Dear Miss Tarbell:-

Mrs. Boyden and I spent the night last night with Mrs. Post, at her apartment. She is delighted that you are going to be with her. She must go to Galesburg while you are there, but will insist that you stay at the apartment. She has a splendid woman who takes care of her, and who will be delighted to take care of you.

We have moved back to Winnetka, rather unexpectedly, in order to prepare for a trip abroad, for which we sail on February 25th.

Under the circumstances it seems best for you not to go to Winnetka, except perhaps to come out to us for Sunday dinner or something of that kind.

Will you please let me know upon what train you will arrive in Chicago. In case there is any mix-up, you would better know that Mrs. Post lives at 21 East Elm Street, Chicago. I am sure that you will understand that if you are going to speak in the evening it would be foolish for you to motor to Winnetka first, and then go back to Winnetka in the evening after speaking.

Always sincerely yours,

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
