

27 Kilby St., Room 27.

Boston, Mass. May 2, 1906.

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
New York City.

My dear Miss Tarbell:-

I enclose herewith my check payable to your order for $15.00, for interest on your loan for the past six months, and should be pleased to have the loan continued for another six months, if agreeable to you. I fear that I shall be unable to pay it until I have disposed of more of our Park property. There is a little movement in the real estate market on our street and we have hopes of making some sales this season. One house has already been built on the street near your lot and is just occupied by a tenant. It is a good house and is worth $7500.

If convenient, please send me a remittance for six months installments ($30.) on your lot, which I will hand over to the trustees, who will send you a receipt for the same.

I hope this finds you in accustomed health. We are all well at Concord, and expect to have Catherine and her boy with us again soon. With best regards from Mrs. Garland and myself, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Enc.
