Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
c/o American Magazine,
4th Ave. near 28th St.,
New York City.

Dear Miss Tarbell,-

Ever since the last day of the December meeting, I have been saving a beautiful compliment, which Dr. Brashear gave you, to send you as a Christmas greeting. He came up to me, during the session, and thanked me for introducing you to him. Then he said, "I have been introduced to princesses and presidents, all over the world, and have been honored far more than I deserve, but the pleasure of meeting a woman who has made good so splendidly, outweighs it all."

Mr. Gilbreth is not yet back, but we expect him to sail from Italy any day, and we shall surely try to wish you a Happy New Year, if we are in New York in January.

With love from us all, and best wishes for the holidays,

Affectionately,

Lillian Moller Gilbreth
