, however, have been a great joy to you, mother, to see that she was spared to witness the splendid work her daughter accomplished in the rest of the country. With renewed expression of sympathy, believe me, I am yours truly, Edith Tarbell.

[Signature]