

ges, 2010; The Ida M. Tarbell Collection, 1890-1944, Allegheny College, Pella, IA

HISTORIANS deal with public men and public events. Carlton McCarthy deals with the private soldier in his everyday life. He tells what the historian has left untold, and it is the most interesting part of the story.

There's nothing like it—nothing save the fireside talks with which our soldier-boys once charmed our nights. And this is really what this book is—the fireside talks of one of the most charming of talkers. Few men can tell a war story so well.

None can better describe the minute details of a soldier's everyday life—for he was one of them, a boy-private in that ragged band of heroes who followed Lee.

The book will stir the heart of every Southern youth and the boy who masters it will be mastered by a strong passion, not only for his Southland but for his country.

Recommended as a Supplementary Reader
for the Fifth Reader Grade

224 Pages. 30 Illustrations.

Battle Flag in Colors.

CLOTH, INK STAMPING. PRICE, 50 CENTS.

The B. F. Johnson Publishing Co., Richmond, Va.